FOREWORD

During the time that the class of 1951 has been at the University we have seen considerable growth in the physical plant. The campus has been torn up a good part of the time with new buildings being constructed on all parts of the campus. The progress of the building program has been paralleled by acceleration and improvement in all phases of student life. It is our hope that this book will serve to recall the progress we have made as a school and as individuals during our time at the University of Washington.

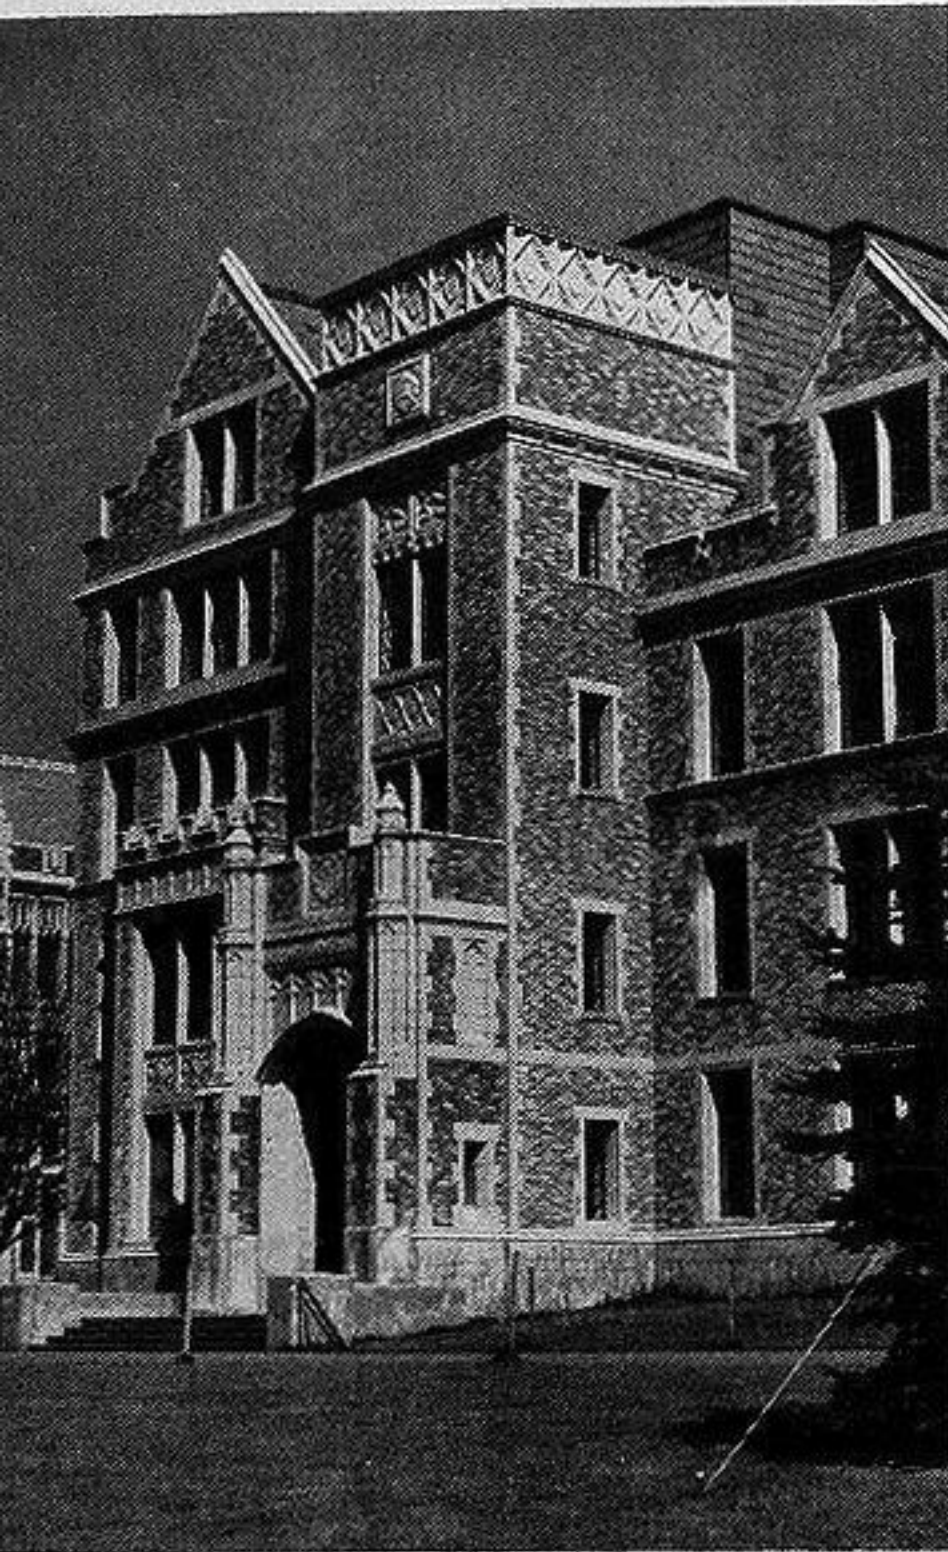

Housing the medical and dental schools is the new Health Sciences Building, pictured above. The exterior of the building, one of the most modern on the campus, only partially reveals its vastness. To appreciate it fully requires a trip through the maze of halls, and a look into the numerous class rooms, offices, auditoriums, laboratories, etc. A 500-bed hospital is yet to be added at the east end of the building.

Augmenting the scientific research equipment of the University is the cyclotron, used in the field of nuclear energy. This equipment is partially housed in the building shown at right, which is located west of Stadium Way below the Women's Residence Halls.

Located at the northwest end of the main Quad are the Art and Music Buildings. The exteriors of both are much in the style of the other buildings of the Quad, but the interiors are quite modern, fulfilling the requirements of the art and music students and offering a little more in comfort and beauty.

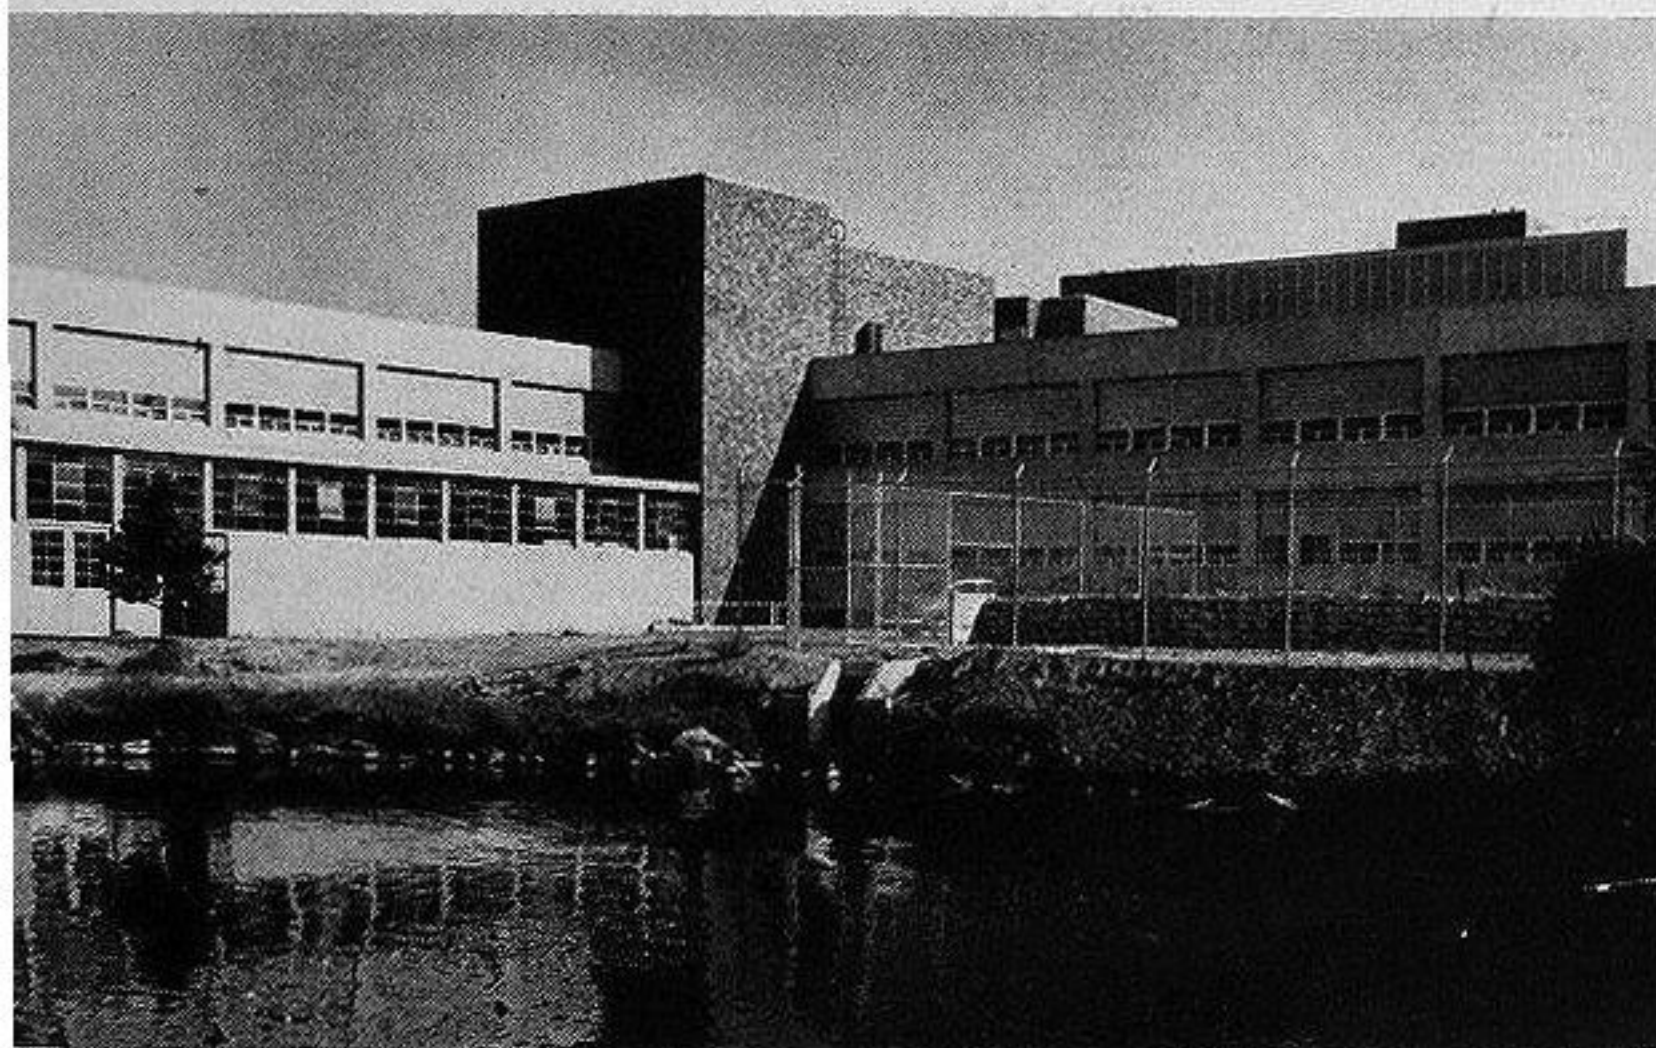

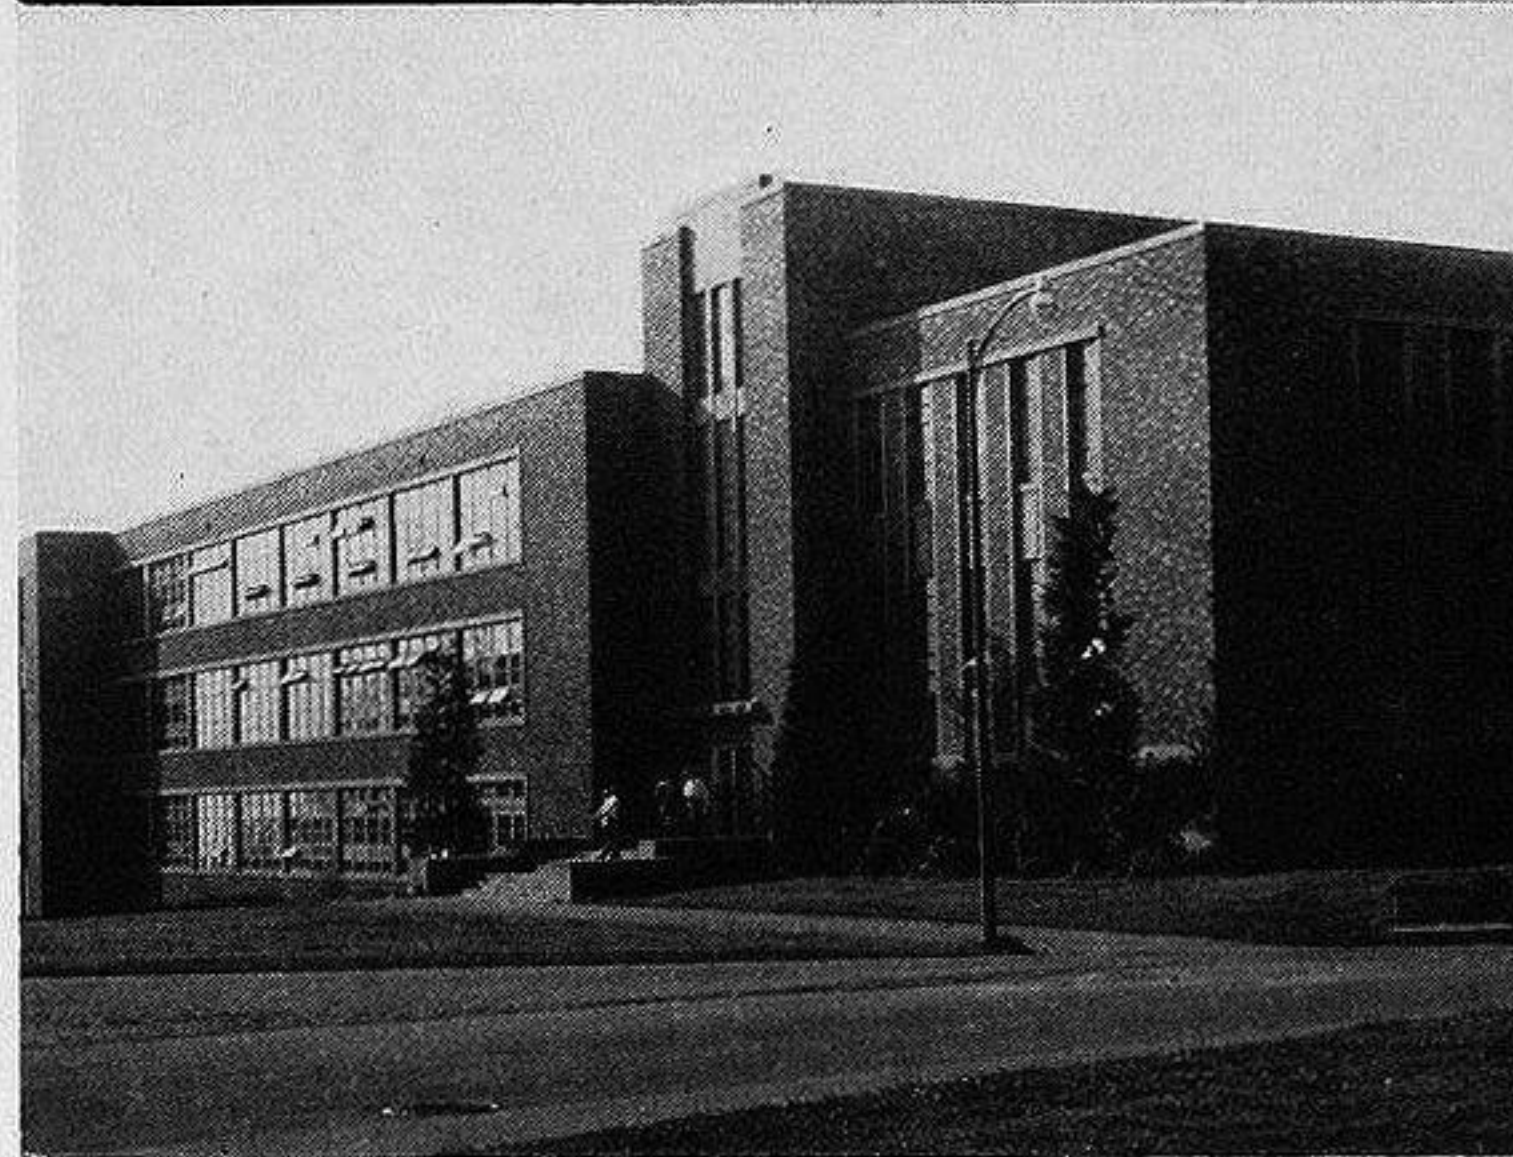

Just to the east of the Quad is Thomson Hall, one of the new class room buildings on the campus. This was one of the first buildings completed during the four years the class of 1951 has been on the campus.

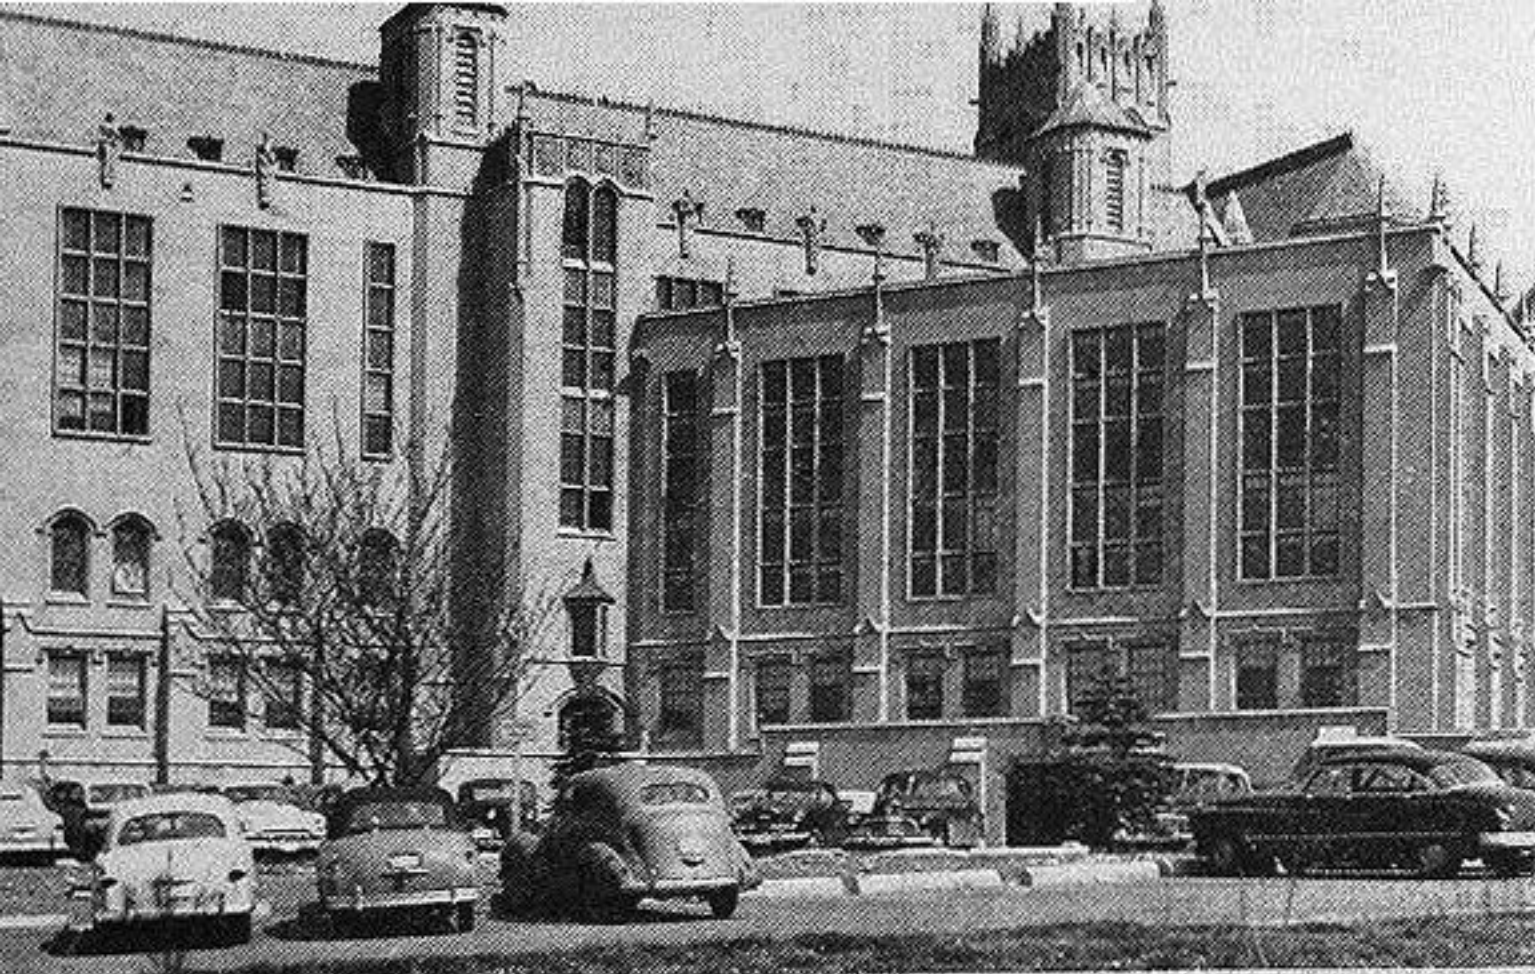

Increasing the capacity of the Washington Stadium to 55,000 is the new addition at right. From any angle this addition presents a striking picture, dwarfing everything in the vicinity. Eventually there will be a similar addition on the north side of the stadium for the students section.

Providing additional class rooms and laboratories for the Engineering students is More Hall, across the road from the Electrical Engineering Building.

One of the most recently completed buildings, having been formally opened during the first quarter of this school year, is the new Fisheries Building. It is located south of the Health Sciences Building on Lake Union.

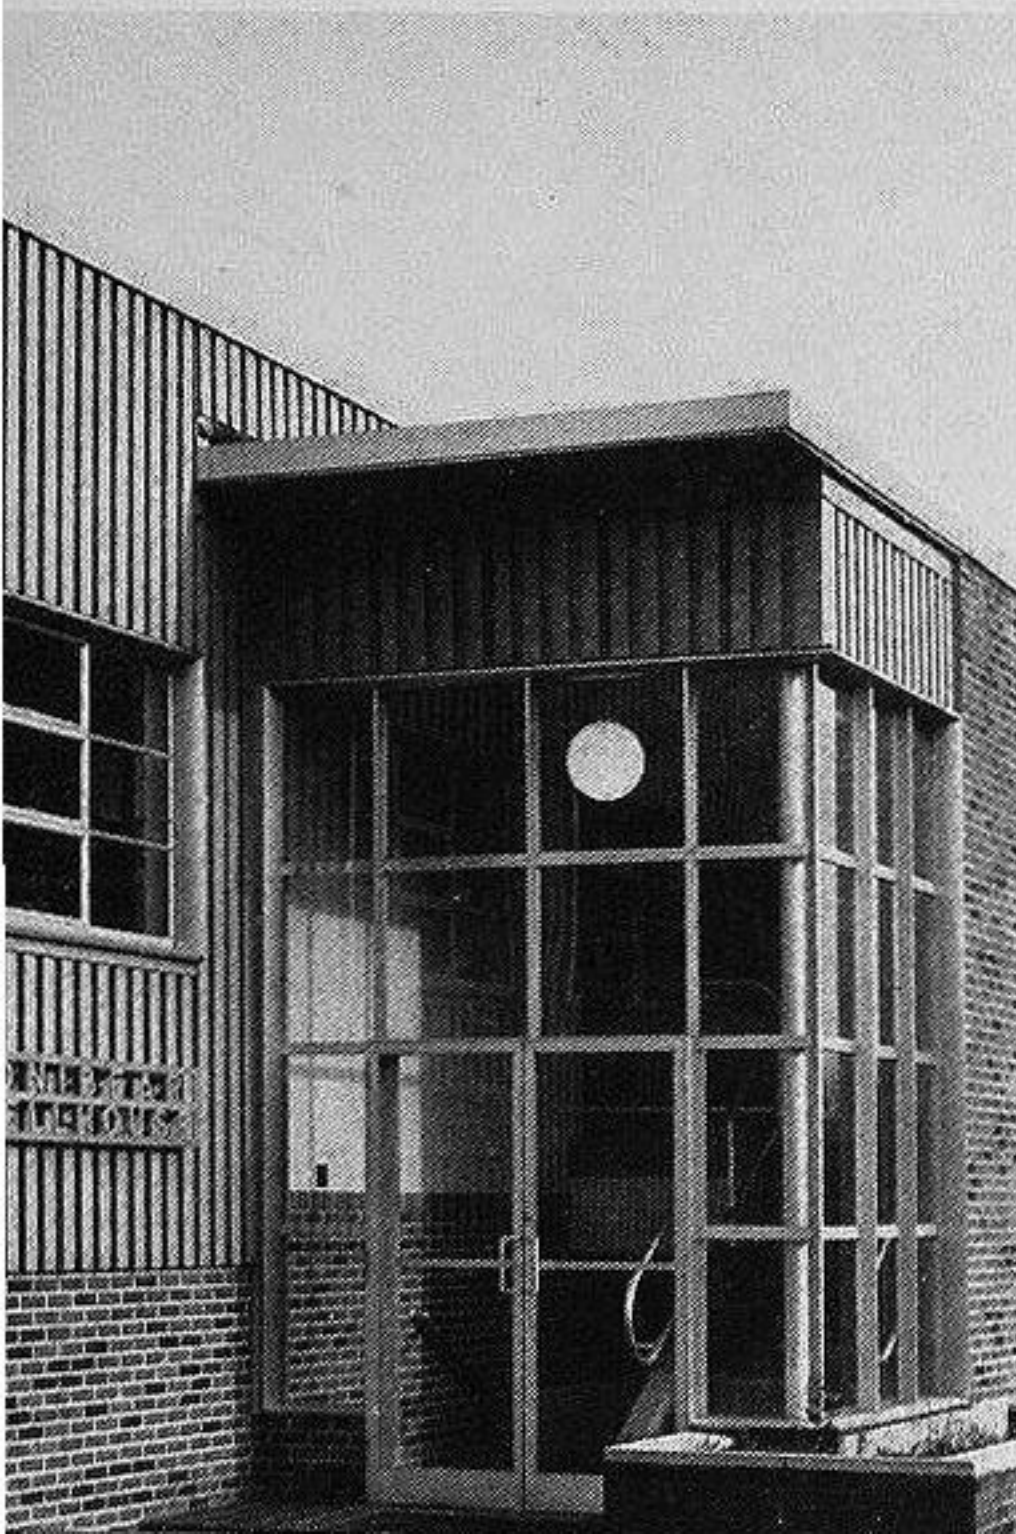

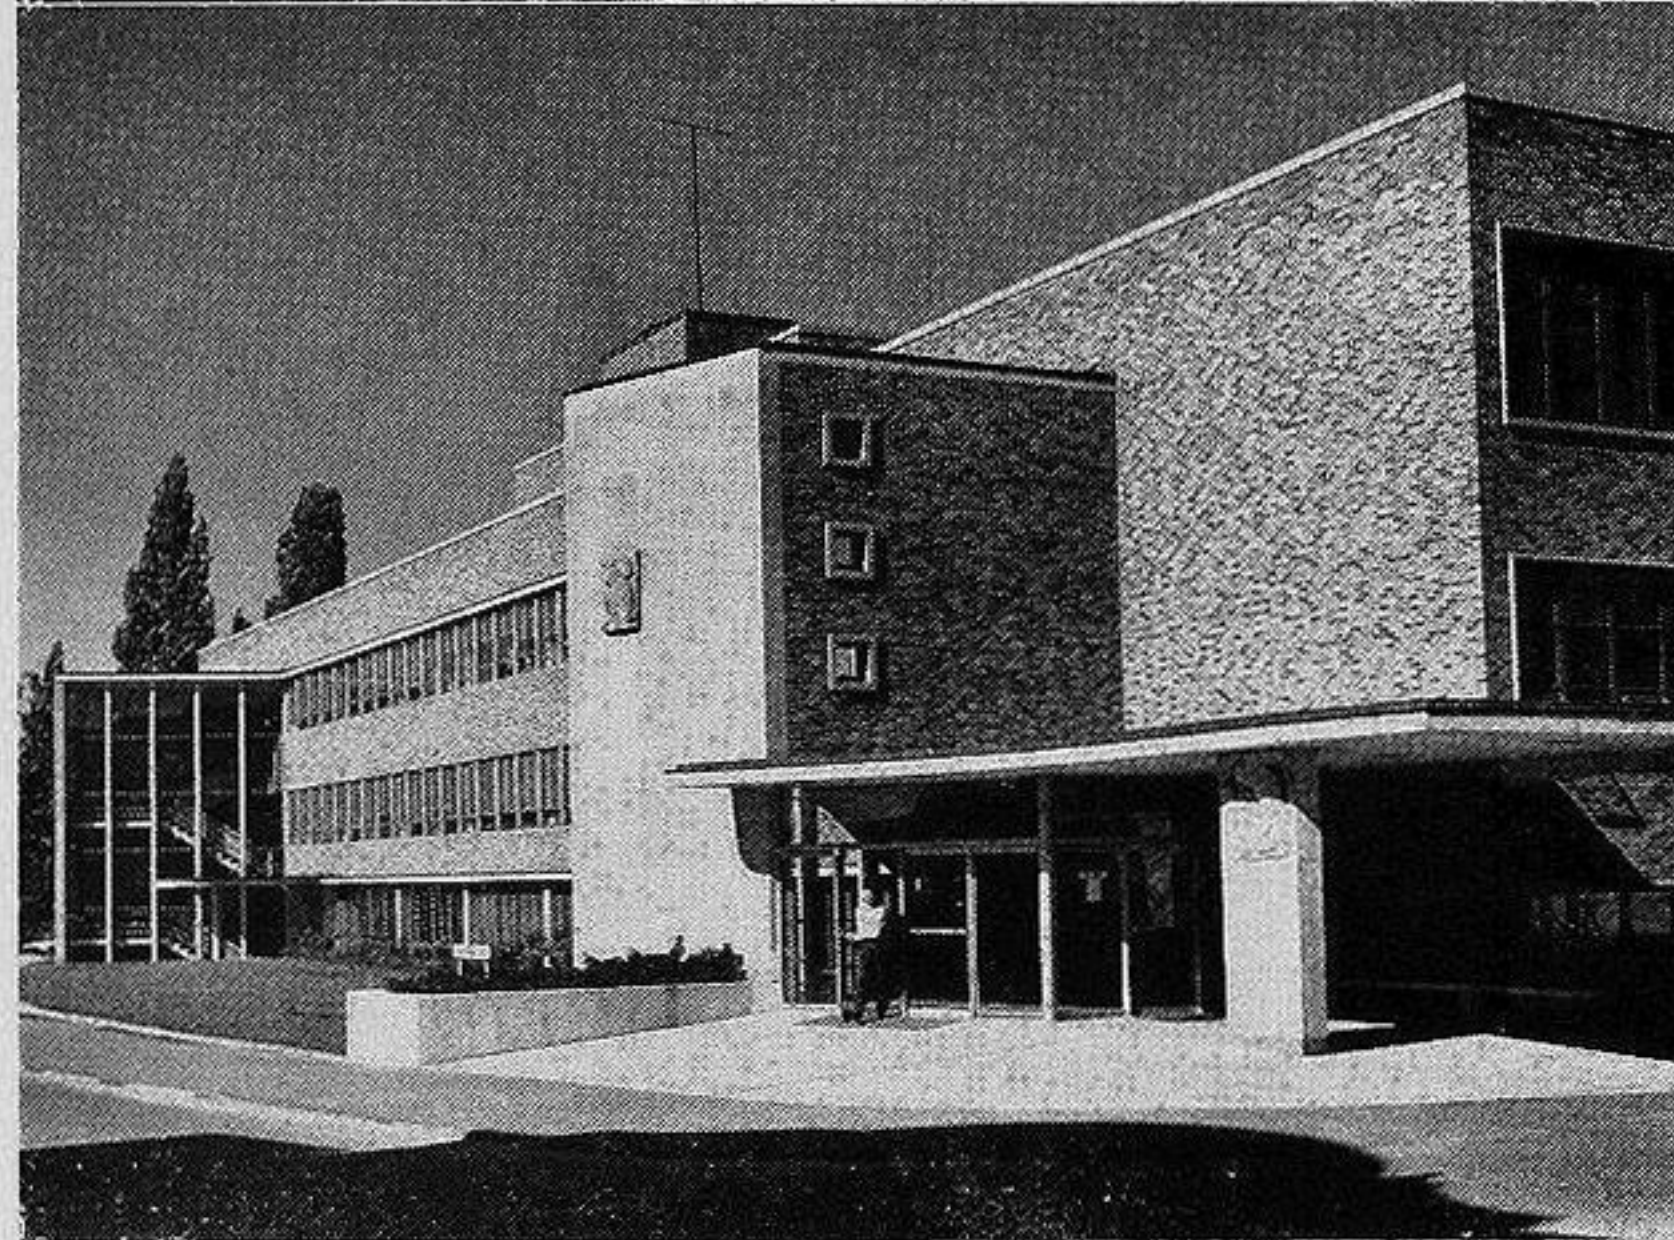

At left is the new Administration Building, pictured from the southwest. Housed in this building are President Allen's office, and offices of many of the University Administrators. The interior of this building is familiar to most students, who spend several hours each quarter registering for their classes.

A dream of a quarter of a century of University Students came true with the opening of the Memorial Union Building. Already completed are the central and north wings, with cafeteria, lounge, activities center, committee rooms, offices, etc. And the south wing which will house such things as bowling alleys, an auditorium, etc., is already underway, and is scheduled to be completed early in 1952.

Another of the buildings of contemporary design on the campus is the Electrical Engineering Building, which has been in use for a couple of years now. Its glassed-in stairways are a feature familiar to most students, but its airy, well-lighted classrooms and offices are features particularly welcome to the students who have classes here.

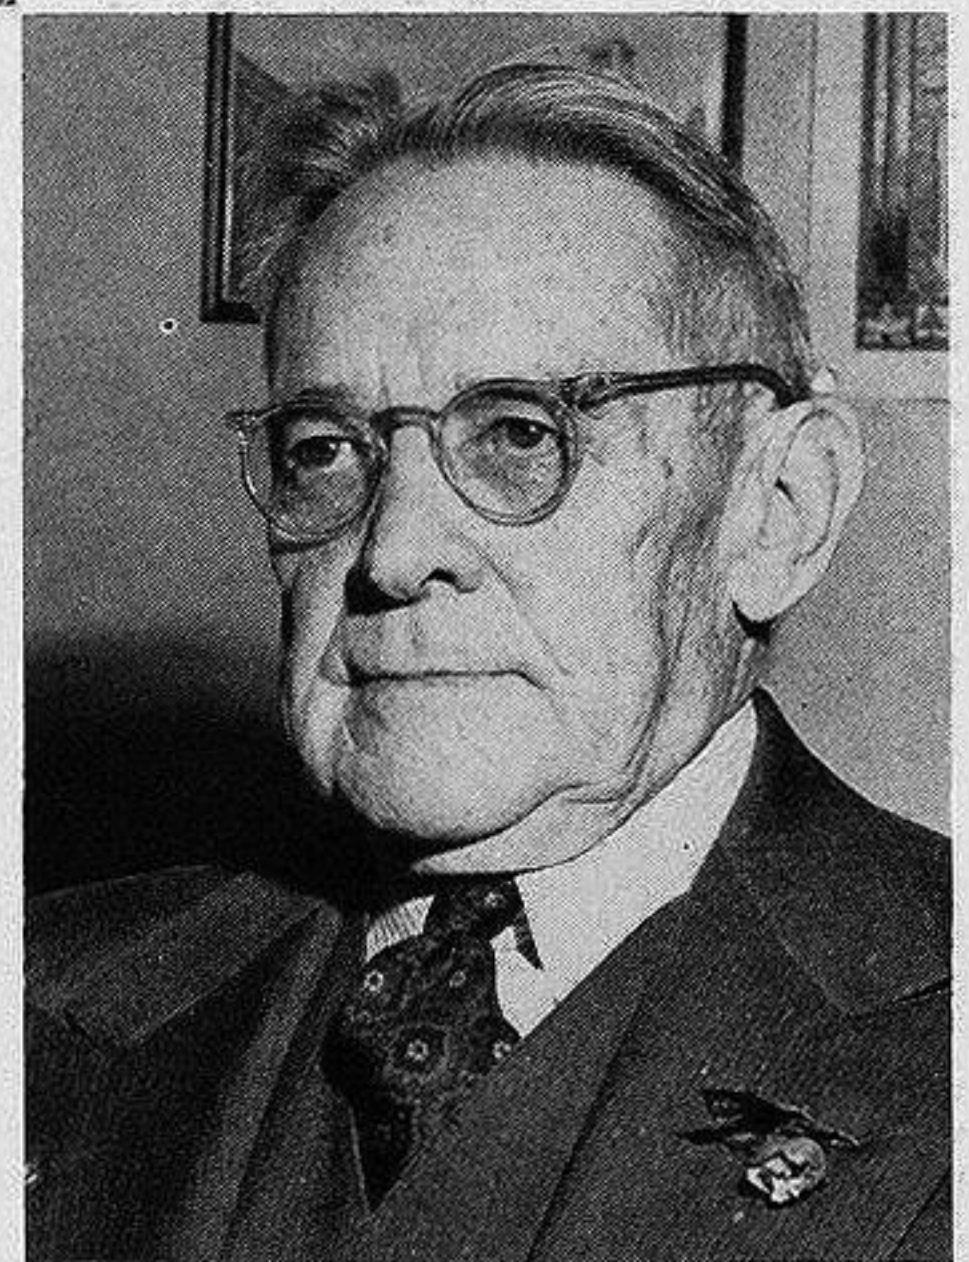

Washington crews have long been famous, but it was less than two years ago that they obtained quarters worthy of their fame. The Conibear Shellhouse, pictured at left, is one of the most modern and best equipped to be found anywhere. Besides the shell storage area and the locker rooms, there is a large social room and spacious shops for construction of the shells and oars used by most of the major rowing schools.

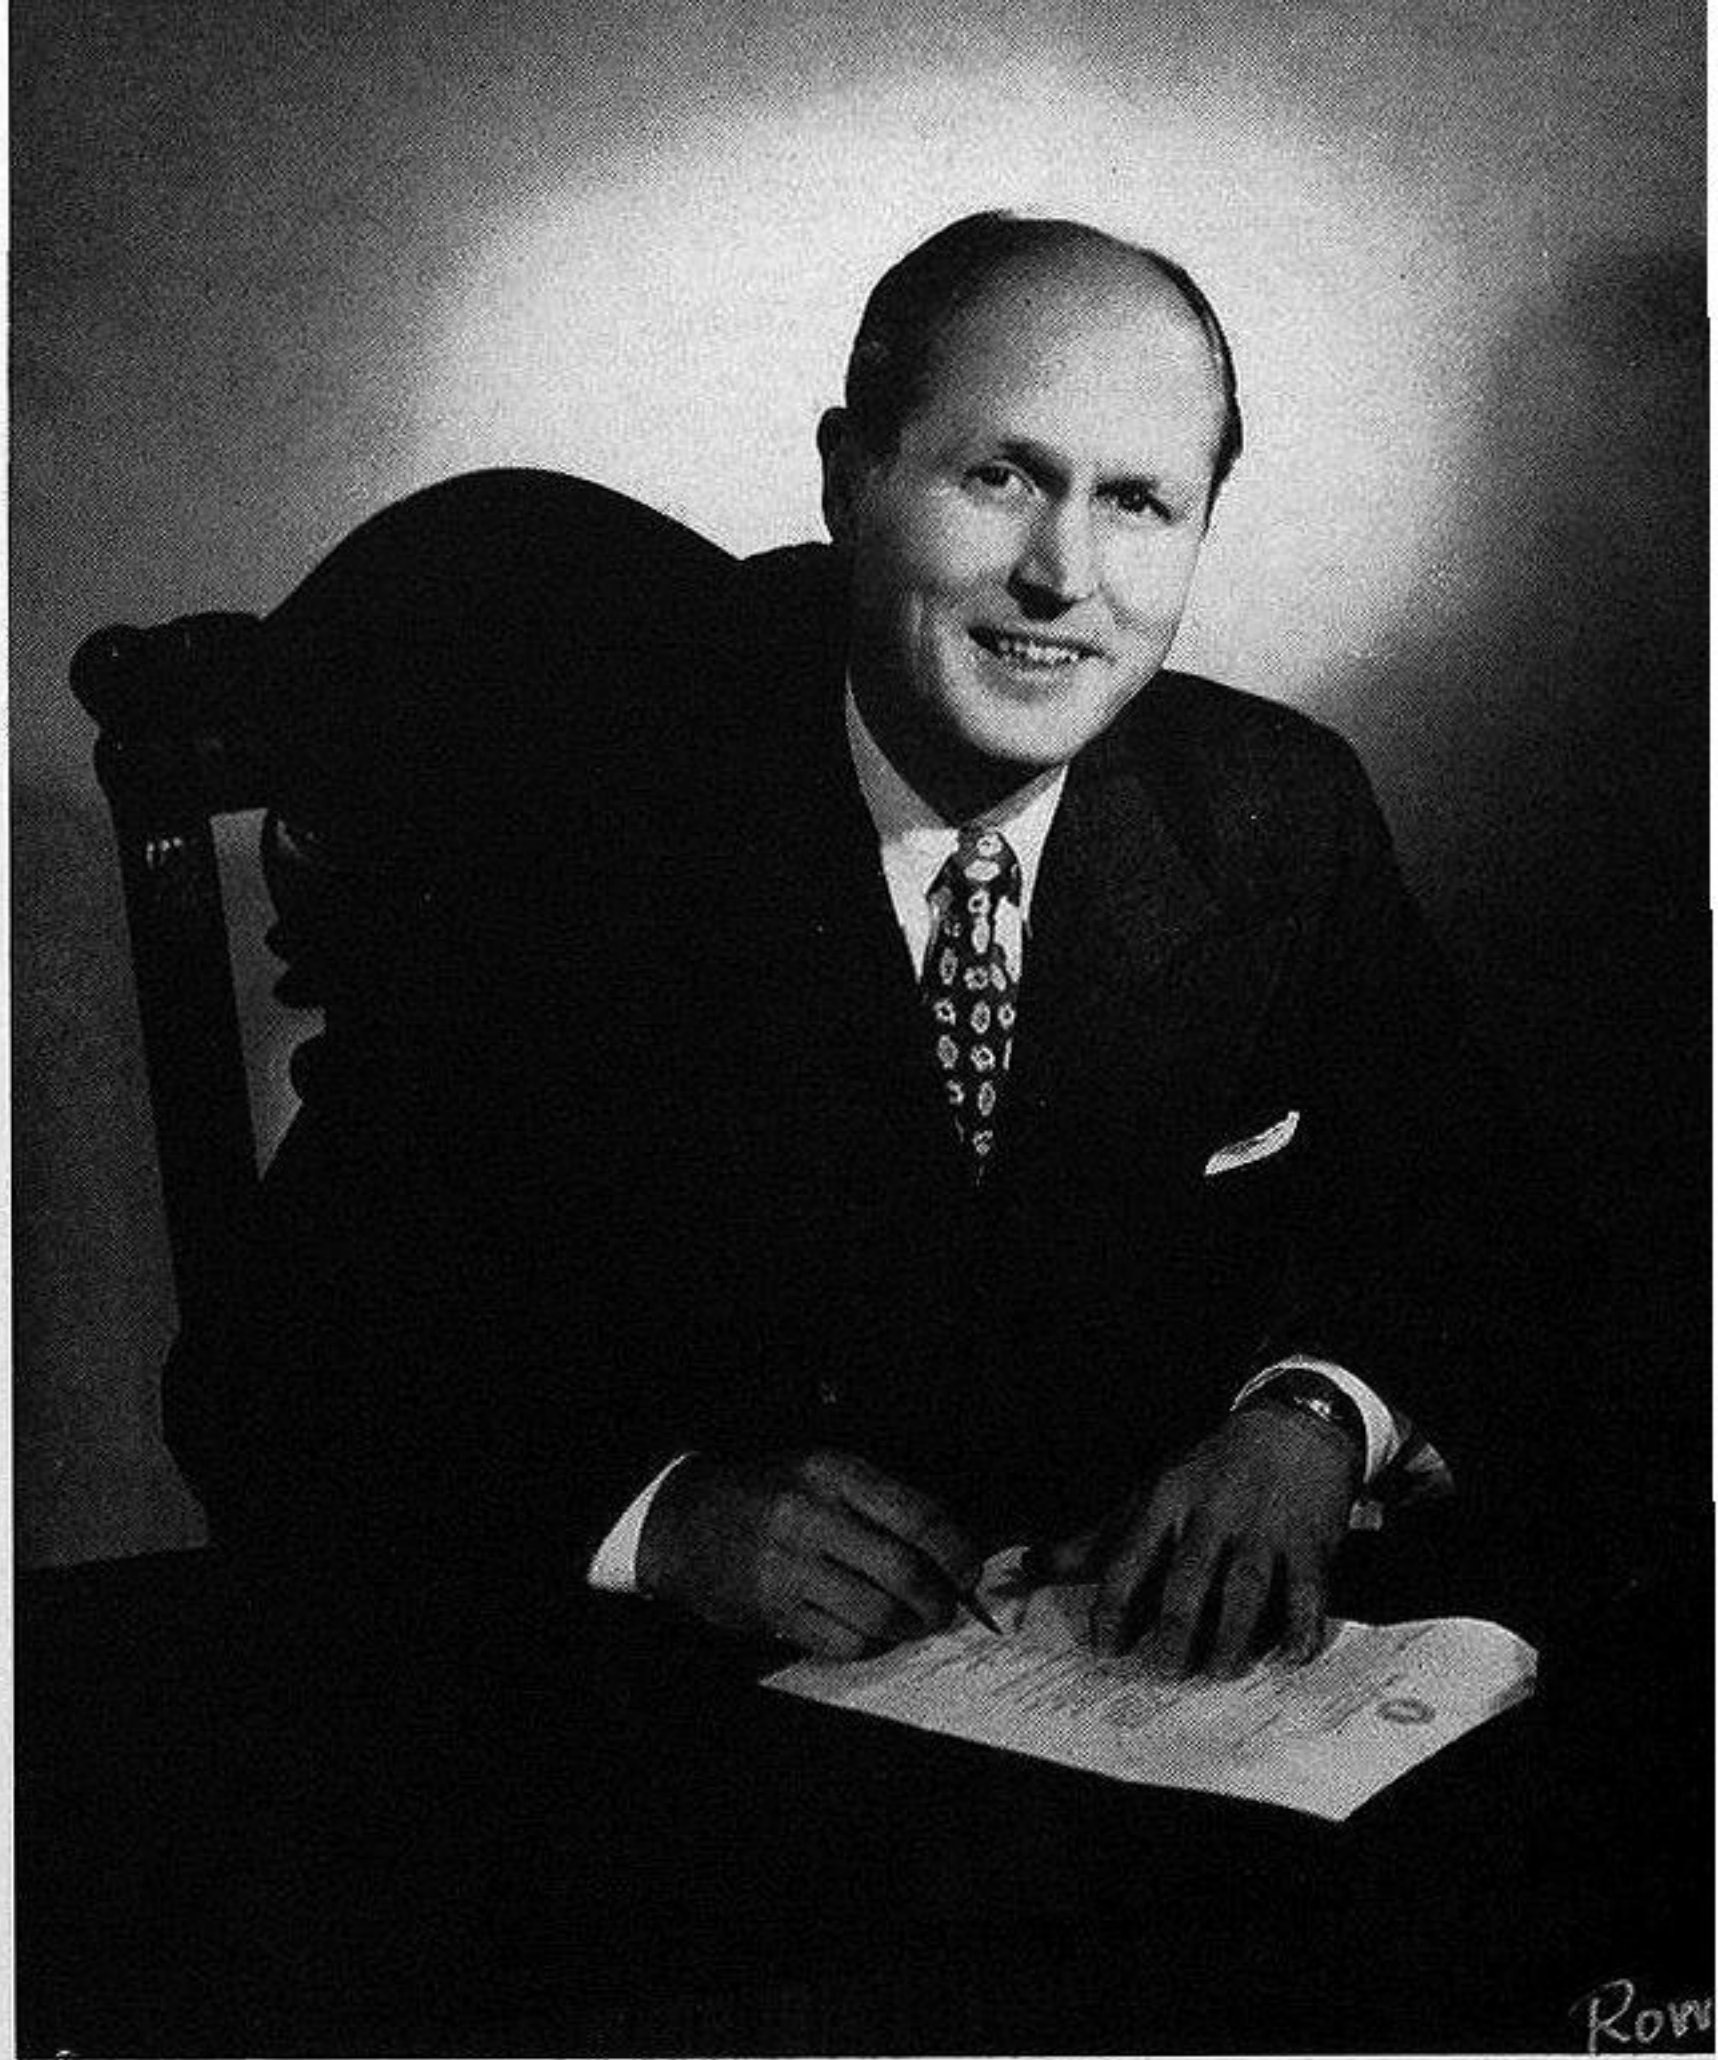

Dean Herbert T. Condon, secretary to the Board of Regents, holds the longest record of continuous active service to Washington. During his 45 years' tenure here, Dean Condon has witnessed the progress the university has made, in both its building and educational program. The campus scene above shows the university as it appeared in 1909 while the other picture depicts the great changes that have taken place over the years.

As the keeper of the traditions of Washington, Dean Condon has passed on his knowledge of the inspirational beginnings and growth of our university to each college generation, as he witnessed it. Currently, his history of the university is being serialized in the "Washington Alumnus."

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

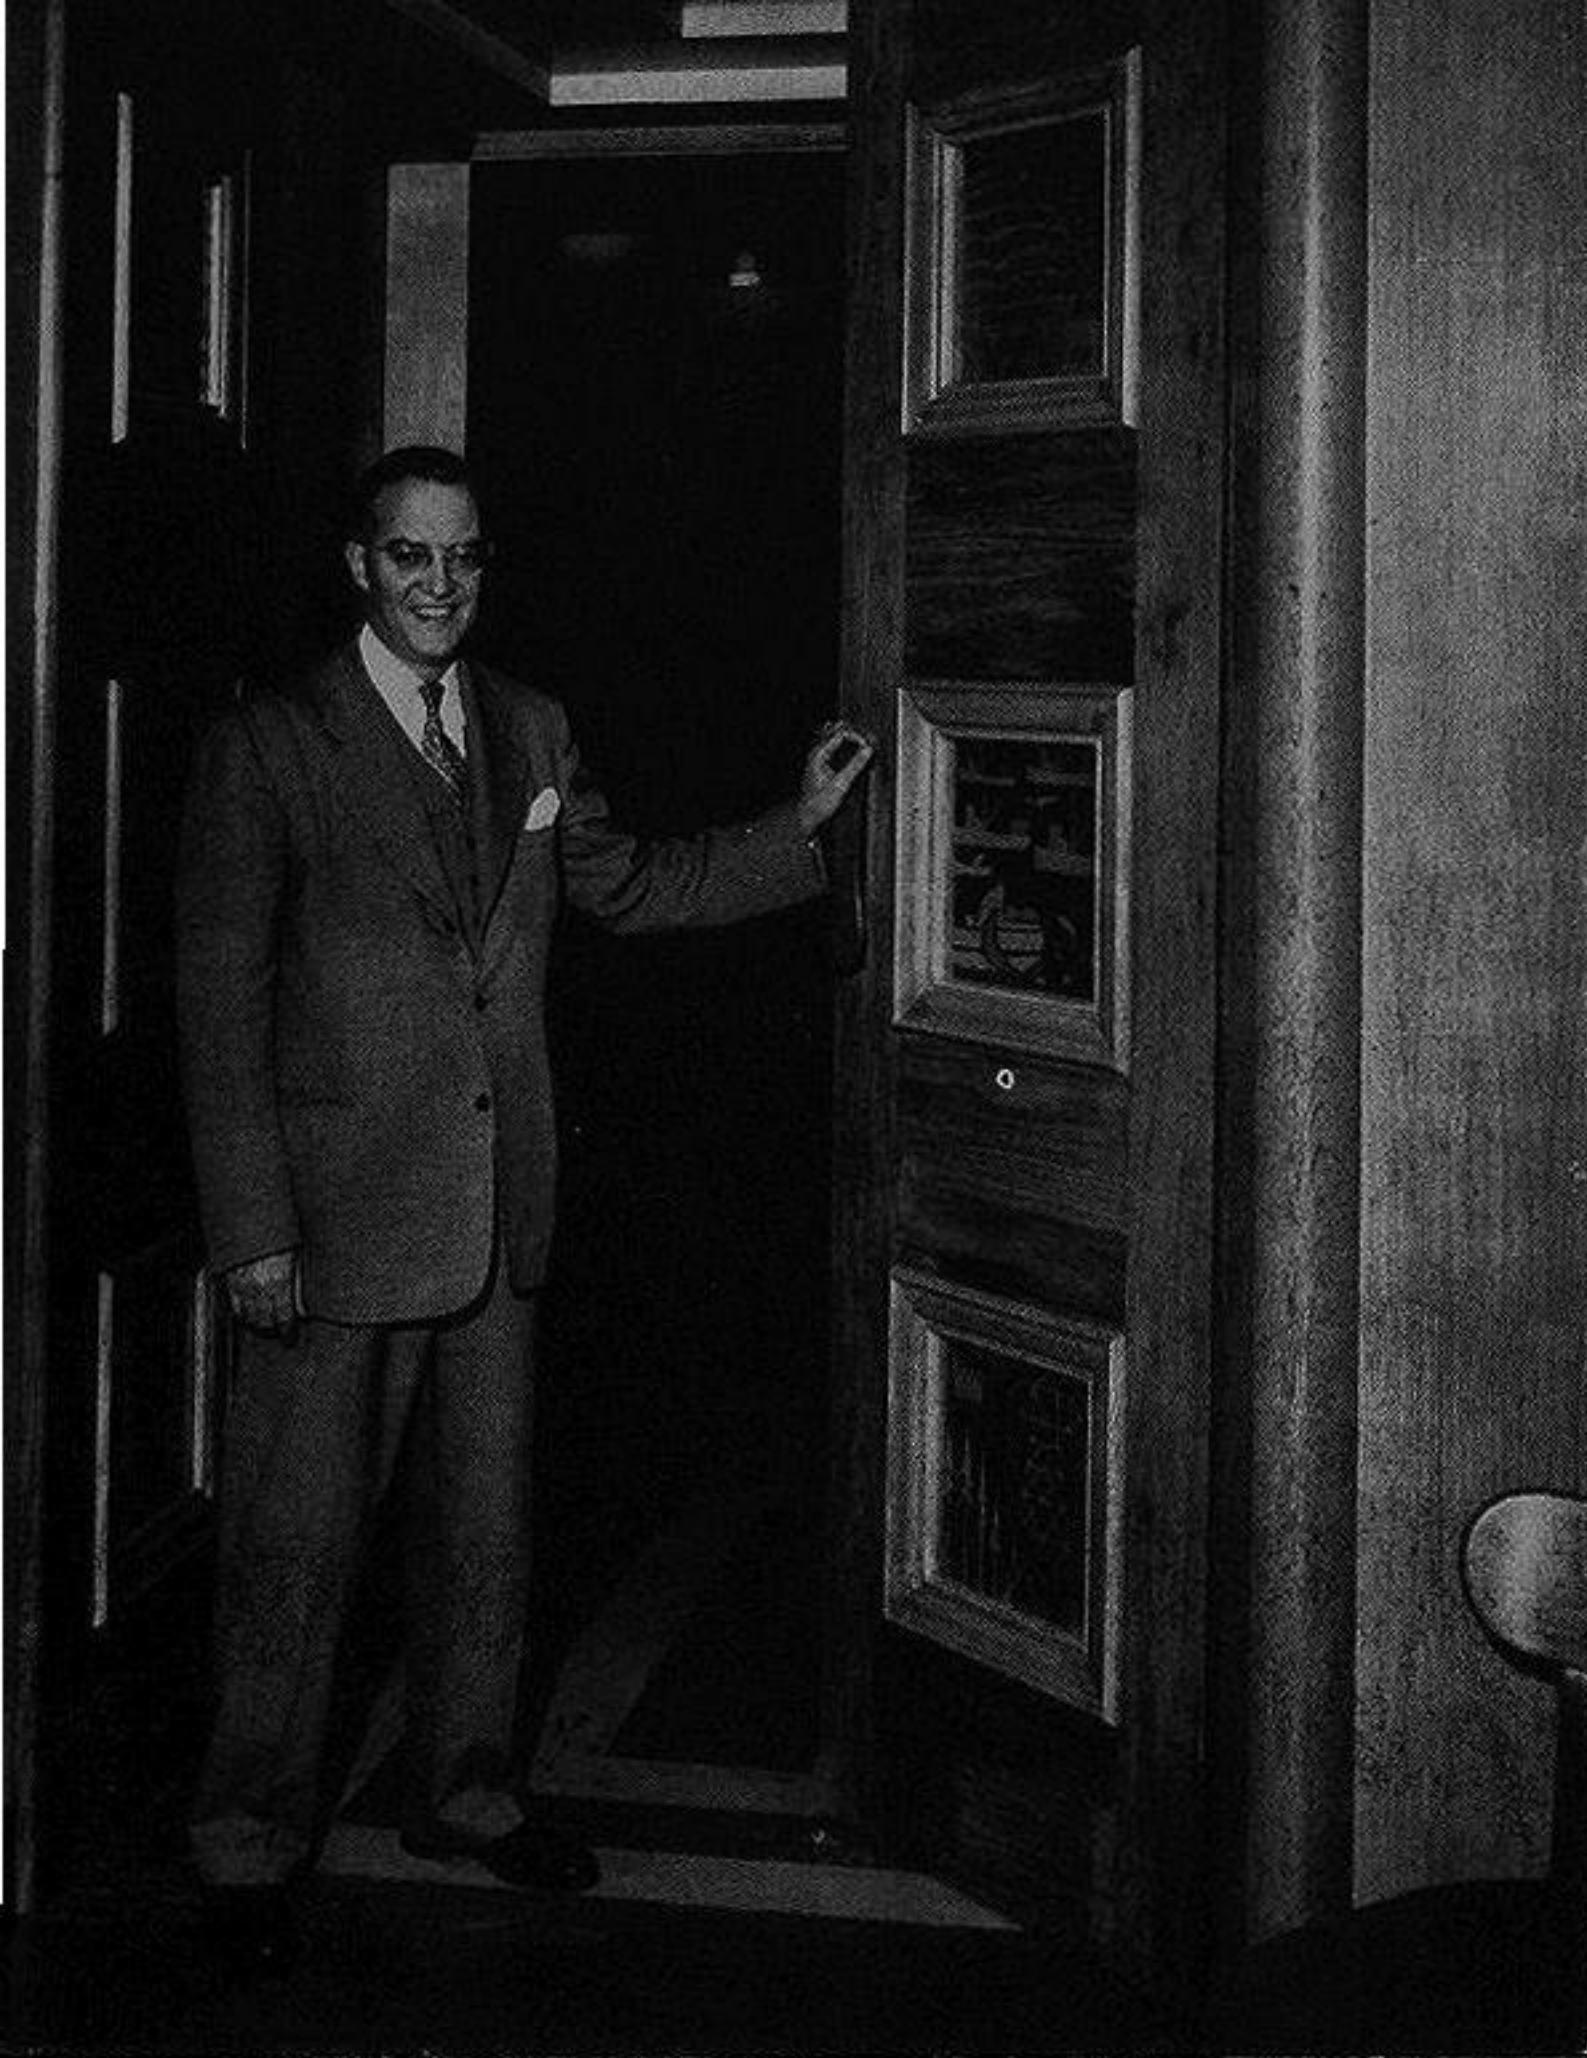

Arthur B. Langlie, Governor of the State of Washington, takes time out from a busy schedule to pen a message to the students of the University of Washington.

This 1951 edition of the TYEE is a memorable record of the challenging progress made by the University in the last few years. From the "Avenue" to the Shores of Lake Washington, new structures have taken their places proudly beside the time-honored halls. The progress evident on the campus is much less a record of the past than a promise of the future.

Perilous days lie ahead and our strength is the strength of our minds as well as our bodies. These new facilities assure the means to equip the youth of our state with the mental and moral strength we need to defend our homes and our way of life.

Buildings alone do not determine the stature of our beloved University, but the last few years represent an advance in academic achievement and a step to greater renown in the family of national institutions.

Arthur B. Langlie

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

PRESIDENT RAYMOND B. ALLEN stands in the doorway which leads to the Board of Regents room. The panels in the door depict the six major industries of Washington. The ones on the right typify farming, fishing and power.

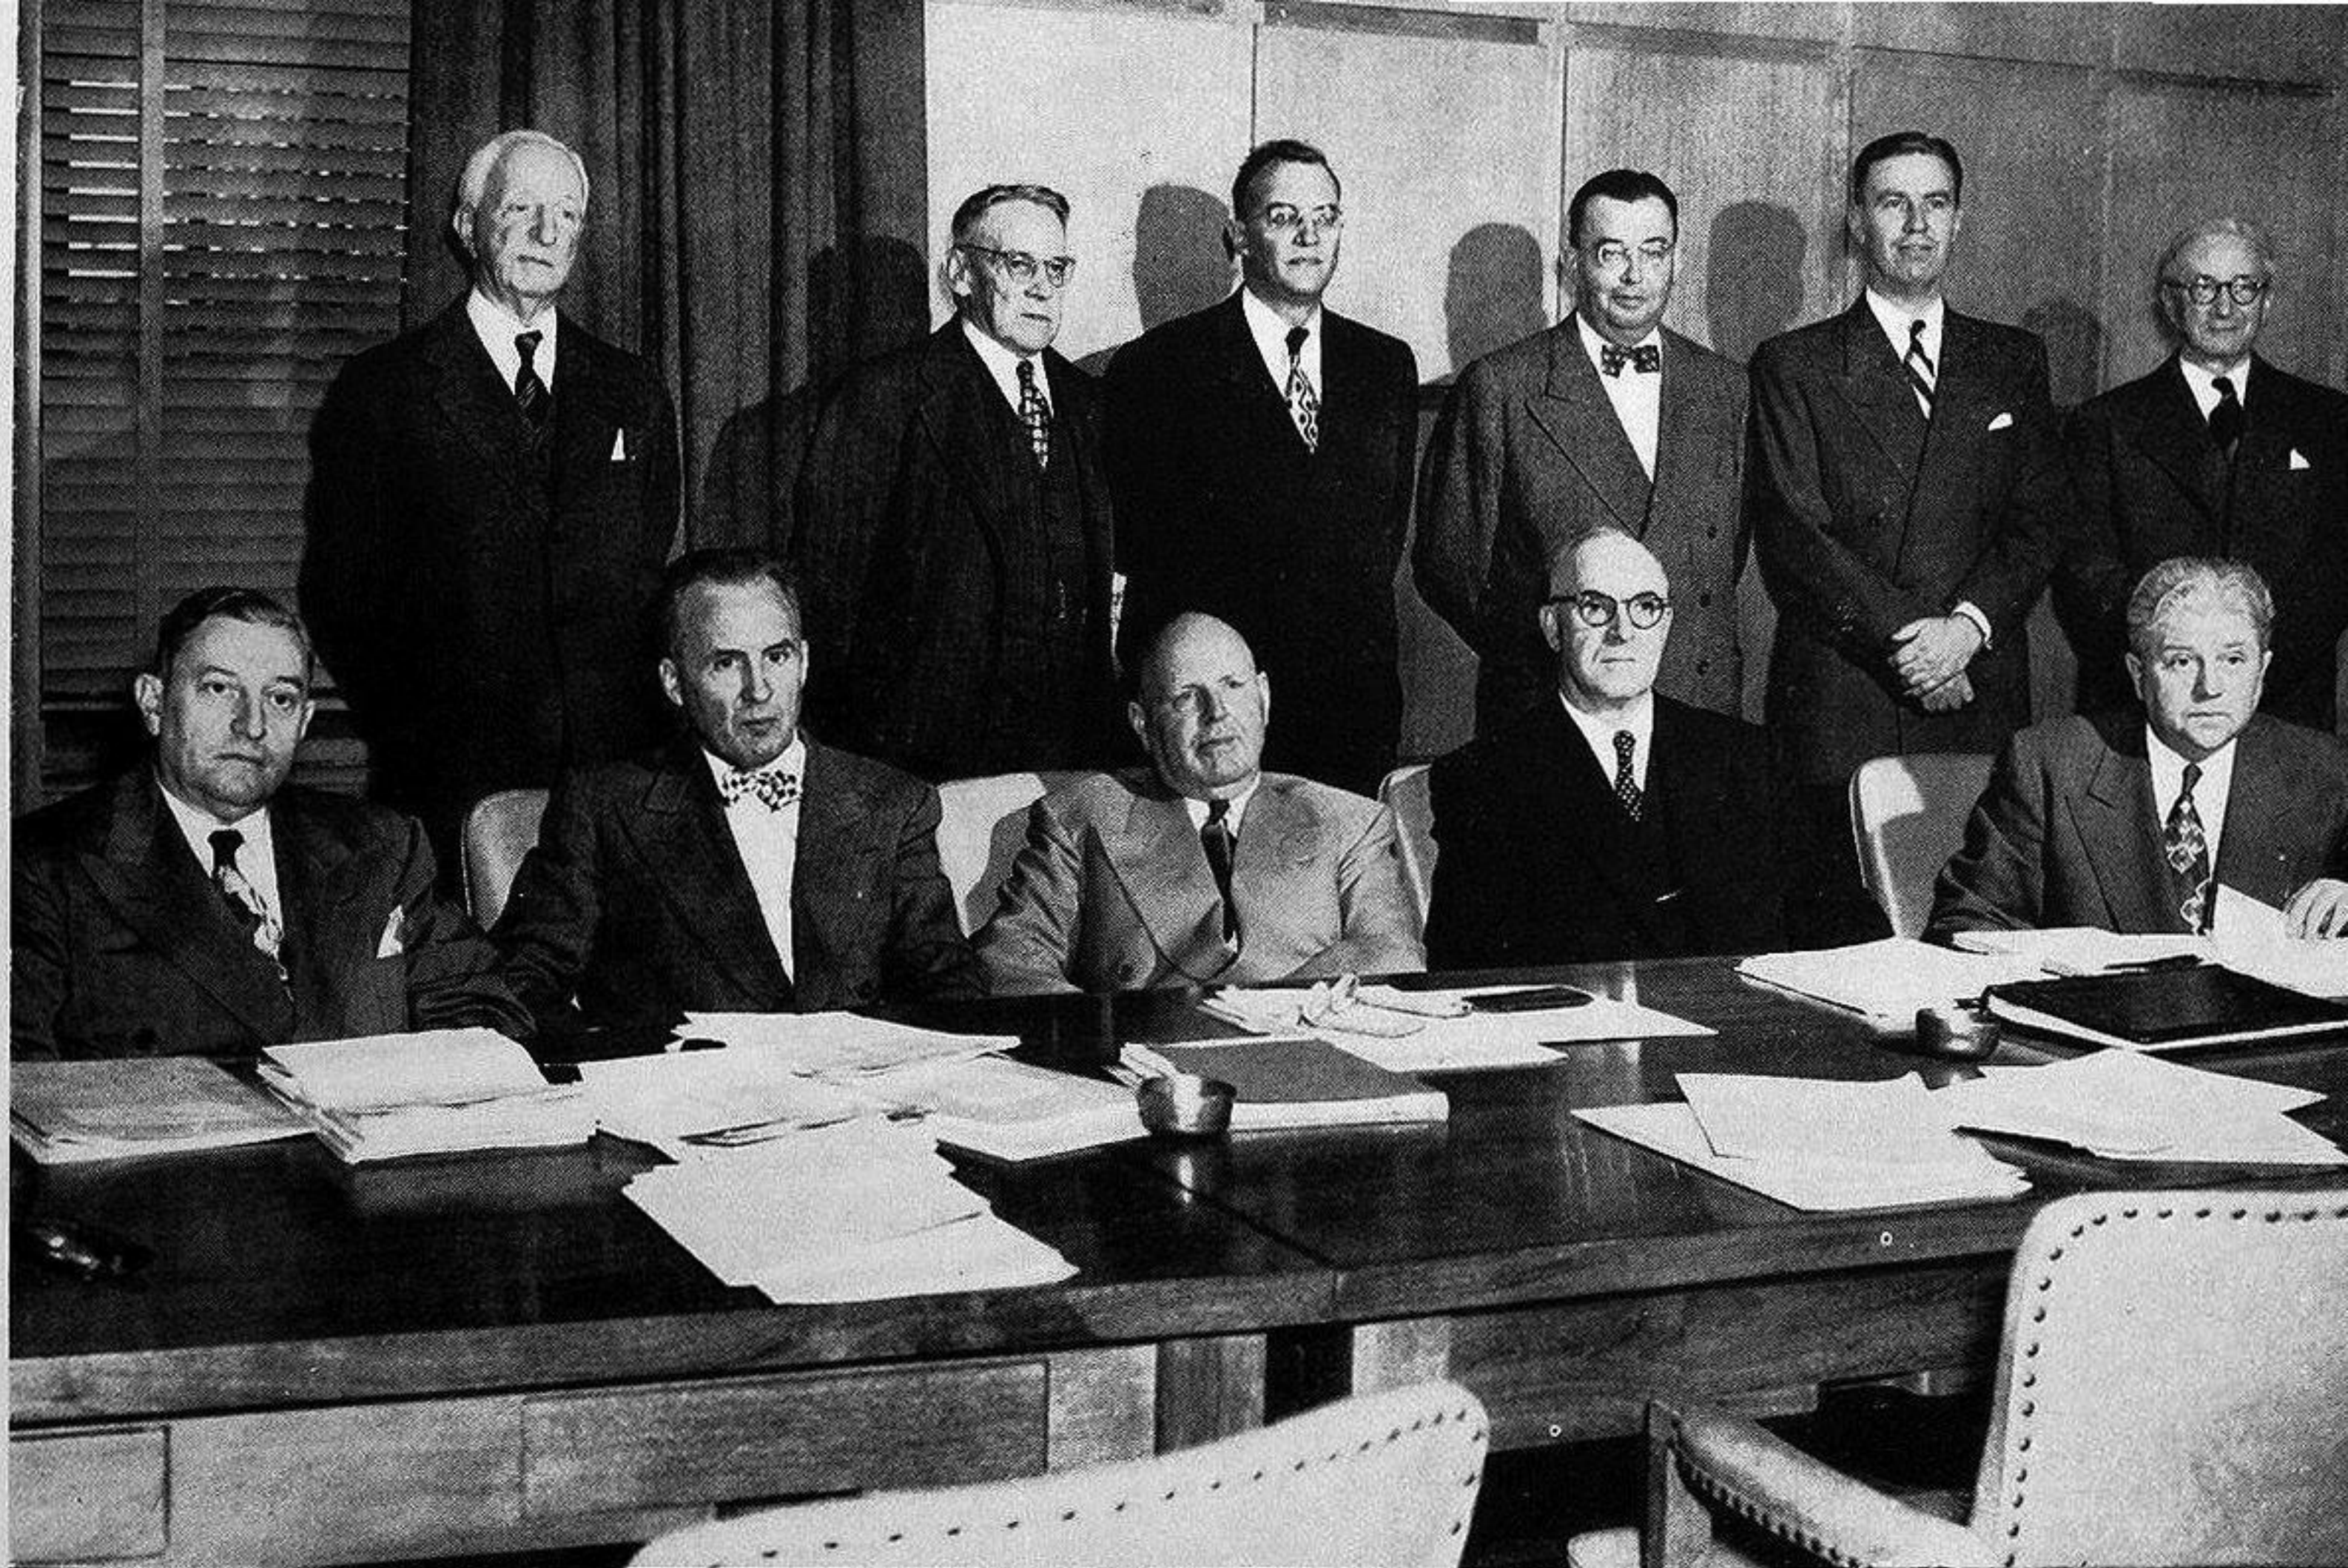

The Class of 1951 has witnessed a cycle of growth and development at the University of Washington almost unparalleled in the institution's history. This growth has taken place in many ways—in improvement of faculty and staff, both numerically and in distinction, in additions to the physical plant and in the establishment of new facilities such as the Schools of Medicine and Dentistry.

More important than these tangible additions to the University, however, is the exciting and inspiring growth of the intellectual life of the University community which for 90 years has been an increasingly important factor in the life and economy of the State of Washington. The constant efforts of many people, past and present, to preserve and improve the traditions of scholarship, research and teaching are characteristic of this great University.

The enrichment of the intellectual and creative life of the University you have witnessed is the result, in large measure, of the addition to the staff of many outstanding scholars and scientists. While the University has always been a national institution, in these years it has achieved truly national stature more fully than ever before. During the past half decade, it indeed has become an international University by reason of its intensified interest in foreign lands, particularly those of the Pacific Basin and the Far East, the association of its staff members with government and foreign service and the increasing numbers of foreign students who have sought out this campus as a place for study. This broadened scope of the University's activities is of immeasurable benefit to all our students in the enrichment of intellectual and cultural atmosphere. Students learn from students as well as from their teachers; every teacher is both a teacher and a student; and, conversely, every student is both a student and a teacher. This idea is inherent in a university that seeks to discharge its full functions in the best tradition of education.

In extending to you my best wishes for continued success beyond the University, I wish merely to remind you of these enhanced opportunities that have been yours and urge upon you adherence to the noble principles of seeking after truth which animates your University and some measure of which I am sure has become a part of you and will be a guide to you in the days ahead. I would charge you to be yourselves, to understand yourselves, and to be loyal to yourselves, your families, your University, your country and your fellow men.

Raymond B. Allen

BOARD OF REGENTS

The Board of Regents is composed of seven members appointed by the governor with the consent of the senate for a term of six years. Complete control of the university is vested in the board whose members serve without compensation.

Present board members are:

Dave Beck, PRESIDENT, Seattle: Executive Vice-President International Brotherhood of Teamsters; President State of Washington Joint Council of Teamsters No. 28; President Western Conference of Teamsters. Term as regent expires 1952.

George R. Stuntz, VICE-PRESIDENT, Seattle: LL.B., 1928, Washington. Attorney. Served in U. S. Navy two and one-half years during World War II. Term as regent expires 1951.

Grant Armstrong, Chehalis: 1929, University of Washington Law school. Attorney, police judge, Chehalis. Veteran of World War II. Term as regent expires 1956.

Thomas Balmer, Seattle: 1909, Washington. Vice-President and Western Counsel, Great Northern Railway Company. Term as regent expires 1953.

Clarence J. Coleman, Everett: B.A., 1919; LL.B., 1922, Washington. Practices law in company with his father. Term as regent expires 1950.

Donald G. Corbett; B.S., 1923; Doctor's degree, 1927, University of Pennsylvania. Member of the medical association advisory committee to the University Medical school. Term as regent expires 1956.

John L. King, Seattle: A.B., 1925; M.A., 1941, Washington. Director Radio and Research, Washington State Grange. Member State Advisory Commission. Taught school 1925-1937. State High School Supervisor, 1937-1941. Term as regent expires 1952.

Winlock W. Miller, Seattle: LL.B., 1892, Yale. Known as "Dean" of University regents after 29 years' service. Overseer of Whitman College. Term as regent expires 1953.

ADMINISTRATORS

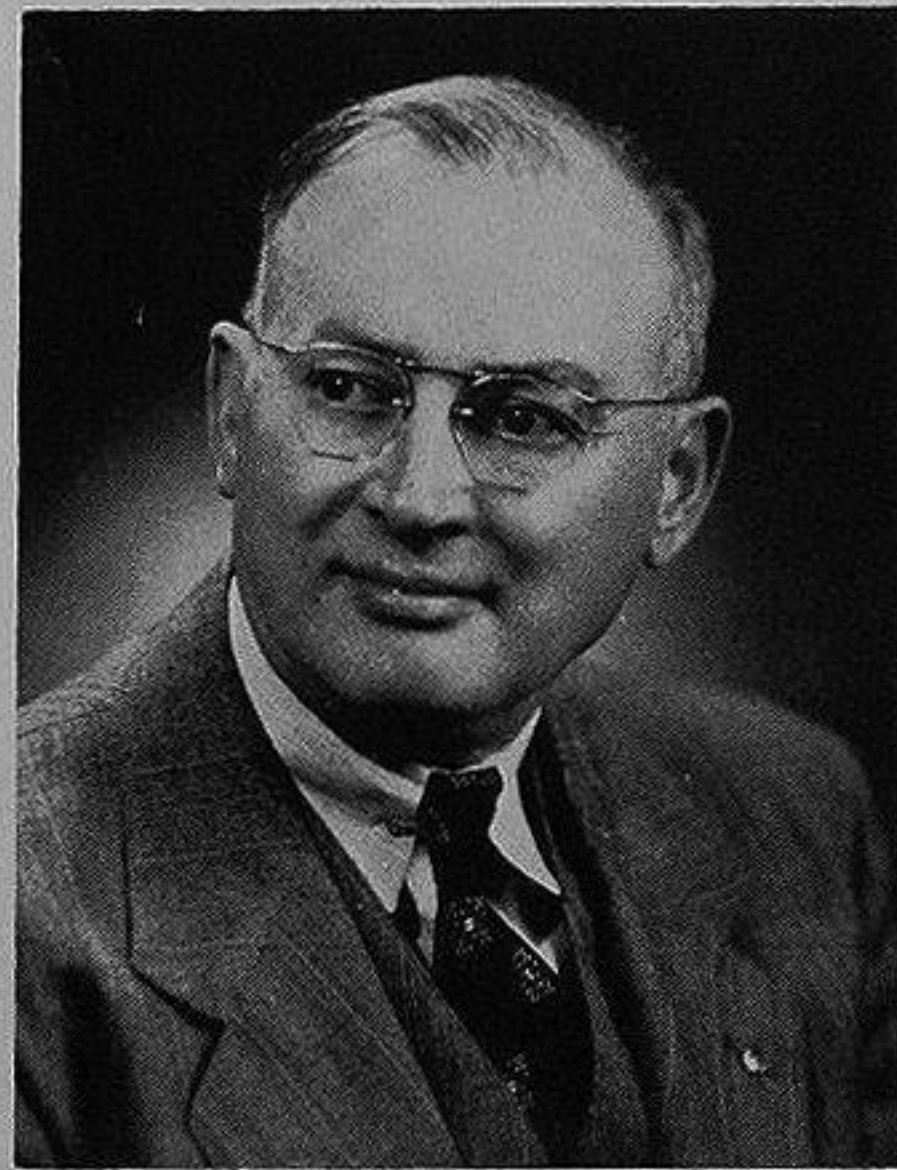

Guiding the many phases of university activities is the job of the administrators. Their various positions cover a wide range of duties such as the financial, physical and educational well being of the university and its students.

Financial control is vested in the comptroller, the assistant comptroller, the registrar and the purchasing agent while other administrators handle the physical aspects of the university.

Such physical aspects are controlled by the superintendent of buildings and grounds and the director of campus housing. The well being of the students is directed by the counselor of the women's residence halls, the director of the food service and the director of health service.

The Office of Student Affairs is primarily a service organization specializing in the out-of-class life of the university students.

Its functions include counseling individual students and organized groups, providing loans and scholarships for qualified students, finding jobs or housing and acting as an information center on campus life. Data on other departments and offices are always available. If you have a question that the OSA cannot answer, they will get the answer for you.

Personal problems receive helpful and confidential attention from the staff of experienced counselors whose job it is to help students adjust to university life.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

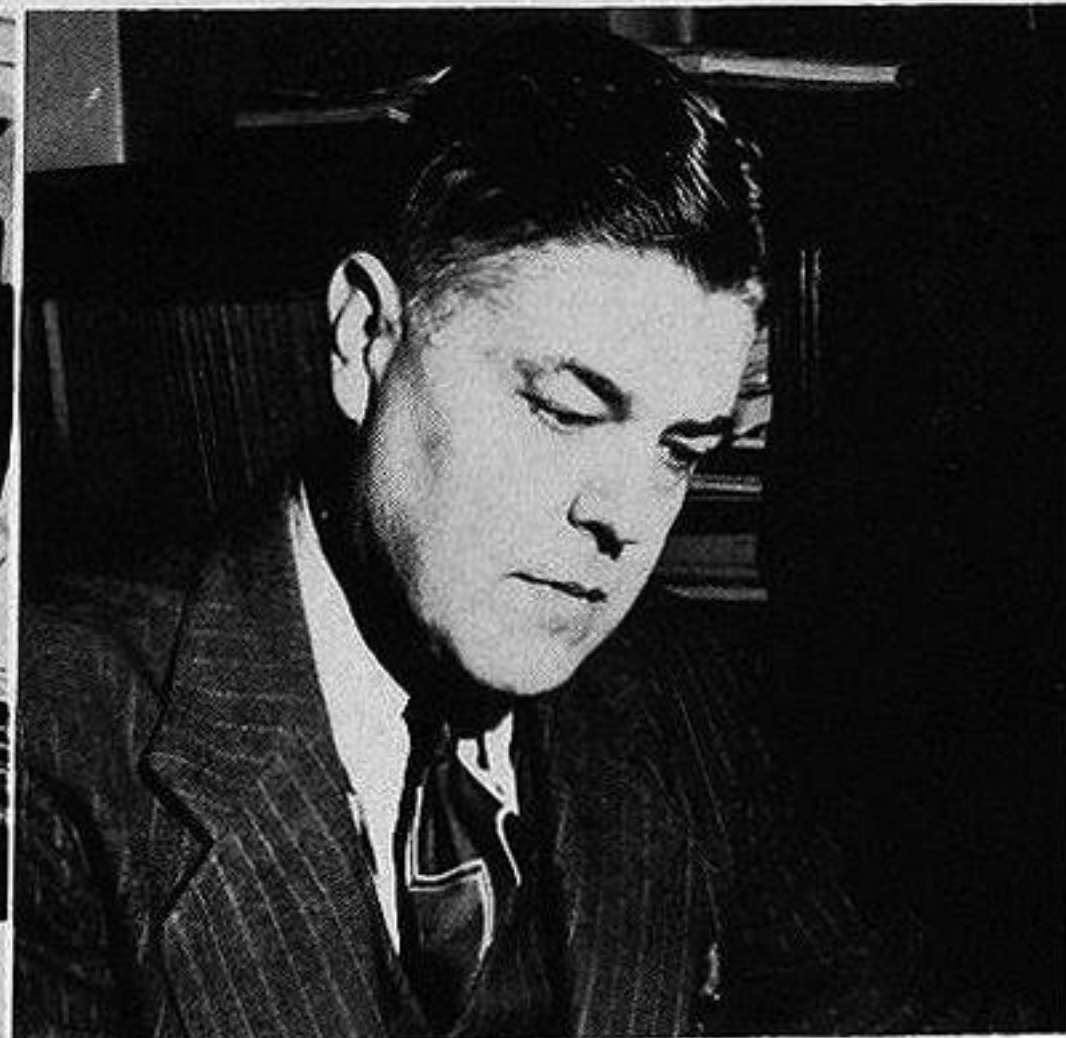

DEAN LLOYD S. WOODBURNE

This year LLOYD S. WOODBURNE took over the post of Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences when former Dean Edward Lauer became Dean of Students. Its eight schools and forty departments are training over ten thousand students for varied occupations. The College's three main divisions, Humanities, Social Sciences, and Sciences, offer courses ranging from pure science to classical literature. Also in the College are students under the General Studies program and those preparing for entry into professional fields such as law, medicine, dentistry, nursing and teaching.

The Botany Department, headed by DR. C. L. HITCHCOCK, in addition to laboratory and classroom work, gives students opportunity to apply classroom knowledge on field trips both locally and to other states along the Pacific coast.

As head of the Chemistry Department, DR. PAUL C. CROSS supervises the laboratory and classroom training of students whose future occupations include industrial chemistry, laboratory science, teaching, and research work.

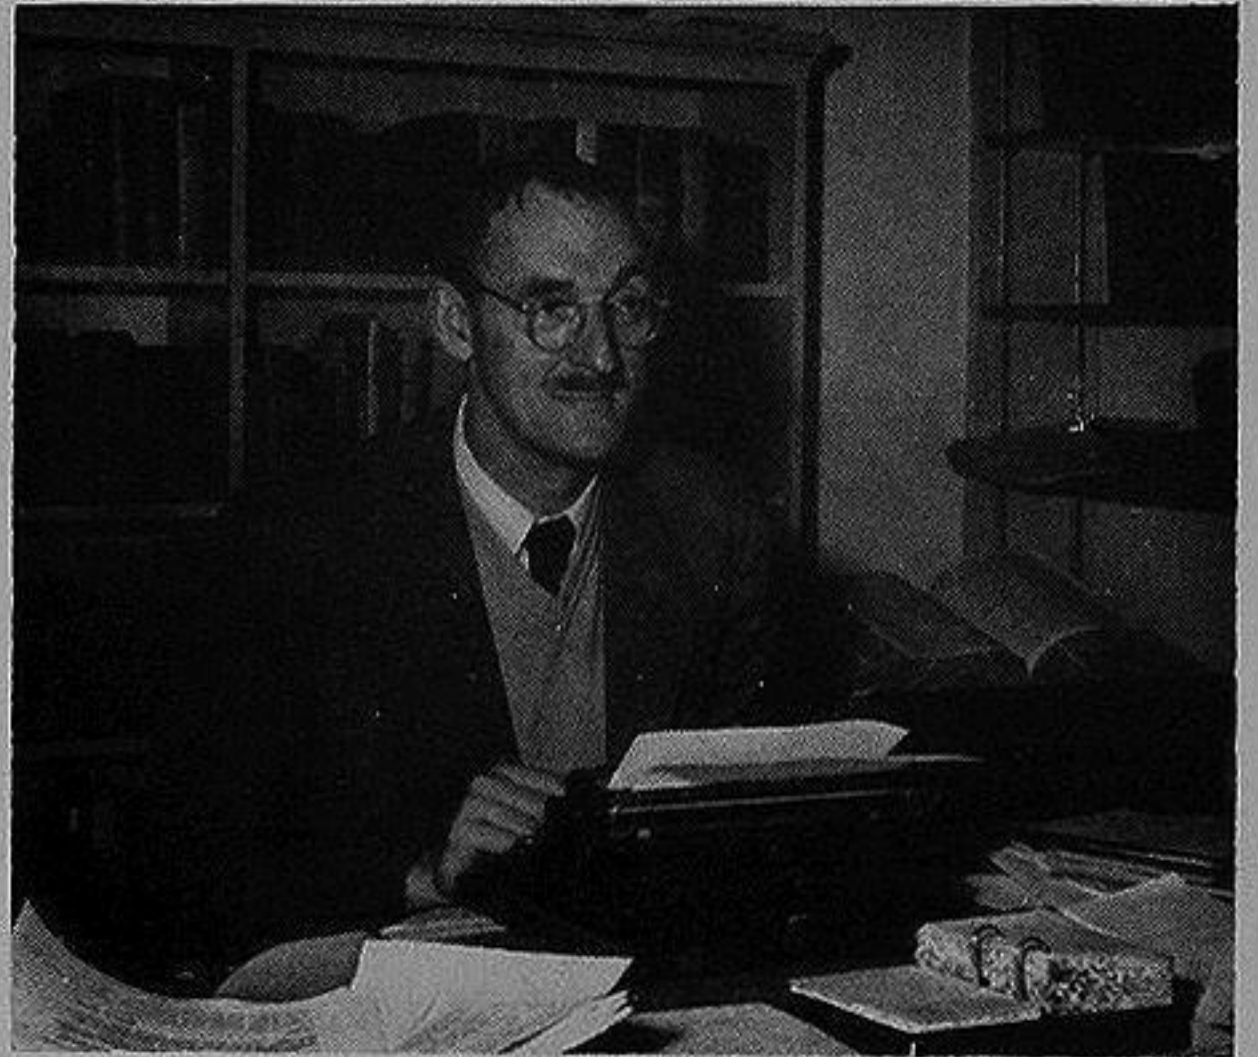

The Classical Languages Department, headed by DR. JOHN B. McDIARMID, offers courses in the Latin and Greek languages and also in their literatures. A course in Antiquities is also offered and is designed to help students with no classical language training to increase their vocabularies.

Only two years old is the Department of Economics, supervised during its early growth by DR. J. RICHARD HUBER. Jobs as consultants or analysts in private business, federal and state agencies, and foreign service are among the many openings to its majors.

Seated at his typewriter is DR. ROBERT B. HEILMAN, head of the English Department. English majors have for their pleasure and convenience the Walker-Ames room, well stocked with some of the best literature of the ages.

Howard Martin was replaced this year as head of the Geography Department by DR. WILLIAM HUDSON, who took over the post in May. The University is one of the few schools in the country qualified to offer doctorate training in this interesting field.

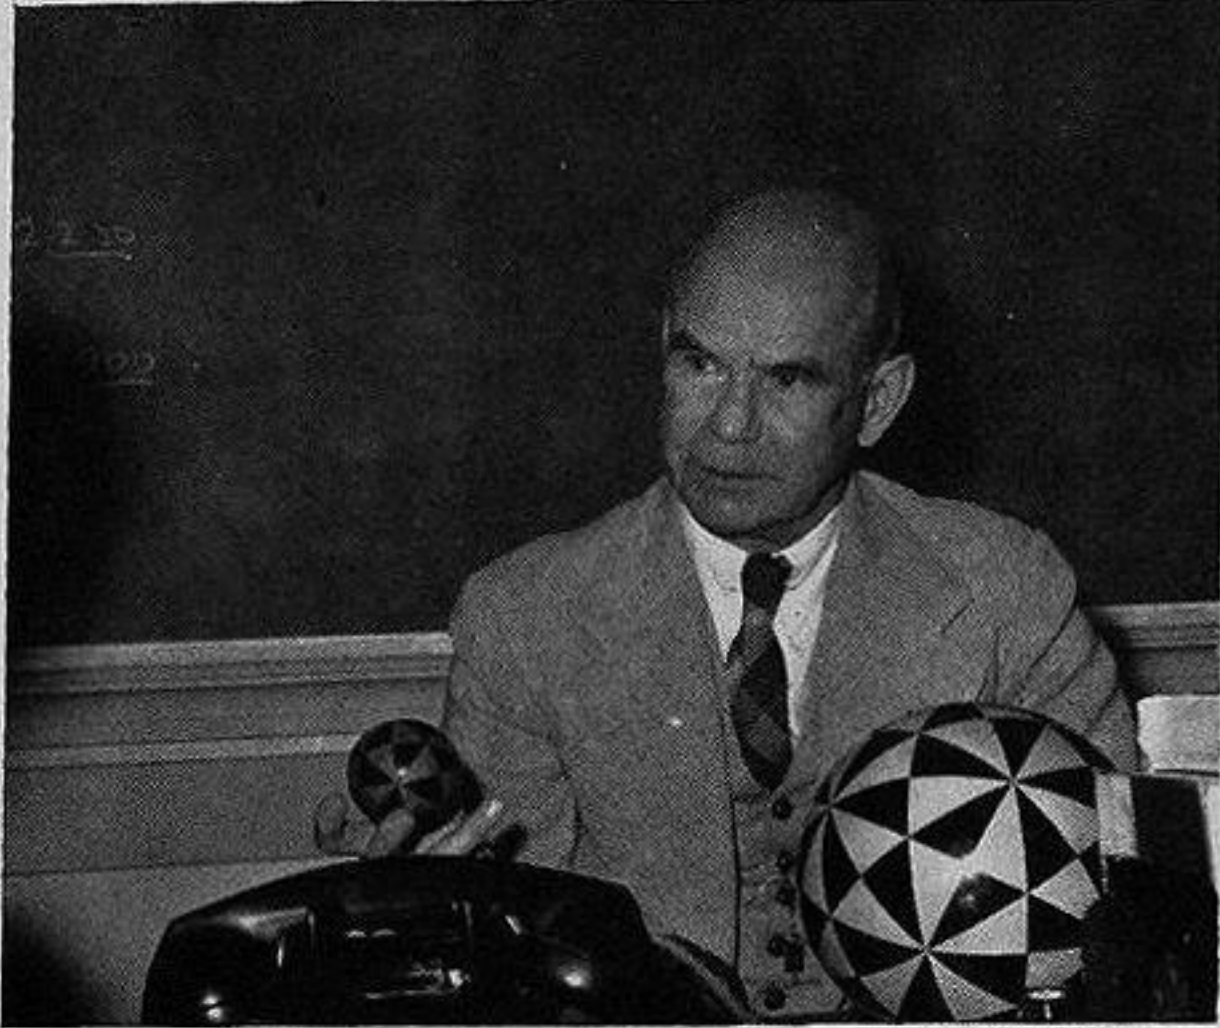

Study of earth structure, earth movement, fossils, and rock strata fall under the administration of DR. G. E. GOODSPEED, head of the Geology Department. The six branches of study are designed to prepare students for the new positions opening in this fast-growing field.

Divided into three divisions is the Department of Germanic Languages, headed by Dr. CURTIS D. VAIL. Open for study are courses in Germanic languages, philosophy, and literature.

Carrying on the tradition set by Dr. Edmund Meany, the first director of the History Department, is DR. WILLIAM STULL HOLT, present department head. The courses offered include everything from ancient to modern history.

Futures in scientific work, research, and teaching are among the futures anticipated by mathematics majors. The Department of Mathematics has increased steadily since its founding in 1875 and is at the present time headed by DR. R. M. WINGER.

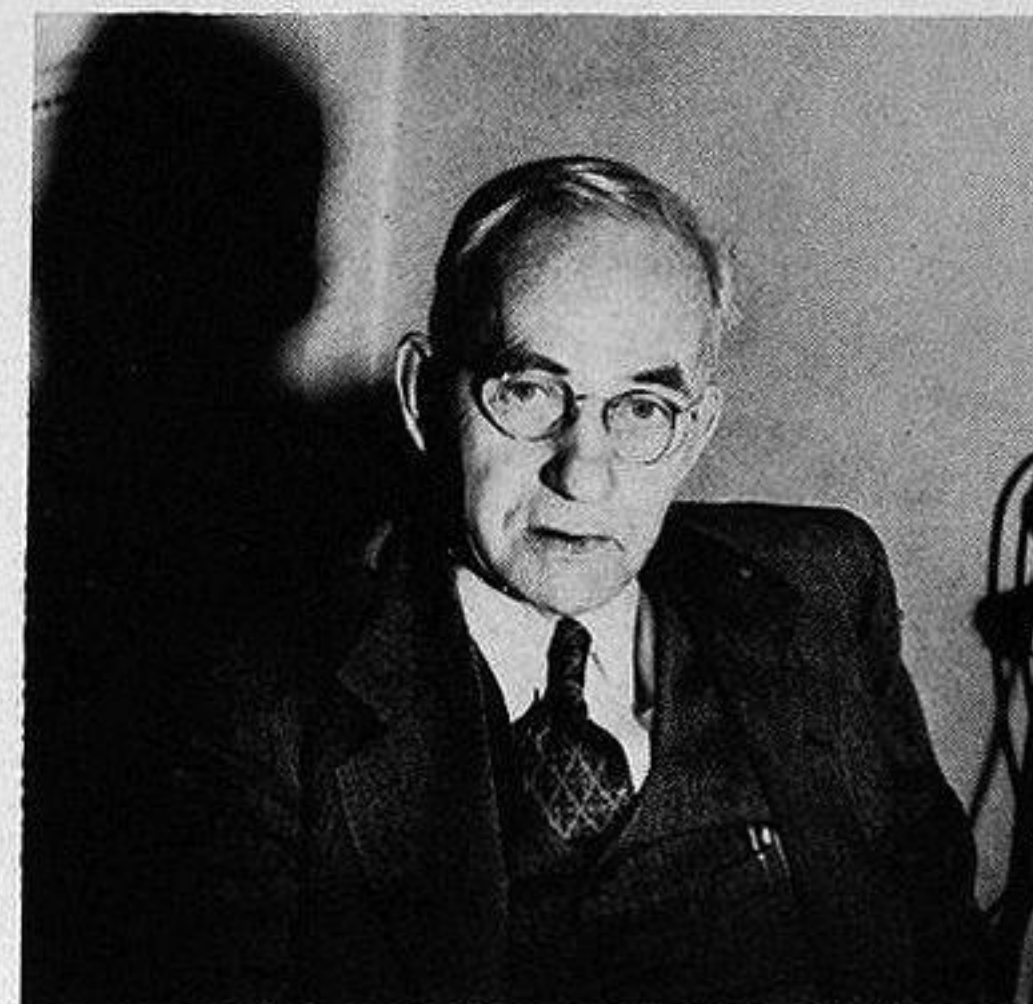

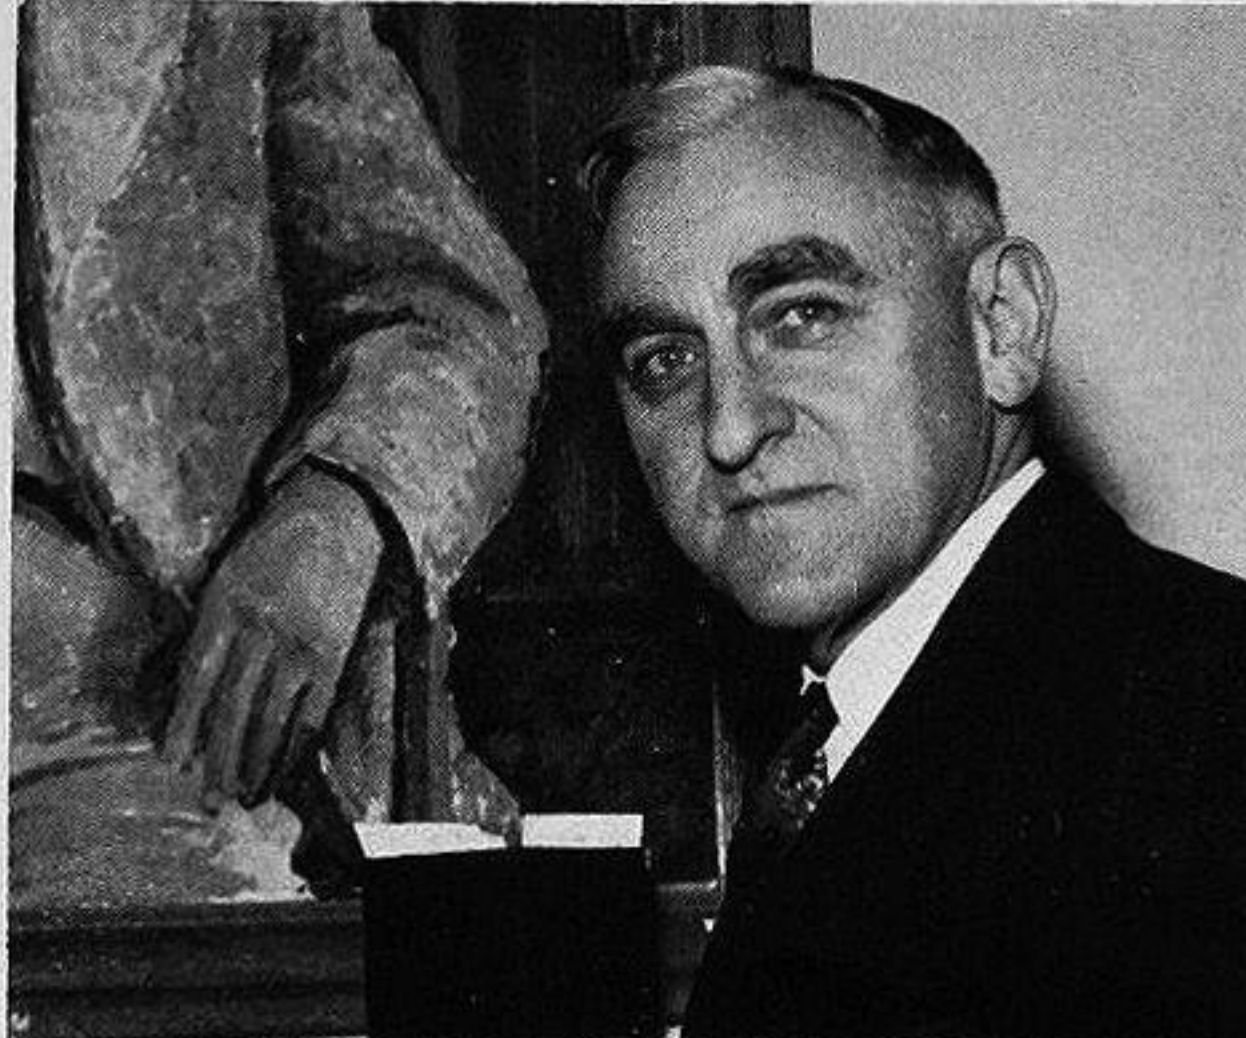

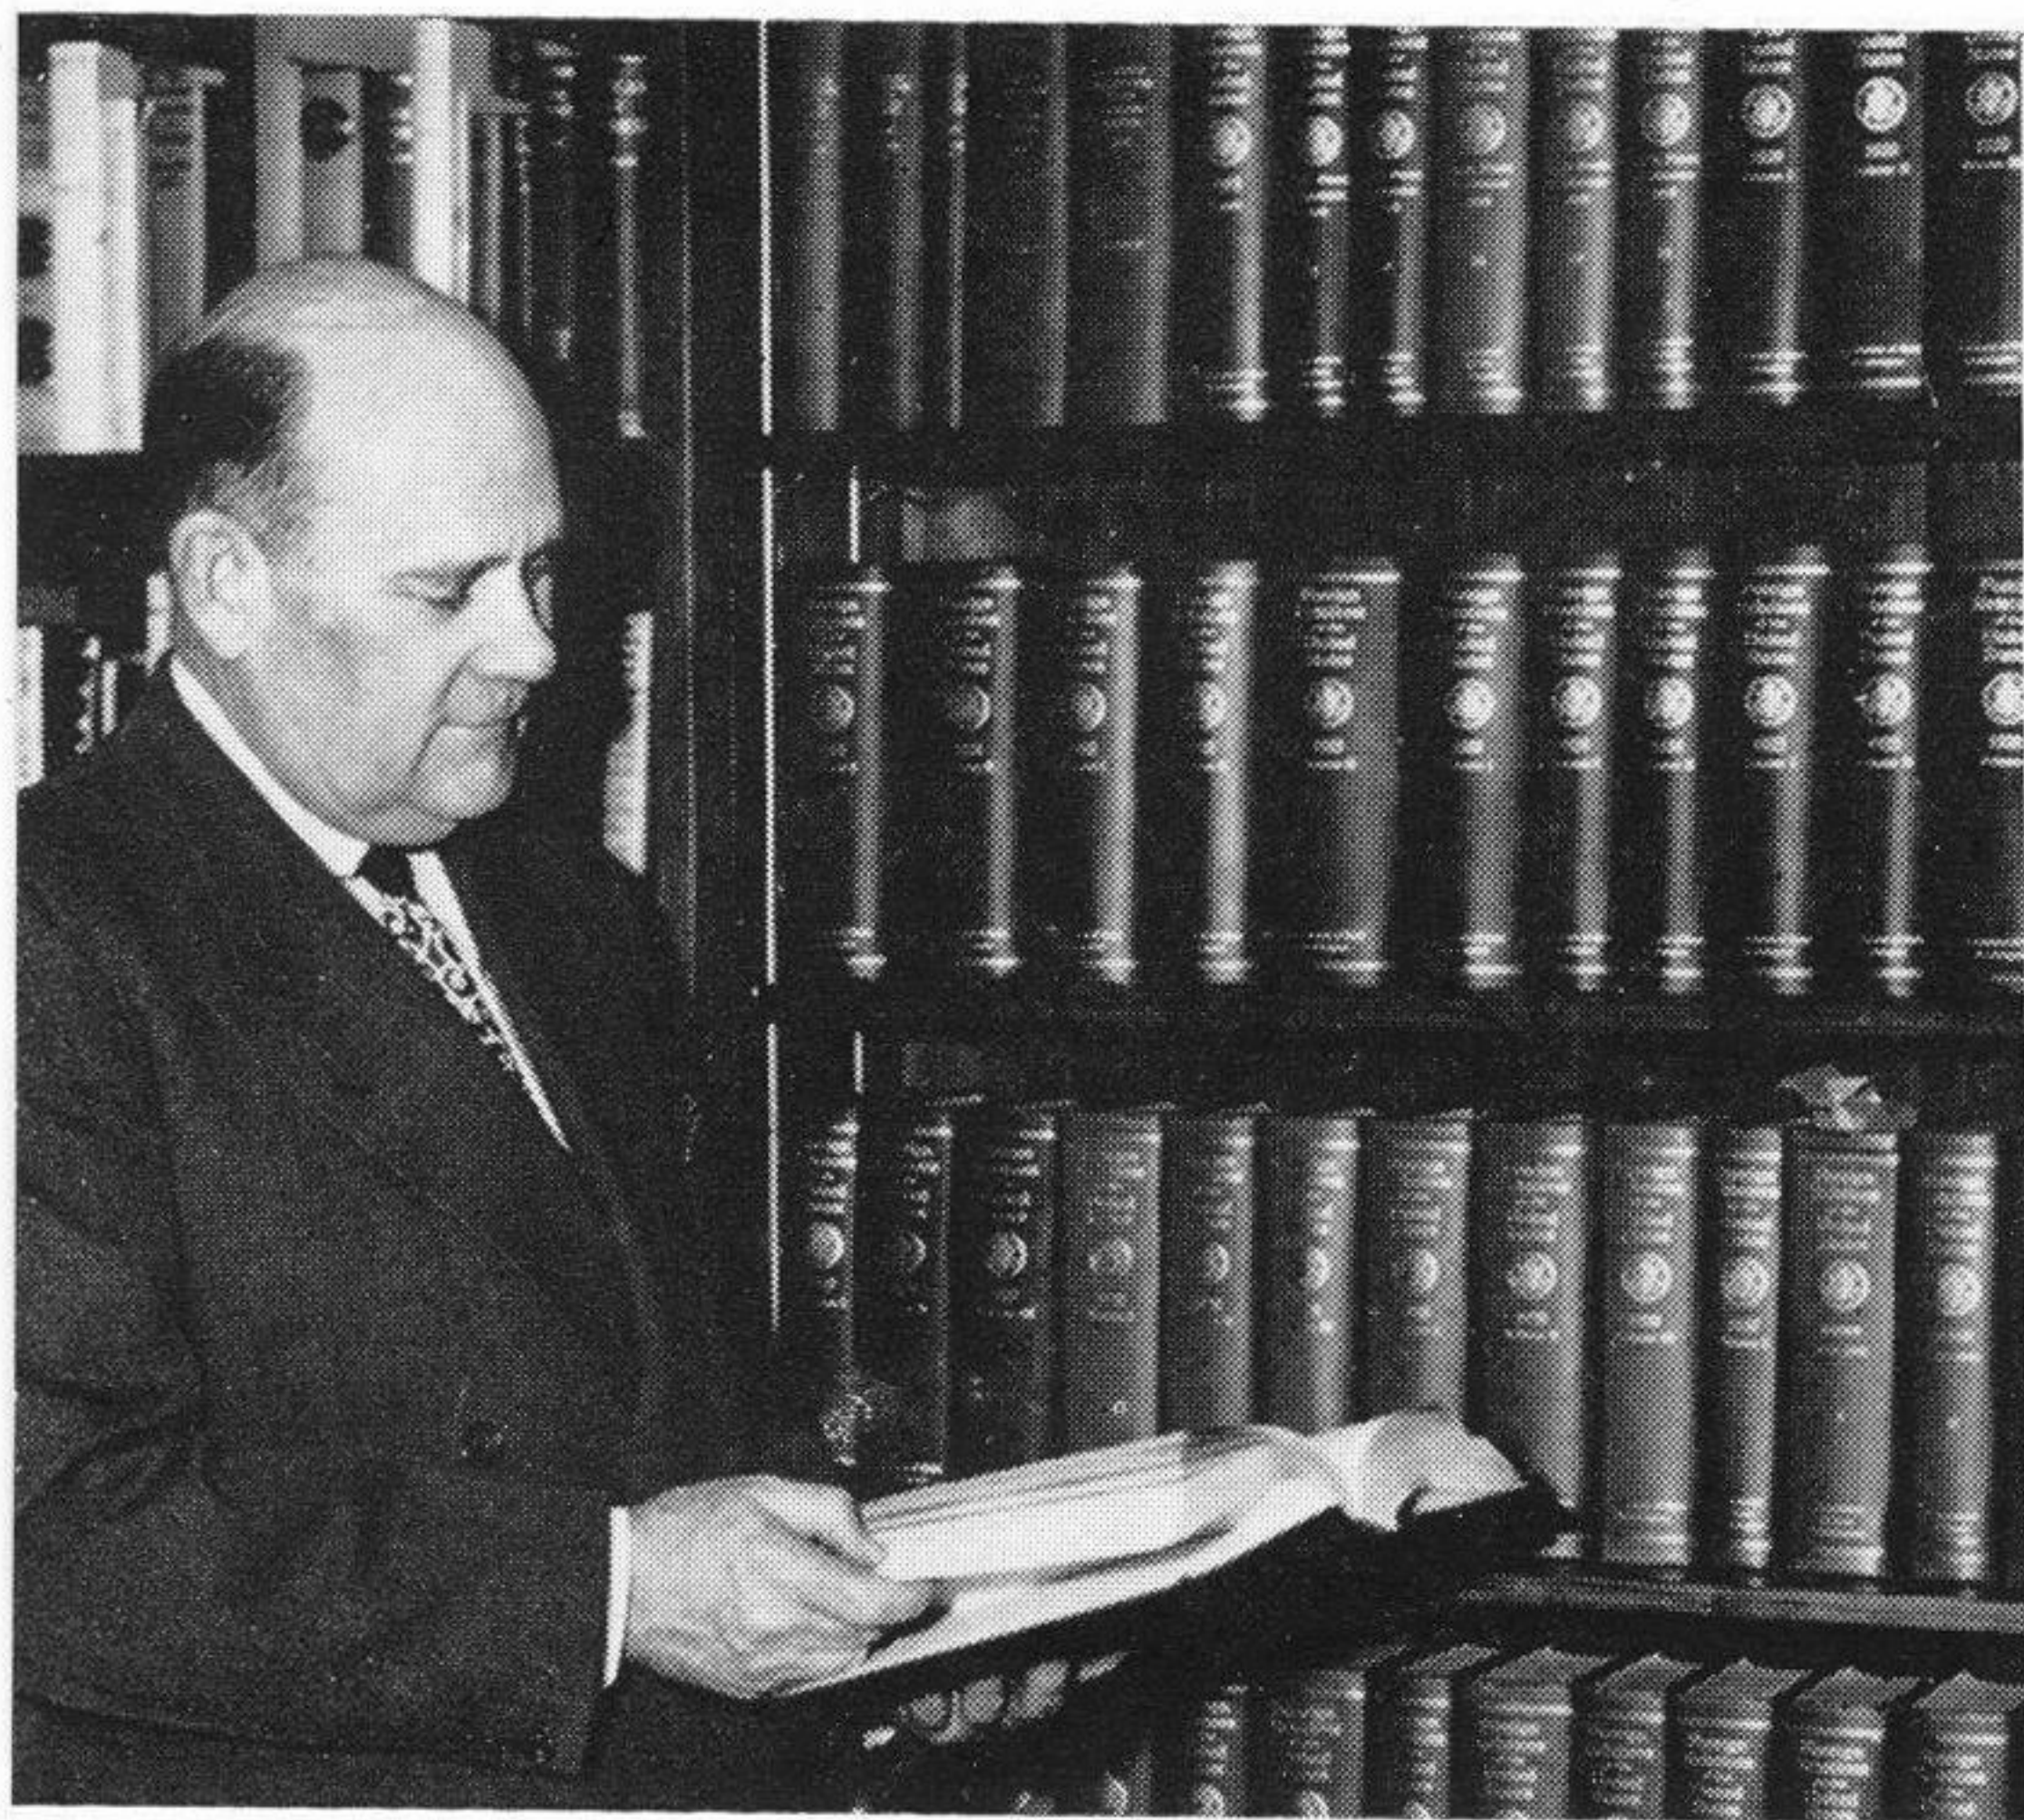

The Microbiology Department is the connecting link between the biological sciences and the medical sciences, offering the study of organisms affecting not only the human body but also non-human biological organisms. DR. CHARLES A. EVANS directs this department.

The study of weather conditions, rain, wind, pressure areas, and the other aspects of weather and climate are offered by the Department of Meteorology and Climatology, one of the newest departments on the campus. This department is headed by DR. PHIL E. CHURCH.

The Philosophy Department, headed by PROFESSOR EVERETT NELSON, was once a part of the Psychology Department but has been independent for nearly fifty years. The headquarters of the department is in Savery Hall, named after Dr. William Savery who created it in 1915.

The Physics Department, headed by DR. CLINTON L. UTTERBACK, is known as one of the best in the nation. Boasting a complete laboratory, the department offers an excellent opportunity for study of radioactivity.

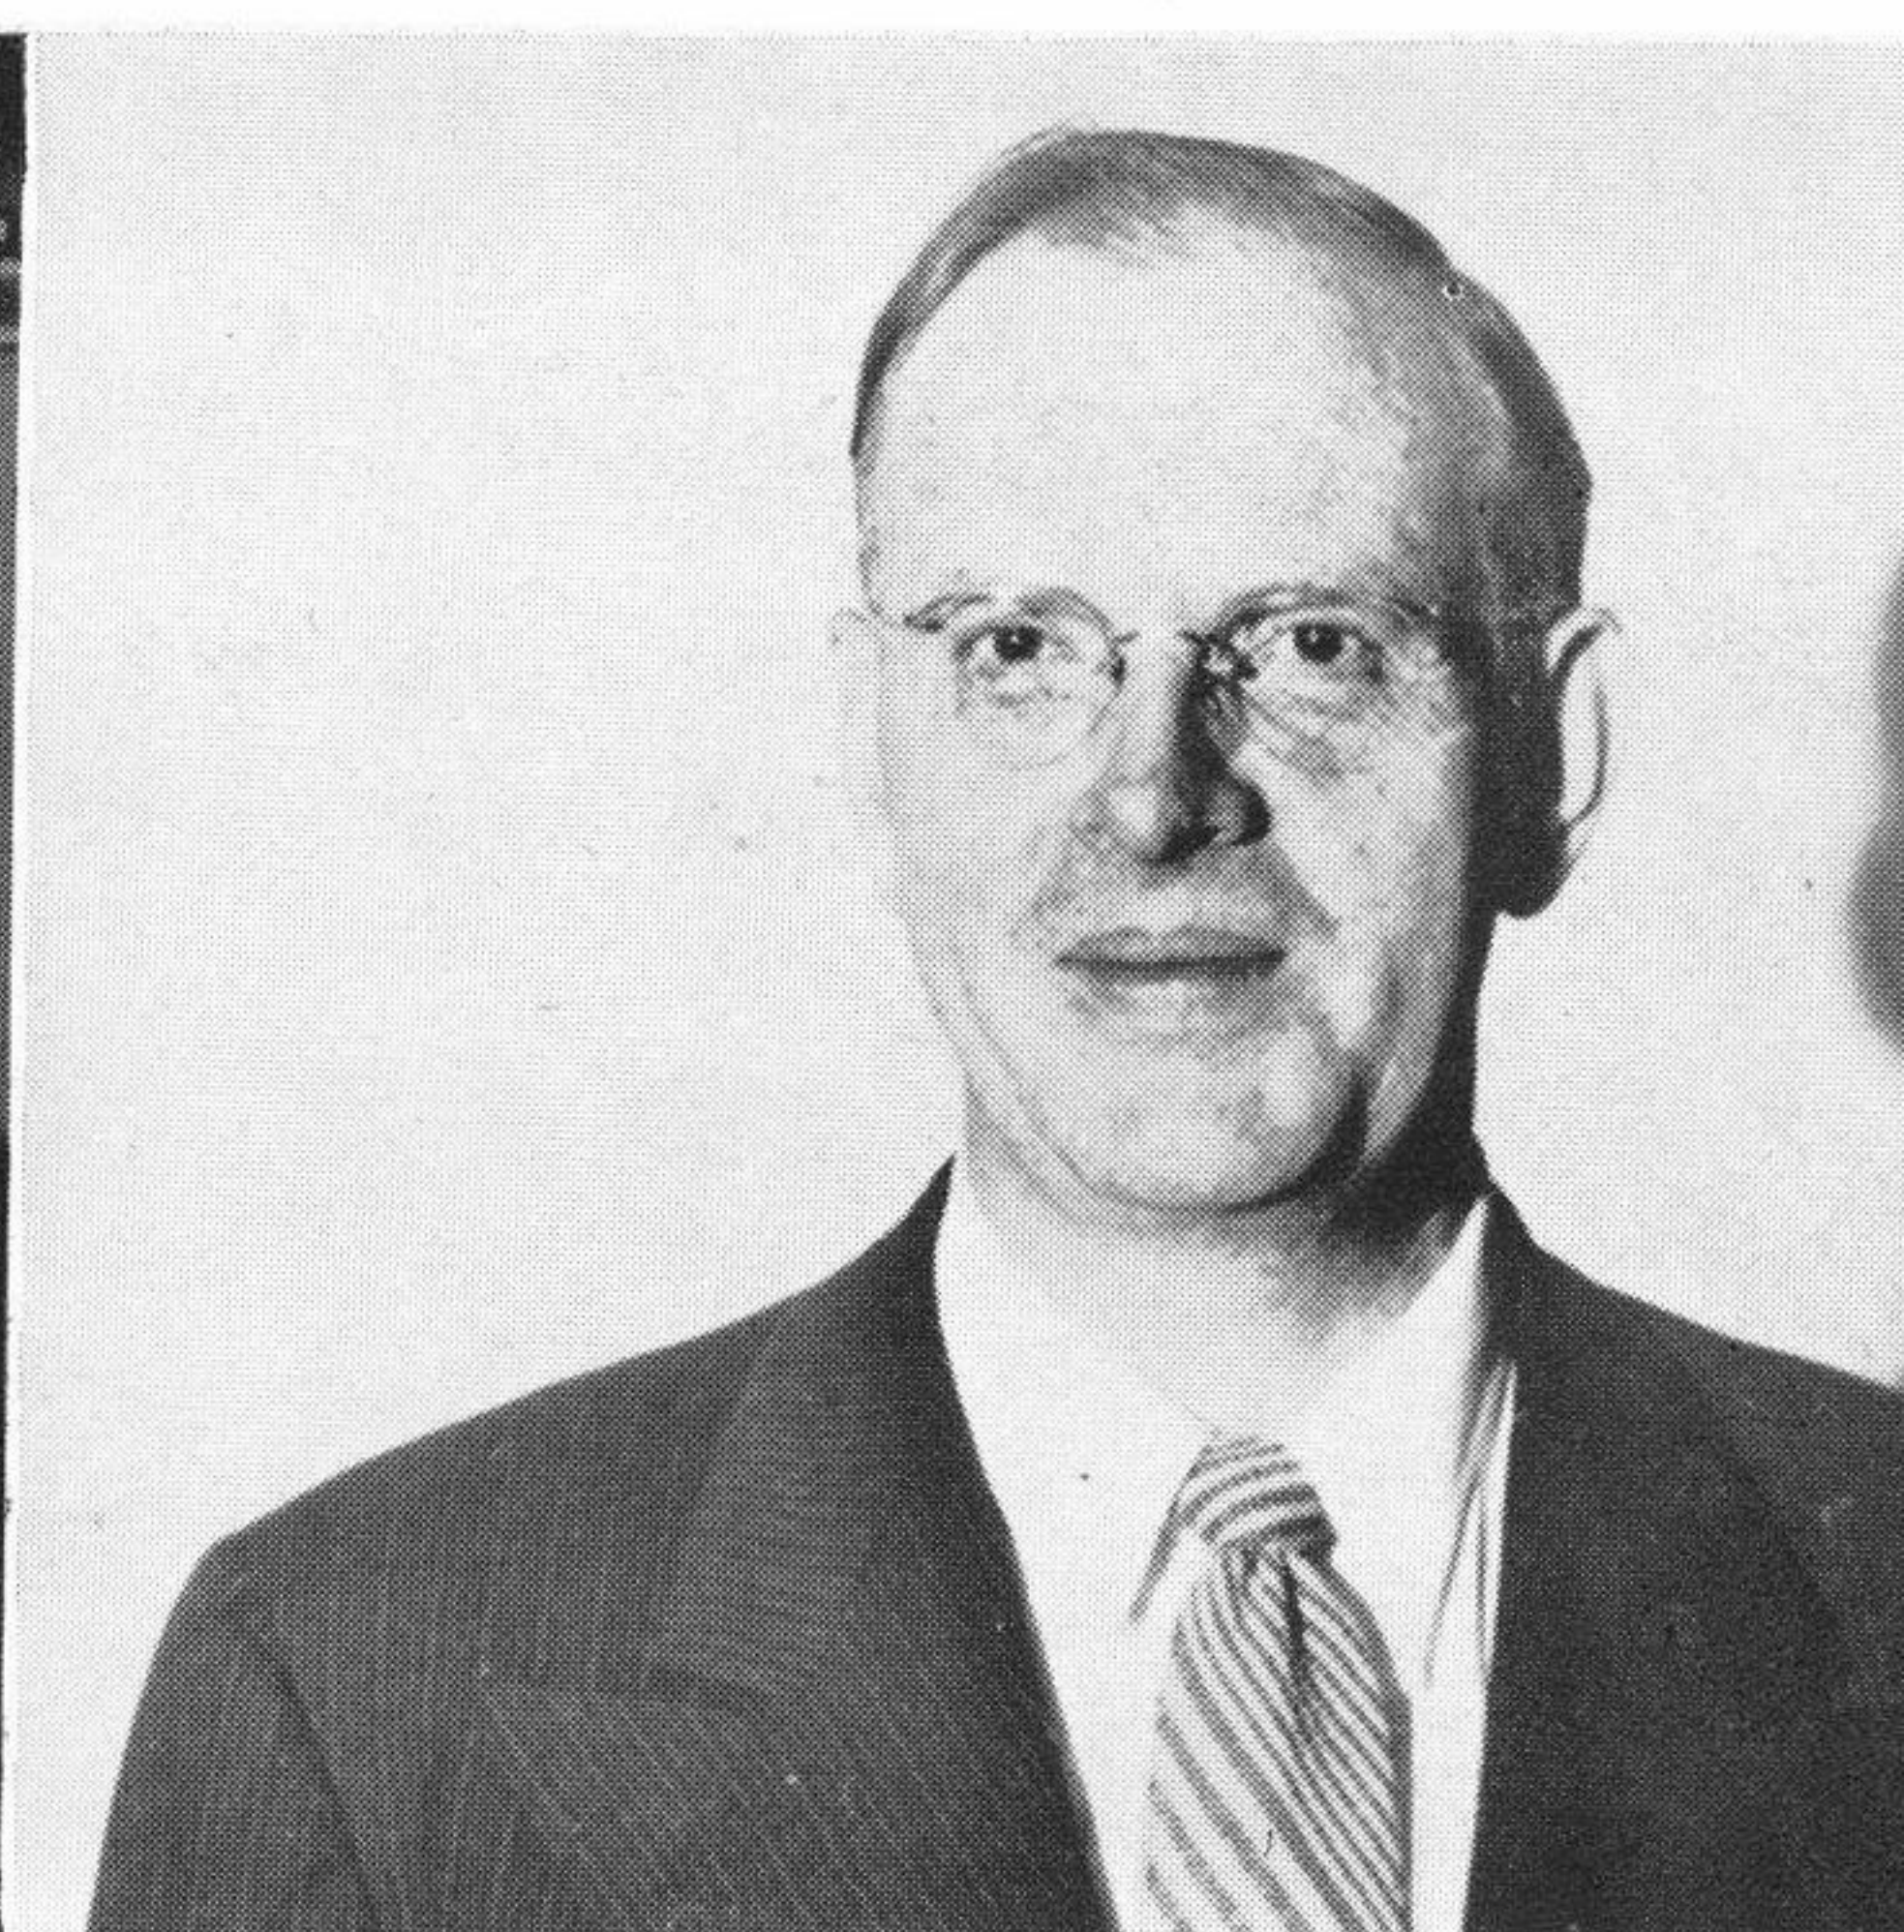

Law, international relations, political relations, public administration, political parties, and public opinion are among the many studies offered under the Political Science Department, directed by DR. CHARLES E. MARTIN.

Operating a machine used in the study of brain waves, is DR. ROGER BROWN LOUCKS, head of the Department of Psychology. The Department offers a child development clinic, a testing and guidance bureau, and an animal behavior clinic among its many facilities for psychology students.

This year Radio Hall has become increasingly important on the campus with the enlargement of the broadcasting schedule and the addition of new training programs led by prominent local radio men. The department of Radio Education is headed by E. H. ADAMS.

Students in the Department of Romance Languages, have an opportunity to live in Spanish or French houses to practice their language and get added polish in its use. DR. HOWARD LEE NOSTRAND is the director of this department.

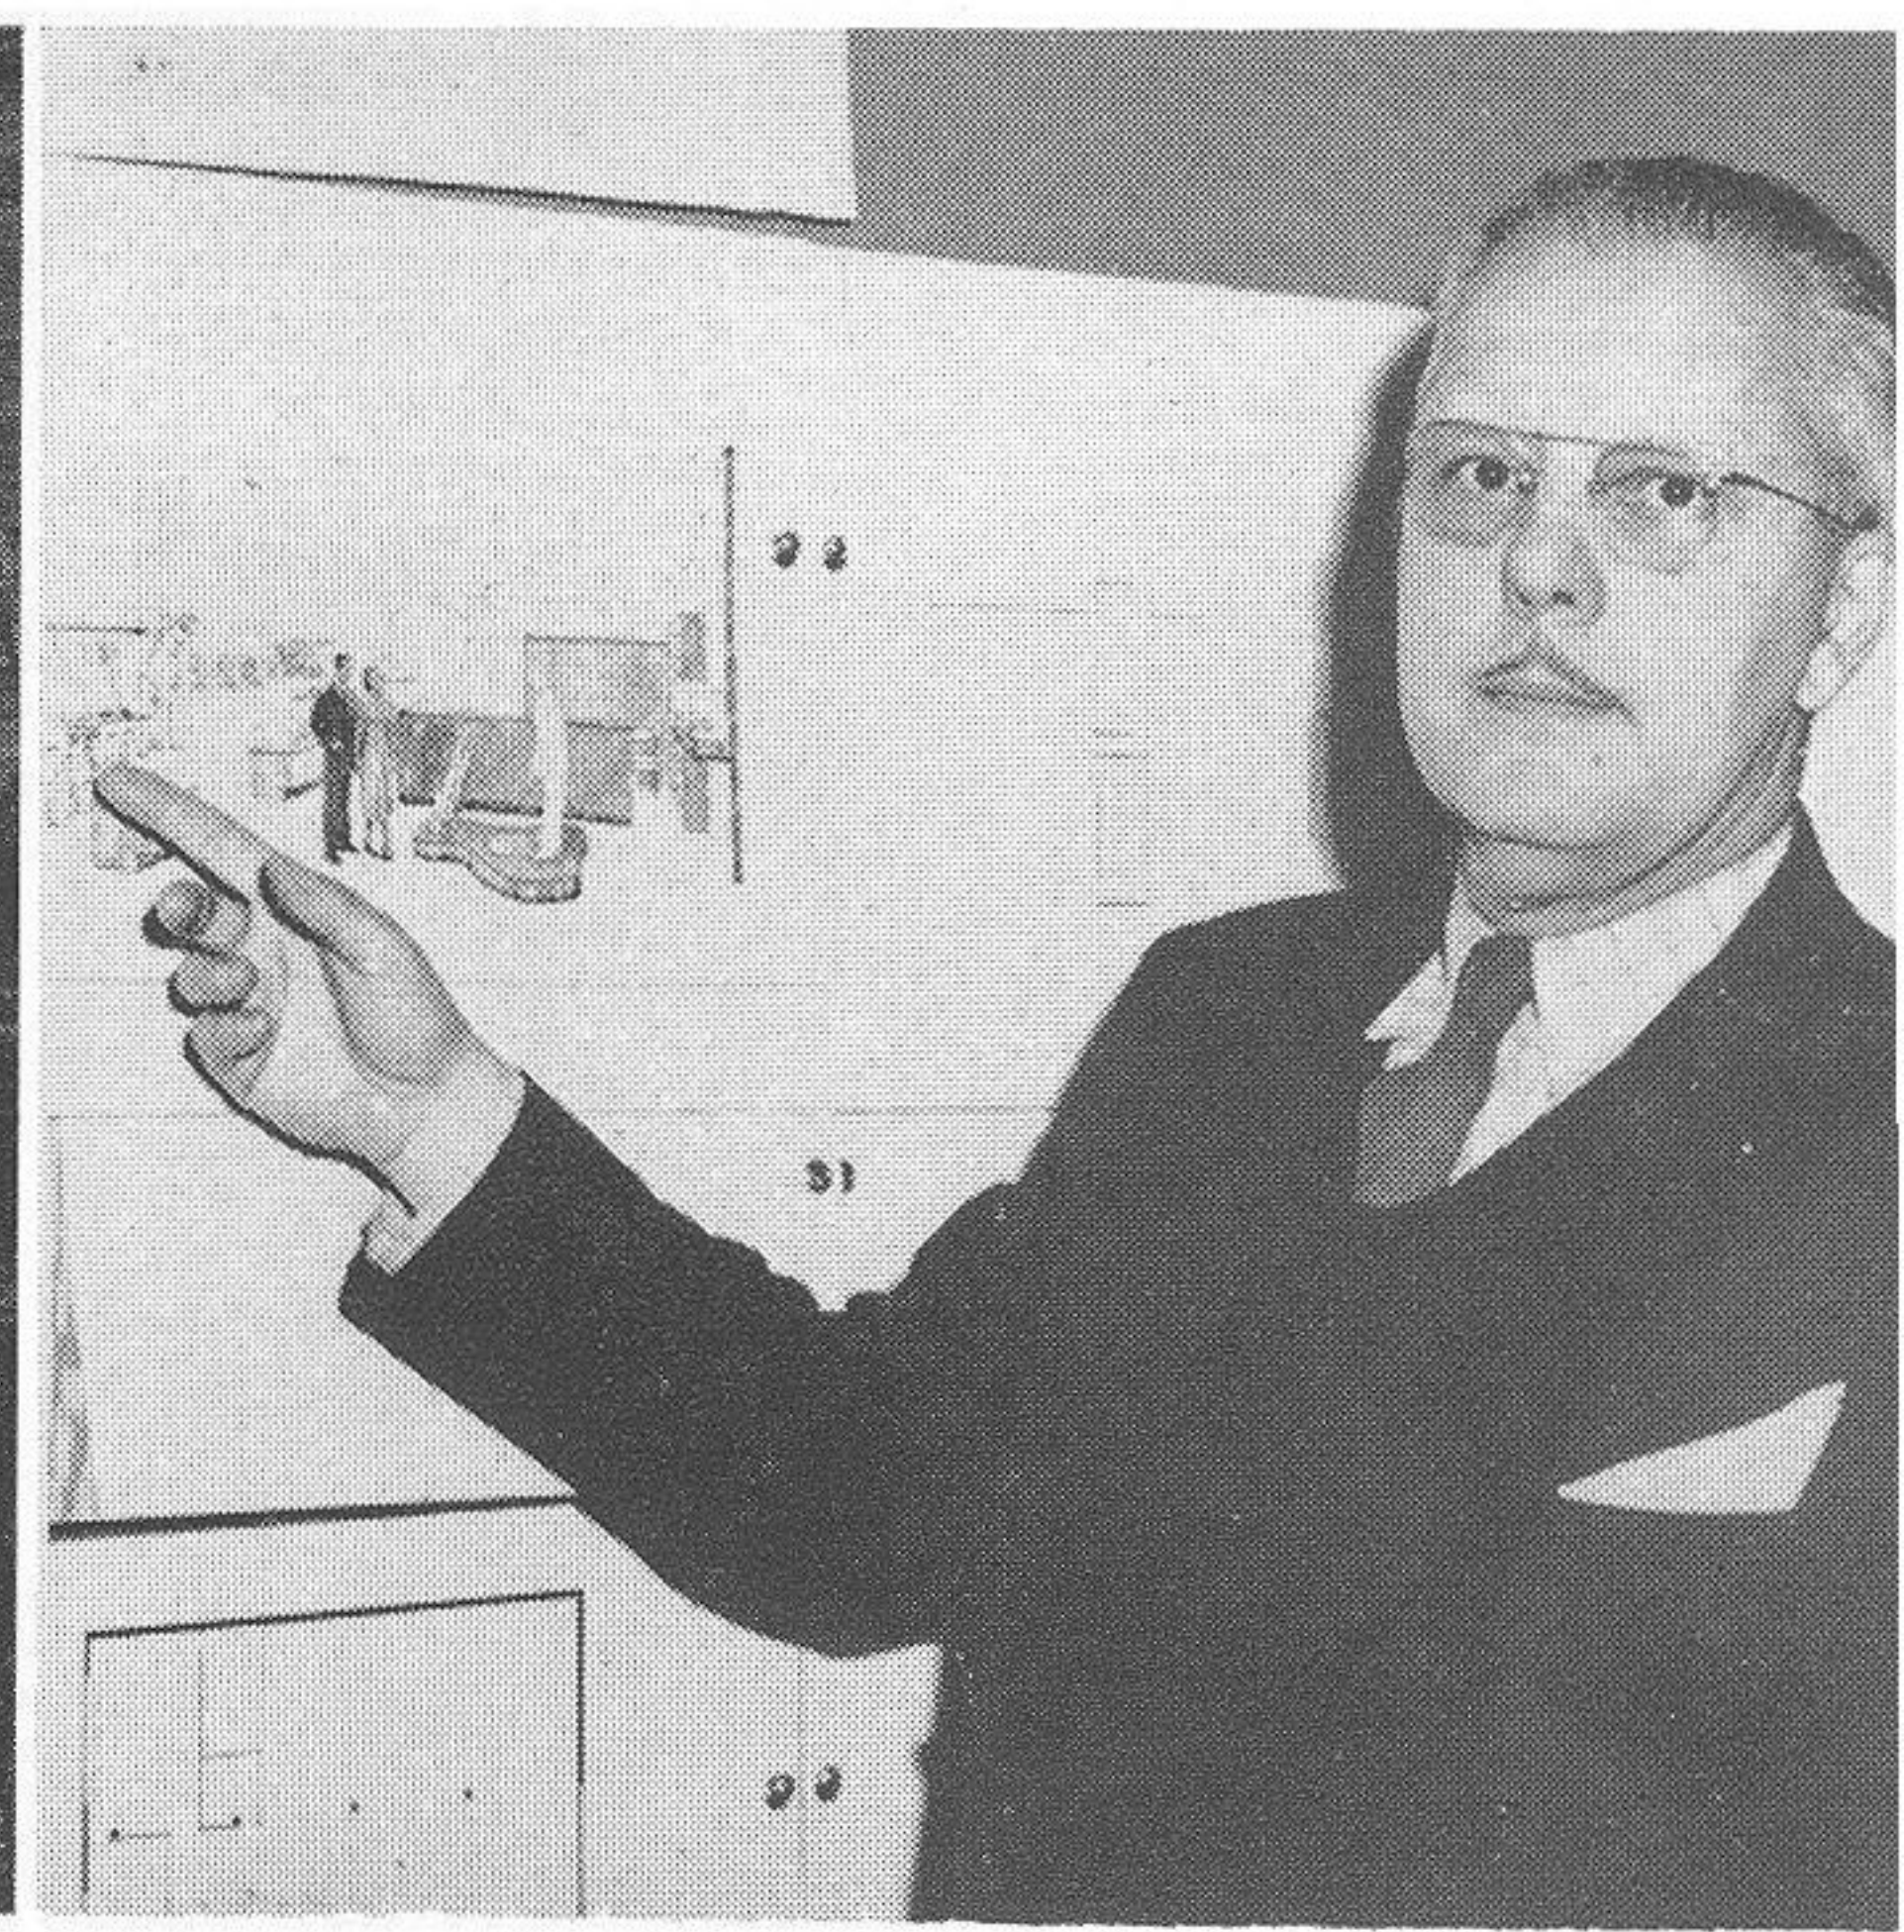

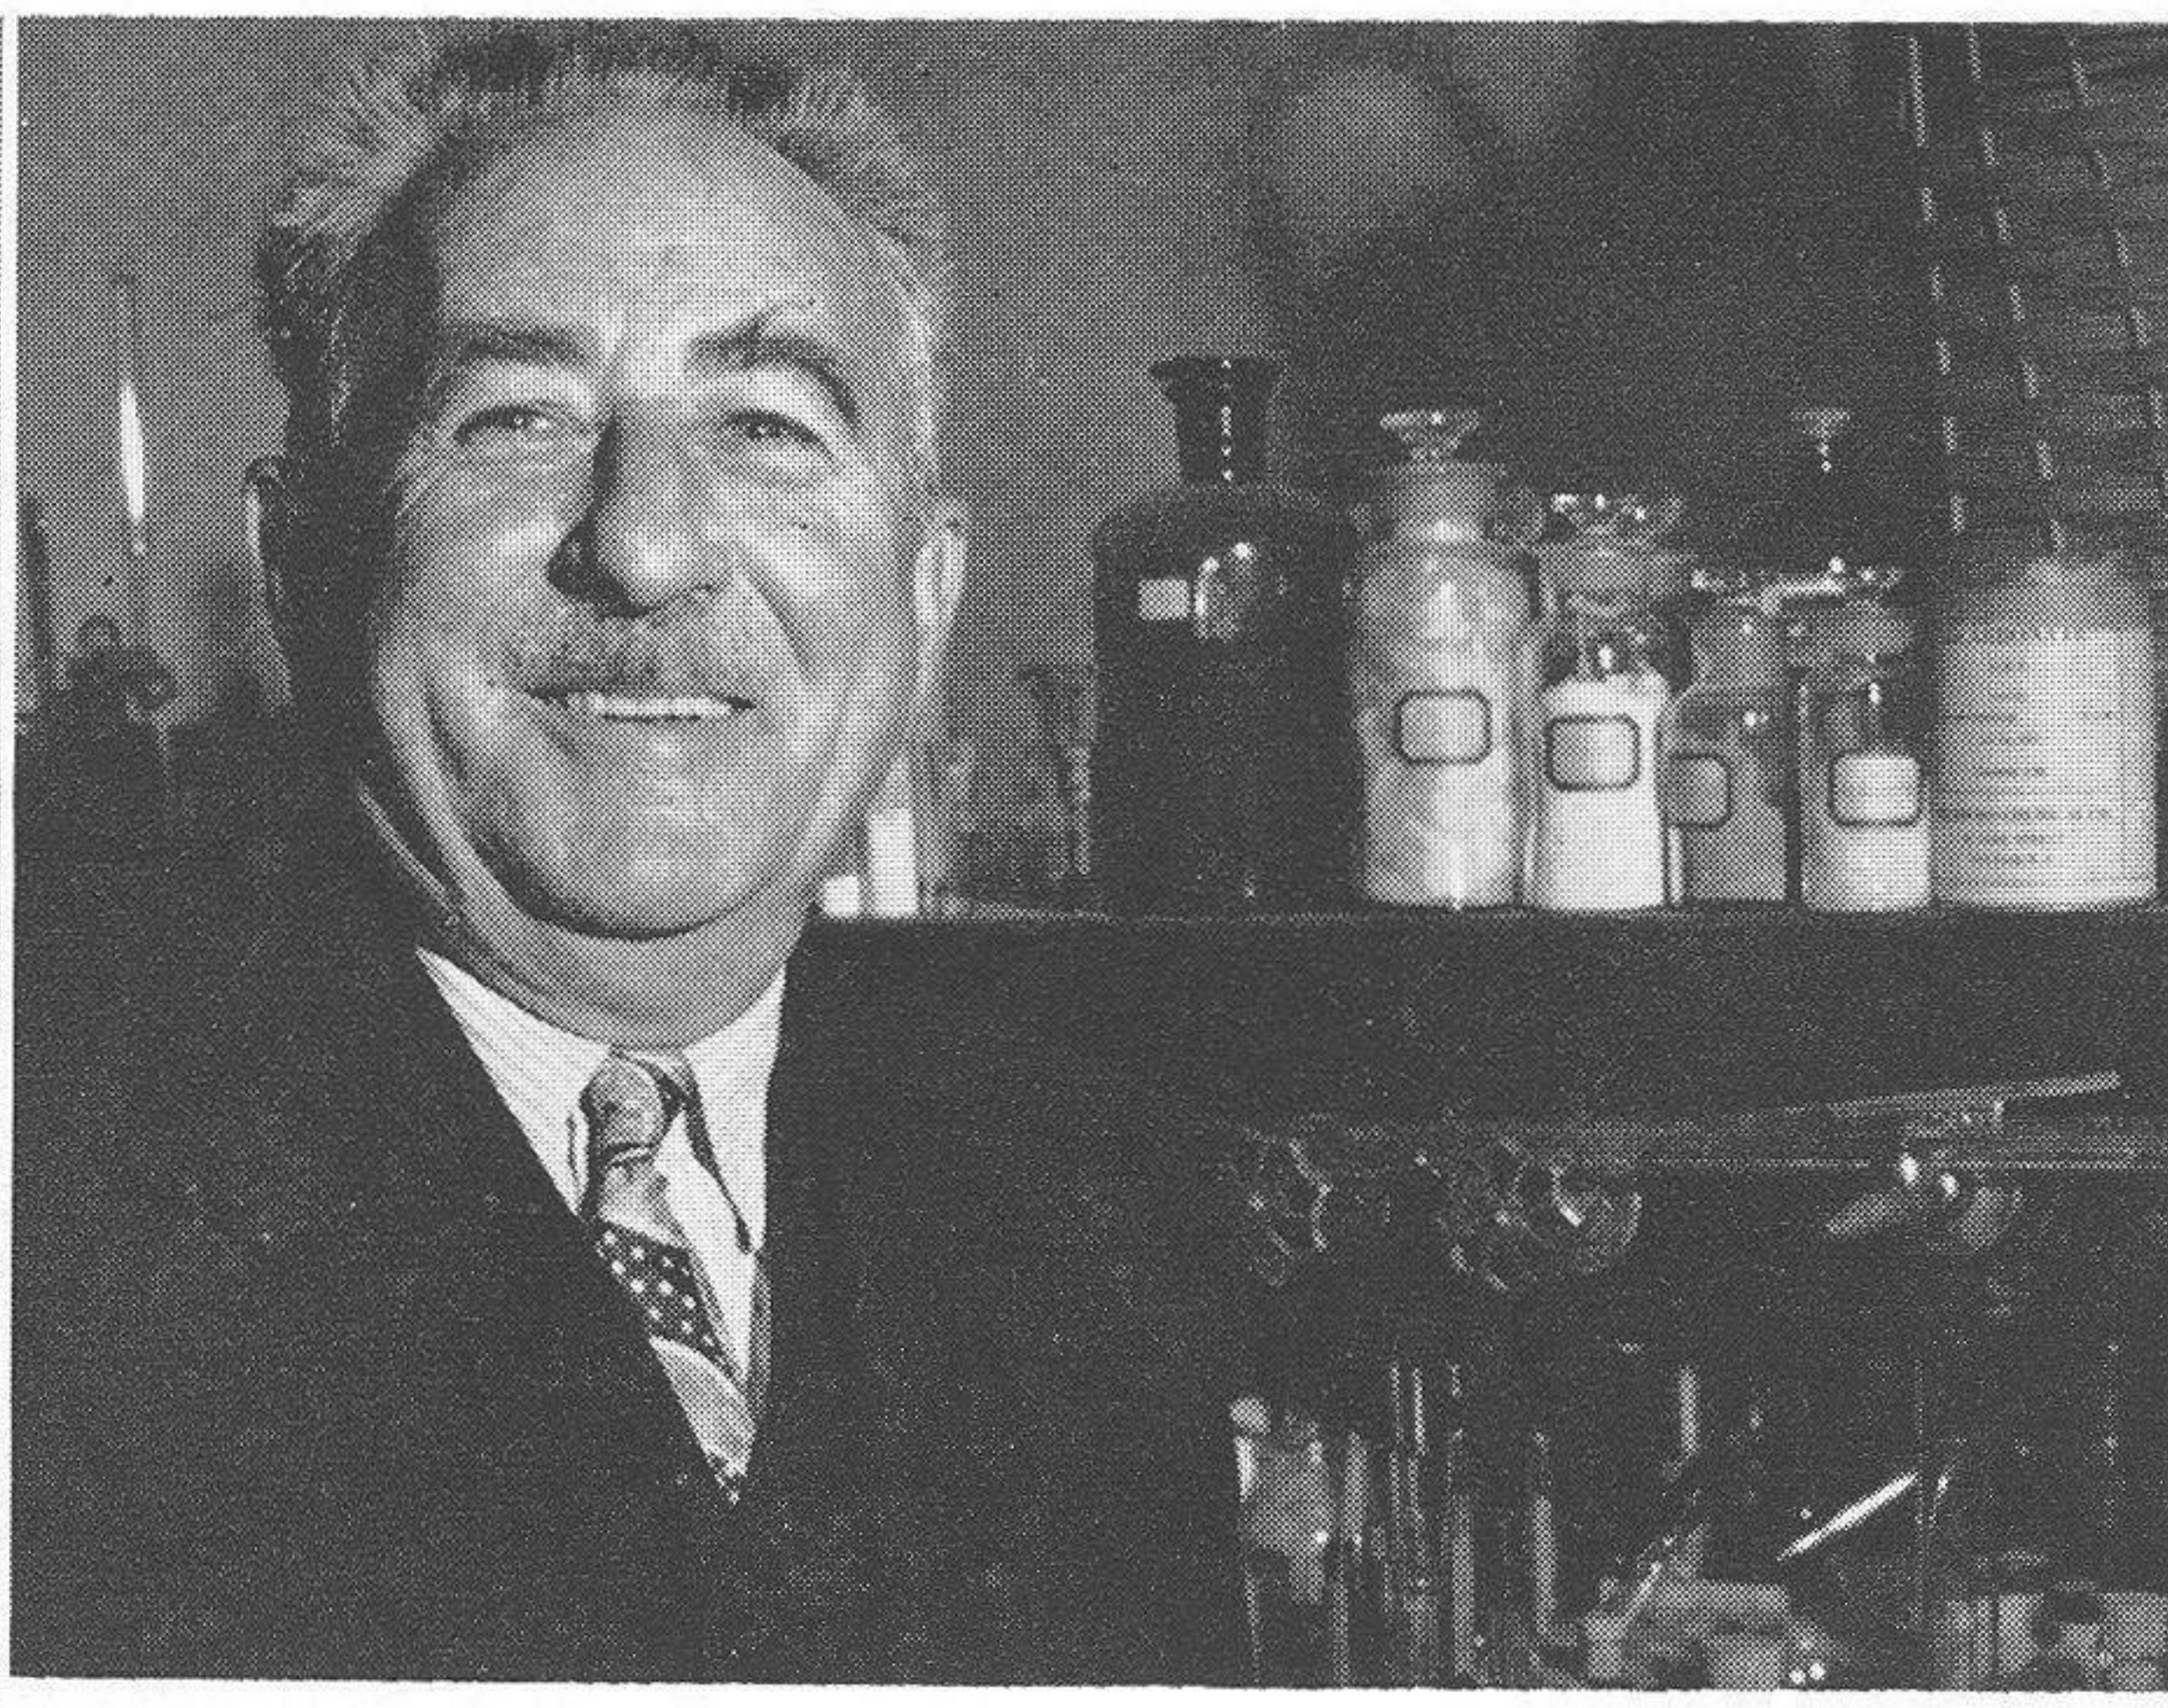

The Department of Scandinavian Languages, headed by DR. SVERRE ARESTAD, boasts the largest enrollment of any similar department of any school in the country. Majors participate in many Scandinavian events, including such things as the Lucia Bride Festival.

The Department of Speech, headed by DR. HORACE G. RAHSKOPF, trains majors for jobs in radio, salesmanship, speech correction, and education. Public address, oral interpretation and similar courses are of great benefit to non-majors for training in poise and speaking ability.

The School of Oceanography headed by DR. THOMAS THOMPSON, is one of the best known in the country. It has been the scene of research in both the laboratories on the Campus and in other locations such as Friday Harbor. Dr. Thompson received the Agasiz Award in 1948 for his research work.

A growth in enrollment from 14 students in 19 to over four hundred at the present time boasted by the School of Architecture. The Department, headed by DR. ARTHUR P. HERMAN, finally warranted its own building and received it when the name of the old Physiology Building was changed to Architecture.

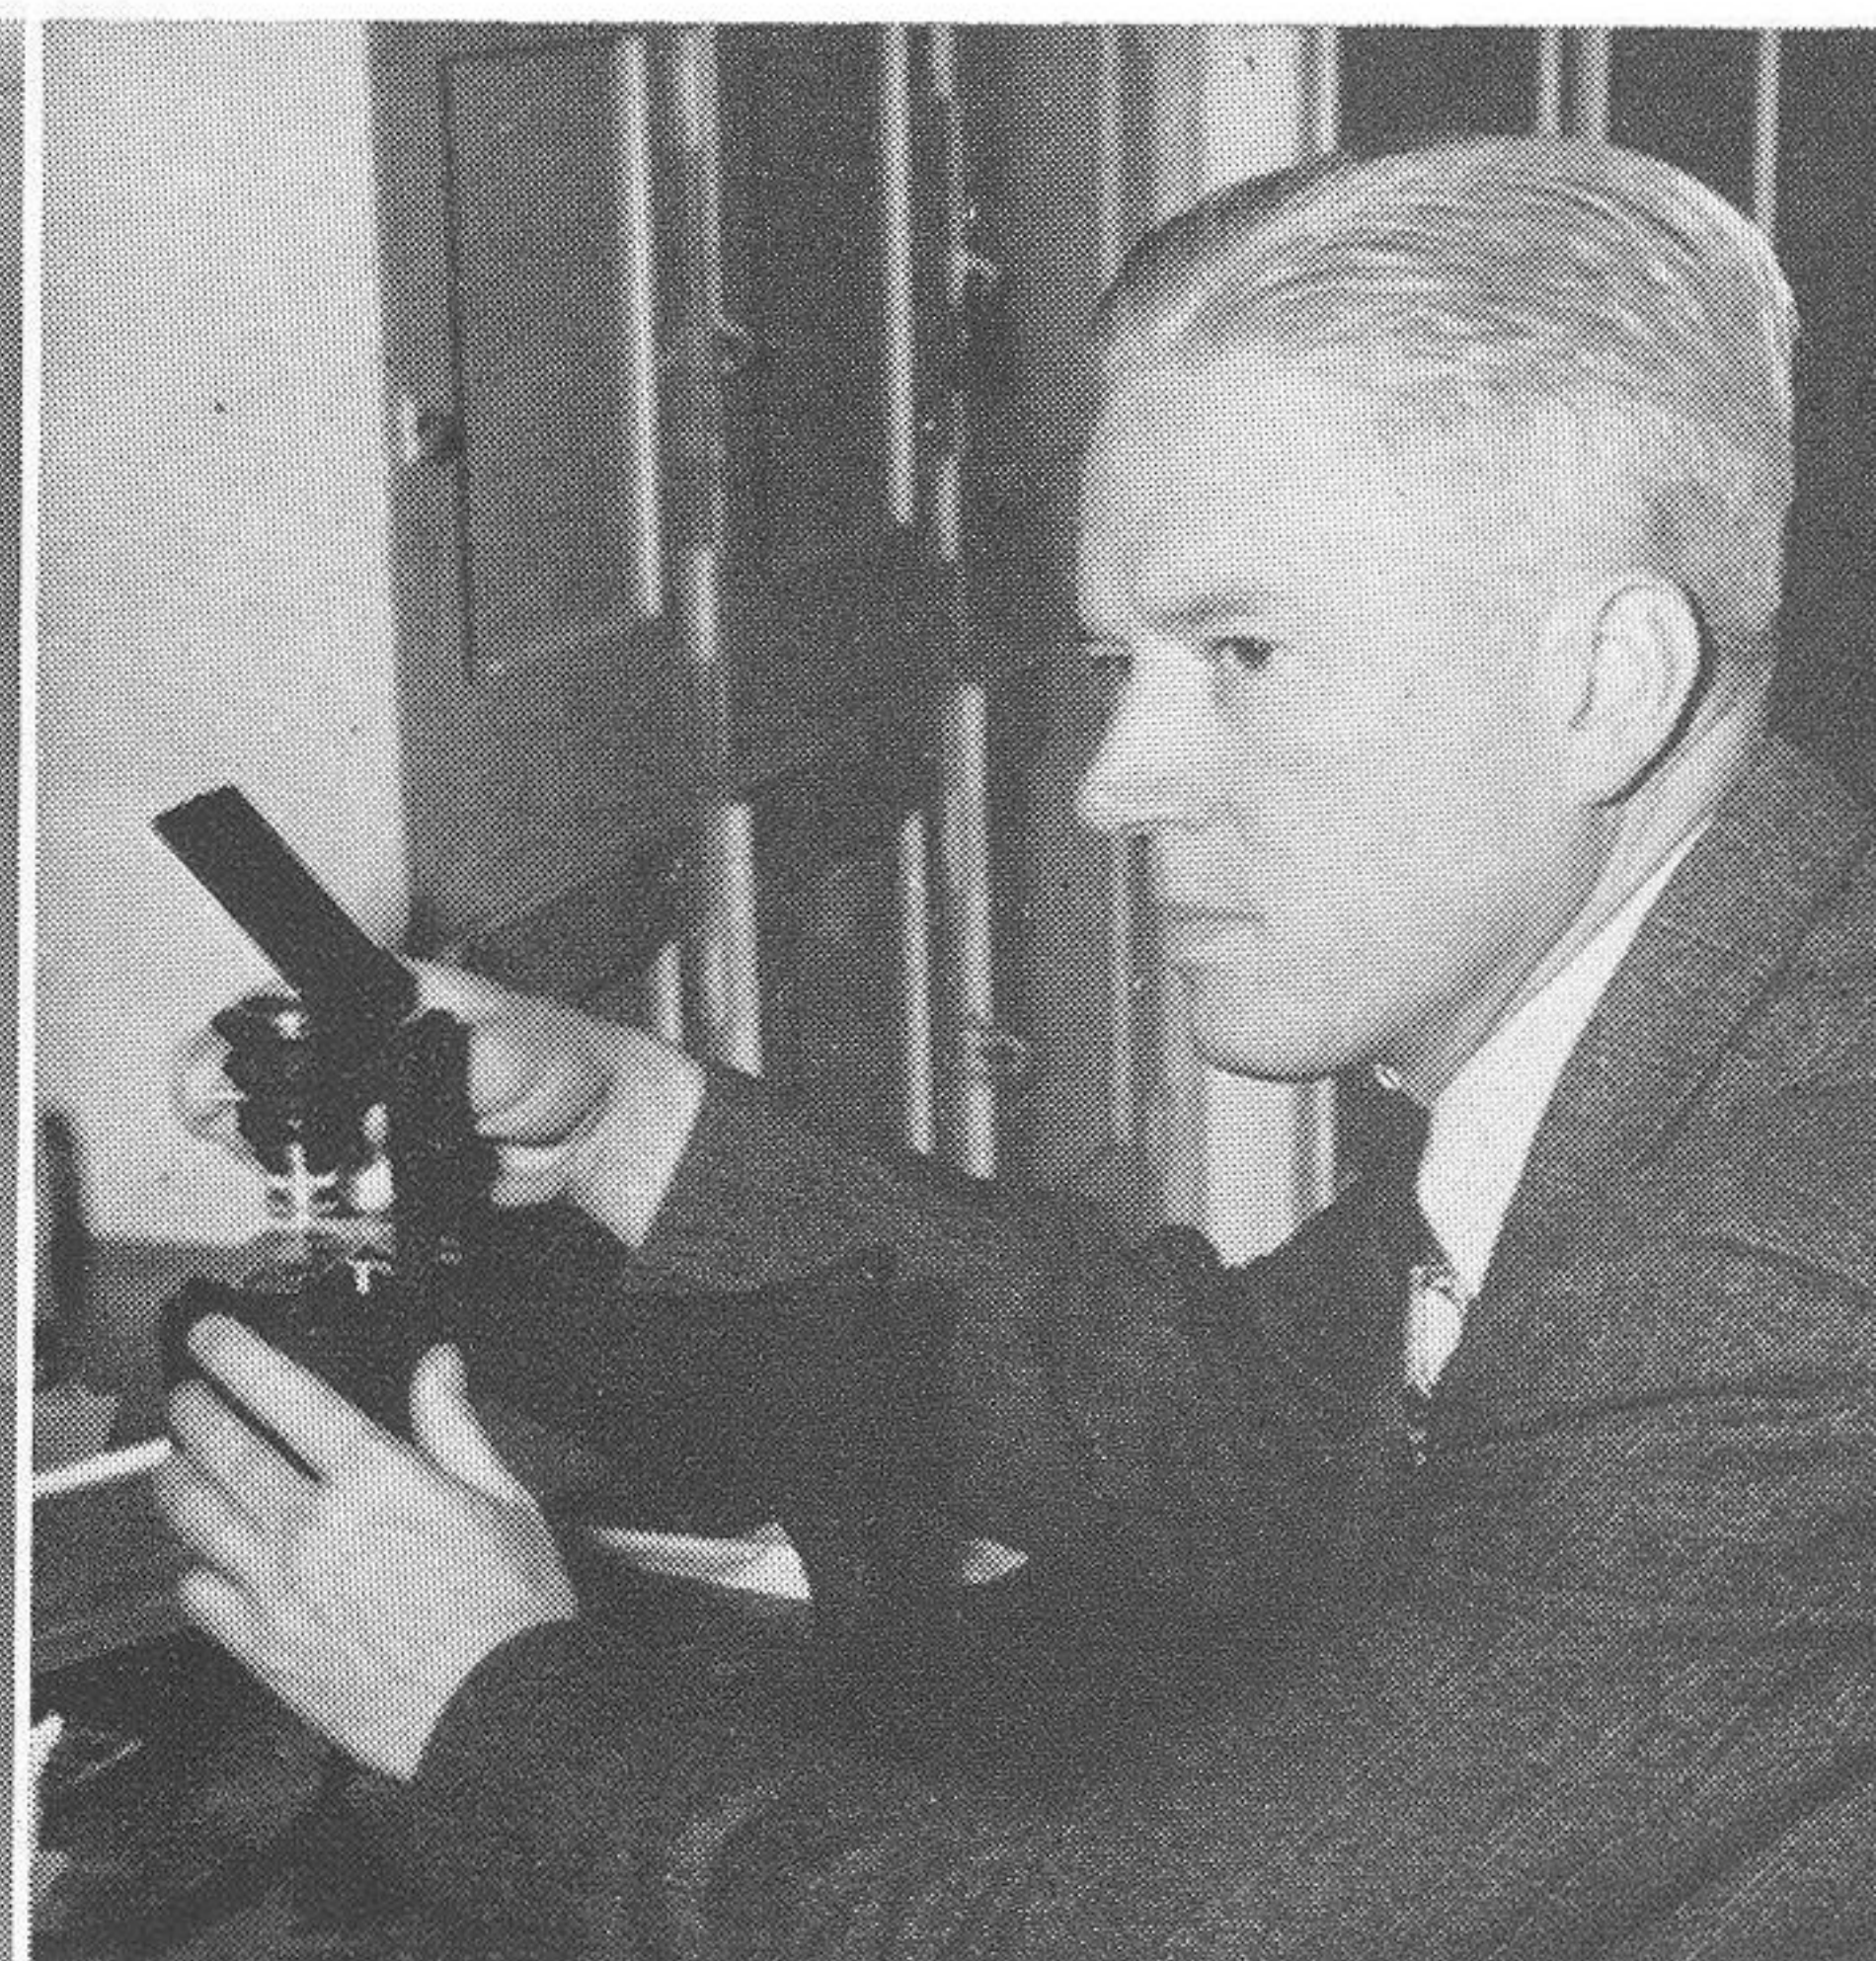

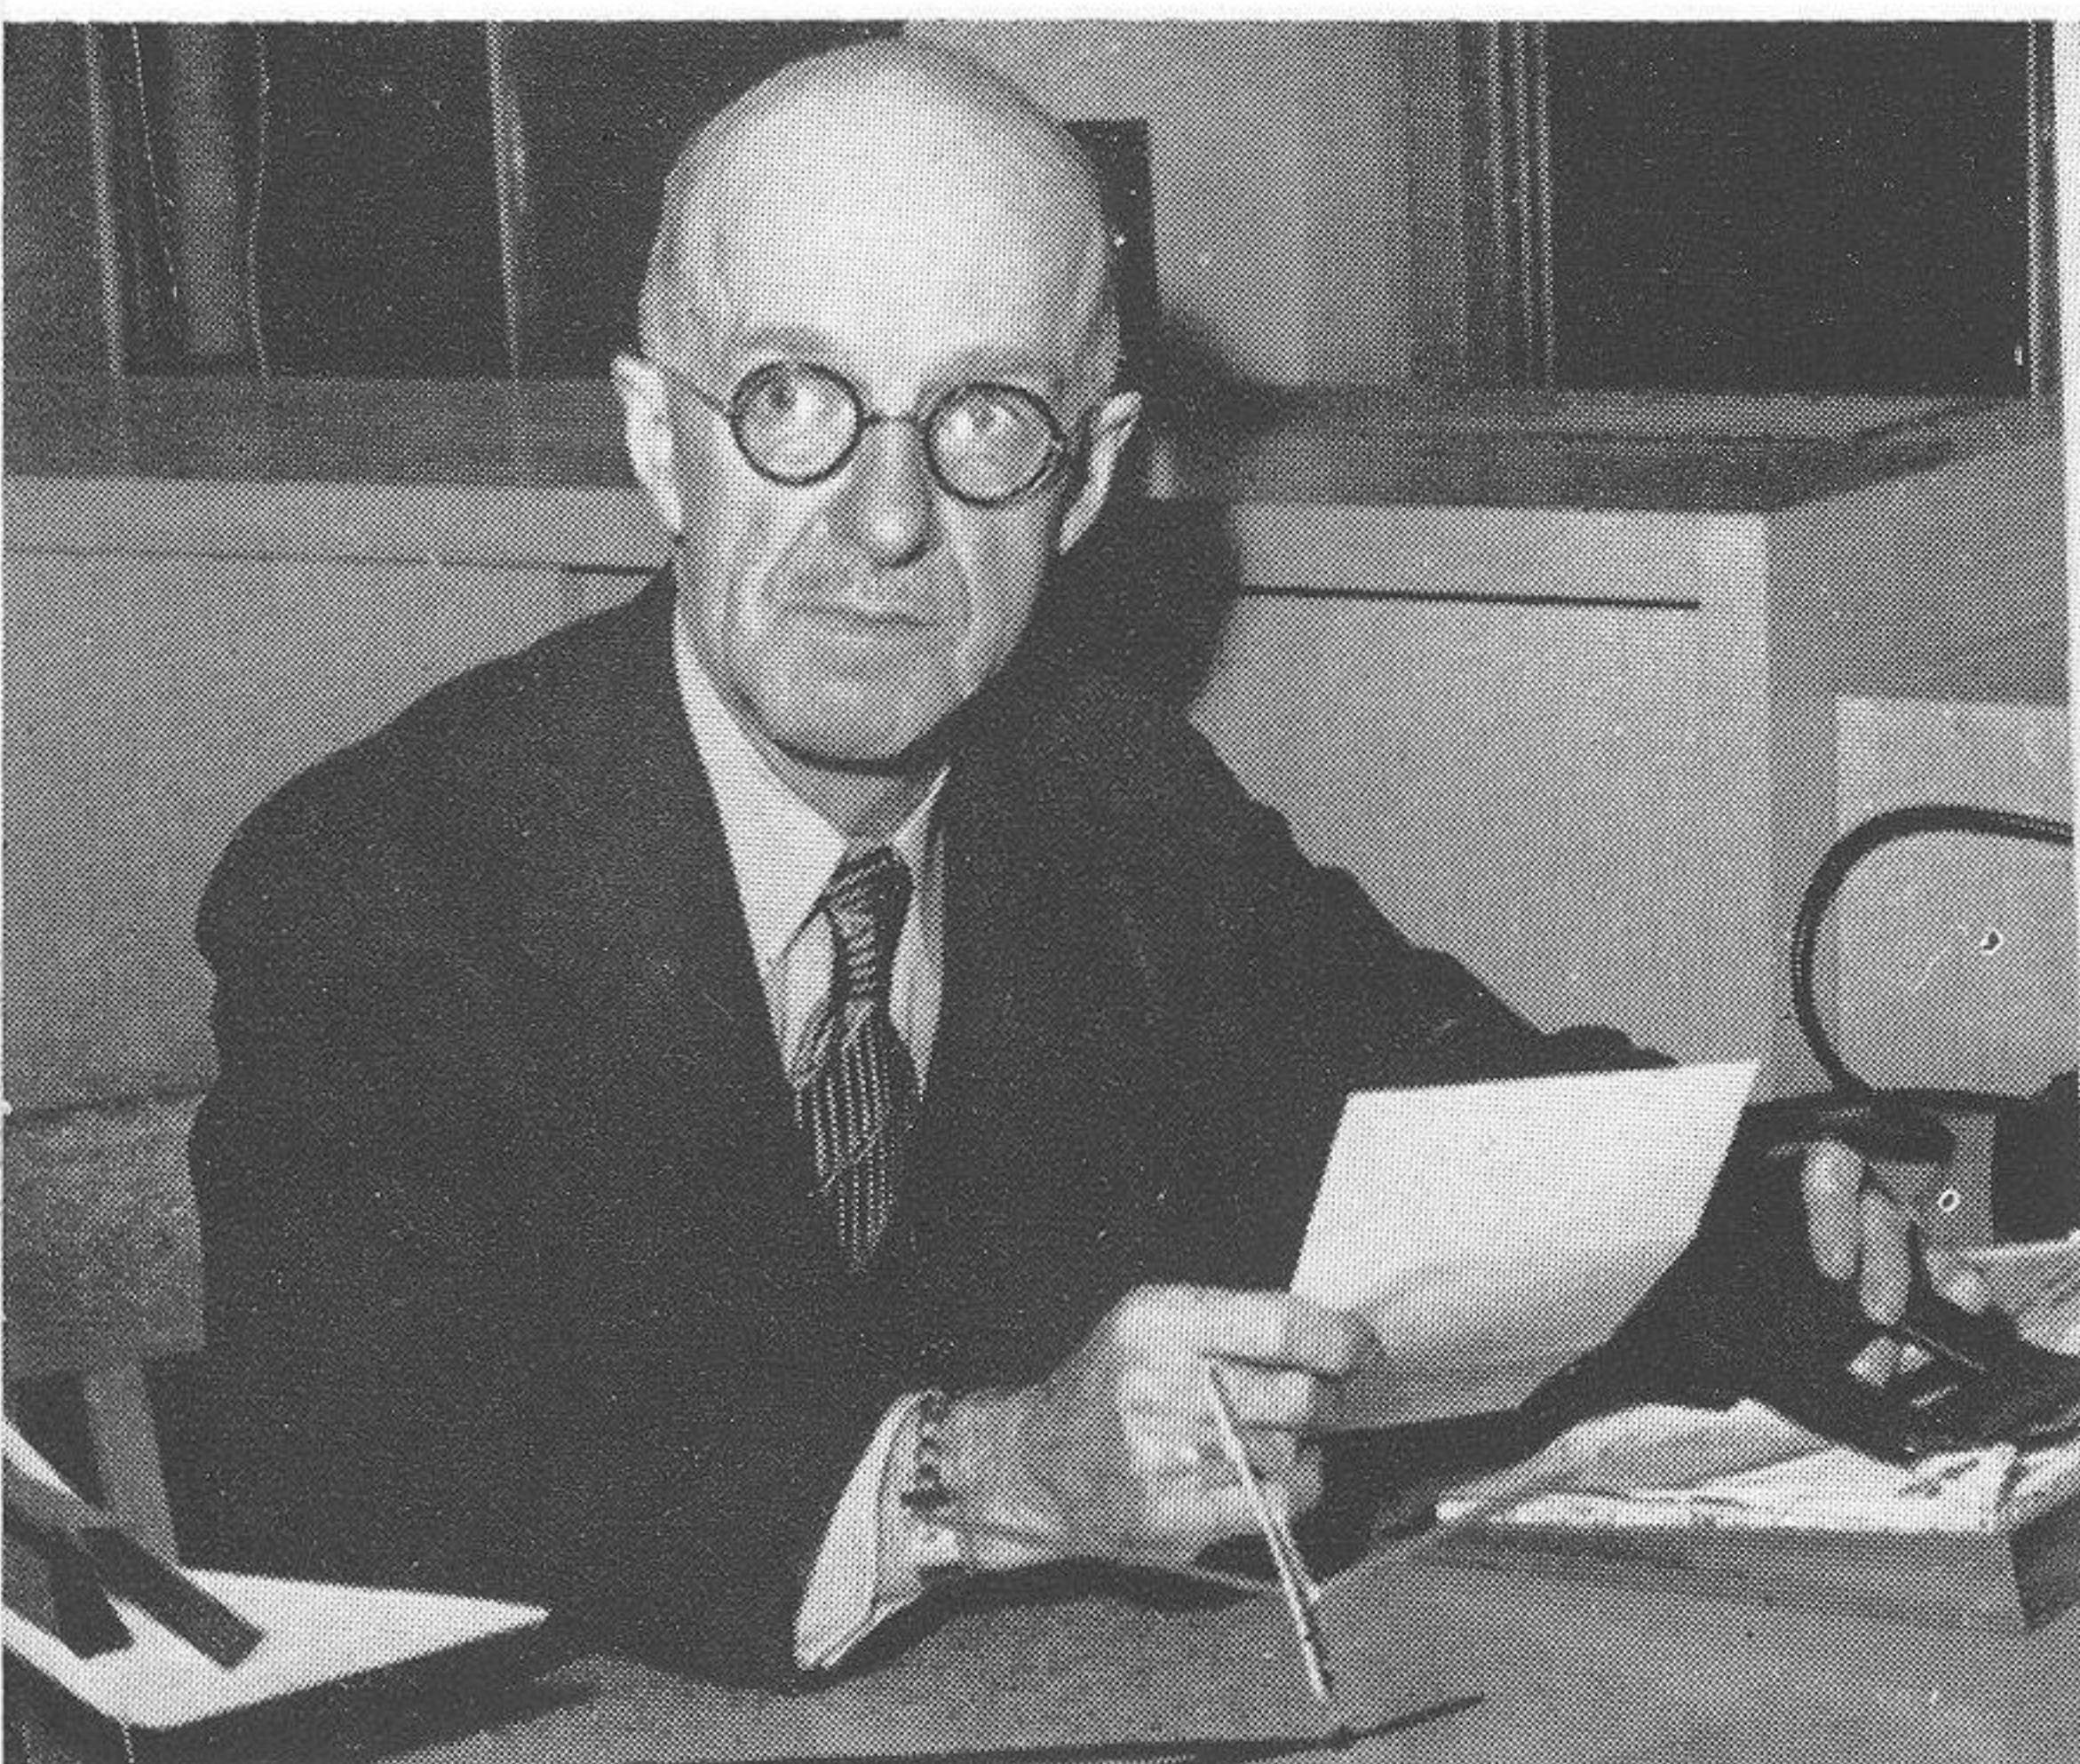

The observatory, second oldest building on the Campus, is still used by students in the School of Astronomy, headed by PROFESSOR THEODOR S. JACOBSEN. Students use the six-inch telescope which was installed when the building was first constructed.

The executive officer of the Zoology Department is DR. ARTHUR N. MARTIN. This field offers study of all animal forms, both living and extinct, and is a valuable preparatory course for students planning to enter medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and similar courses.

Located in one of the many new buildings on Campus, is the School of Art, headed by DR. WALTER F. ISAACS. Also among the School's facilities is the Henry Art Gallery where student work can be displayed.

Graduates of the School of Drama, headed by GLENN HUGHES, are prominent in dramatic circles in both Hollywood and New York. Drama majors regularly present plays at the Penthouse and Showboat Theaters on the Campus.

Students are trained for one of the Northwest's major industries in the School of Fisheries, headed by DR. RICHARD VAN CLEVE. Opportunities for employment in this field for students after graduation are extremely great in this section of the country.

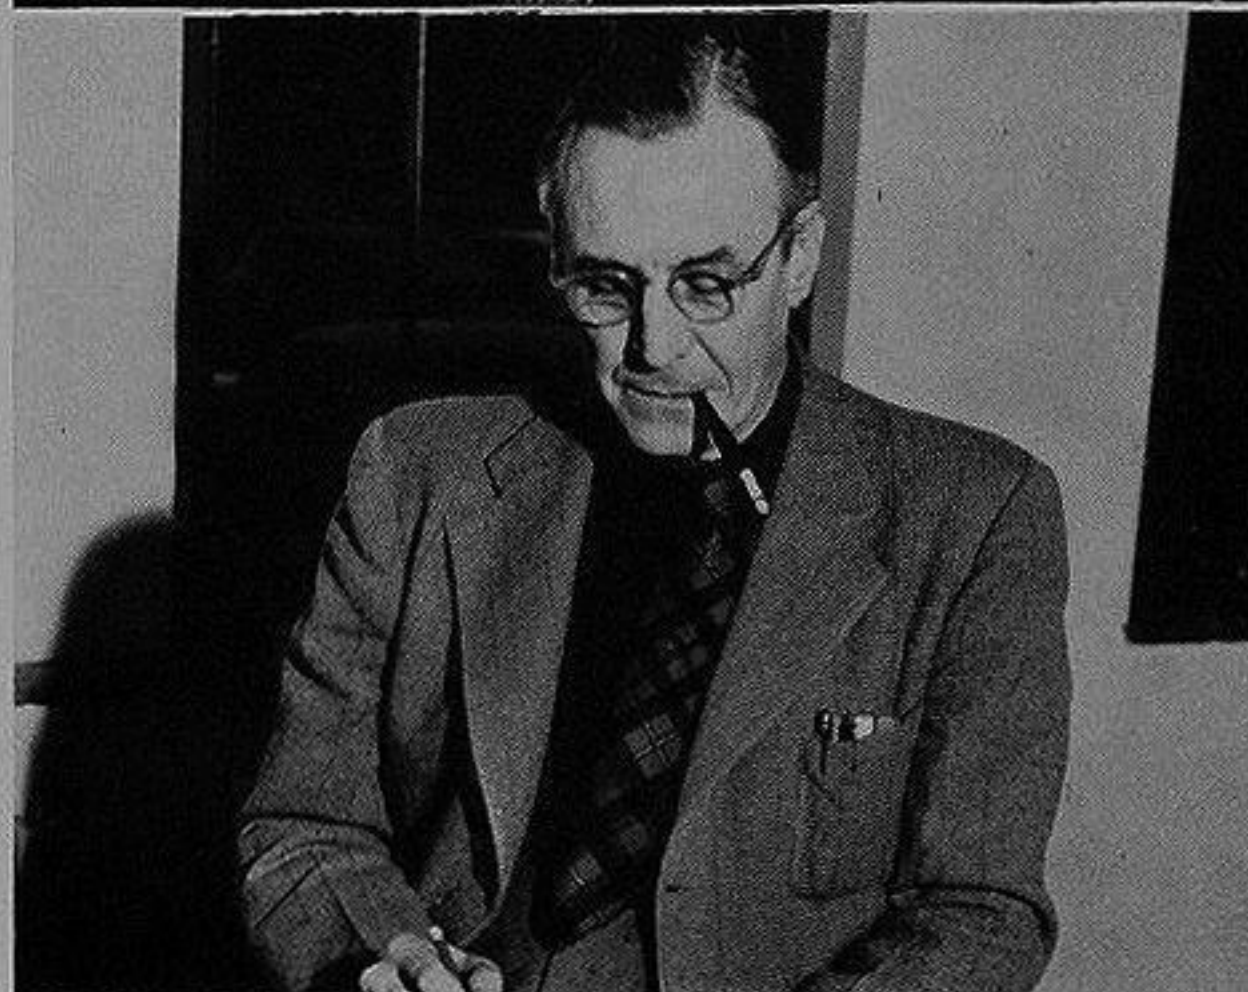

Designed to provide a broad background of subjects for students who do not want to specialize in any single subject or to provide a course of study for students who wish to major in a subject not covered by a school or department, the Department of General Studies was inaugurated in 1935 by Dr. Dean Lauer. GLEN LUTEY is now the executive officer.

Some of America's best known writers have been produced by the School of Journalism. This department, headed by H. P. EVEREST, is looking forward to the time when it will occupy the new Journalism building now under construction.

The opera workshop, symphony orchestra, concert band, a cappella, and glee clubs are among the activities of the "universal language" in the School of Music. This department is headed by DR. STANLEY CHAPPLE, and occupies one of the newest buildings on Campus.

Executive officer of the Women's Physical Education Department is RUTH M. WILSON. This department has contact with all women students since they are all required to take six quarters of P. E. activity.

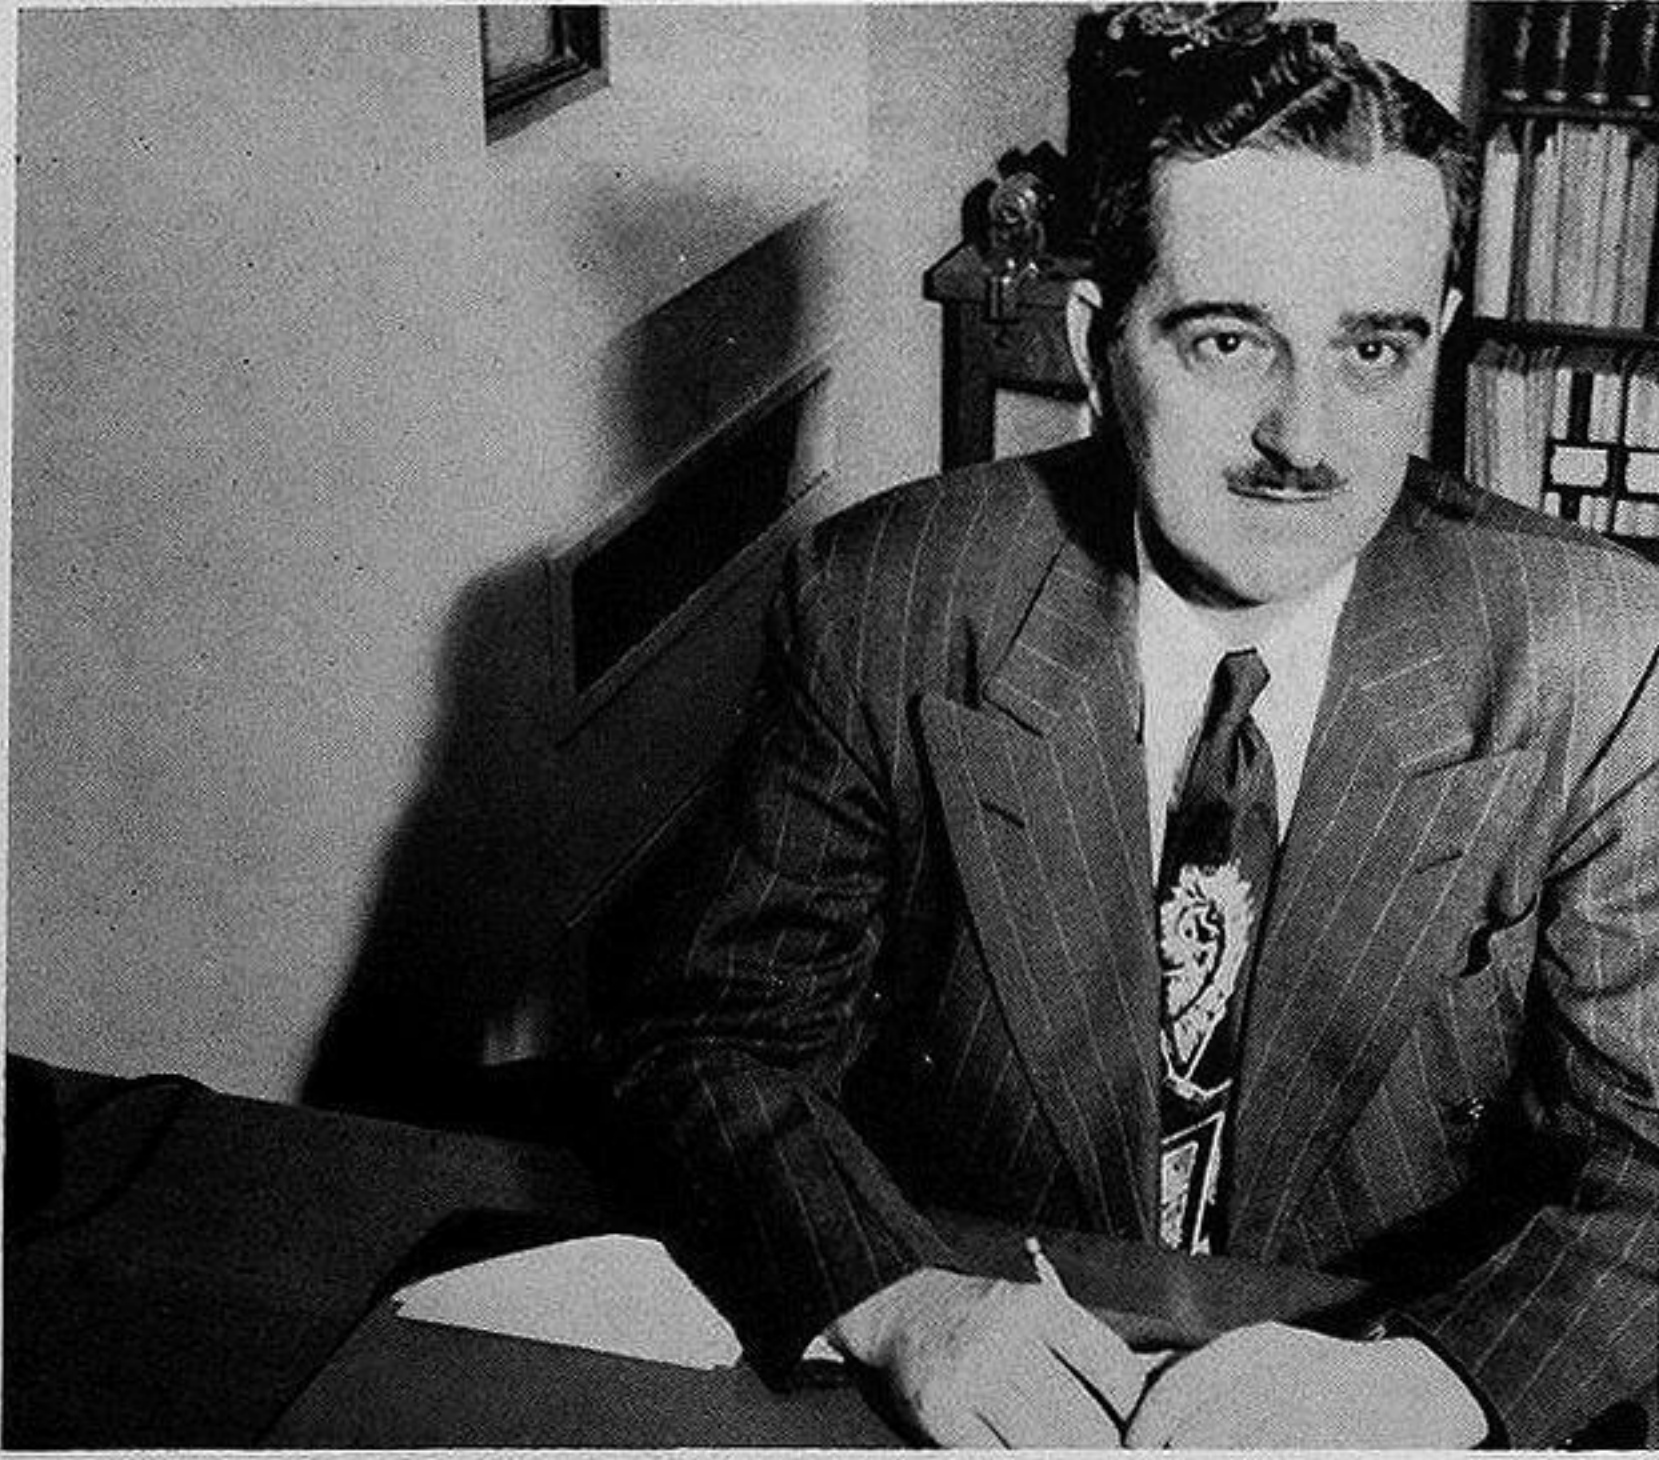

DR. R. E. BELSHAW, well-liked head of the Men's Physical Education, passed away during winter quarter of this year. He has been replaced by RUSSELL CUTLER.

Training for positions as advertisers, teachers, dieticians, executives, and home-makers is offered to students in the School of Home Economics. This department is headed by DR. JENNIE I. ROWNTREE.

SCHOOL OF LAW

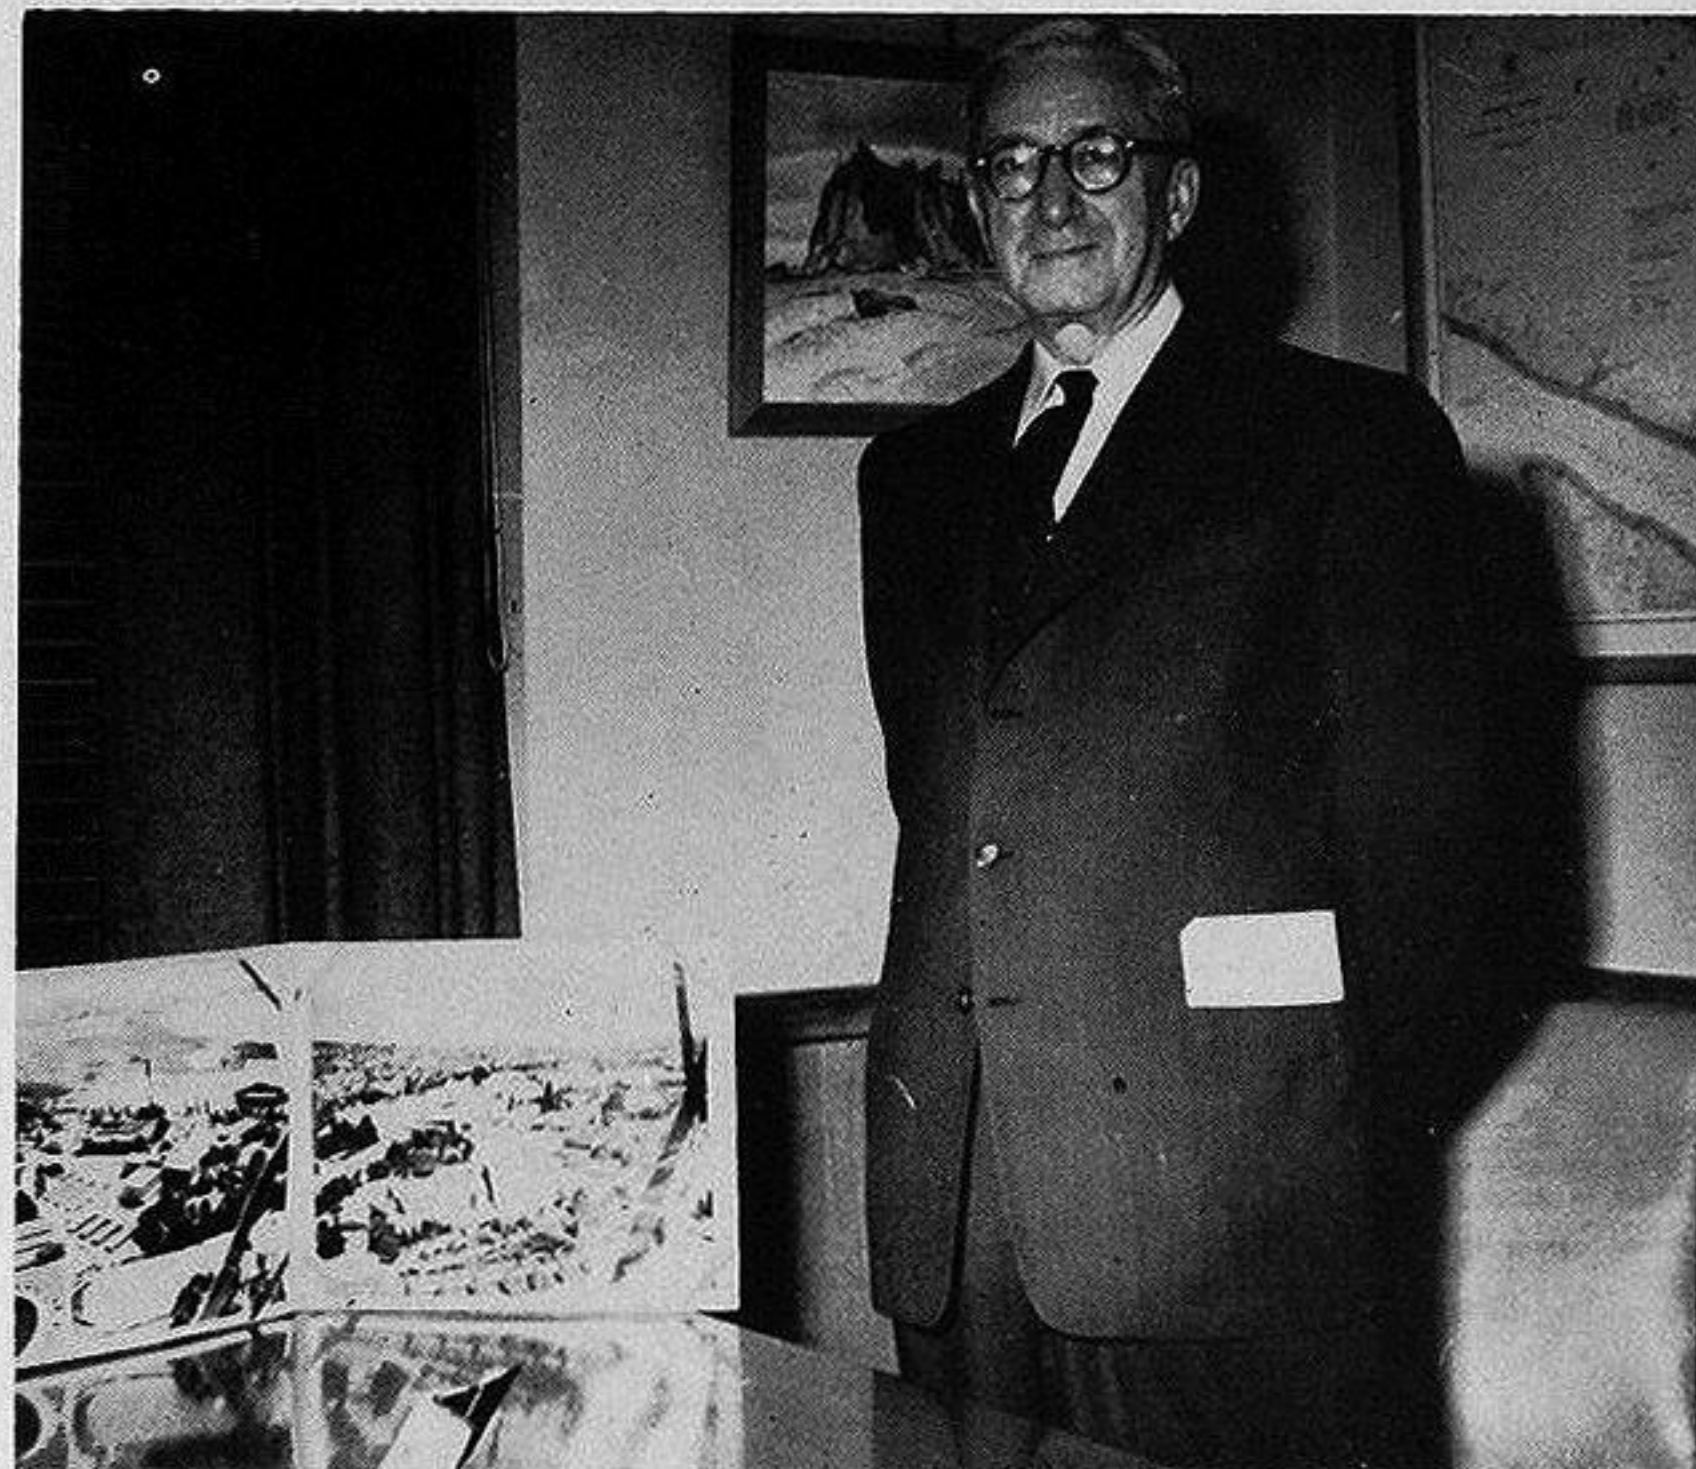

DEAN ALFRED HARSCH

The School of Law, under the leadership of Dean Alfred Harsch, is one of the vital institutions in the University. One of the few law schools in the nation offering a four-year course, it is doing an excellent job of training students for the legal profession. One of the features of the school is a "mock court" held weekly to give students actual courtroom experience. A prominent lawyer or judge presides over the court, and the students are given the facts of a case to plan a prosecution or defense.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

The Graduate School, headed by Dean Edwin R. Guthrie, gives students an opportunity to earn a Master or Doctor degree and thus assure themselves of a better position in their major field. It is the responsibility of the Graduate School faculty to coordinate graduate students in all departments of the University into one division.

DEAN EDWIN R. GUTHRIE

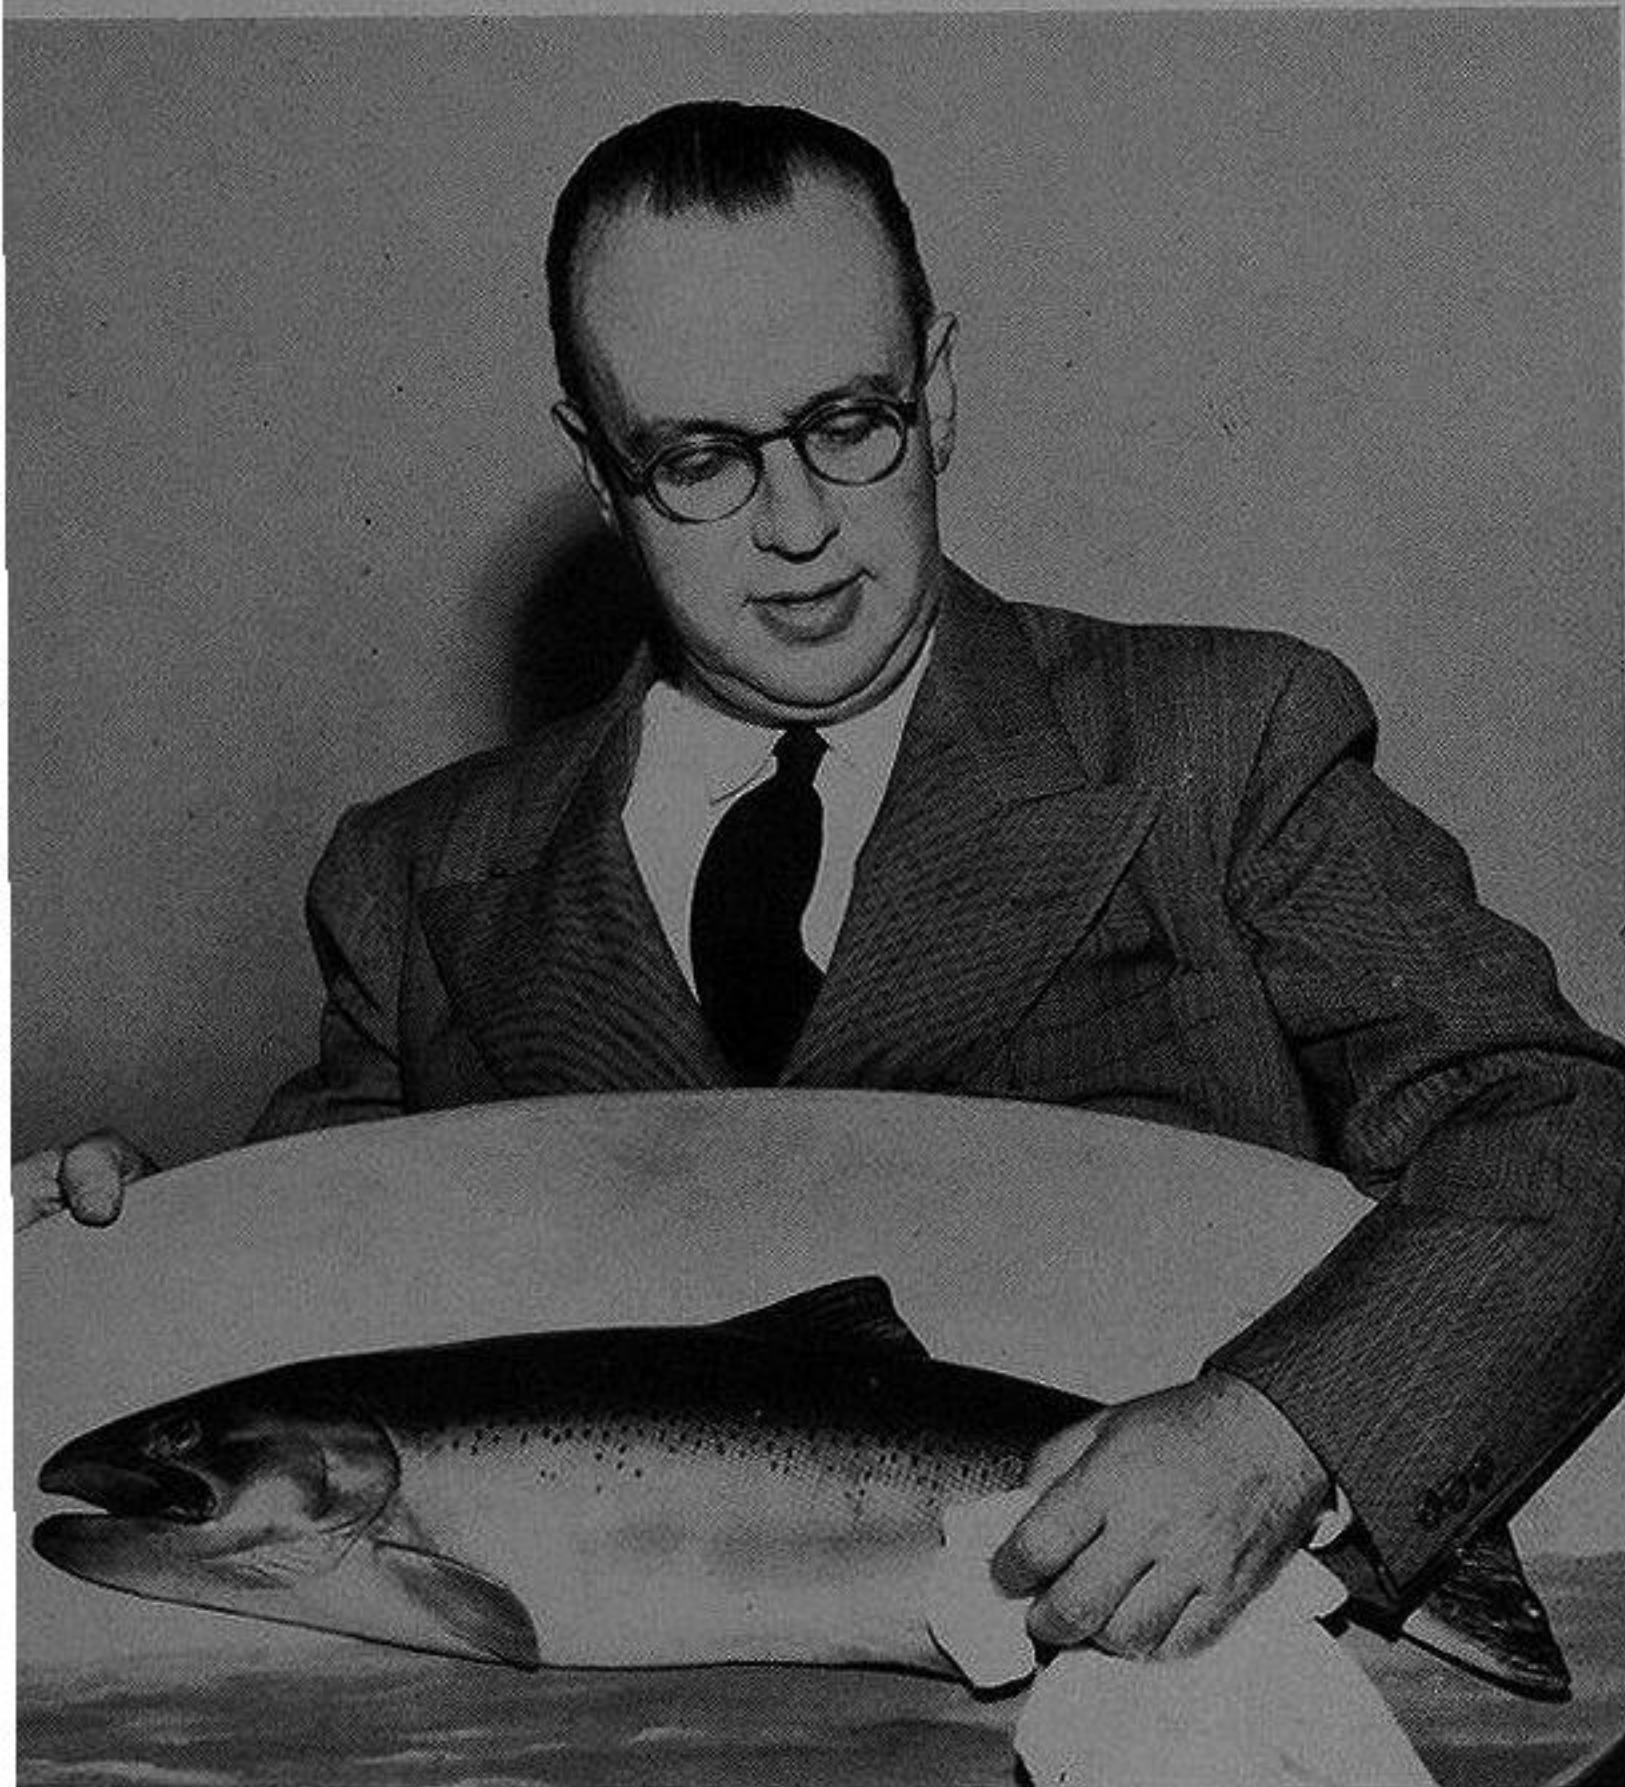

FAR EASTERN INSTITUTE

DR. GEORGE E. TAYLOR is the director of the Far Eastern Institute which offers courses on all aspects of the Pacific Rim countries. Study in Japanese and Chinese languages, history and literature are among the many courses dealing with the Far Eastern countries.

DR. GEORGE TAYLOR

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

DEAN FRANCIS F. POWERS

The College of Education, headed by DEAN FRANCIS F. POWERS, trains students for positions as teachers, principals, and administrators after graduation. An extensive program of cadet-teaching is one of the facilities offered by the college in its excellent training program for the nation's future educators.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

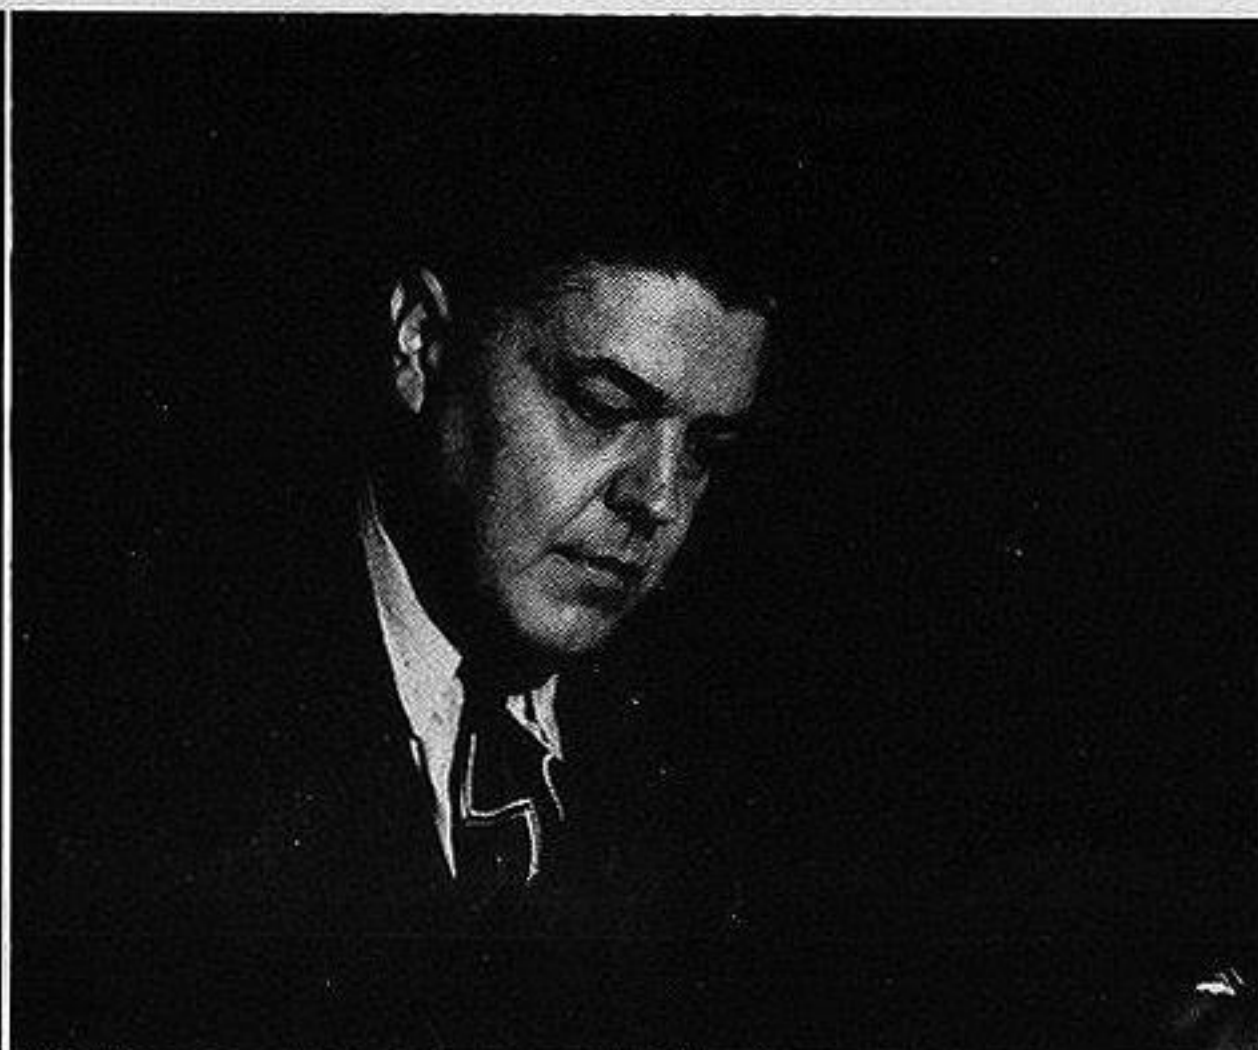

DEAN HAROLD WESSMAN

The College of Engineering, headed by DEAN HAROLD E. WESSMAN is fast gaining in importance on the University of Washington Campus with the construction of the new Electrical Engineering building, More Hall and the addition of much new equipment. The College, with nine divisions of specialized study has become one of the best in the country. The College had its beginnings fifty-two years ago in Denny Hall but when it became so large that it overflowed its space, it was transferred to lower campus where it has continued to expand over the years.

DEAN FOREST J. GOODRICH

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

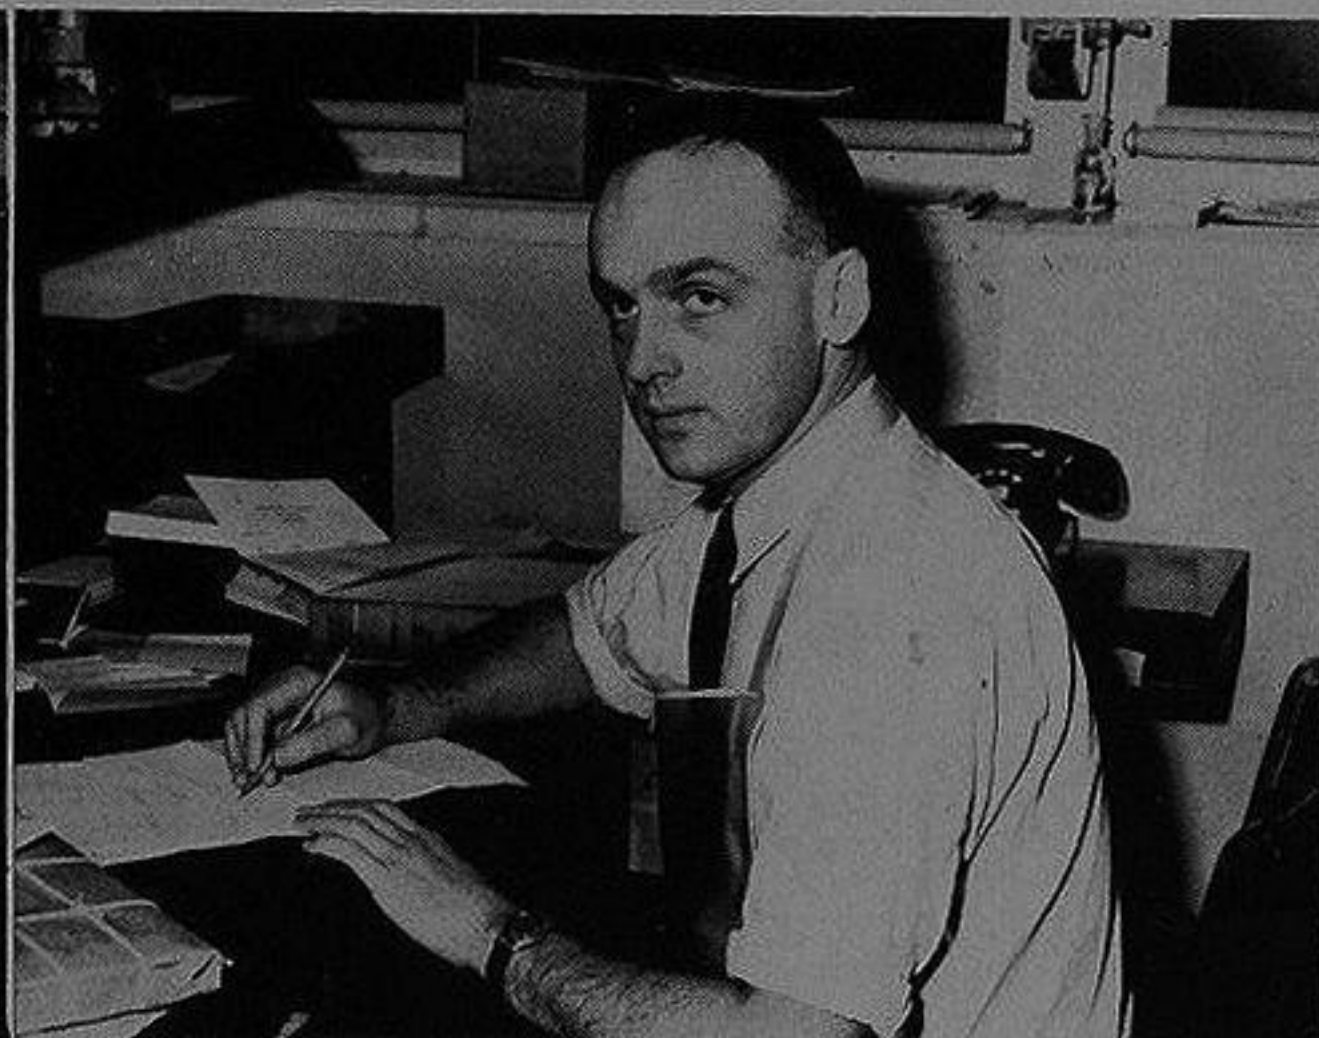

DEAN EDWARD L. TURNER

The recently completed Health Sciences Building is headquarters for the School of Medicine. New wings are the prospect for the future with plans being made for a hospital and additional space for research work... R. Bronsdon "Curly" Harris takes time out from his job as secretary and director of the Alumni Association.

ALUMNI

Promoting the best interests of the University of Washington is the purpose of the Alumni Association. Organized in 1891, this association looks to the future by initiating long term projects and by awarding scholarships to future graduates. Other year-around activities include reunions, Sunday evening fire-sides, annual Homecoming celebrations and the commencement tea honoring graduating seniors. These activities serve as a link to college days and present opportunities to renew acquaintances for the alumni.

The various Alumni publications, the Washington Alumnus and the Husky Song Book, serve to keep the alums posted on current events at the University. A long honored tradition of the Association is awarding the degree of Alumnus Summa Laude Dignatus to the alumnus who has the most outstanding record of service and leadership for the year. The 1950 honor was bestowed upon Charles W. Harris, of the College of Engineering.

Another activity of the Alumni is the Dean's Luncheon at Homecoming times. Here, returning grads mingle with former classmates and enjoy a buffet luncheon before the game.

Each year the Alumni Association awards a Husky Plaque to the U. of W. Club of the Year. Here George E. Freck, president of the Portland Club and Jim Brattain, accept the award for the Portland Club.

Signing checks is just one of the many duties of TALBOTT CARROLL, treasurer of the Alumni Association.

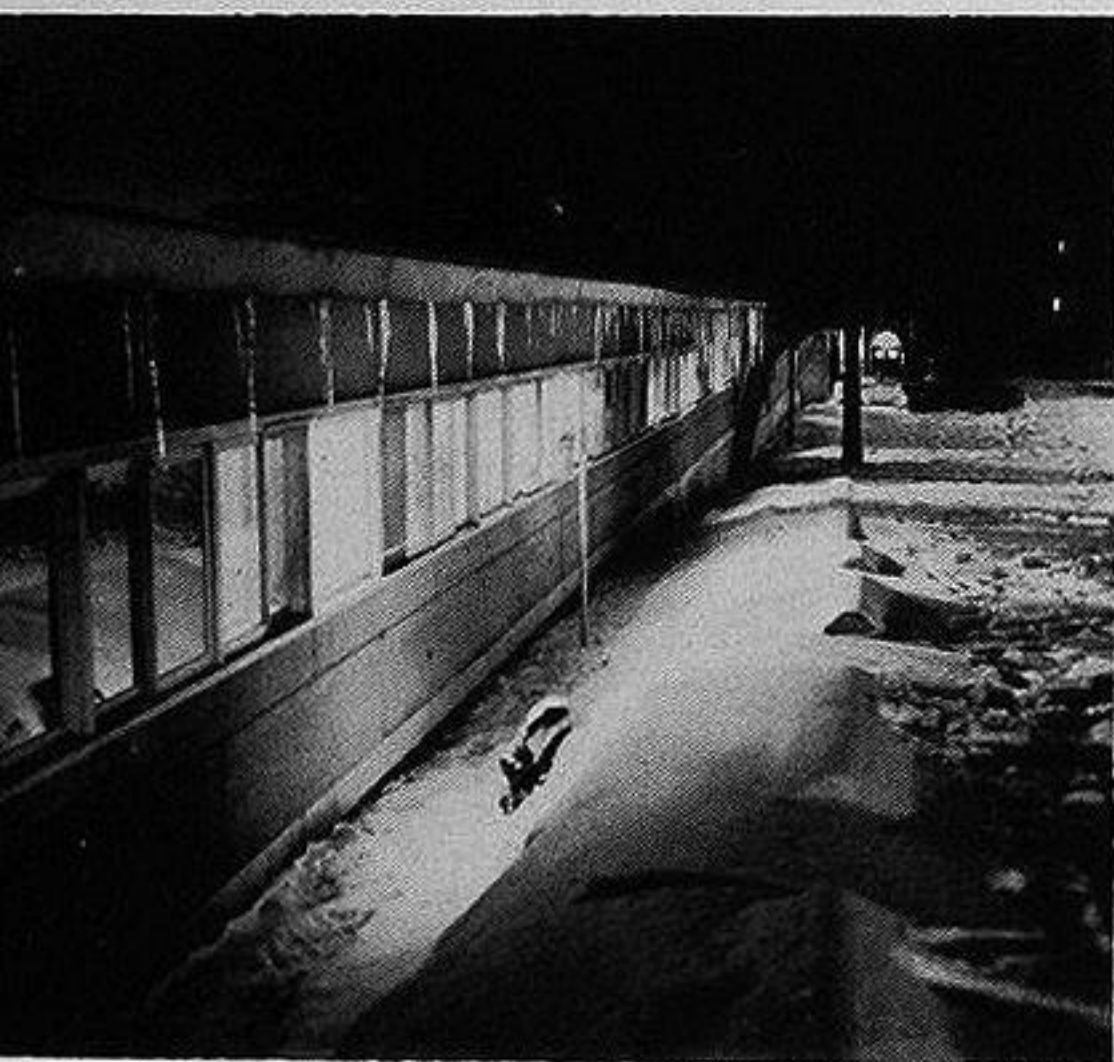

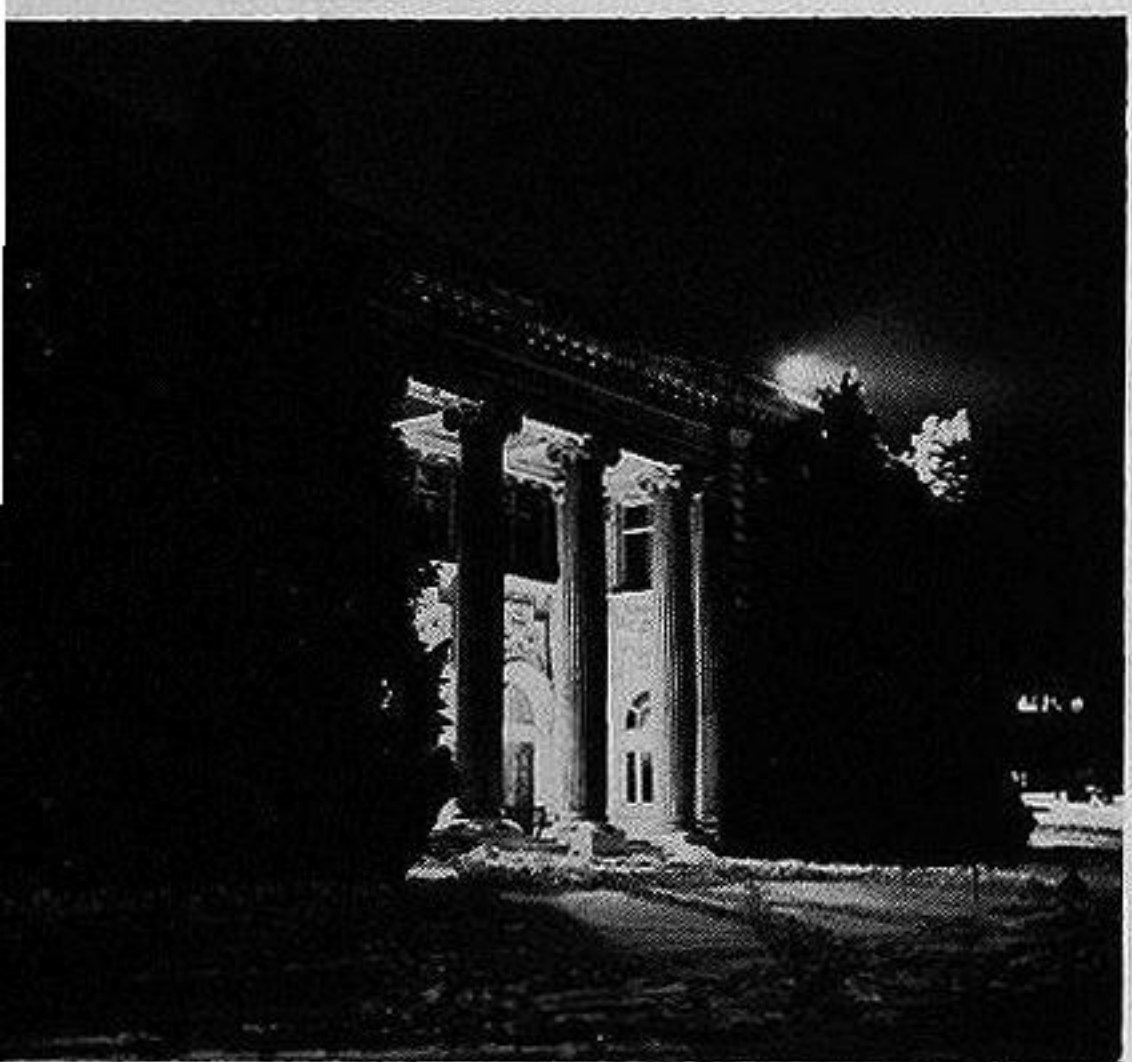

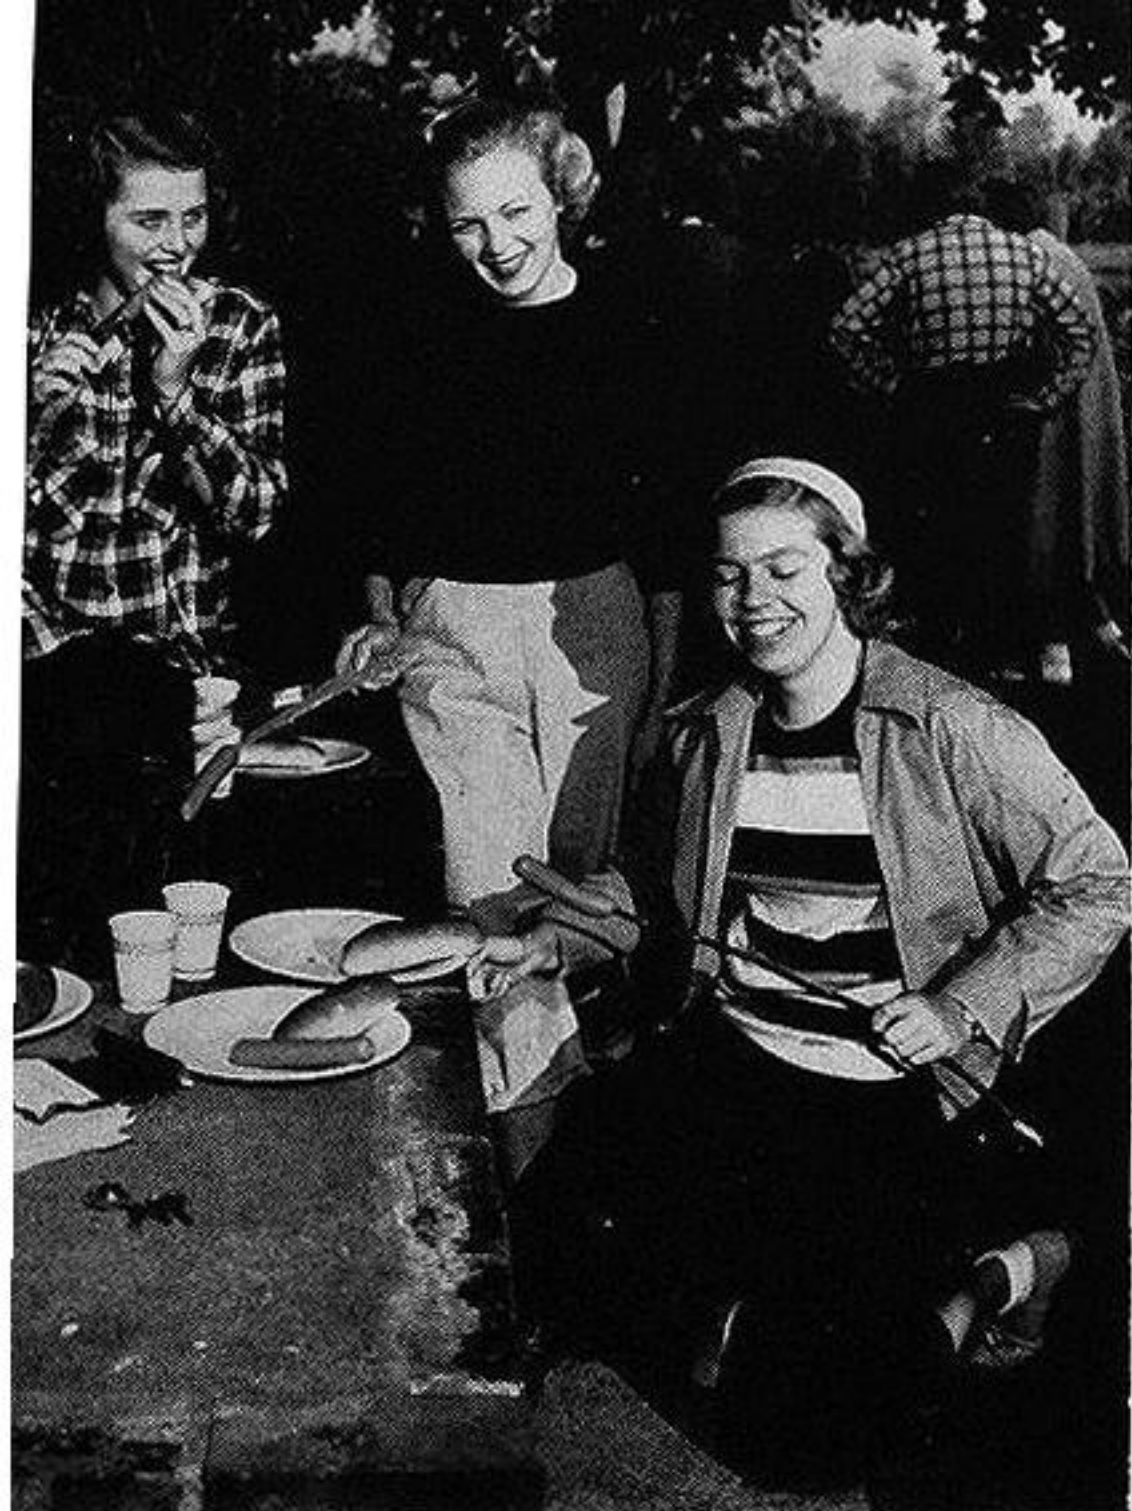

The Alumni Board is ready to discuss the business of the day. Seated: Mrs. Edith C. Korres, Mrs. Glenn Whiteman, W. Byron Lane, Mrs. Cecil Smith, Mrs. H. Dan Bracken, Jr., Donald E. Douglas. Standing: Larry R. McIntosh, Vic Markov, Robert J. Williams, John N. Sylvester, Robert Abel, Al Ulbrickson, Donald L. Thompson, Stephen Anderson, Jack Westland, Donald MacKenzie, Robert M. Ingram, R. Bronsdon Harris. Not pictured: Mrs. T. Dayton Davies, Lawrence Westerweller, Talbott Carroll.

An Alumni Association tradition is the Senior reception following Commencement. Here grads, their families and friends mingle in the Sylvan Theater and bid good-bye to officials of the University.

Year round, students at the University of Washington have unlimited recreation possibilities. And the Northwest is noted for its scenery. A course is offered in sailing, and canoes and sailboats are available to students who wish to take advantage of all of the water bordering the campus. During the winter, snow dresses the campus in white, making the oldest or newest buildings come to life with an aura of beauty, and a large percentage of the students spend their weekends skiing at one of the many ski areas in the vicinity. And during the spring and summer months, much time is spent at the beaches where swimming and picnicing help to fill free afternoons.

The building program on the campus has had considerable effect on the class program of most students. Almost every department has reaped the benefits. Besides the new buildings—the Art and Music buildings and Thomson Hall on upper campus; More Hall and the Electrical Engineering building on lower campus; the Health Sciences building for the medical and dental students—many buildings have undergone considerable remodeling. Other buildings have had additional wings appended—Physics and Johnson Halls and the main Library.

The improved physical plant has been paralleled with improved educational opportunities. More courses of study are offered with an increased and carefully chosen faculty. The University is still growing and improving, but the class of 1951 may well be proud to have been in on the greatest surge forward the University has made thus far in such a short period of time.

PRESIDENT'S MEDALISTS

The President's Medal is conferred at Commencement upon the graduating senior who has maintained the highest record over the four years of his undergraduate course, all of which must have been completed at the University of Washington. Two students from the 1950 graduating class were chosen for this honor:

RUTH TUCKER PELTON received her Bachelor's Degree in Spanish. She was awarded the Faculty Medal for high scholarship during her junior year and retained membership in Phi Beta Kappa during her senior year. Graduating summa cum laude, she received the President's Medal in June, 1950.

CALVIN DUDLEY THIMSEN, a veteran of World War II, also graduated summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Mathematics. He was an associate of Sigma Xi, science honorary, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

FACULTY MEDALISTS

Faculty Medals are awarded to students of the sophomore and junior classes who have made the best scholastic records in their freshman-sophomore and freshman-sophomore-junior college years, respectively. Transfer students with advanced standing are only eligible for certificates of high scholarship.

JANET LOUISE FITHIAN, a senior in psychology this year, has been the winner of the Faculty Medal for two consecutive years. Now a member of Phi Beta Kappa, she is secretary of Psi Chi, psychology honorary, and is affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta.

CHARLES KESERICH is a junior in Education and was awarded the Faculty Medal in the fall of 1950 for outstanding scholarship in his sophomore year. He also received a High Scholarship Certificate for the year 1948-1949.

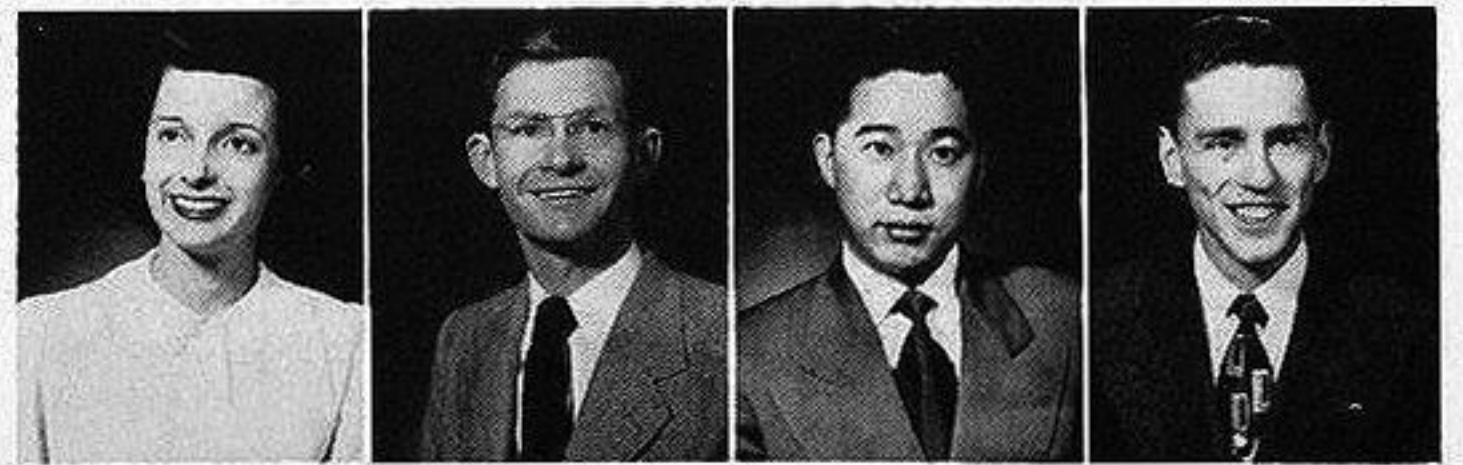

WILLIAM ROBERT LITTLE was a physics major in the college of Arts and Sciences and received the Faculty Medal for Scholarship at the end of his sophomore year, 1949-1950. He and Charles Keserich, although both in the same class, received such a high grade point that two medals were given to sophomores.

HIGH SCHOLARSHIP CERTIFICATE WINNERS

UNDERGRADUATE HONORS

The undergraduate honors are compiled of those students whose names have appeared on two or more of the quarterly scholarship lists of the preceding year at the University as well as two-thirds of all quarters here. Transfers appearing on these lists are those who entered with averages approximately equivalent to those of the students who have attended only the University of Washington.

Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medicine honorary, established Washington's Beta Chapter in 1948. The aim of this honorary is to stimulate an interest and encourage excellence in pre-medical education. The requirements for membership in Alpha Epsilon Delta are 75 quarter hours of pre-medical work with a grade point average of 3.01.

Alpha Kappa Delta was founded at the University of Southern California in 1920 as a sociology honorary. The chapter at the University of Washington during the past year has held social functions and forums for the discussion of interesting topics in sociology and other fields. In addition, the Howard Brown-Woolston award of $50 is offered each year for the most valuable research paper in sociology submitted by an undergraduate student. The members of Alpha Kappa Delta become candidates for membership on the basis of high scholarship in sociology and other university work. New members are voted into the chapter in the spring and fall of each year.

A goal requiring extra effort is extended to business administration majors by Beta Gamma Sigma, national scholastic honorary. This selective group lists among its members the top-ranking juniors, seniors, and graduates in the B.A. school. Juniors must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5 to be eligible for membership, while seniors and graduates are required to have a minimum of 3.3. Making the organization even more exclusive is the fact that no more than the top ten per cent of the senior class can be initiated, nor more than the top five per cent of the juniors.

The well-known honorary has 55 chapters throughout the United States. It has long been represented by the local chapter, as it was installed on the University campus May 18, 1918, by the then two-year-old Commercial Club. They had received offers from other honoraries to go national, but held out for Beta Gamma Sigma. The final charter was granted in 1923.

Officers for the current school year are James Courtney, president; John Squire, vice-president; Myrna Coyle, secretary; and George Hurt, treasurer.

The purpose of this fraternity is to advance the cause of music in America, to foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music, to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its members and to encourage loyalty to the Alma Mater. Any student of music who meets the scholarship requirements can be voted into membership.

In honor of the late director of the School of Music, Sigma Chapter offers the Carl Paige Wood Memorial Scholarship which gives two quarters of private instruction to a qualified and deserving underclassman.

Acting in an advisory capacity for the Songfest is one of the many activities of the fraternity. During the spring, a concert is given by the members. This concert consists entirely of compositions of American composers, especially those in the University School of Music.

Mu Phi Epsilon is a national music sorority in the professional field, having as its purpose the recognition of scholarship and musicianship and the promotion of friendship within its sisterhood. Sophomore standing and a 3.01 cumulative grade average are required as well as faculty recommendation. Tau Chapter has assisted at several departmental functions in the School of Music during the year and also cooperated with Seattle alumnae in programs for various organizations in the city.

Omicron Nu is open to second-quarter juniors and seniors majoring in home economics. The grade point necessary for election to this honorary is 3.02 accumulative. The purposes of Omicron Nu, the promotion of scholarship, leadership and research in the field of home economics, are carried out by many varied and interesting activities. Some of these activities are an annual Honors Tea given the spring of each year for all girls with high grades in the department, participation in the High-school Open House, a semi-annual Jam Sale, a cook book project, and many others.

Rho Chi Society elects new members from men and women in the College of Pharmacy who are in the highest 20 per cent of their class, who have earned a grade point of at least 3.0 for more than 113 credits. The honorary strives to promote better pharmacy ethics and graduate research funds for pharmacy students.

Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary, was founded in 1885 and has since grown into an association of 85 chapters. The Alpha Chapter of Washington, established in 1912, has consistently followed the original aims of Tau Beta Pi: to honor men who maintain high scholarship and exhibit exemplary character and leadership. A grade-point average of 3.2 for seniors and 3.6 for juniors is necessary to fulfill one of the membership requirements. Typical of Tau Beta Pi's service to all engineering students is the "Guide Book," edited by the 1950 Fall Quarter pledges and published by the chapter.

Tau Sigma Delta, the national honorary for men and women in architecture and allied arts was founded at the University of Michigan in 1913. In 1924, Iota Chapter was established at the University of Washington. The fraternity's purpose is to recognize and encourage high scholastic attainment by rewarding talent and marked ability through election to membership. Students with a 3.01 cumulative are eligible for membership after completing the first quarter of Junior Design. The honorary holds monthly luncheons devoted to chapter business and informal discussions. The leading event of the year is the formal initiation banquet held in conjunction with the alumni.

Xi Sigma Pi is a national forestry honorary whose objectives are to maintain and secure a high standard of scholarship in forest education, to work for the upbuilding of the profession of forestry and to promote fraternal relations among earnest workers engaged in forest activities. Qualifications for Xi Sigma Pi are junior standing, active participation in the Forest Club and a 3.15 grade average.

XI SIGMA PI

Sigma Epsilon Sigma, the underclasswomen's scholastic honorary, is composed of all sophomore women who have maintained a 3.5 grade point average during their freshman year. Members are considered active only in their sophomore year, but membership continues throughout one's entire college career. On their fall calendar, members serve as hostesses at the annual President's Tea honoring outstanding freshmen. But the big event of the year is Sigma Epsilon Sigma's sucker sale. The proceeds from this venture go toward providing a scholarship for some deserving freshman woman.

Founded in 1907, Fir Tree is an organization, the election to which confers a reward for services rendered the University by undergraduates in athletics, debate, journalism and other worthy student activities.

To distinguish Fir Tree from other organizations, its purpose is not to serve the University as a body, but rather to designate those who have already shown unselfish devotion and service to Washington.

To make it essentially a Washington society, membership is limited to undergraduate students who have taken all their college work at this university. The fir tree was chosen as an emblem because it is particularly indigenous to our state and reaches its greatest height and luxuriousness when grown from the beginning in one place, surrounded by its fellows.

Mortar Board is the National Senior Women's Honorary organized to provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman.

Mortar Board members are chosen in the spring of their junior year. Membership is based on service, scholarship and leadership. The candidates' accumulative grade point must be at least three-tenths of a point above the all-university average, usually 2.8 or higher.

Mortar Board traditionally sponsors Tolo, the turn-about dance where girl-takes-boy. This year, Tolo was held on April 21 in the Civic Auditorium. The new pledges were formally announced at this dance.

In December, Mortar Board held a candy cane sale on campus to raise money for their annual scholarship fund. The sale was an overwhelming success.

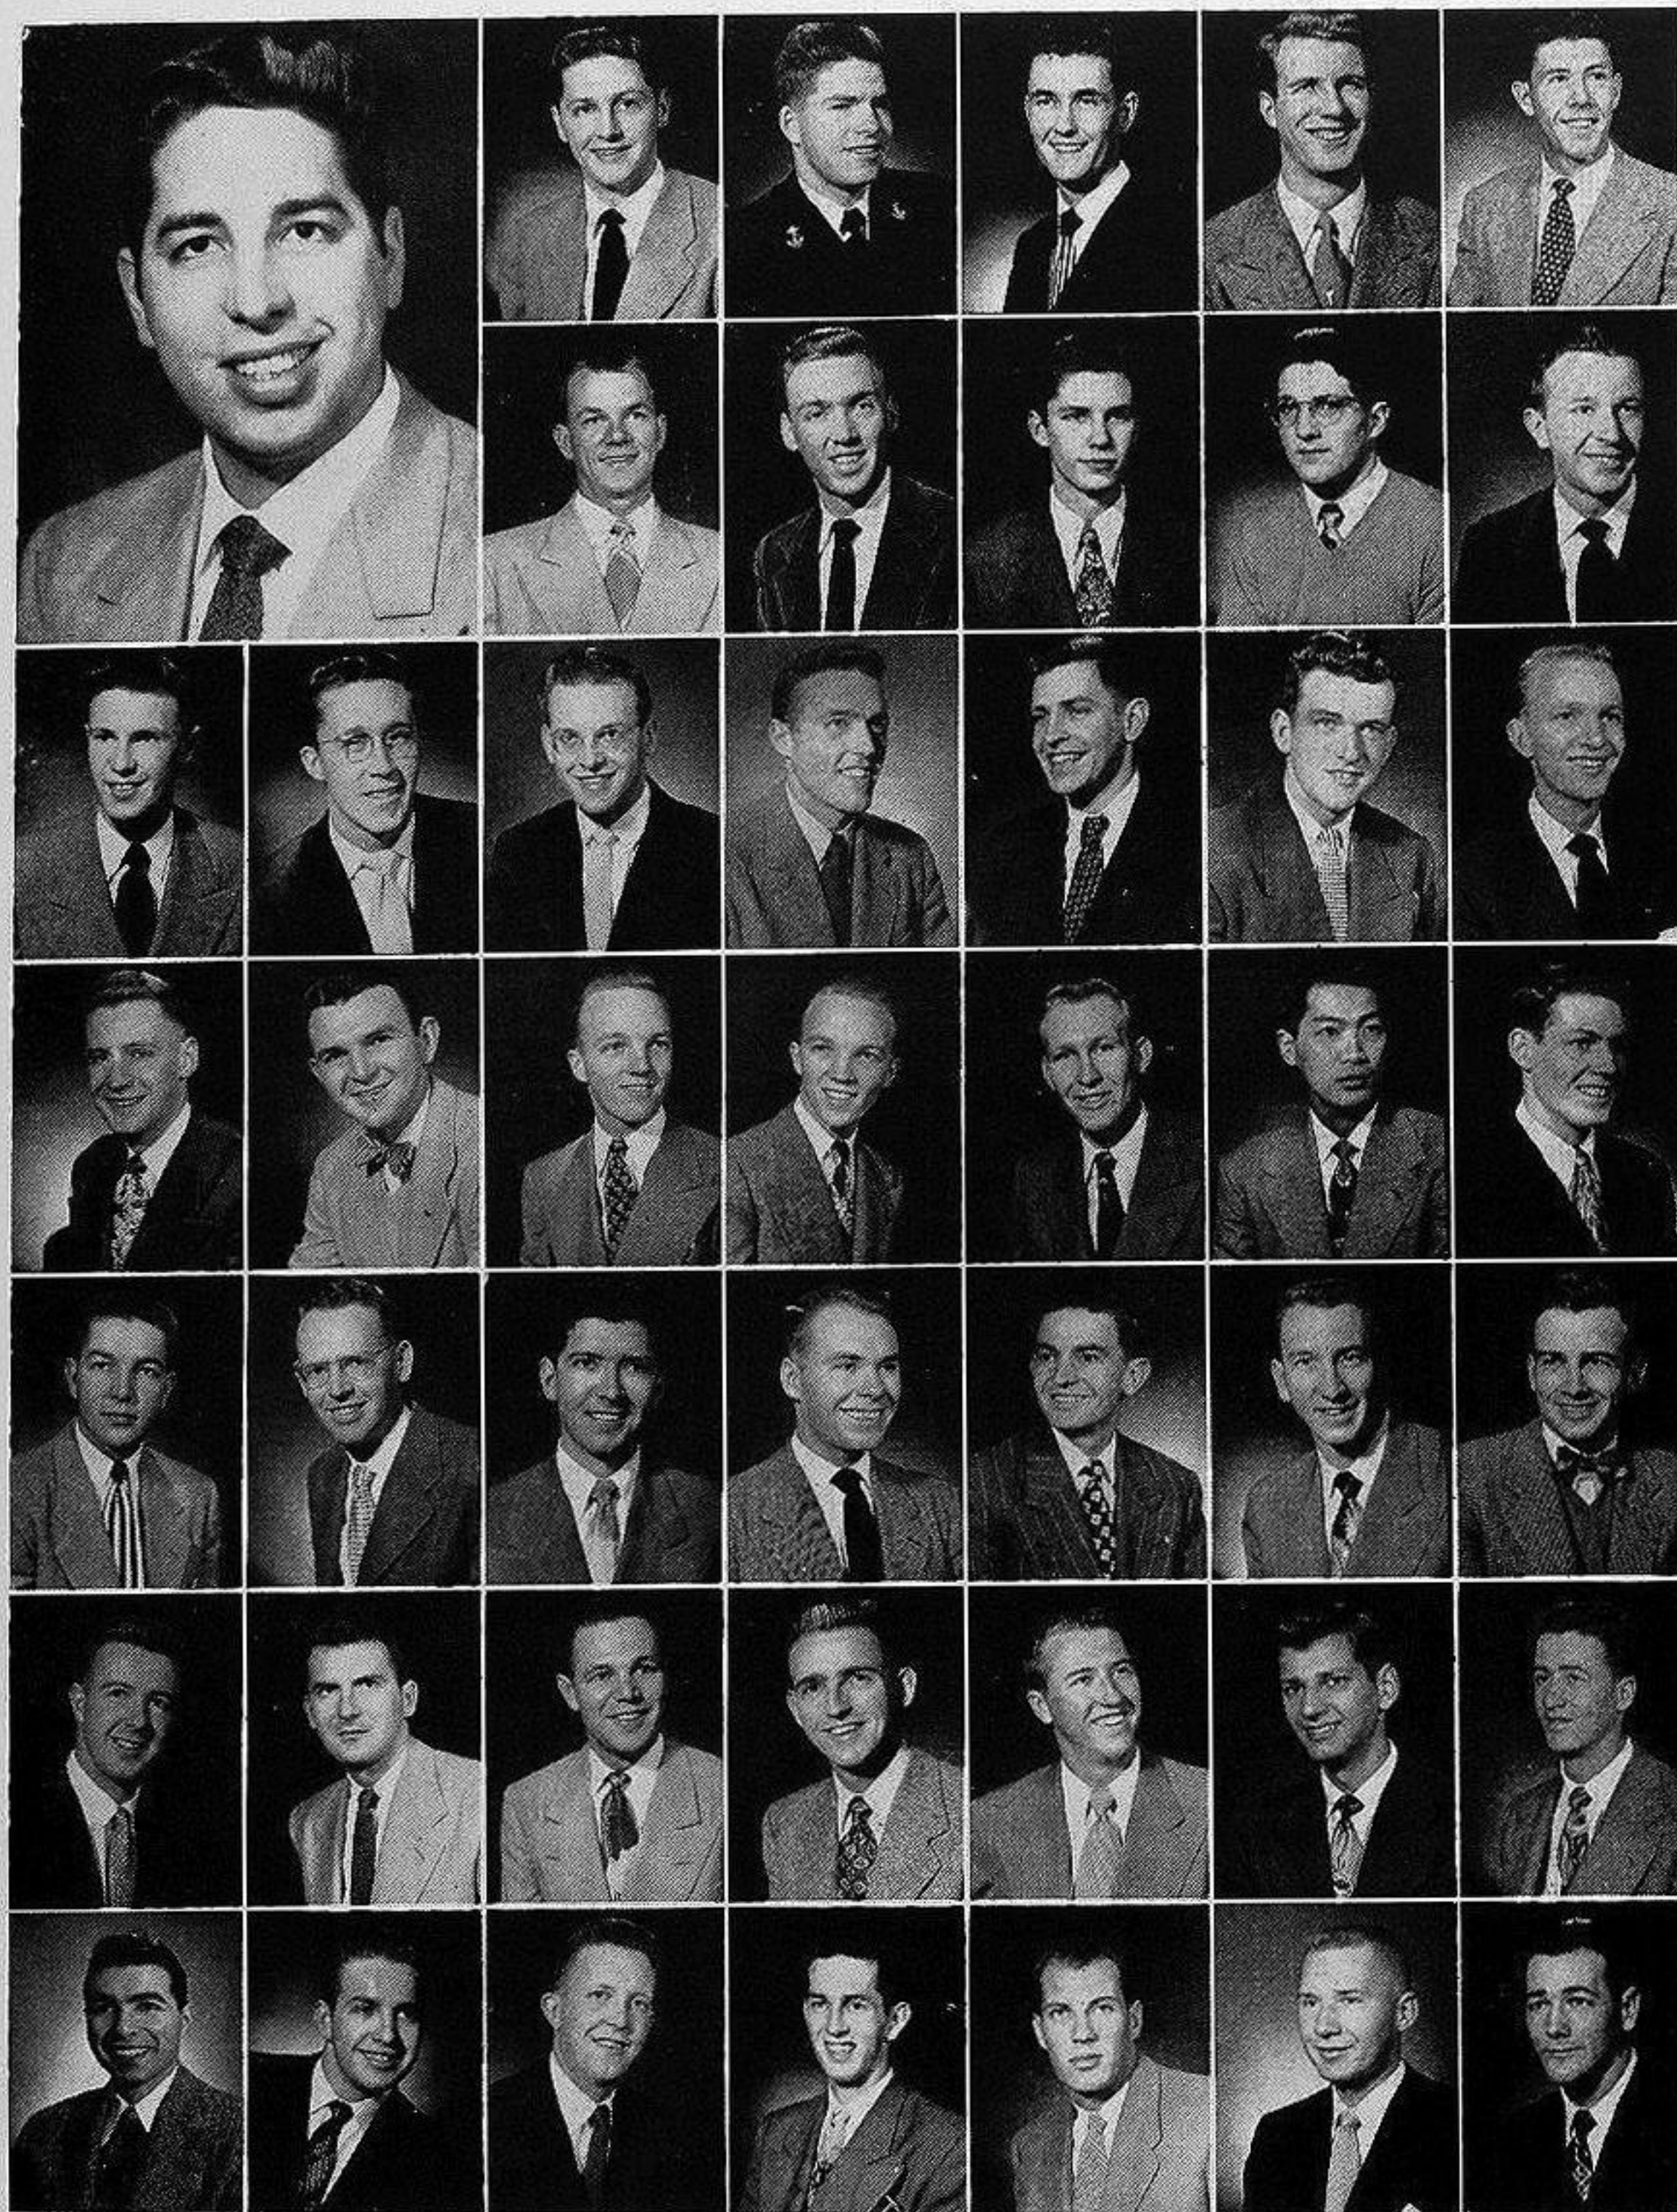

One of the current projects Mortar Board is sponsoring, is the making of a relief map of campus for the use of the blind students. Mortar Board has worked in conjunction with the Geography Department on this project.

Mortar Board presents two plaques each year at the AWS Scholarship Banquet—one to the outstanding sophomore girl of the year, and one to the outstanding junior girl of the year.

In addition to these activities, Mortar Board attempts to live up to its purposes by being of service to the university whenever it is called upon to assist. Mortar Board girls acted as hostesses for the President's Reception for freshmen in the fall, and as usherettes at the Convocation Assembly in the spring.

Oval Club on the University of Washington Campus is a self-perpetuating organization whose motto is "Service to Washington." Basic requirements are above average grades and upperclassman's status in the University. Fulfilling these, members are elected on the basis of their "Service to Washington." This upperclassmen's athletic and activity honorary performs a number of large and small services to our school throughout the year. Among the school services sponsored are a Faculty Banquet honoring all faculty members with over 30 years' experience at Washington, put on jointly with Totem Club. The Souvenir Issue of the Columns is sold only by Oval Club members. Intermission entertainment at athletic events is also sponsored by this organization, to say nothing of the lesser-known projects handled by the club. In addition to these activities, Oval Club holds dances, banquets, picnics and other social events of its own. Continuously active since 1907, Oval Club has preserved the traditions, the ideals, and the history of the University of a Thousand Years.

Totem Club was founded in 1932 to give recognition to a wider group of women leaders than had been done in the past. It was thought that there was a need for an upper-class women's activity honorary, similar to the Oval Club for men. Coeds are tapped during the spring of their junior year by presentation of a miniature totem pole during class. Each year the club sponsors Song and Stunt Night and jointly sponsors the Honors Banquet.

Founded in 1925, the Society of the Purple Shield has functioned on campus as the underclassmen's activity and scholastic honorary. The organization honors those men who in their first two years of college have maintained outstanding scholastic records, while at the same time participating actively in student activities.

Pledges are accepted during the fall and spring of each year. Men with less than 90 hours and a grade average of 2.67 with a 3.0 for one quarter, plus active participation in campus activities are eligible for membership.

The School of Law of the University of Washington is housed in Condon Hall (pictured at the left). Students are admitted to the ten-quarter course upon completion of a Bachelor of Arts or Science degree or an equivalent requirement. The Student Bar Association is the student self-governing organization. Activities sponsored by the association include an honor system for classroom work and tests, the Annual Law School dinner, the Annual Law School dance and the Moot Appellate Court competition.

The "mock court" is held each week throughout the quarter to test the students and to give them a preview of what lies ahead. The students participating are given the facts of the case and from these facts the "mock court" is held.

LAW SCHOOL GRADS

SENIOR PRESIDENT

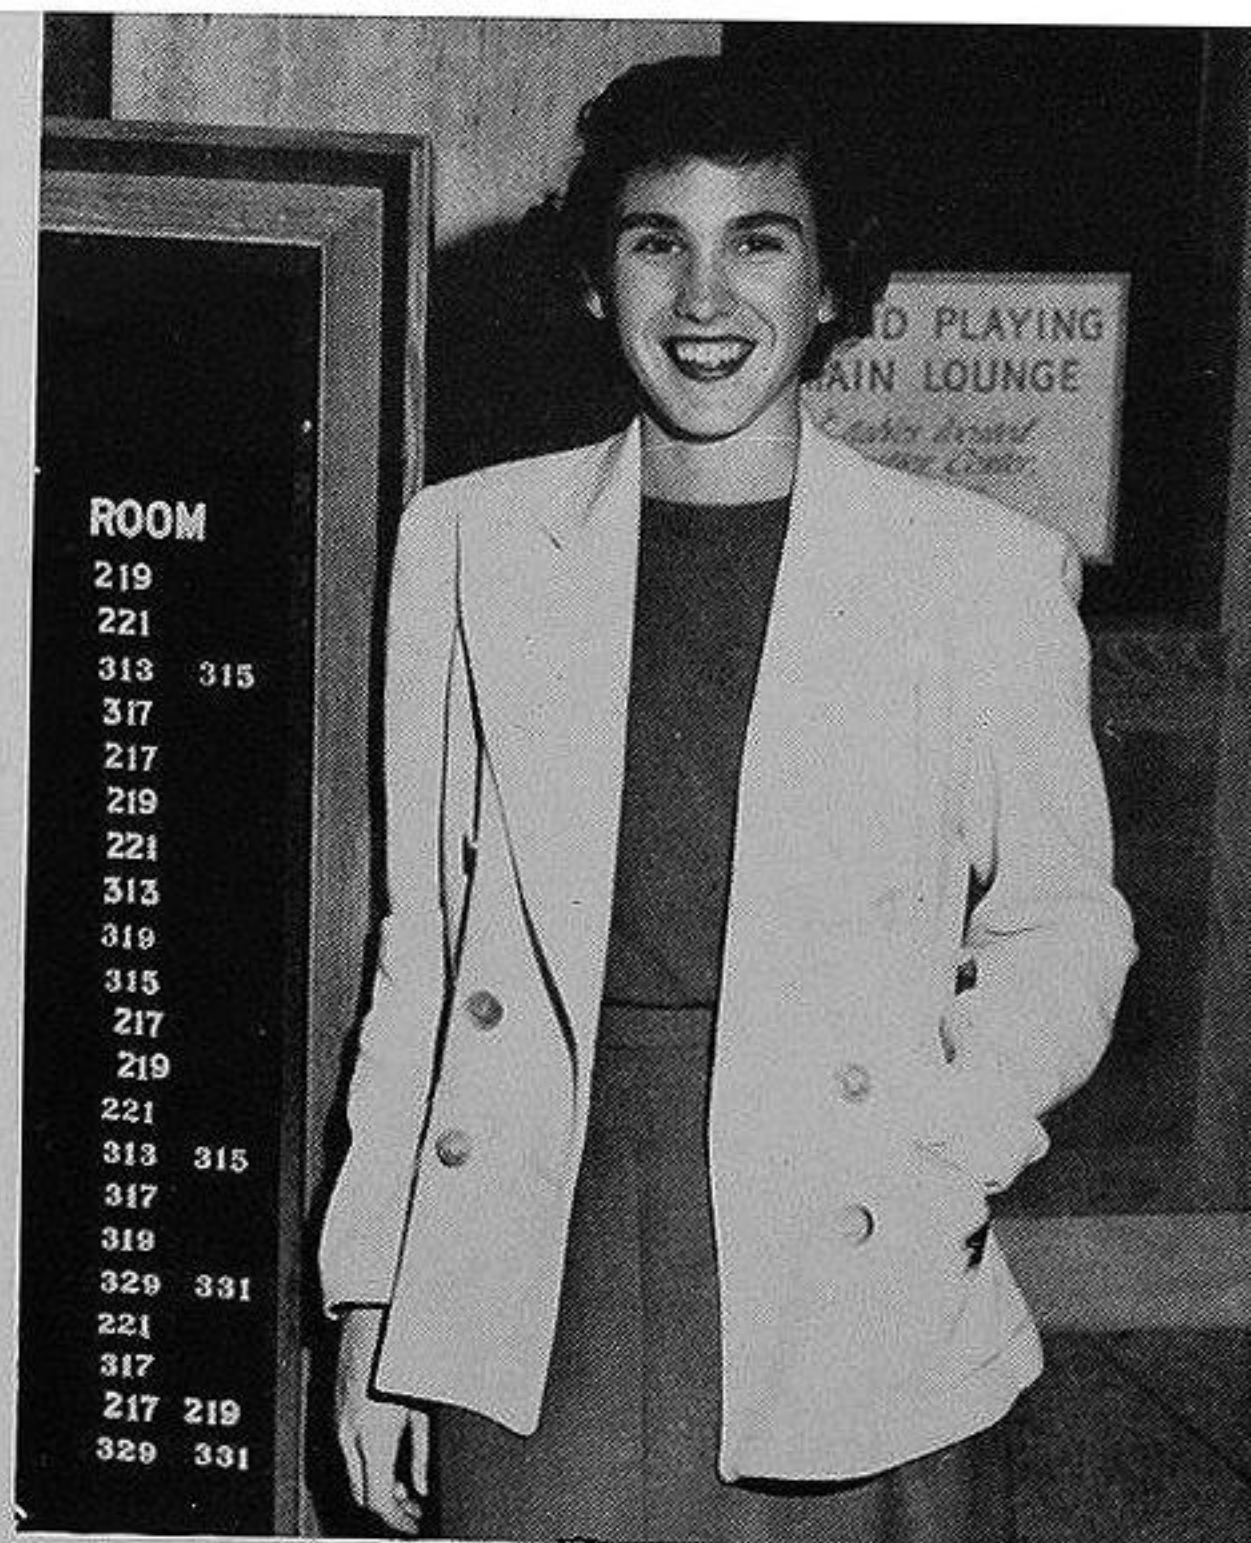

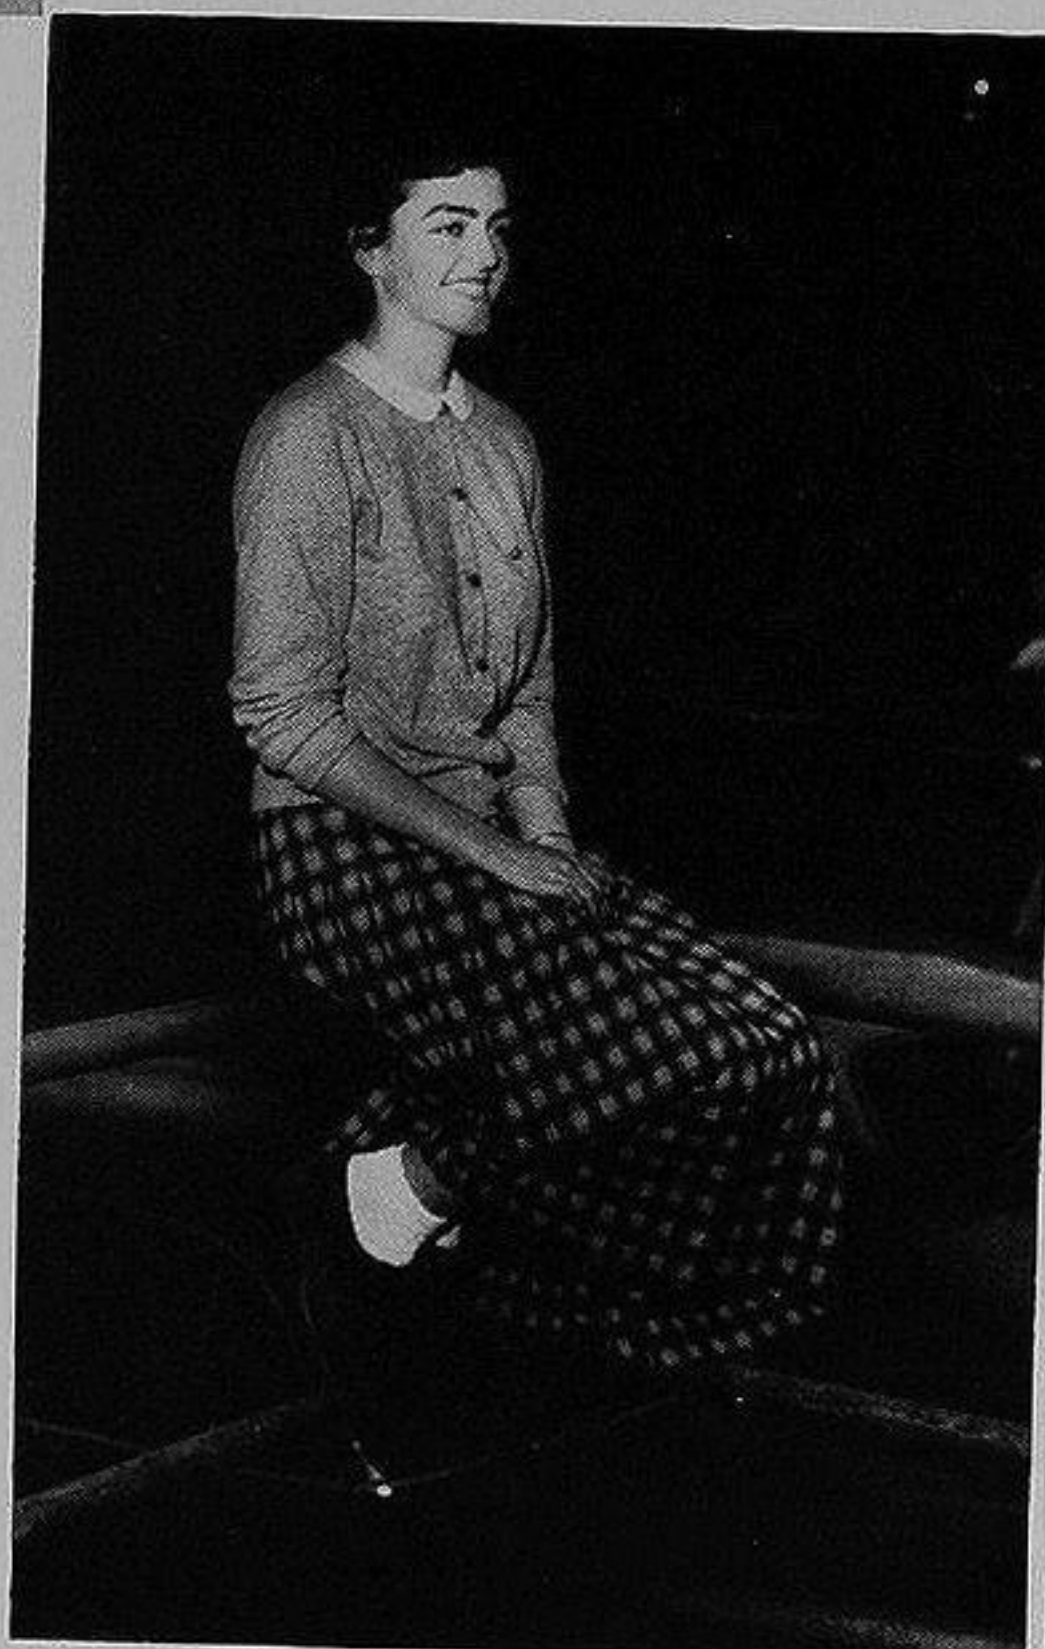

HERB ELLISON, president of Chi Psi Fraternity, past secretary of AMS, and a member of Oval Club and the Publications Committee, has done a great job in keeping the senior class up to par. Despite the fact that the other officers are girls, Herb still has the situation under control.

SENIOR SECRETARY

Alpha Chi Omega, DIANNE WHITHAM, helps keep the senior class minutes in order and still has time for W-Key, Mortar Board, and the AWS Council.

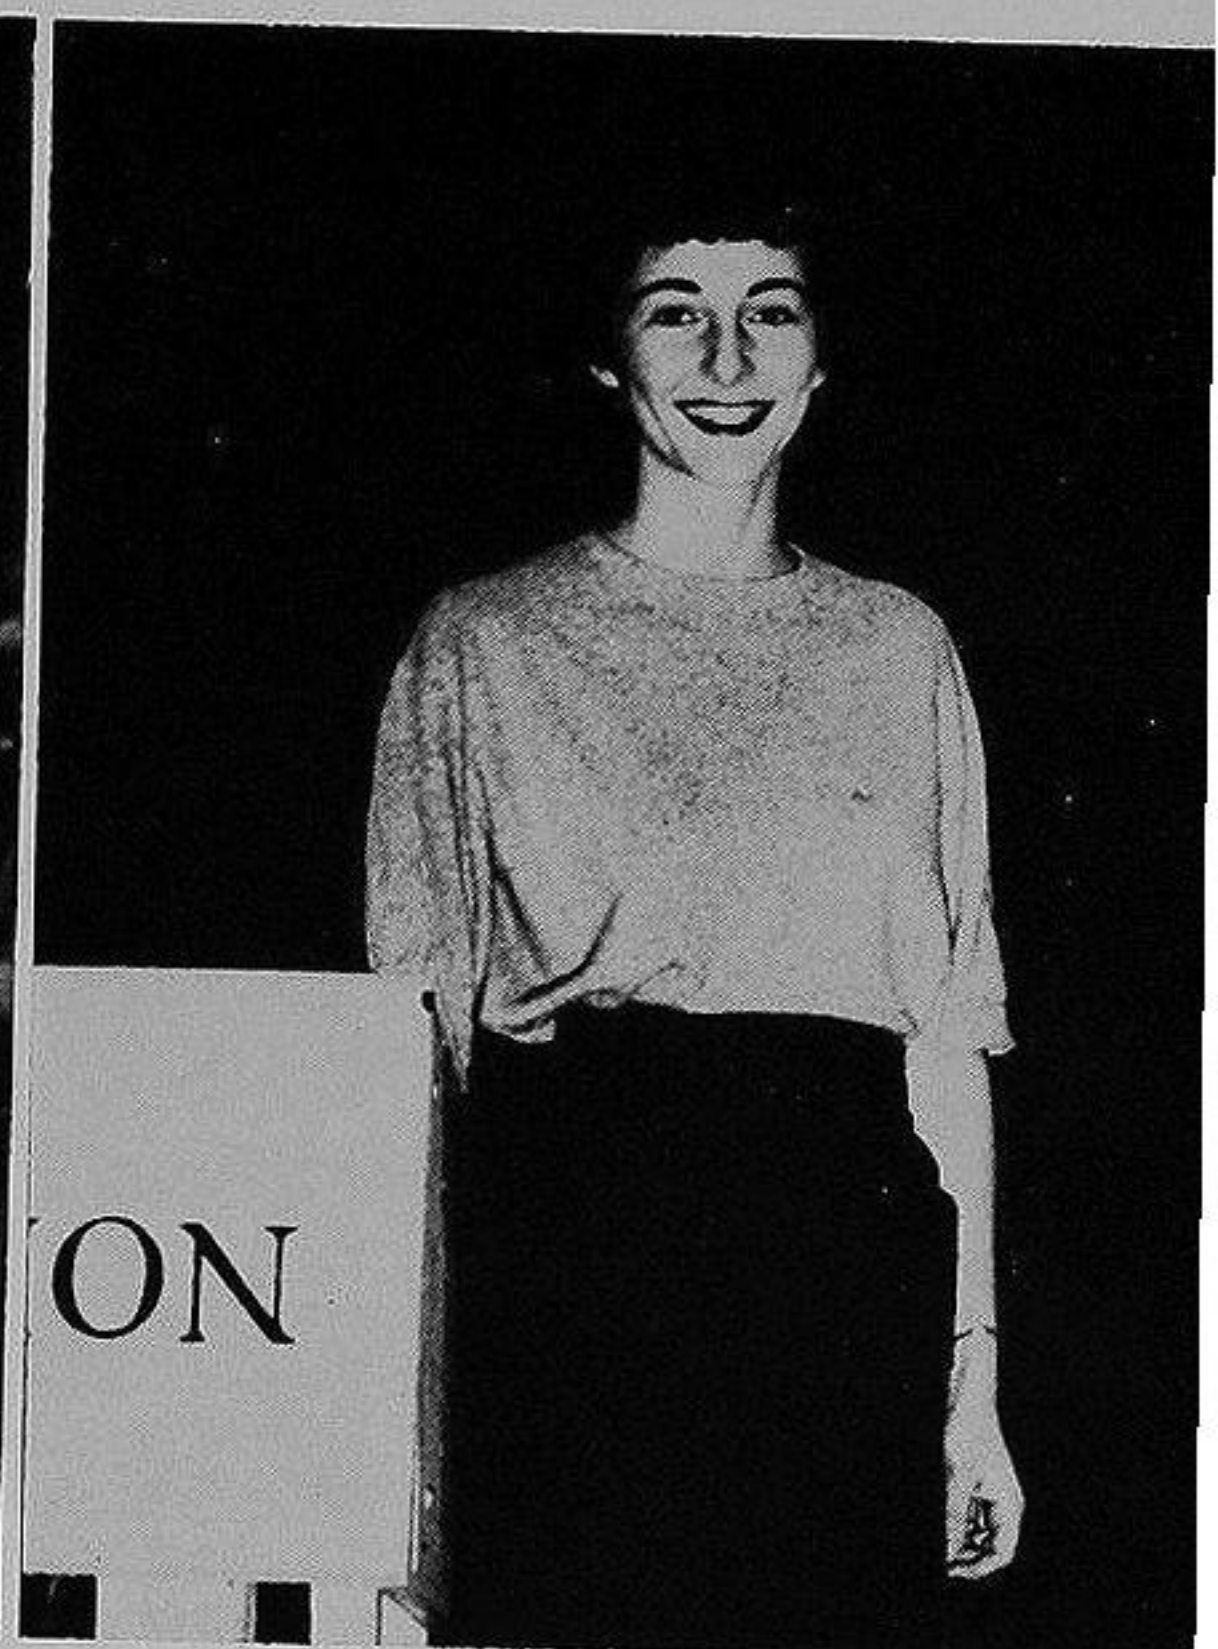

SENIOR VICE-PRESIDENT

LEONNE WOLFE shares equal responsibility in leading the senior class, besides being an active member of the AWS Council, Zeta Phi Eta Speech Honorary, and Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority.

SENIOR TREASURER

This Alpha Phi, KAY MILLER, watched closely the money spent by the senior class besides being on the ASUW Assembly Committee, W-Key, and the AWS Council.

Besides achieving fame as the first ASUW President to become a father during his term of office, CLARENCE "MAC" McCREDY has served AMS both as President and Vice-President. Homecoming Dance Chairman, Junior IFC, Tora and Mike, and Acacia Fraternity also have claimed much of Mac's time throughout his college days.

Smiling JOAN THRASHER served on the Song and Stunt Night Committee, ASUW Operating Committee, Organizations Assembly Steering Committee, AWS Vocational Committee, and was chairman of the AWS Public Relations Committee. A picture of "clean-cut college youth" is BOB QUICKSTAD, standing on the steps of Raitt Hall. One of Bob's major accomplishments was the editorship of Columns during a rather crucial period of its existence. Also he was a member of Oval Club, Purple Shield, Sigma Delta Chi (journalism fraternity), and Alpha Delta Sigma (advertising fraternity); and he served on the Junior Prom committee.

Striking a pose which only lacks a hand-in-vest, KEN COLE looks back on Lewis Hall where he has maneuvered the Tyee as sports editor, editor-in-chief in 1950 and finally as Business Manager in 1951. Ken led the ASUW Publications Committee troops while earning medals for Purple Shield and Oval Club. Propeller Club and the Psi Upsilon Frat Club also take Ken's off-duty time.

The girl with the "hello" in her smile, CAROLYN HICKOX, whipped together a mixture of Recording Secretary of AWS, Mortar Board Secretary, Art Editor of Columns, Totem Club, W-Key, and Kappa Kappa Gamma in four short years.

A "rail Gail" is GAIL ROBIN ZENER, Delta Gamma. She was fenced in with Mortar Board and Totem Club in her senior year. W-Key and Sigma Epsilon Sigma were top posts when she carried a "2" on her ASUW card. Top rails were Assistant Chairman of Homecoming Dance, ASUW Scholarship Committee and Chairman of Y.W.C.A. Campus Relations Committee along with "Y" Cabinet.

Spreading his wings into Washington activities has been no problem for KEN ANDERSON. His list includes Purple Shield and Oval Club. He flew away with President of Managerial Council, President of Alpha Epsilon Delta, and Senior Varsity Track Manager, and Alpha Delta Phi.

"No slow boat to China," for Jack Burke as he set Northern Division Records in track. Also "oriented" in Jack's life were Fir Tree, Oval Club, Purple Shield, and Big "W" Club. "Peking" into his record, Captain of the Track Team and President of Phi Delta Theta are also figured.

"Top man on the totem pole" is LARRY PEARSON, First Vice-President of the ASUW. He held the peace pipe over at Organizations Assembly in 1950 as Vice-Chairman. Oval Club, Theta Chi, Board of Control were other tepees. He swung the tomahawk at meetings of the Finance and Budget Committee, Steering Committee of Organizations Assembly and Secretary of Economics Club.

The Griffin triplets were quite active around the campus during their undergrad years. That's ART GRIFFIN on the left and TREN GRIFFIN on the right (we weren't introduced to the one in the middle). Both managed to buffalo a number of people as Varsity and J.V. Crew Coxswains. Art was a member of Purple Shield, Oval Club, Health Service Advisory Board, Sophomore Carnival and Fist Fest Committees, and Varsity Boat Club. Tren "tooted his horn" in Purple Shield, Oval Club, Big "W" Club, and the Varsity Boat Club. They do their grazing out of the Phi Delt house.

The "bear facts" of FRAN STOECKERT's campus life have been "pawing" in journalism as Associate Editor of Columns, Daily Staff, Division Editor of Tyee, ASUW Publications Committee and Jokes Editor of the Columns. More "honey" was added with Totem Club, President of Kappa Delta, Execu-Sinfonietta.

The "educated toe" is a Phi Bete, too! JIM ROSENZWEIG, between hitting the books found time for Oval Club Presidency, Zeta Mu Tau and Pi Mu Epsilon. He also kicked through with Secretary of "W" Club, and Purple Shield plus 3 years of varsity football.

An old "Hubber," Zete DON EMANUELS is "taking ten" for a much deserved rest after participating in Oval Club and ASUW Assemblies Committee. As President of Purple Shield, 1950 Homecoming Chairman, President of the Campus Masonic Club, Vice-Chairman of Organizations Assembly and serving for two years as ASUW Student Union Building Committee Chairman, he has truly earned a rest.

"Fishing for Salmon" would require a "look see" in at Beta Theta Pi, Oval Club or Husky Swim Club. Alpha Epsilon Delta or Purple Shield would be a good place to bait the hook. The catch would be PETER SALMON, a member of the Varsity Swimming Team.

An impressive graduation ceremony climaxes the four long years it takes the average student to get through school. It's a great day for the seniors and their friends.

Cementing together a well-rounded college life with Oval Club and the Big "W" Club is LA DON HENSON. LaDon has been captain of the basketball team for the past two years, and this year led the championship Huskies to Kansas City for the Western Regional Play-offs.

JUNIOR PRESIDENT

Duane Enochs, 6'5" basketball star, carries a heavy load on his shoulders keeping the junior class under control. He also spends time on the NSA Committee and the YMCA Cabinet, besides being an active member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity and Purple Shield.

JUNIOR SECRETARY

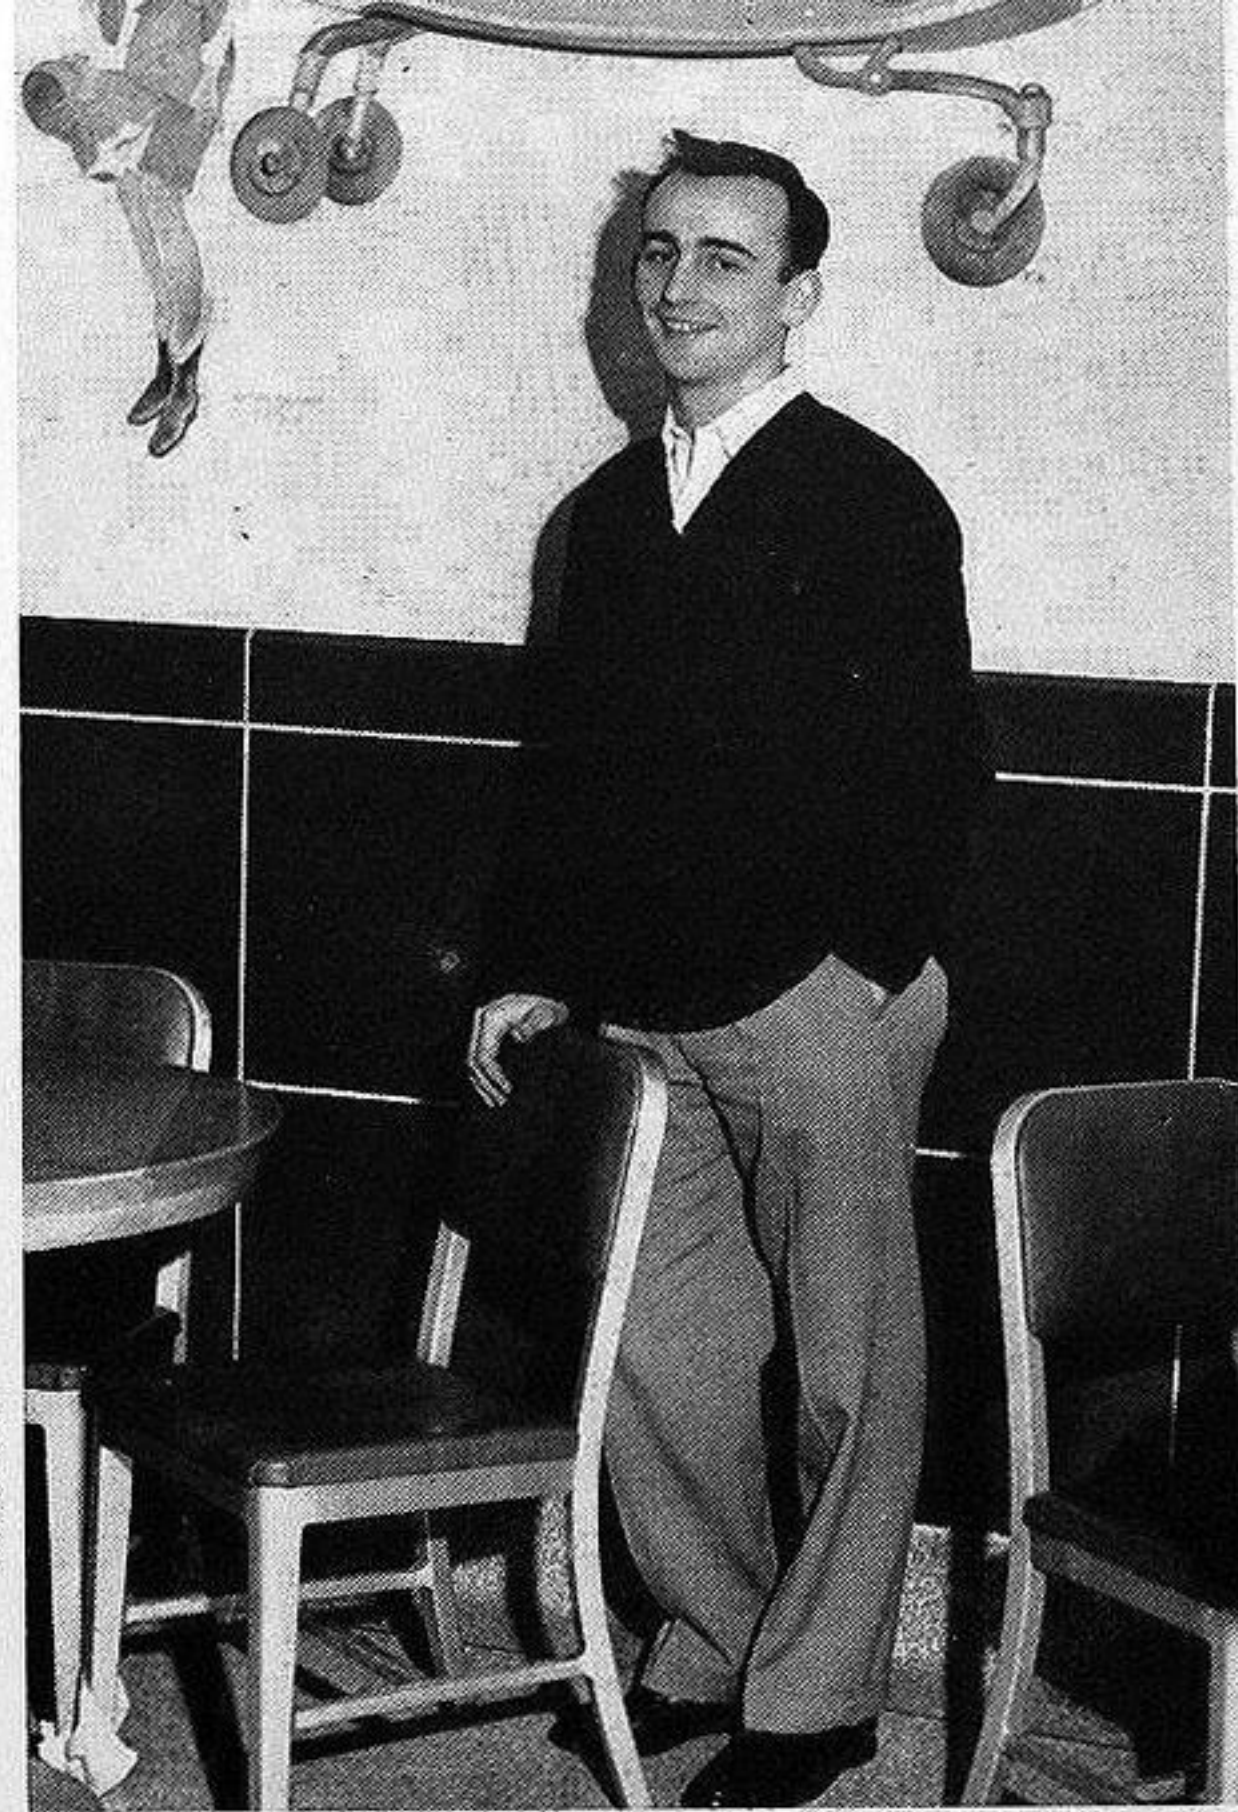

Lois Gunderson, who wears the Pi Phi Arrow, has had much practice for her job as junior class secretary because she has been secretary of several committees, besides being President of W-Key, and a Section Editor of the 1950 Tyee.

JUNIOR TREASURER

Alpha Gam Barbara Meron, ably handles the financial side of the junior class, and without her capable ability the debts would be high.

JUNIOR VICE-PRESIDENT

Holding this office keeps Delta Chi Ralph Holmstad busy. Ralph was past editor of the Columns and is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi.

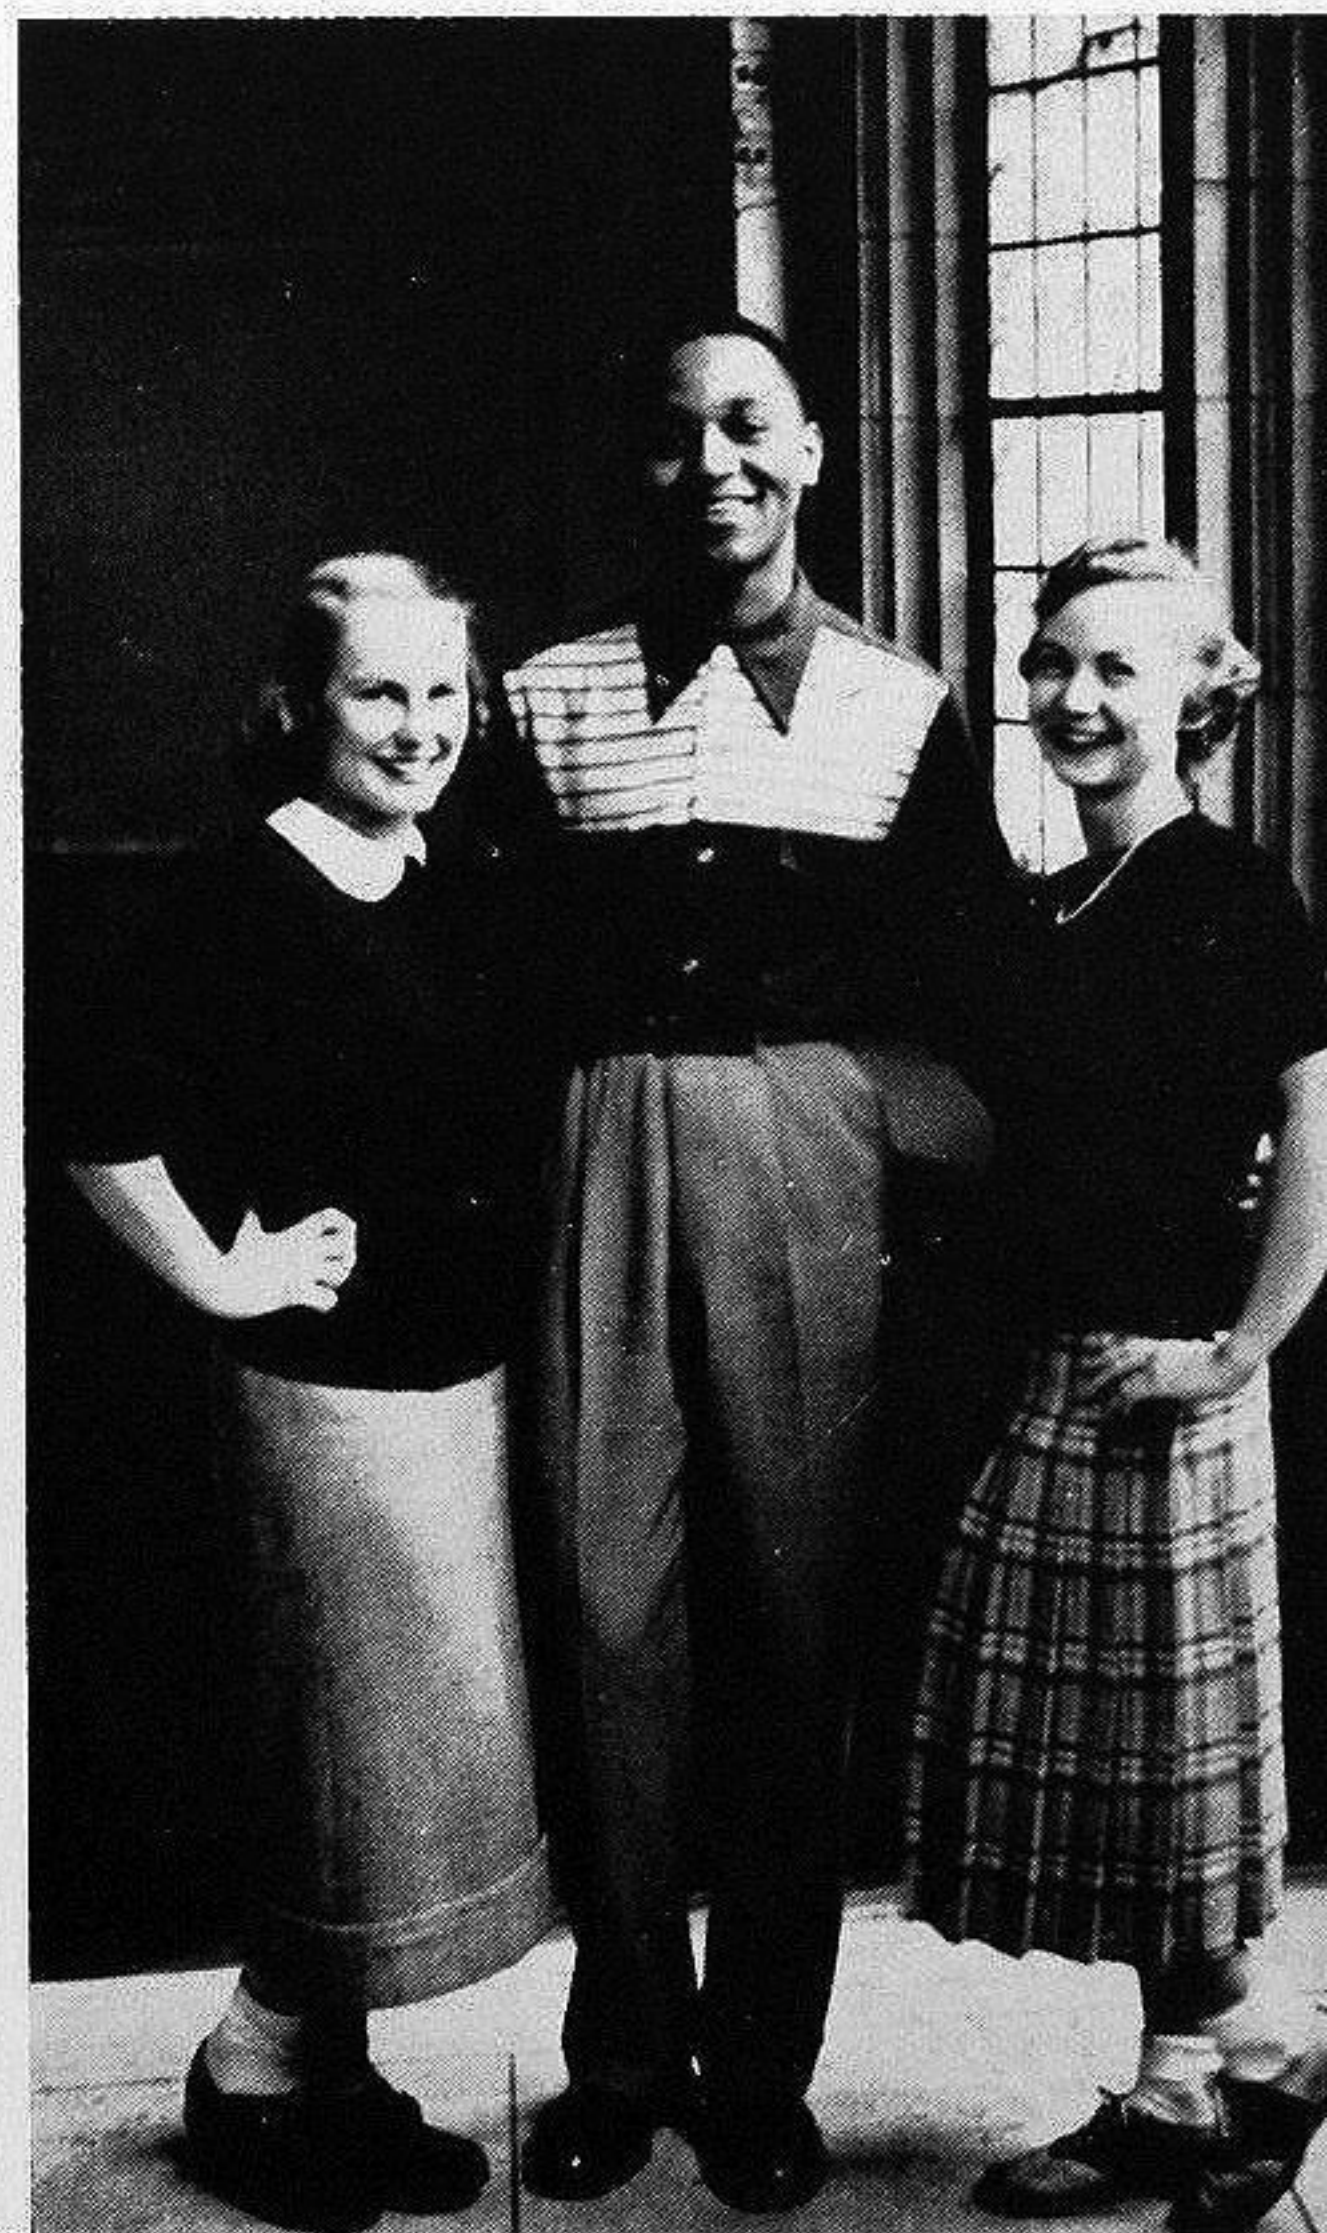

JUNIORS

SHIRLEY MESHER and BILL LUCKS settle a little disagreement outside the women's gym. Shirley really hits the spot in activities, if not with a bow and arrow. Her pointed comments are found in the DAILY as a featured columnist, and her other activities are President of Campus Toastmistress Club, Co-chairman of the Junior Prom, and AWS Council. Although he does not look so lucky in this picture, Bill has been the target for many activity honors. He was secretary of AMS, Chairman of the ASUW Frosh Orientation Committee, and W-Book Sports Editor.

Here is a trio of very active juniors. "All ready" in the routine of campus activities is GERI ANDERSON, Gamma Phi Beta. Serving as AWS President, a W-Key member, and a Rally Girl, she has scored high. FREDDY WILLERFORD has danced into Club Encore, is on the Yell Team and a member of Malamutes. The program of activities for NANCY LEE, Kappa, includes AWS Treasurer, W-Key, and the chairmanship of the Honor System Committee.

Busily making programs for the Junior Prom are Dave Wood and Shirley Mesher, standing; and Cliff Hawson, George Benzon, Diane Hardy, Joanne Jasberg, Pearl Svenson, Corky Cochrane and Phil Randolph.

JUNIOR ACTIVITIES

Finalists in the Junior Prom "Ideal Couple" contest were Lee Gamble and Alice Oster, and Carolyn Johannes and Terry Hanley, standing; and Jo Steele and Bud Weiss, May Louise Carlson and Gene Knapp, and Diane Gates and Don Foote. Phil Harris, the orchestra leader, chose May Louise Carlson and Gene Knapp as the "Ideal Couple."

Second floor, everyone out for activities! And activities seem to be the middle name of Kappa Sig, GEORGE BENZON and Kappa Delt, SHIRLEY WILKESON. Shirley is president of the YWCA and a member of W-Key and AWS Council, while George is Chairman the the Junior Class Dance, Publicity Chairman for the Soph. Carnival, and member of Varsity Boat Club.

There seems to be some misunderstanding as to whether this was a home run or a strike. But when it comes to activities, SUE SCHERNER, Alpha Delta Pi, makes a big hit. She has scored as AWS Concerts Chairman, TYEE Office Manager in 1950, and a member of W-Key. RAY LEE is really on the ball in activities, pitching into the jobs of AMS Treasurer, a member of Homecoming Committee, and a leader in the Frosh Orientation Course.

JUNIOR ACTIVITIES

With the Junior Prom coming at the end of Winter Quarter finals, many fellows had to go to the library to find their dates.

Co-chairmen George "Tex" Benzon and Shirley Mesher do a "Highland Fling" in preparation for the Junior Prom, which had a Scotch theme this year.

The tables are turned. "FRANKIE" GUINNESS is seen swooning at the music played by the girls. Sharp-shooter Guisness, a member of the Varsity basketball team, also belongs to Big "W" Club and Phi Delta Theta. Pi Phi, LOIS GUNDERSON is "noted" for her work as W-Key President, Junior Class Secretary, and Co-chairman of Hello Day. Activities to the tune of W-Key, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, and YWCA Secretary can be heard from FRANCES "LIBBY" GRAVES.

DON HEINRICH has passed his way through two years of Varsity football, and scored a position as "All-American" quarterback. "The arm" is a member of Big "W" Club and Sigma Nu. Riding the rails to a successful activities career is Chi Psi DON JOHNSON. President of Purple Shield, Managerial Council, and Chairman of Homecoming Queen Contest are among his accomplishments.

Many are duties of a class president; however Ben Hayes came through with flying colors, and still found time to participate on the NSA Committee, Purple Shield, and Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

SOPHOMORE SECRETARY

SOPHOMORE TREASURER

Barbara Black, a Sigma Kappa, is entrusted with the funds of the sophomore class. She sees that they don't spend more than they have and vice-versa.

SOPHOMORE VICE-PRESIDENT

Kenyon Brown cannot only tell you all about the Sophomore class but he can also tell you all about the campus, for he was chairman of the campus guide committee. Ken is also a member of Purple Shield and Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

SOPHOMORES

Barb and John seem to be temporarily behind the Early-bird. However, both of them can match Beta, BILL EARLY'S impressive list of activities, which include varsity football, Big "W" Club, and the Frosh-Soph Tug O'War Committee. A freshman tennis team member, Fiji JOHN TOMLINSON served as Frosh Class Prexy, and followed through as chairman of the ASUW Mixer Committee, Chairman of Homecoming Sign Committee, and Sophomore Song and Stunt Night Chairman. Gamma Phi BARBARA SMITH is not tagging after John either, for this Rally Girl has been Co-chairman of Songfest, and President of Sophomore Council at the YWCA.

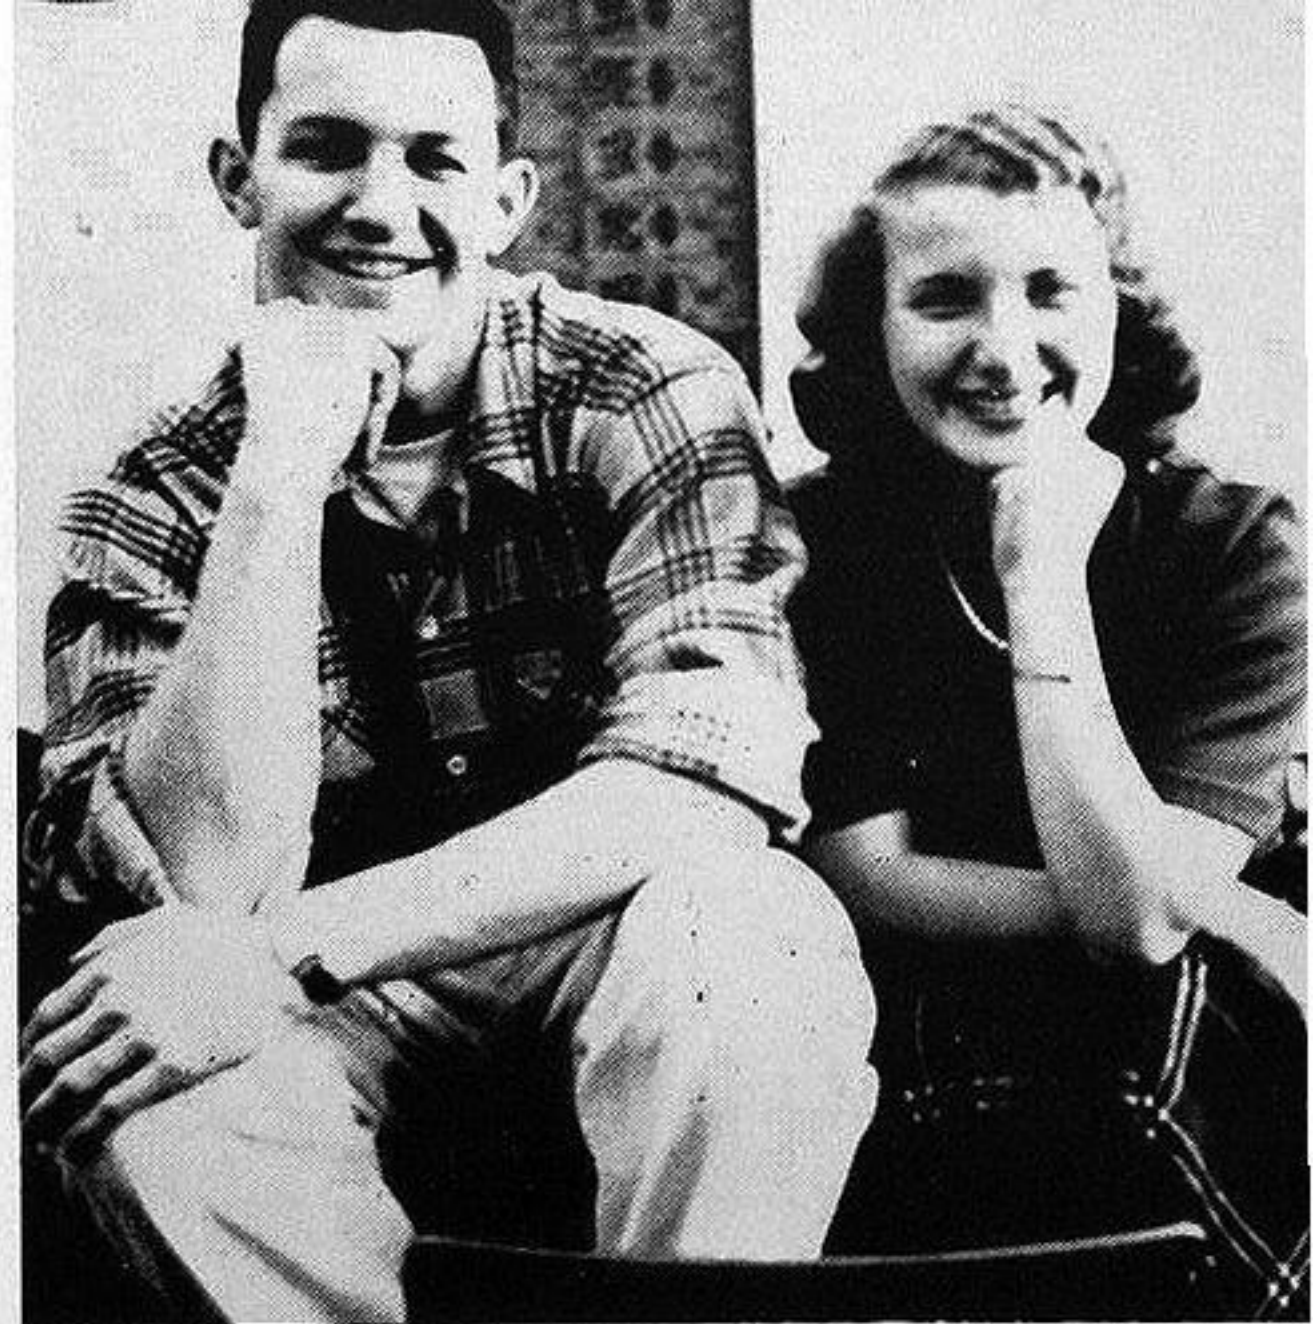

BOB HOUBREGS doesn't have much time for "the pause that refreshes," as he spends much of his time down at the Pavilion, working to increase his lead as top hoop scorer. Besides being a starter on the championship Husky basketball team, Hoopy is an Alpha Sig, is on the baseball team, and a member of the Big "W" Club.

SOPHOMORE ACTIVITIES

Climbing the ladder to a full activities program is DIANE CUMMINS, Kappa Kappa Gamma, W-Key, cheer leader, and Sigma Epsilon Sigma each represent a step toward success. For Phi Delt HANK EDMUNDS, Secretary of AMS, Purple Shield, and YMCA Cabinet member have been "rungs" in his climb to the top throughout his college days. With both feet on the ground is DOUG McCLARY, varsity basketball player. He has been on the level as a member of Purple Shield, Forestry Club, and Phi Delta Theta.

No wonder SAE DICK SPRAGUE and LOIS RAYER are grinning. Who wouldn't with their activities. Lois is IWA secretary, a member of the Sophomore Advisory Board, Welcome Week and AWS Master Files Committees, Organizations Assembly, and Rally Girls. Dick lists varsity football, freshman track, and J.V. basketball among his activities as well as Purple Shield and the Big "W" Club.

Bridging the gap between classes we find ROBIN CHITTENDEN, FLOYD McCRACKEN and JOYCE McCORKLE in the activity center of the HUB. Robin has been corresponding secretary of AWS, and W-Key, Sigma Epsilon Sigma and Alpha Chi Omega also have her on the roll call. Floyd, a Sigma Nu, too made his bid as Sophomore Carnival Chairman, AMS Athletic Chairman and writer and assistant director of Song and Stunt Night. Kappa Delt. Joyce was not passed either, with Rally Girls, W-Key, and corresponding secretary of Organizations Assembly among her activities.

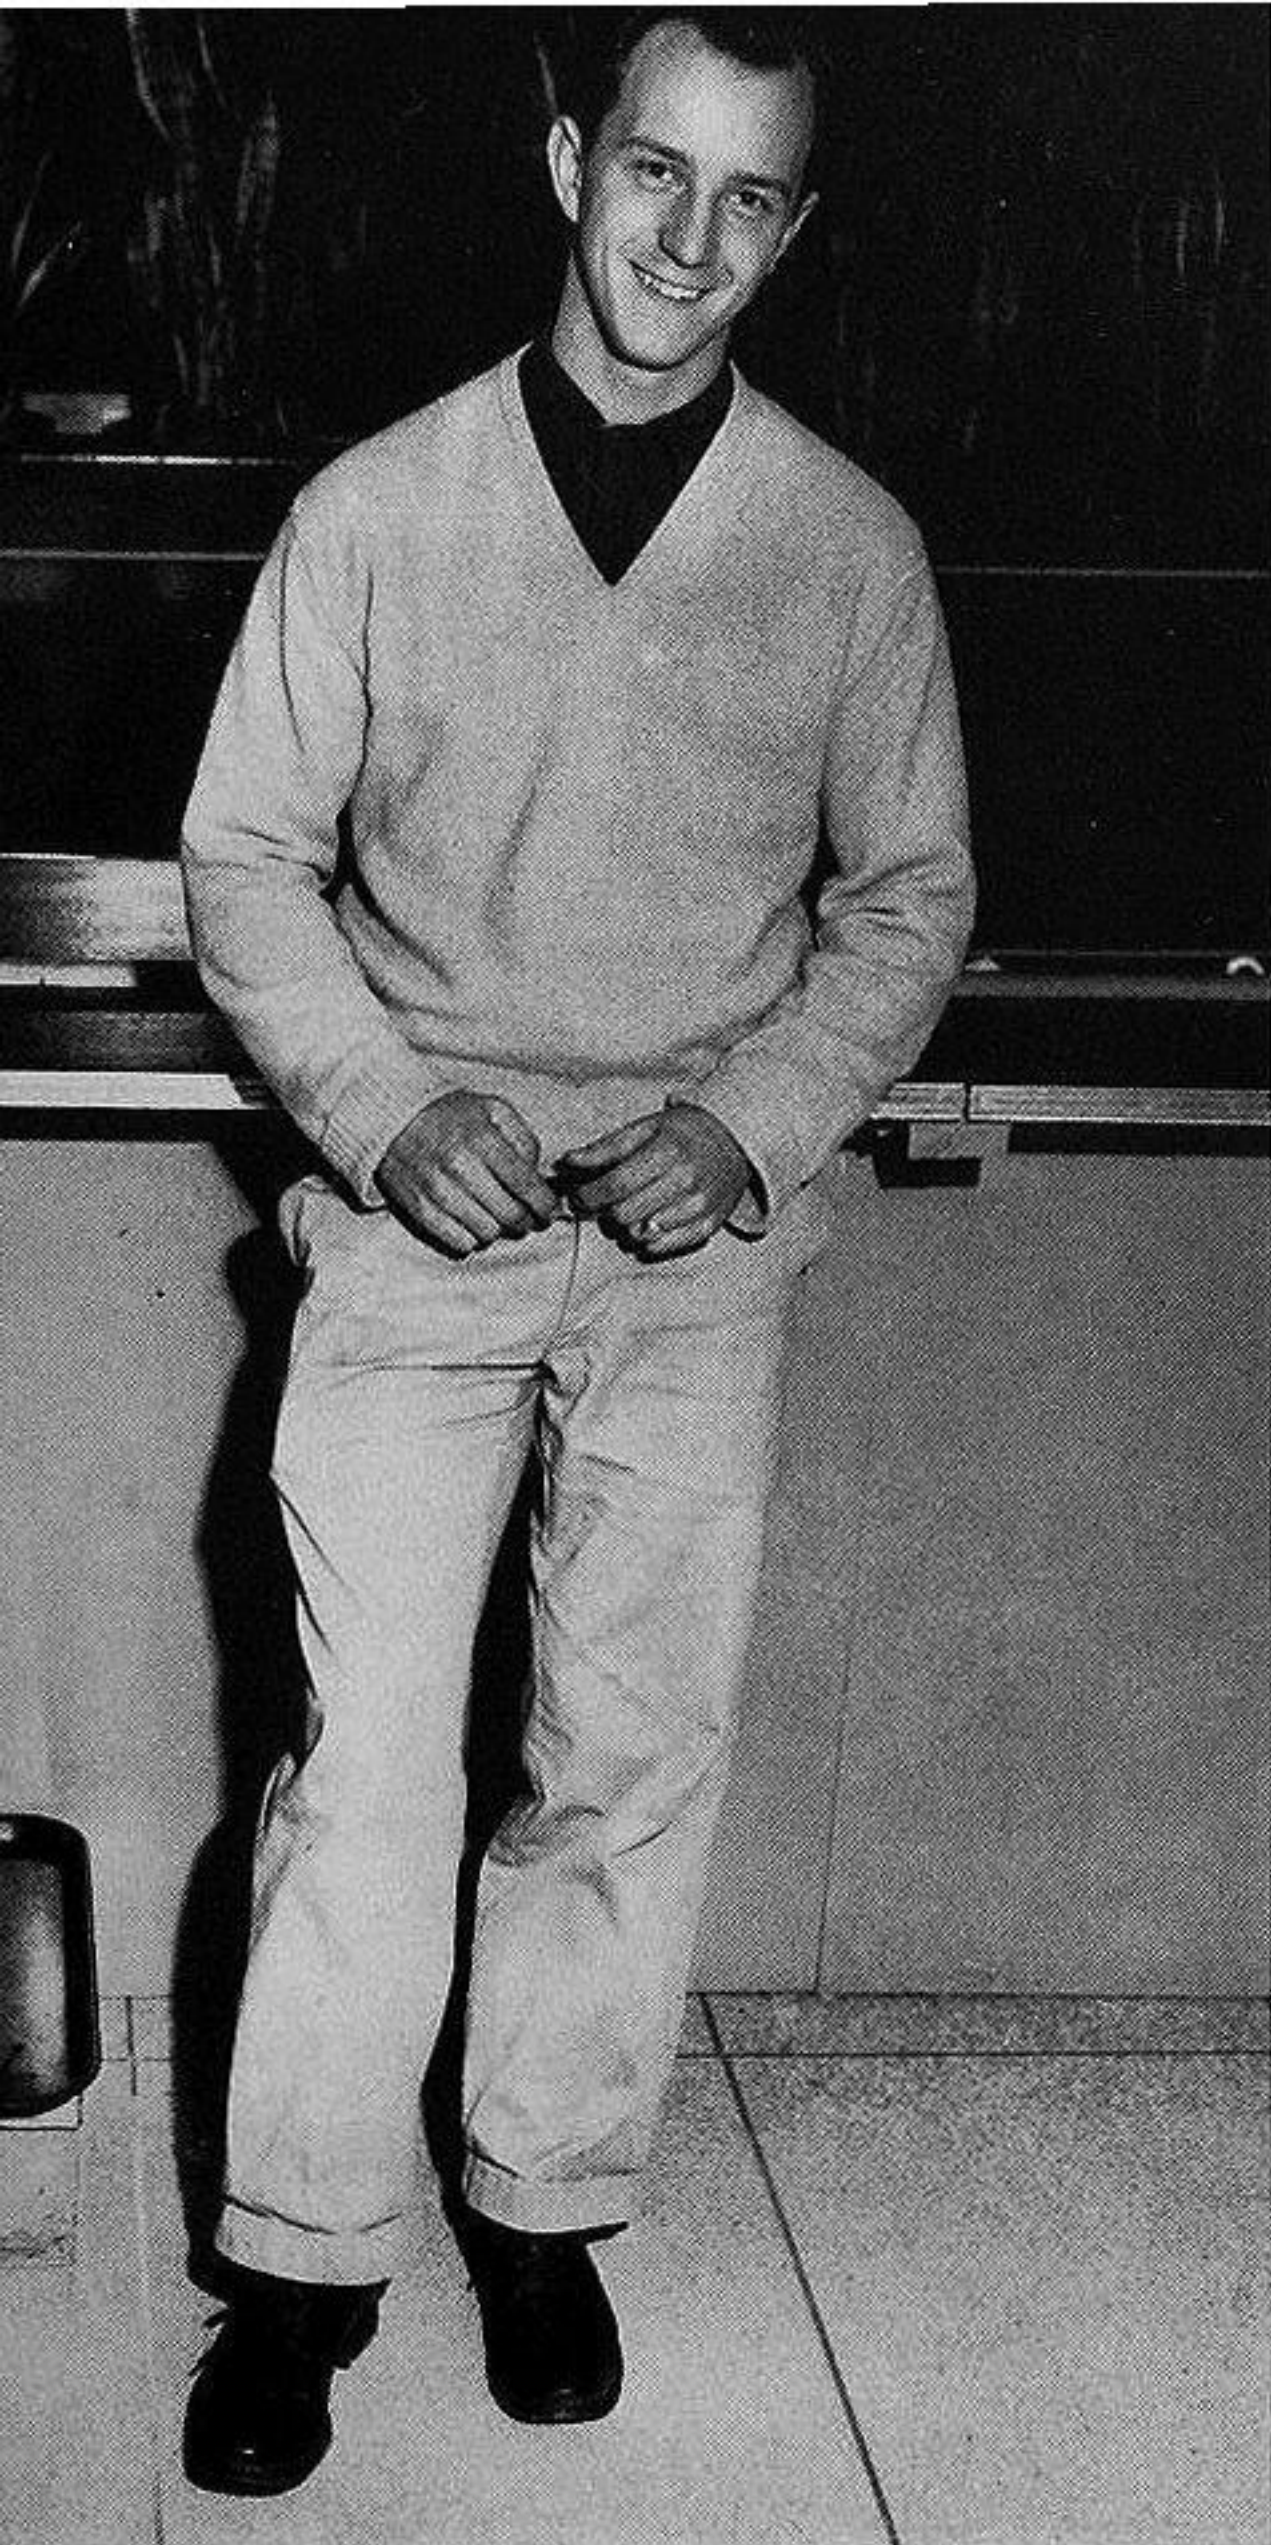

No sheltered life for LIZ LOVSTED, Gamma Phi. She has been on the alert during her college days, for she has been Frosh Secretary, a member of W-Key, and on the AWS Council. The "all clear" has sounded for J. V. WILSON, member of Alpha Delta Phi. Always prepared to do his job well, J. V. has entered into Purple Shield, served as treasurer of IFC, and has been on the Sophomore Advisory Board.

FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

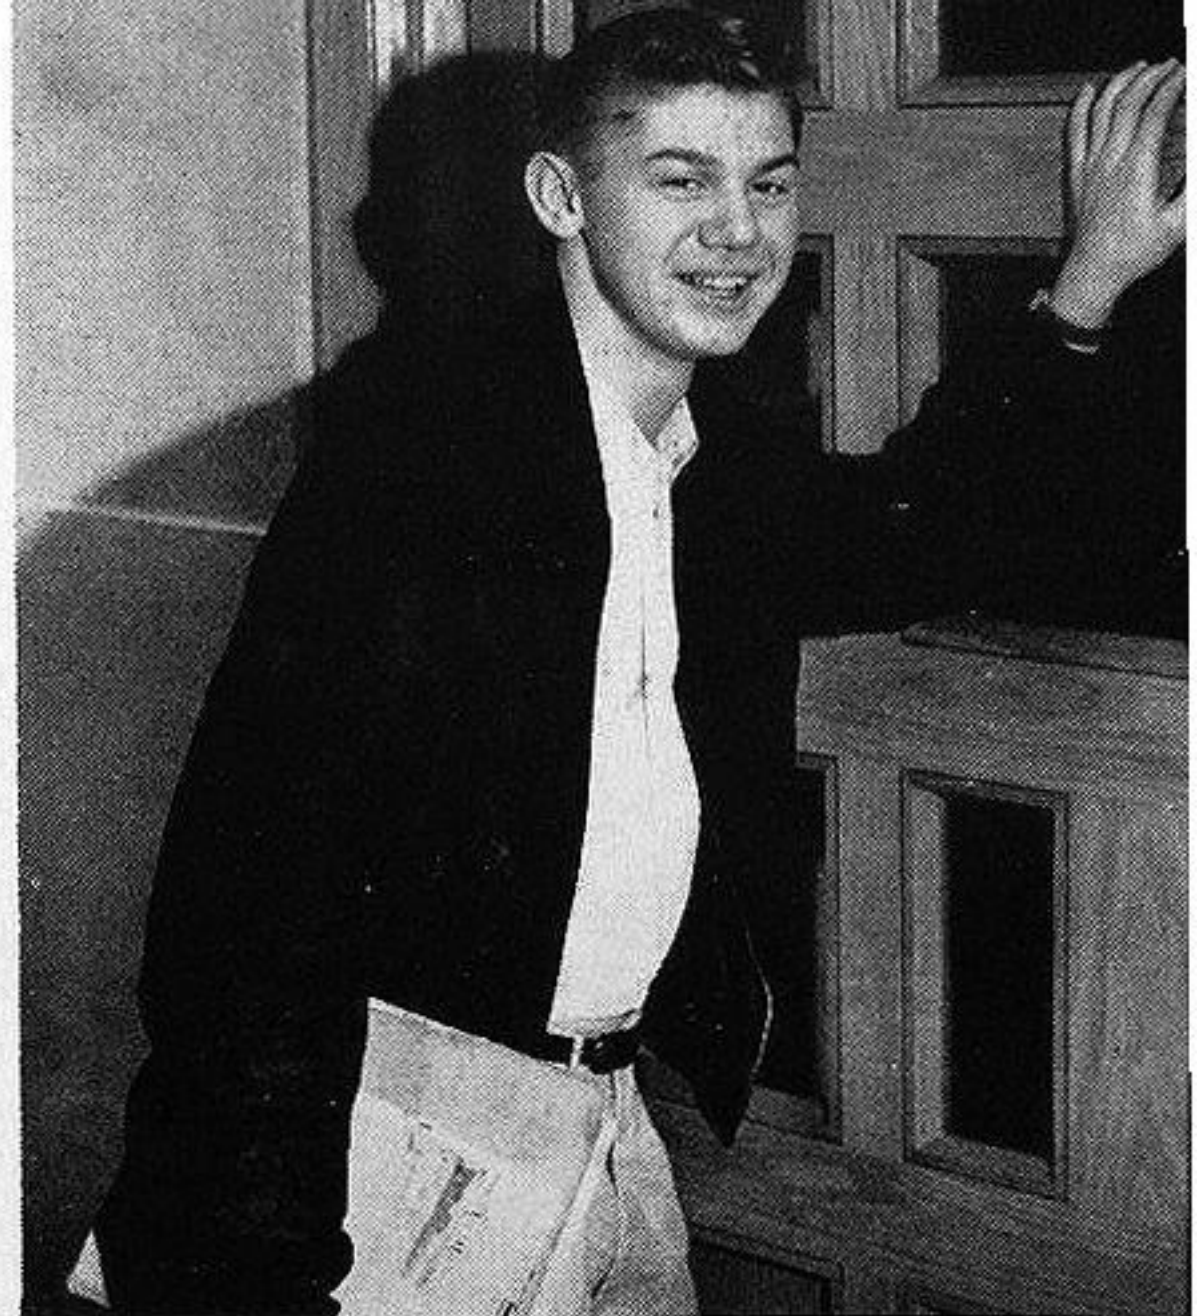

Beta Theta Pi, George Harding has a tendency toward wielding a gavel, for he not only led the greenhorns through a successful year, but he also headed the student body at Roosevelt High School.

FRESHMAN SECRETARY

Delores Kreps, another Roosevelt High graduate, has done an excellent job as "chief" note-taker for the freshmen class. Delores is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

FRESHMAN TREASURER

Pi Phi, JoAnn Donaldson kept the frosh treasury "out of the hole." Much credit is due to her great mathematical ability.

FRESHMAN VICE-PRESIDENT

Ben Caley, an Alpha Tau Omega, and ex Queen Anne student, has shared much responsibility as vice-president, in keeping the eager freshmen under control.

FRESHMEN

Queen DOLORES BRAINERD rules over the Frosh Day activities.

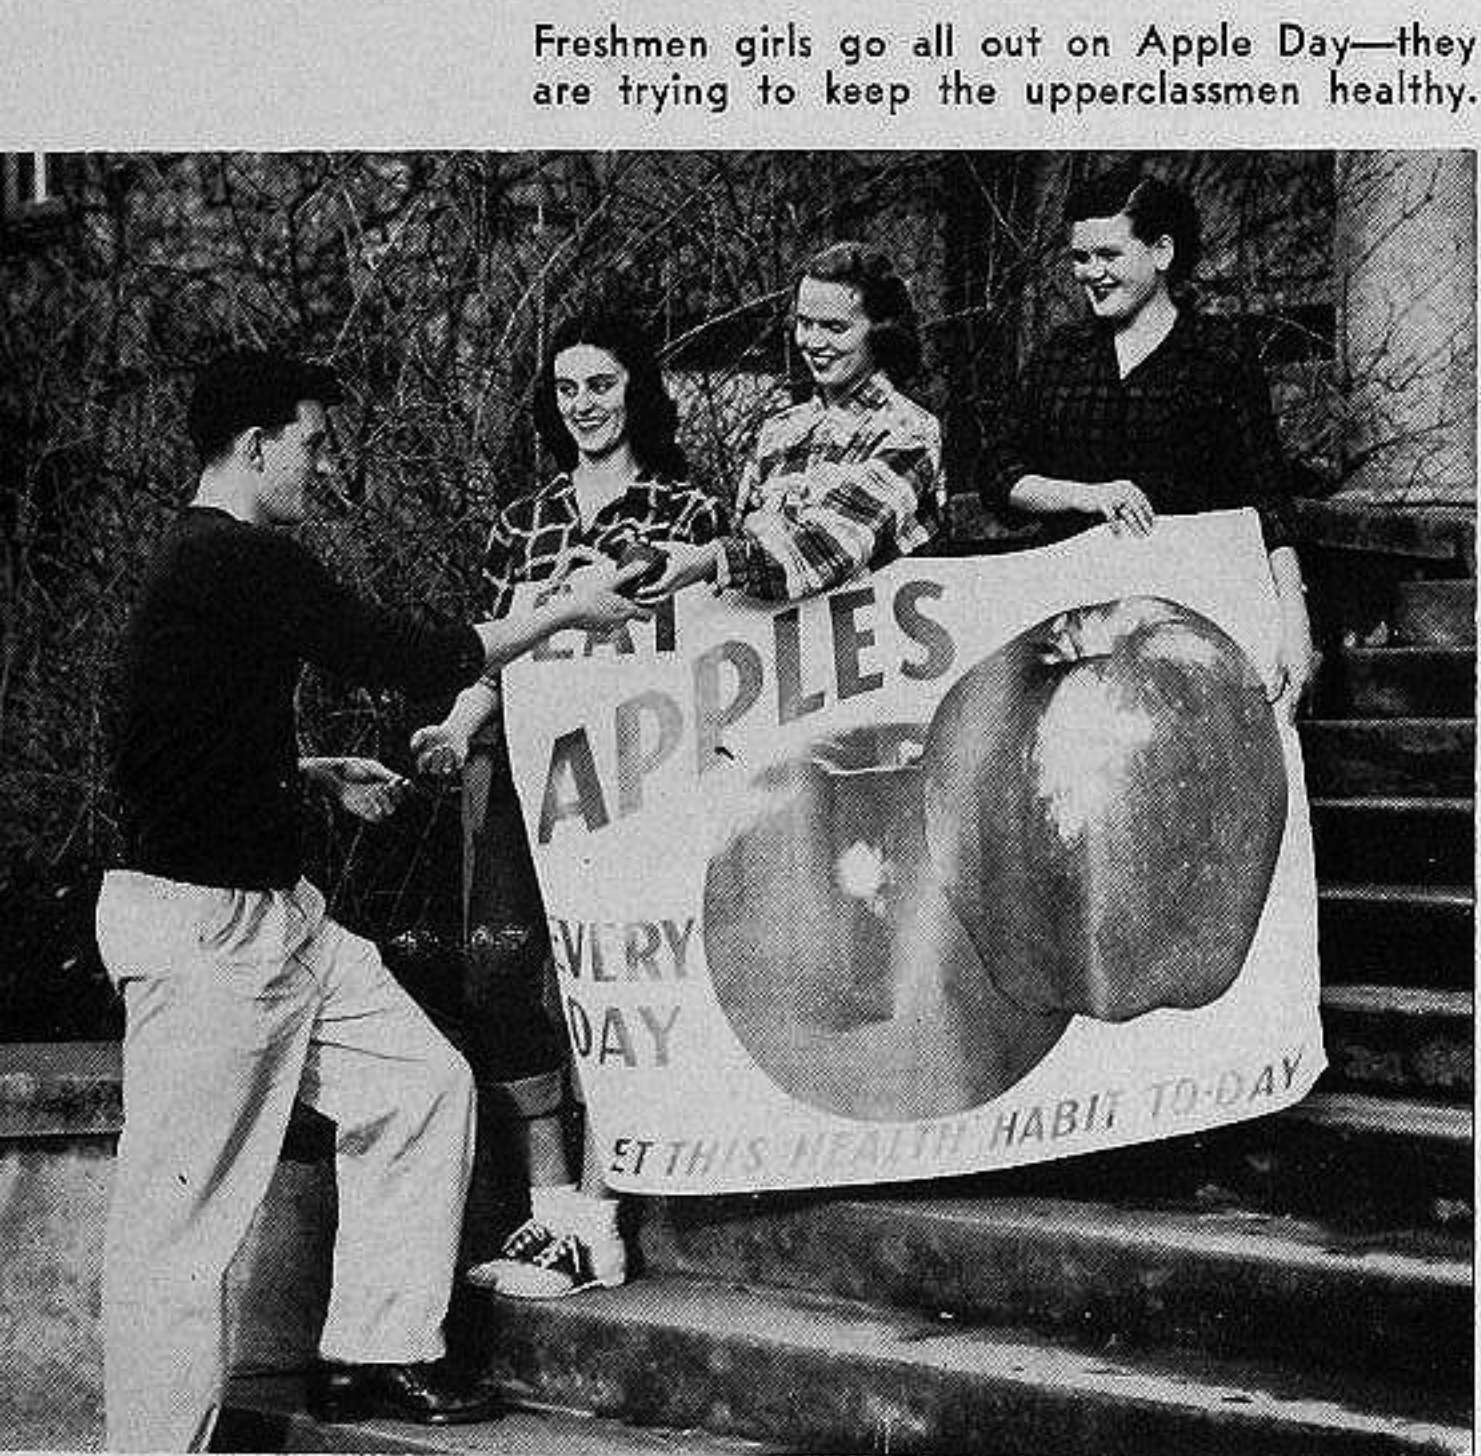

All set to take over on Frosh Day, the freshmen officers start out by hanging Sophomore President BEN HAYES.

Finalists in the Frosh Queen Contest were Betsy Bird, Anabel Baldwin, Dolores Brainerd, Shirley French, and Connie Walters.

It's old clothes, or else—the older the better—for the well-dressed freshmen on Frosh Day.

FROSH ACTIVITIES

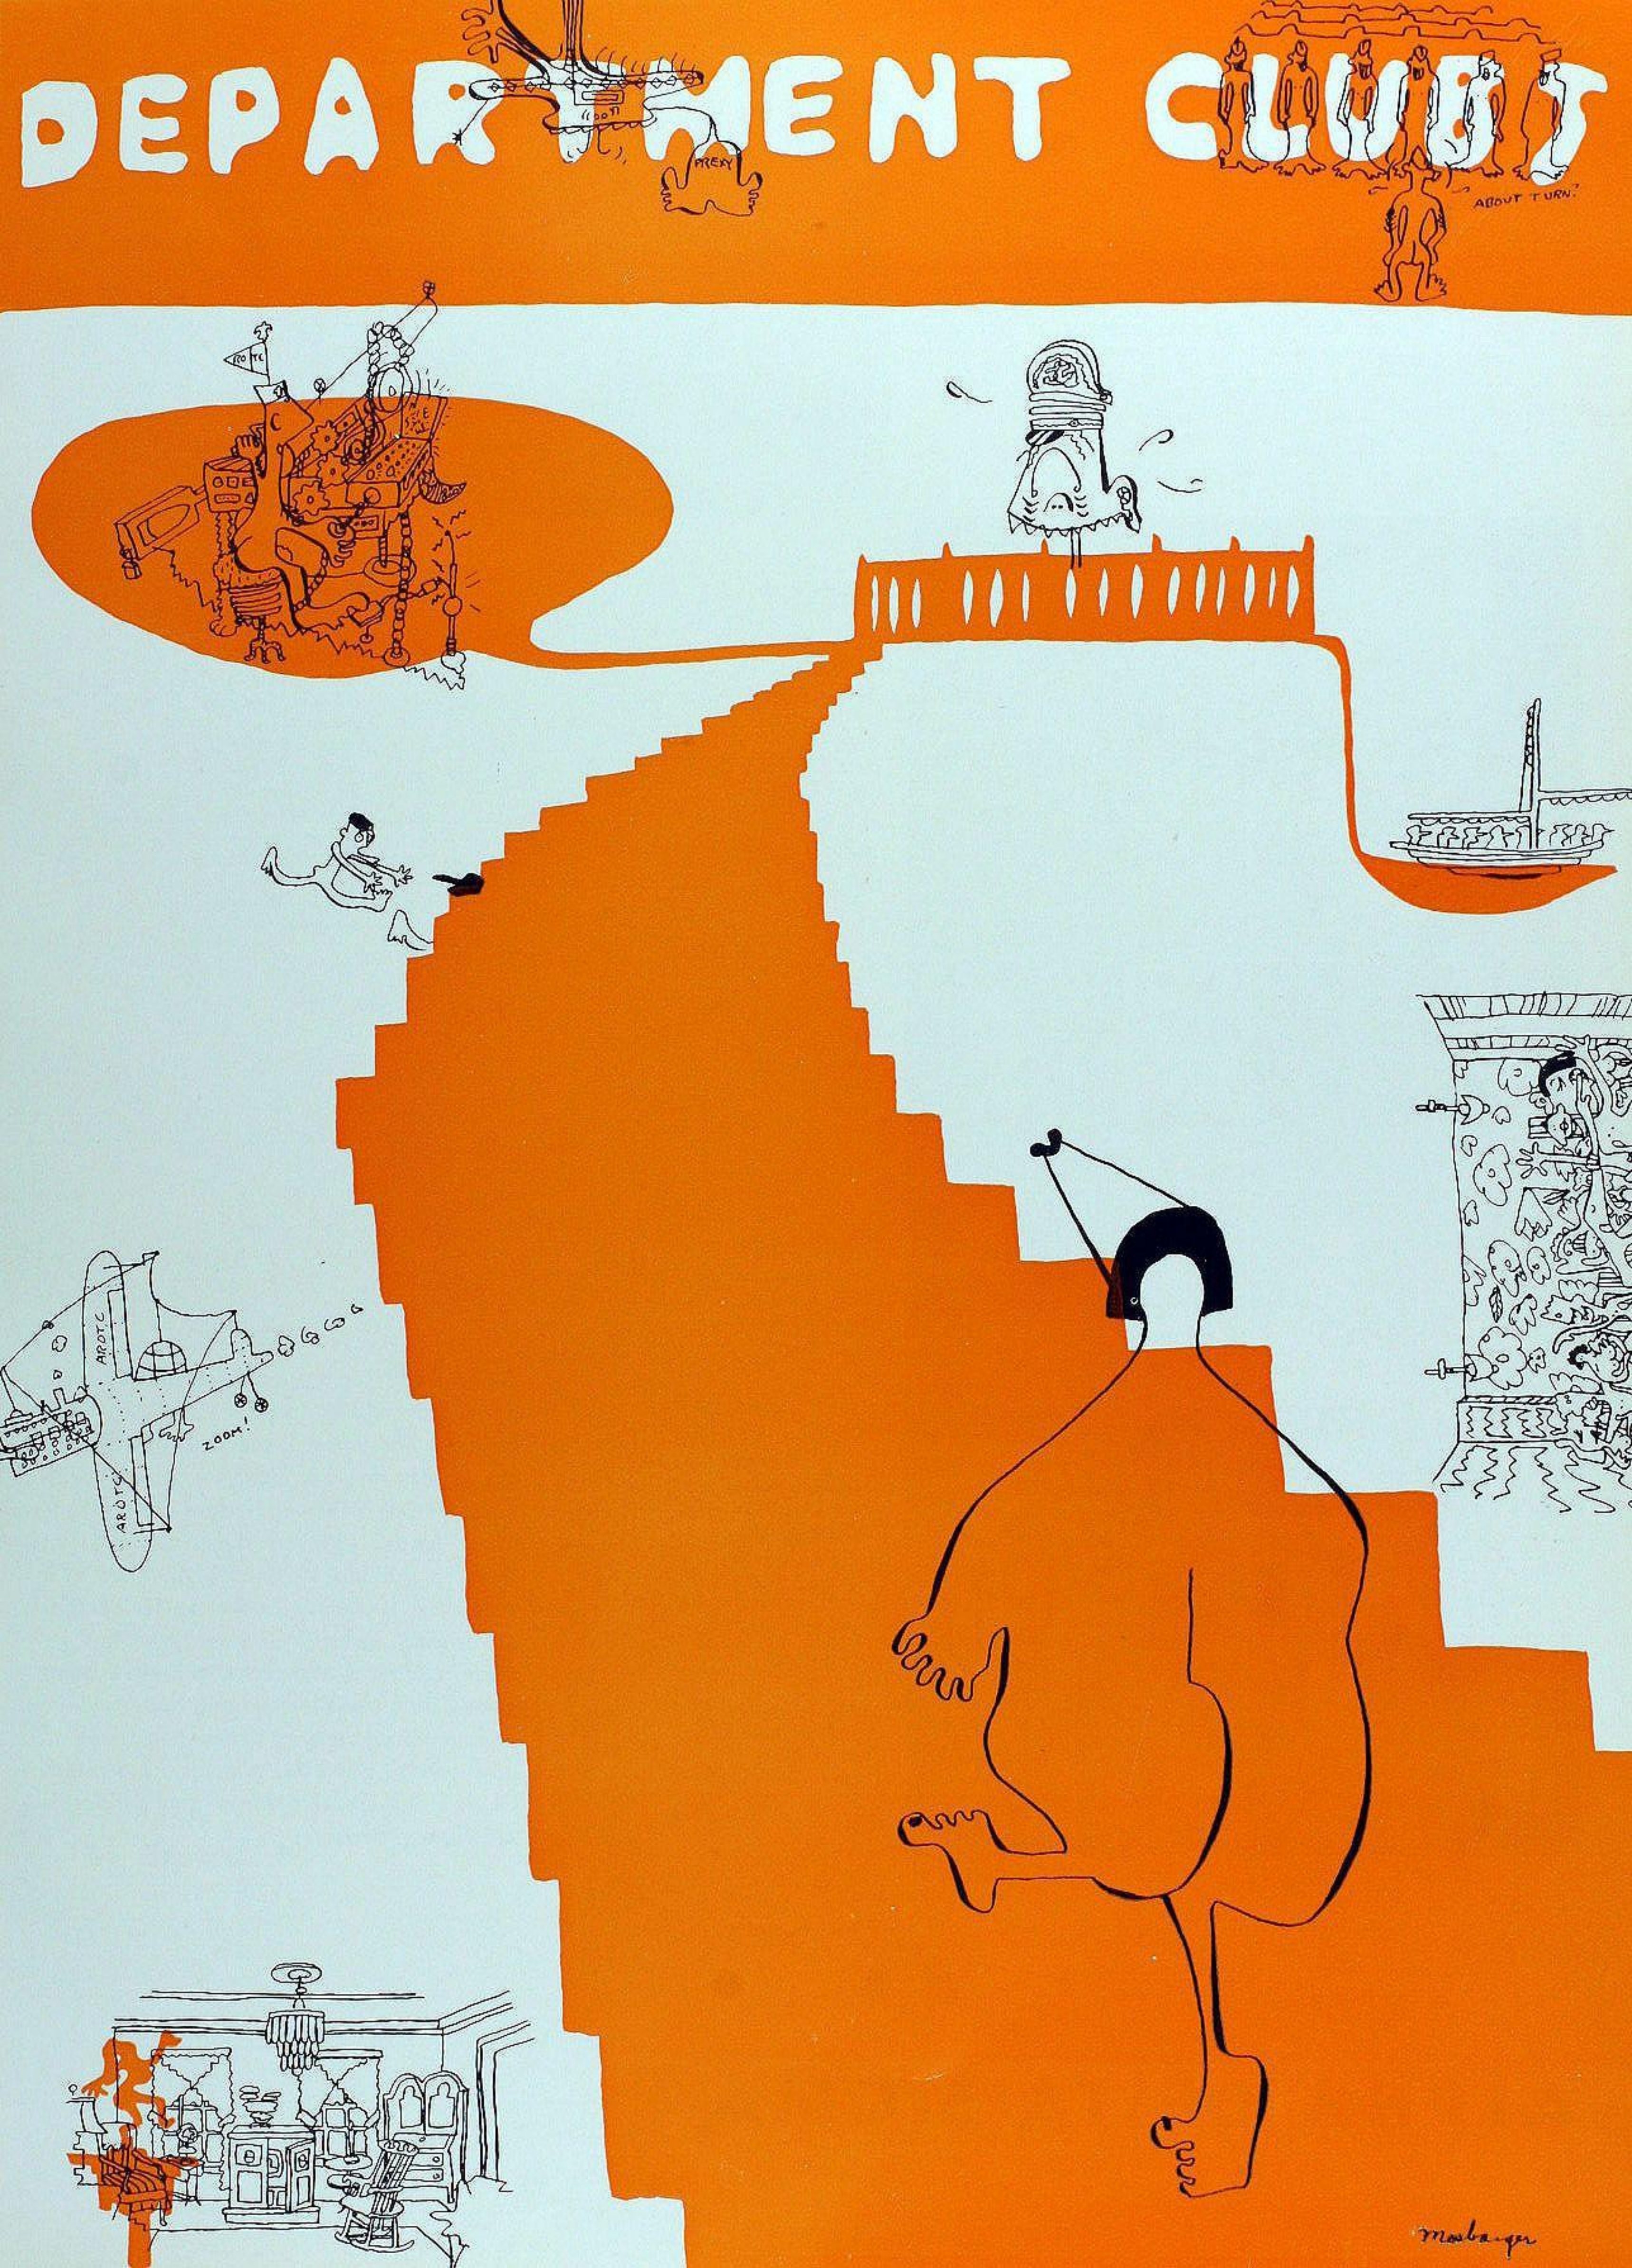

The Columns and the Sylvan Theatre are among the few traditions left on the Washington campus. These four columns were taken from the first building of the original Territorial University, located in what is now downtown Seattle. The Columns were designated as Loyalty, Industry, Faith, and Efficiency—LIFE.

The Husky is symbolic of the University of Washington and the land of the North. But the Husky has not always been the mascot of Washington teams. As late as 1922, the Washington teams were known as the "Sundogers," after the college humor magazine which was later banned from the campus. The public was not satisfied with this name, however, and in 1923 a contest was held to find a new name. The choice was narrowed down to the names "Husky" and "Malamute." When the Husky won out as the official mascot, the Men's Campus Service Organization adopted the name Malamutes, by which name they are still known.

Max Miller owned the first Husky mascot, but everyone spoiled the dog so much and fed it candy bars, that it got sick and died. Several other attempts have been made to keep a Husky alive in this southern climate, but it has been a difficult task. Ski, the latest mascot made his first appearance at this year's home basketball games, and it is hoped that he will be around for a few years.

Alpha Delta Sigma, men's national professional advertising fraternity, whose members are interested in the field of advertising as a profession. Carrying through with the advertising theme, pledges carry "sandwich boards" with paid advertisements on them to provide a source of revenue with which the fraternity carries on its campus advertising service. Chapter activities include addresses by prominent advertising men, visits to local advertising departments, and an annual Agency Banquet to which all professional advertising men are invited. Clyde Robinson, director of publications, is the faculty advisor.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS was founded on campus to serve its student membership through fellowship in the group and with other non-academic groups. The important function to a student engineer is seen in its program of bringing to the University interesting specialists in the field of chemical engineering.

AMMONII SOCII was founded at the University of Washington in 1921. Membership is now composed of chemistry majors and chemical engineers. New members are pledged in the fall and spring from students of sophomore and junior standing. The organization has an annual tug of war across Frosh pond with the Pharmacy Club. This event is held in the spring before the annual Chem Shack picnic. Dr. C. F. Gerald is the faculty advisor.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

The University of Washington student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association was established in 1946. This group is affiliated with a national organization bearing the same name and is composed of members of the College of Pharmacy.

Primarily the association began for the advancement of pharmacy in the scientific and retail fields, but the social angle has not been omitted. The group represents the only organization to which all of the members of the college may be bound into a unified group.

The group's activities plus alumni and pharmacy news are published in the association's "Pharm Phorum."

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

The CIVIL ENGINEERS SOCIETY has a policy of sponsoring student organizations to provide a contact between the student and the practicing engineer. Local branches are nucleus groups, primarily concerned with field trips and other activities that will give student engineers the chance to see and understand the practical problems encountered by the engineering profession. Each year trips are taken to Coulee and other dams, industrial plants, sewage treatment plants and water sheds. The organization can be of real value to civil engineering students.

The U. of W. Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was established on the campus in 1917. The objectives are: to broaden the student's acquaintance with the practical side of the mechanical engineering; to give each student member the journal of the society, MECHANICAL ENGINEERING, informing him about engineering progress, and to make available the periodical publications; to develop the student's initiative and ability to speak in public, and to familiarize him with the parliamentary procedure and organization of learned societies; to enable the student to establish fraternal contact with his fellow students in engineering, and to meet graduate engineers engaged in active practice of mechanical engineering; and to hold regular meetings of the student branch. The U. of W. Student Branch sponsors frequent field trips to inspect local industries, movies of general interest, student talks, and teams to compete in intramural sports. Membership is open to any student enrolled in the engineering college of an accredited school. The office is in 416 Guggenheim Hall.

Beta Alpha Psi, National professional accounting fraternity, was chartered on the campus in 1921. The purpose of the group is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as the basis of the accounting profession; to promote the study of accounting and its highest ethical standards, and to act as a medium between professional men, instructors, students and others who are interested in the development and study of this profession. Their goals are high morale, scholastic and professional attainments and cordial relations among its members and the profession generally.

Selected on the basis of professional promise and scholastic accomplishment, candidates for membership must be upperclassmen with a grade average of B- in all subjects and B in accounting. They are given competitive examinations covering accounting and business law. The organization, among other things, serves as a contact between active members and employers in these fields.

BETA ALPHA PSI

Members of Caduceans meet regularly to hear guest speakers from the ranks of professional medical men.

Caduceans was first organized on the University of Washington campus in 1919. From that time till 1946 it was known as the "Pre-medics Club." In 1946 its name was changed to "Caduceans" and its scope enlarged to include in its membership students enrolled in all fields of the pre-professional health sciences. Included are such fields as pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, pre-nursing, pre-dental hygiene, bacteriology and public health.

Caduceans has the purpose of aiding the pre-professional health science student in establishing and realizing his life goal.

At each of the club meetings held throughout the school year an outstanding professional man speaks to the members on some phase of the health sciences. Many of the speakers are members of the faculty of the UW medical or dental schools.

A freshman orientation program is sponsored annually. At this meeting incoming freshmen enrolled in the pre-professional health sciences are given the opportunity of meeting the deans and advisors with whom they will be associated at the University. Other club activities of the past year have been a tour of the UW School of Dentistry, the showing of medical movies, and a speaking tour by the club officers to high schools in the Seattle area. On this speaking tour the officers addressed groups of students interested in medicine and dentistry.

Caduceans contributes to worthwhile medical charities and research, this year making a contribution to the UW School of Medicine for use in heart research. Students of all colleges in the Seattle area may belong to Caduceans.

Tours through the various parts of the Health Sciences Building acquaint Caduceans with the resources open to them.

The purpose of Forest Club is to better acquaint the students with their instructors and with prominent men from the Forest Service and the forest industries... In addition to the quarterly dances and intramural athletics, the most outstanding event is the day of chopping, buckling, and rolling contests called "Garb Day" which climaxes with the "Logger's Brawl."

The Graduate Nurses' Club of the University of Washington is an organization open to all graduate professional nurses registered in the School of Nursing. Its present membership of 70 includes nurses from China, the Philippines, Hawaii, Canada, Alaska and most sections of the United States. All are enrolled in advanced programs, majoring in Nursing Education, Public Health Nursing, or Industrial Nursing.

The primary aims of the group are to promote closer relationships between students, other campus organizations and students, and the nursing faculty. Two members represent the club at the regular faculty meetings and serve on the Facilities Committee of the Health Science Building. Informal contact with the faculty is promoted by Monday noon lunches. In general, the club furnishes opportunities for its members to get the most from campus life.

This year the club has been fortunate in having Miss Virginia Olcott, a member of the faculty of the School of Nursing, as Adviser. Her interest has been the sustaining factor in the progress of the Club.

Grapha Techna, men's art honorary, was organized at Washington in 1938 to stimulate the interest of student and alumni members in the methods and techniques of the arts and to provide contacts with professional people in the field. Movies, speakers, and exhibitions of members' work help accomplish this objective. These works of art are brought to the meetings, discussed informally, and exhibited in a local business establishment.

During the past year Grapha Techna members have exhibited as a group at the Bellevue Arts Fair, the Orcas Island Festival of the Arts, and the Puyallup Fair Art Exhibit.

The annual initiation banquet and picnic are highlights of the spring quarter.

Founded in 1910, the Home Economics Club is a professional, as well as a departmental, organization and is affiliated with the American Home Economics Association. Membership is extended to all Home Economics majors.

A cookie sale, the proceeds of which are placed in a special fund to be used in helping a foreign student attend school in this country, highlights the year's activities. Social functions include a Christmas Party, Mother's Tea and Senior Banquet. Services given are a Foreign Package Drive in the fall quarter which supplies food and clothing to needy persons in foreign countries, and aid in the department's annual Open House Program.

INDUSTRIAL DESIGNERS

The purpose of the Industrial Designers is to further industrial design by publicizing the training in this field available on the campus and by keeping design students in closer contact with the profession. Monthly meetings are held with speakers and films of interest to the club. The organization also works with the High School Public Relations Office, enlightening high school students as to the opportunities in industrial design.

Organized by Ethel J. Heath at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy in Boston in 1913, Lambda Kappa Sigma is a national sorority for women in pharmacy. Its purpose is to promote professional interest and act as a center of friendship and culture and to prepare its members for wide and wise human service, in the medical profession. In 1913, the sorority had 10 members. It now has 25 active chapters and 12 graduate chapters in the United States.

Chi chapter at the University of Washington began as the "Antidote Club" for women in pharmacy and was installed on April 20, 1941.

The Marketing Club is affiliated with the American Marketing Association, the leading professional organization sponsoring the development of more scientific practices in the distribution field. The main purposes of the Marketing Club are to help students bridge the gap between school and the business world. It sponsors talks by outstanding business men, field tours of marketing organizations in the area, and gives students an opportunity to become better acquainted with members of the faculty. Membership is open to students interested in marketing as a career.

Pan Xenia is an international foreign trade honorary and professional fraternity. Its members are upper-classmen majoring in foreign trade and related fields, who evidence interest in the promotion of the group's objectives and good scholarship standing.

The fraternity was founded in 1918 to promote good will and better trade relations and practices throughout the world. The group has received special recognition from the Carnegie Peace Foundation as being a factor able to improve international relations. It is the oldest international college fraternity.

PI ALPHA SIGMA

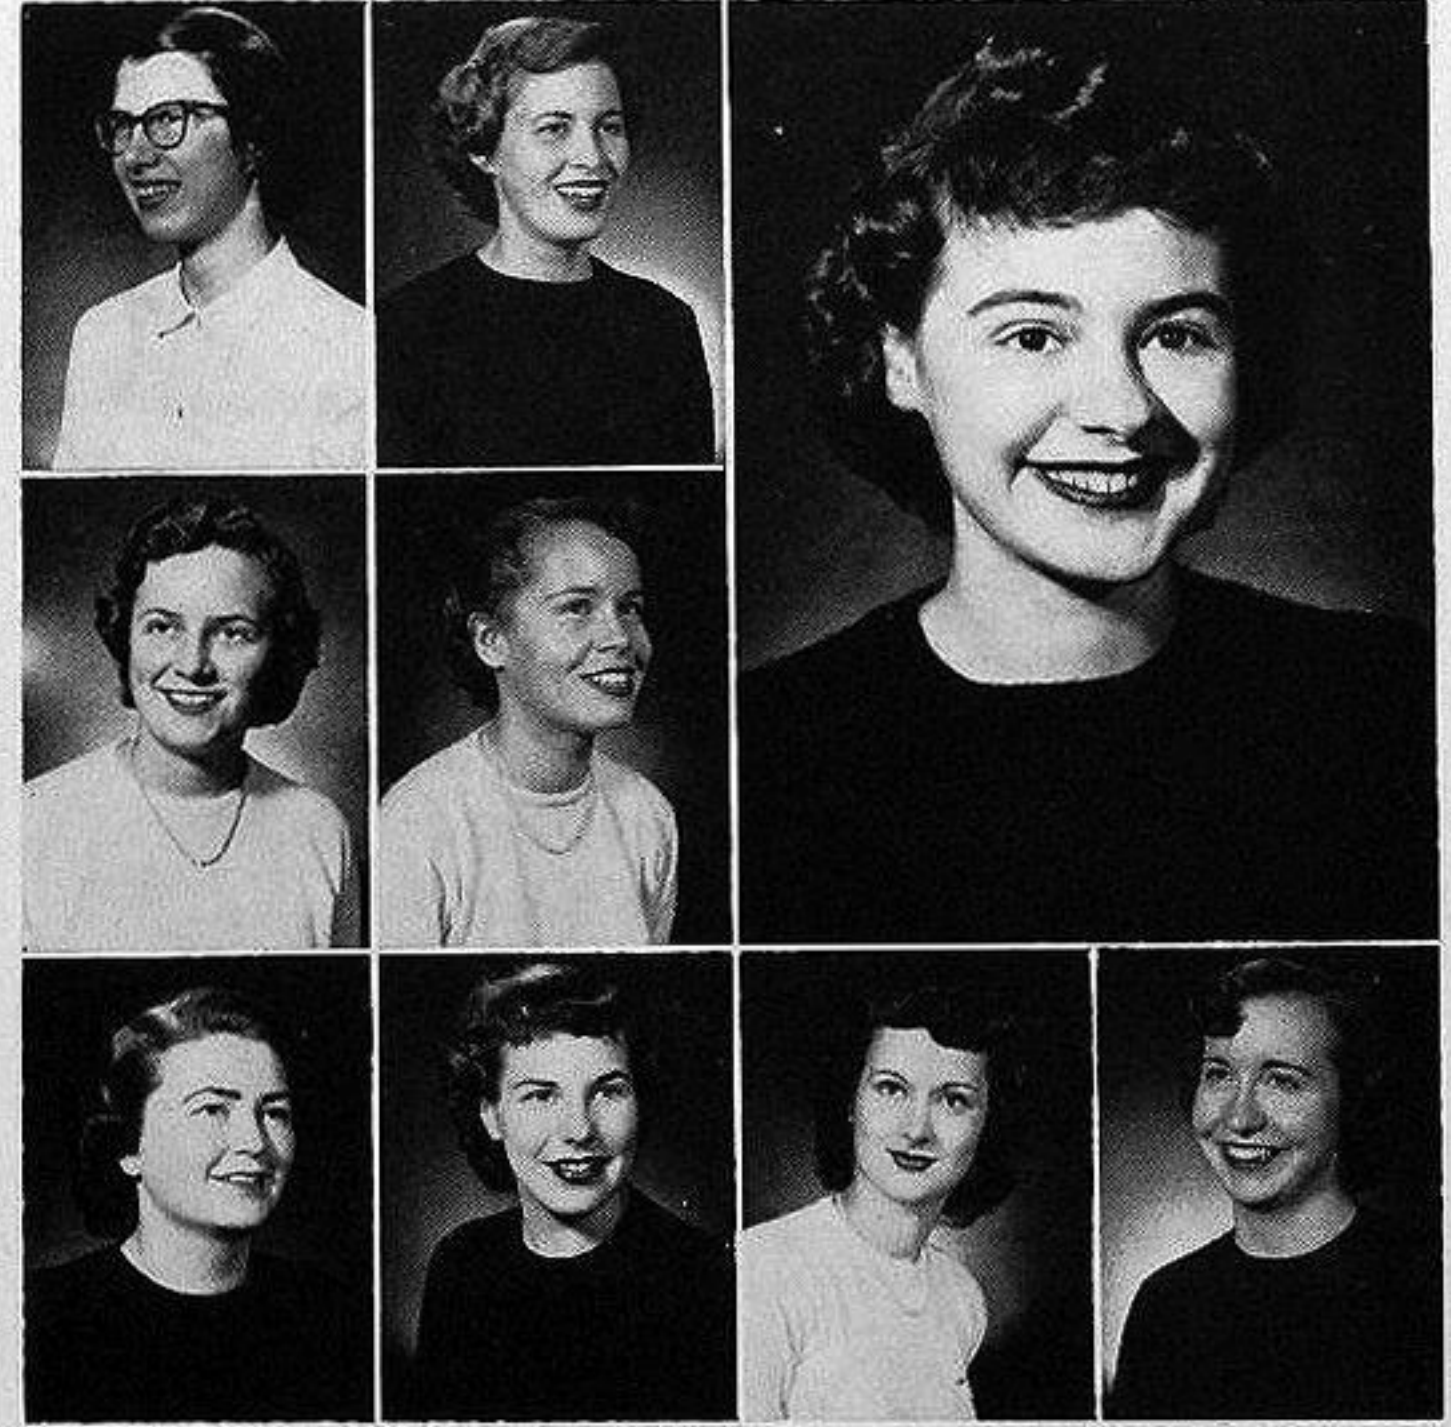

Pi Alpha Sigma, women's professional advertising honorary, promotes advertising as a profession among women. It was founded to bring about mutual benefit to the women on campus interested in advertising. Members are enabled to make personal contacts with people outstanding in the various fields of advertising. Pledging takes place in the fall and often in spring, too. Women pledged must have at least a 2.5 grade average and must plan advertising as a profession. Pi Alpha Sigma traditionally sponsors the annual campus Apple Day in the fall, part of the proceeds going to some organization such as Campus Chest. The spring project is taking charge of arrangements for the ASUW publications banquet.

The Propeller Club has for its objective the better understanding of transportation in all of its phases: water, rail, highway, and air. It also aims to acquaint all the students of transportation with each other and with the men in the transportation industry in the local area. The local chapter, the Port of the University of Washington, was chartered in 1929 by the late Professor Gould. Professor Stanley Breurer is the faculty advisor.

Alpha chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism honorary, was first founded in 1909, at the University of Washington. Today student and alumnae chapters stretch from Oregon to Maine. Professional interest in journalism and a high scholastic record is necessary for membership eligibility.

The Matrix Table banquet is an annual spring event honoring Seattle's 500 most prominent women, jointly sponsored by the Active and Alumnae chapters of Theta Sig. This year, for the first time, the chapter held a "Women in Journalism Coffee Hour" for all campus women interested in the field. The program included a round-table discussion by Seattle women outstanding in newspaper editing and reporting, radio, public relations and advertising. Presiding over the group's activities this year have been Kay Bradshaw, president; Ruth Simon, vice-president; Nancy Jo Thomas, secretary and Matrix chairman; Florence Hoare, treasurer, and Delores Estigoy, keeper of the archives. Chapter "Mother" is Professor Robert Mansfield.

In the fall of 1919 the Physical Education Club was started for the benefit of the physical education majors. The purpose of the club is to bind its members more closely together in their social and professional interest. A plaque is awarded to the outstanding senior student each year, and a loan fund is maintained to be used by students in physical education.

In the short time since 1948, the undergraduate engineers on lower campus have established a magazine that has received wide recognition among engineering and publication groups. Through the support of the student engineering societies and the untiring efforts of the editorial and business staffs, the magazine has increased its size and frequency of publication.

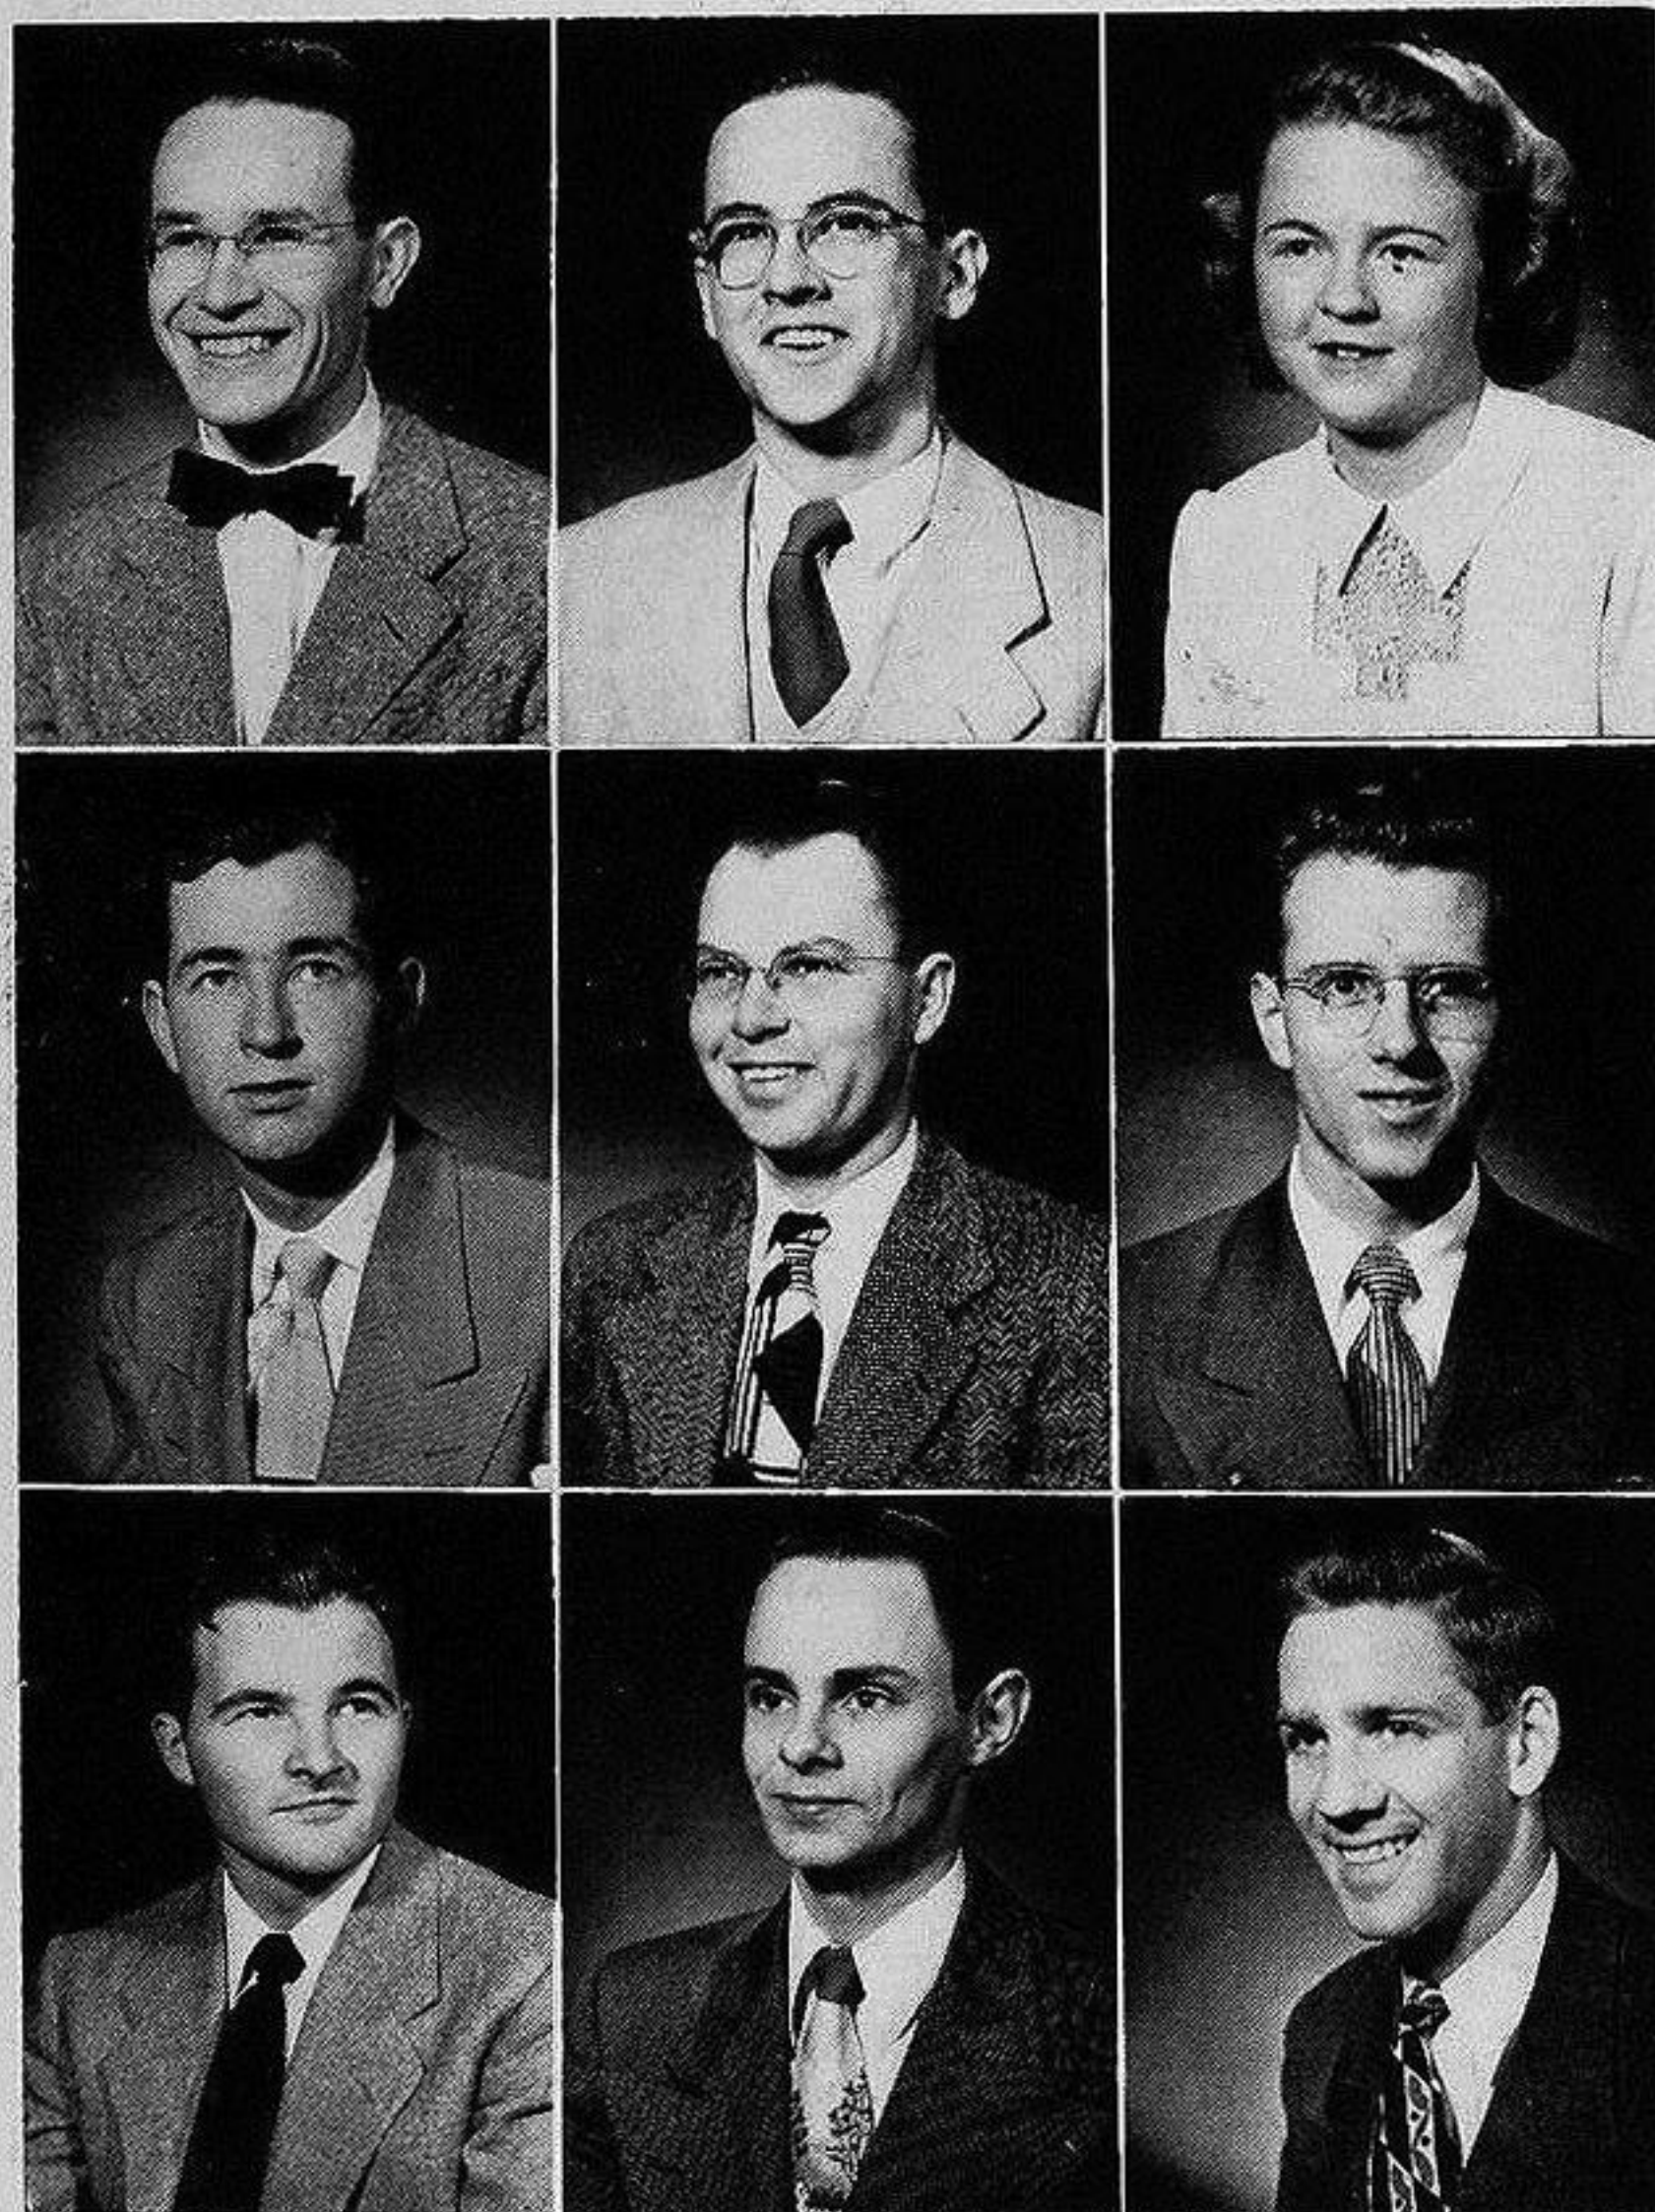

The outgoing staff can feel justly proud of their part in establishing this highly-regarded campus tradition.

Zeta Phi Eta is the national professional speech arts fraternity for women. It was founded at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, in 1893. The members of Zeta are chosen on the basis of professional excellence as evidenced by scholarship, professional attitude, and ability in extra-curricular activity. Zeta maintains and supports the Lois Beal Sandall Scholarship Fund for the benefit of outstanding students in Speech Arts. The scholarship is available to any senior or graduate majoring in Speech, Radio, or Drama. During the annual Speech Banquet the Zeta plaque is awarded to the outstanding graduating senior man and woman in speech. The engraved plaque is then displayed in the Walker-Ames room of Parrington Hall. Recently, a plaque has been added to be awarded to the outstanding graduates in radio.

A new and enlarged utility tunnel system has been going in under the campus the past couple of years, and all students have become used to avoiding new traps that appear regularly all over the campus.

STUDENT LIFE INFORMALS

A large group of University students traveled across the state to Spokane for the big game between Washington and Washington State.

The finals in the intramural billiards competition drew crowds of interested students, and an exhibition by an expert added to the interest.

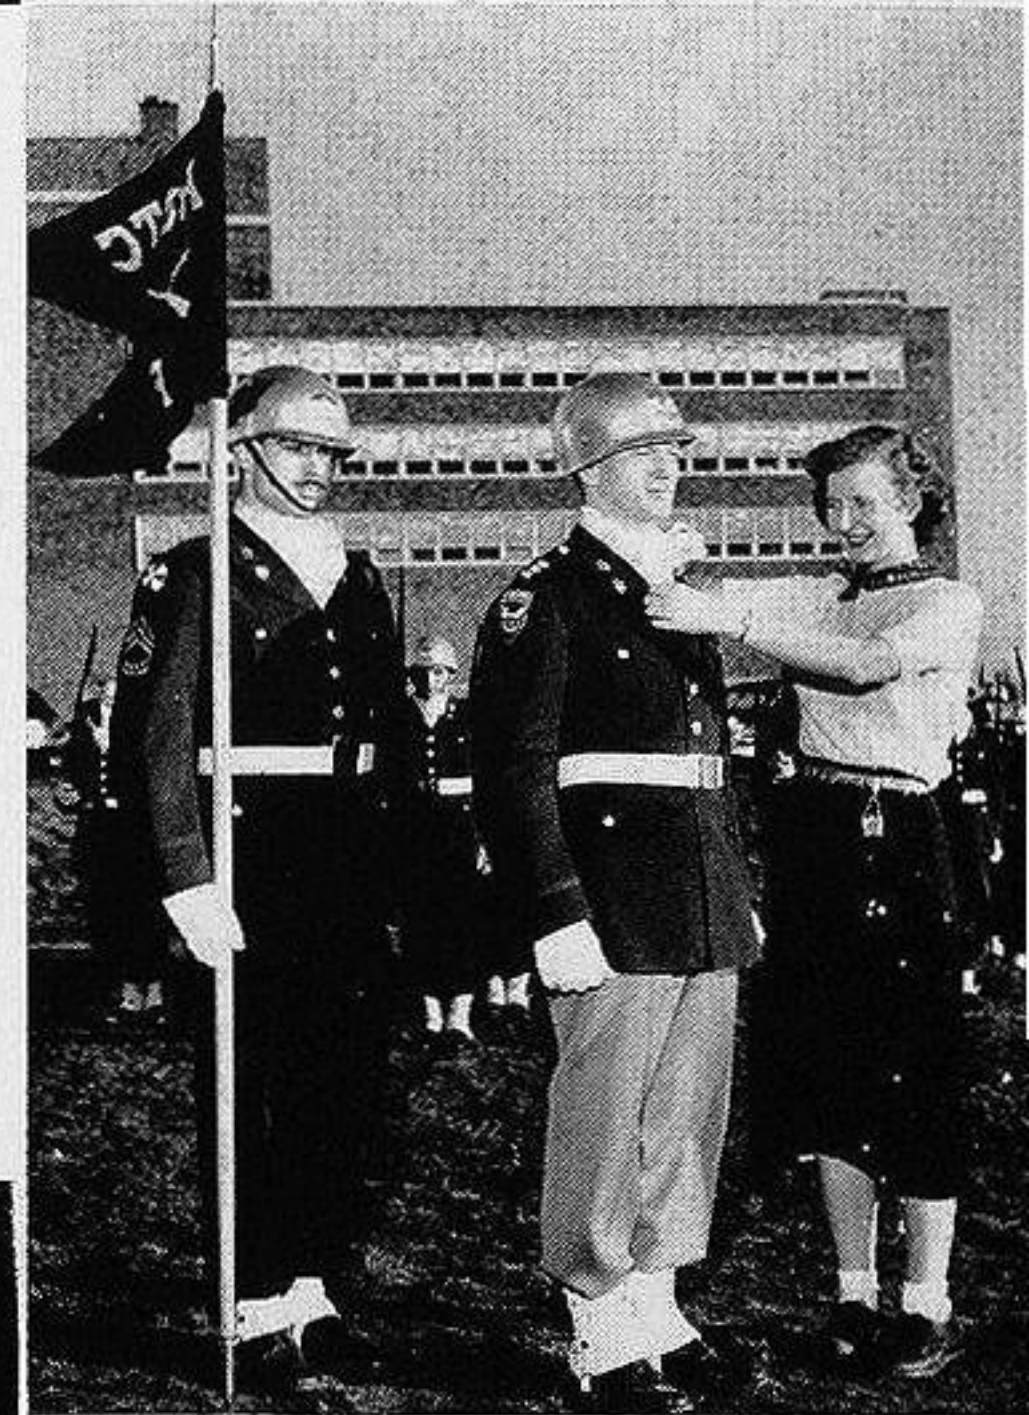

STUDENT LIFE INFORMALS

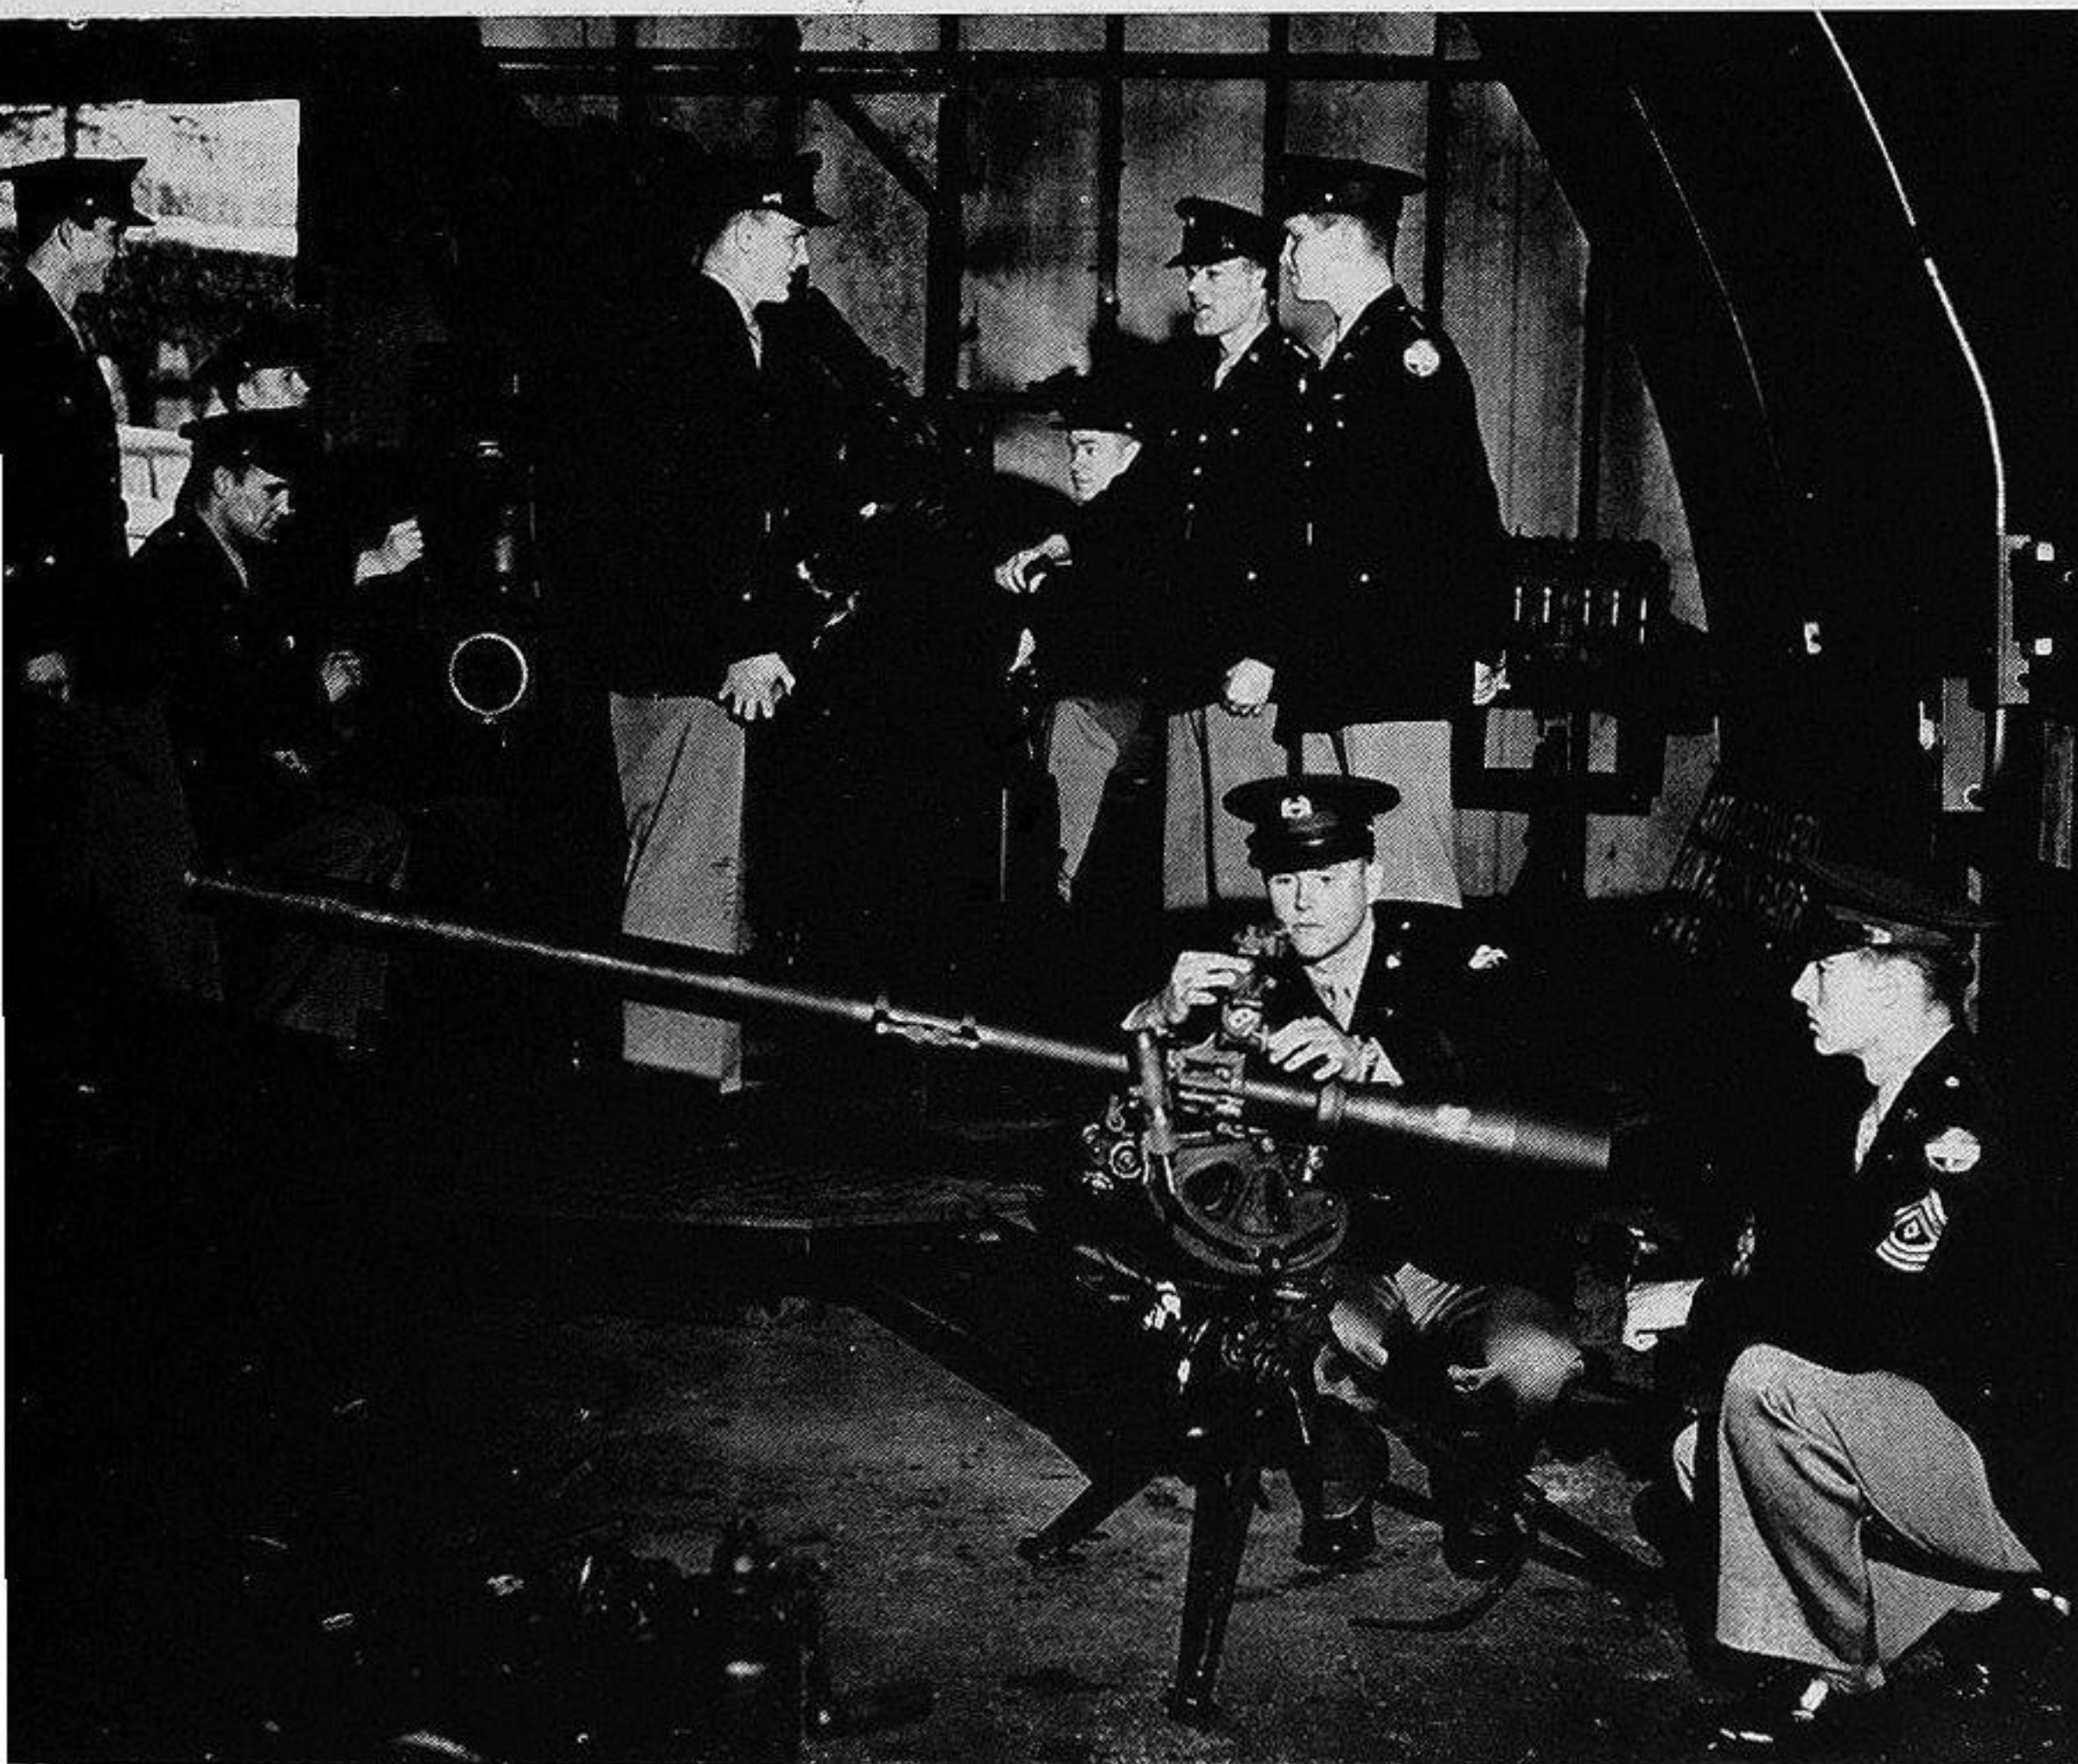

The Army rifle team was under the direction of SGT. STROJNEY.

The Army ROTC at the University of Washington is made up of six units of the United States Army ROTC, namely: Infantry, Anti-aircraft, Artillery, Quartermaster, Transportation, Engineers, and Medical Corps. Any high school graduate entering the training program is free to select the branch of his choice within certain quota limitations, except with respect to the Medical Corps. The latter all ready must be enrolled in the Medical College.

The training objective of the Army ROTC is three-fold: (1) to inform the student about general American military policies and methods, (2) to provide selected students with a basic military knowledge that will enable them to serve as junior officers in the event of war, and (3) to build up a reserve of partly trained young officers for the organized Reserve Corps. In addition to this the Army has a secondary aim, which is to select certain outstanding ROTC students for possible integration into the Regular Army as career officers.

The national society of SCABBARD and BLADE is an honorary organization of Army, Navy and Air Force upper-division cadets and midshipmen on each of over one hundred campuses. Members are selected on the basis of academic achievement, military leadership and the recommendation of their respective commanding officers. Applicants must be in the upper third of their military class and must have qualities of leadership, integrity and honesty. On the social side, Scabbard and Blade holds a dance for members and guests, and sponsors the annual Cadet Ball at the Fort Lawton Officers' Club.

AIR ROTC

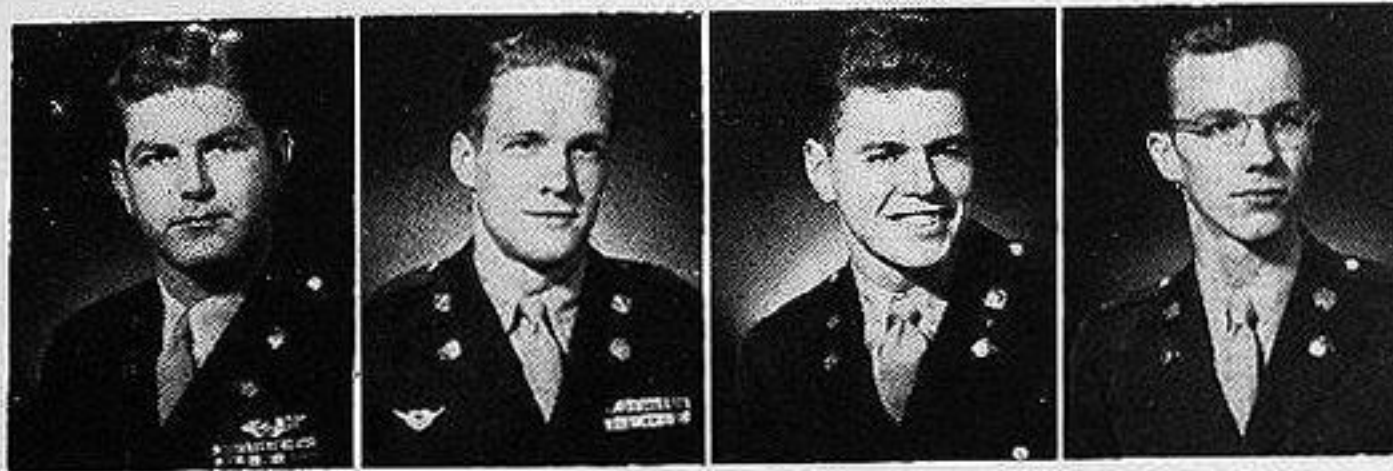

One of the highlights of the year for the Air Force ROTC Cadets is the traditional field trip to McChord Field. On this day, the Cadets live and learn as regular airmen by getting first-hand information from living under actual surroundings as they are found in the Air Force and inspecting and operating the equipment kept at the base. The day is highlighted by an airplane ride over the surrounding country with the Cadets wearing the full airman's gear.

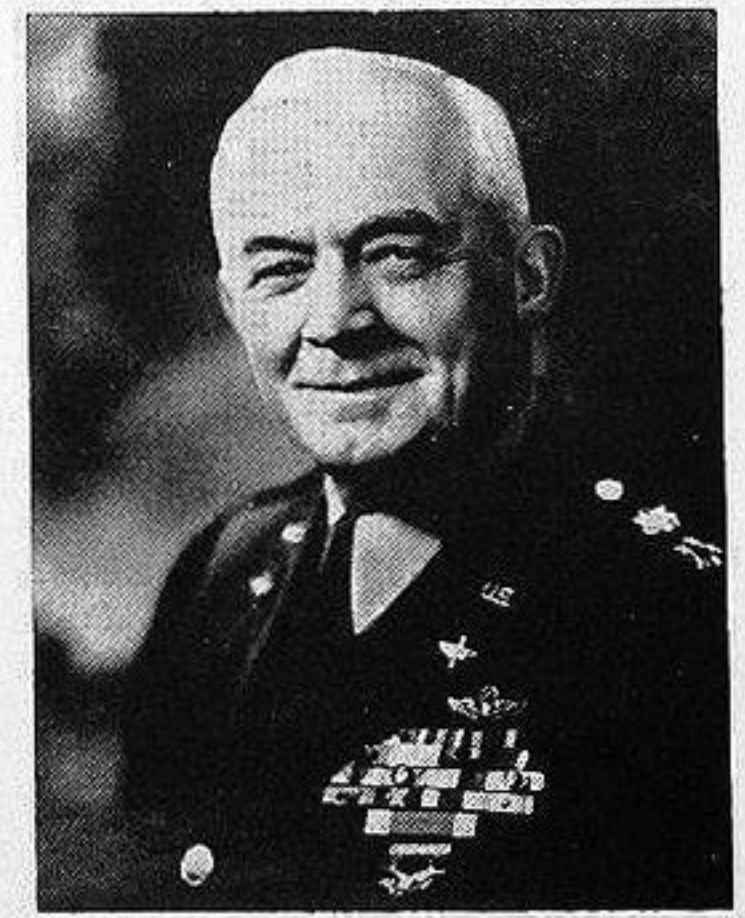

The Air ROTC officers are left to right: Lt. Col. Raleigh D. Smith, 1st Lt. Robert Bitney, Lt. Col. Fred Newman, Capt. Frank Davis, Capt. Kenneth Clark, Major Danferth Miller, Capt. W. L. Roy, Major Richard James. Airmen left to right are: Willie R. Neal, James Elder, Kenton Kepner Jr., Richard Hixson, Roy Craig, Joe B. Martin Jr., Donald McGee.

Squadron B-1 of the national Arnold Air Society was established on campus in March of 1949. Named for General Arnold, one of the nation's champions of air power, the society is open to members of the Air ROTC enrolled at the University. Social background and fraternal spirit for men who will become officers in the air reserve are the goals of this group. Semi-weekly meetings are held, at which speakers and films of interest to the members appear.

MARINE GRADS

Washington's "Naval Fraternity" was organized in 1926 with the idea of promoting brotherhood among NROTC students. Twenty-five years have passed since the origin of Compass and Chart, and in the "Silver Anniversary" year the midshipmen are found carrying on in traditional Navy manner.

Compass and Chart, basically a democratic organization, is founded on the principle of voluntary participation by members. The group sponsors an active intramural athletic program, a popular on and off campus social calendar, a weekly newspaper, "The Binnacle," and the ever successful Navy rifle team. Members also have access to unit boats and a powerful amateur radio station through "Helm and Halyard" and "The Radio Club" respectively, groups within and sponsored by Compass and Chart.

COMPASS AND CHART

RADM. Barbey, President Allen, and Capt. Emory cut the ribbon and officially open Clark Hall as quarters for the Naval Reserve Officer's Training Corps.

Rear Admiral Daniel E. Barbey, USN, places a wreath under the picture of Major Golland L. Clark Jr. USMC, a former Unit member, after whom the Clark Hall Armory is named. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sr. were present at the ceremony.

NAVY ROTC

Part of the Navy ROTCorp training program, with which many people are unfamiliar, is the annual summer cruise. The midshipmen do all of the work of the crew aboard ship on this cruise, and celebrate ashore with an outdoor dance at Balboa in the Canal Zone.

CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS

The students at the University of Washington have probably one of the strongest student governments in the country, and with the completion of the Student Union Building, they will have one of the finest student activity centers in the country.

Space and equipment will be available for work, recreation and relaxation. All students are encouraged to share in the benefits of a strong Associated Student Body, and those who fail to do so deprive themselves of a good part of University life.

The Student Union Building, dubbed the Husky Union Building (HUB), is truly the hub of student activity. Organizations may meet here; friends may meet here; it is the students' large, multi-purpose living room on the campus.

ACTIVITIES

CLARENCE "MAC" McCREDY stepped into the ASUW presidency with much experience in campus activities behind him. "Mac" had been vice-president and then president of AMS, and a member of Fir Tree and Oval Club. This year, besides handling his regular duties as head-man of the Hub, Board of Control chairman, representative of the ASUW in local and national affairs, and ex-officio member of all Board of Control committees, "Mac" took on another big job. He became the first ASUW president to become a father. "Pop" McCredy, with all his interests, still manages to find time to ski, his favorite pastime.

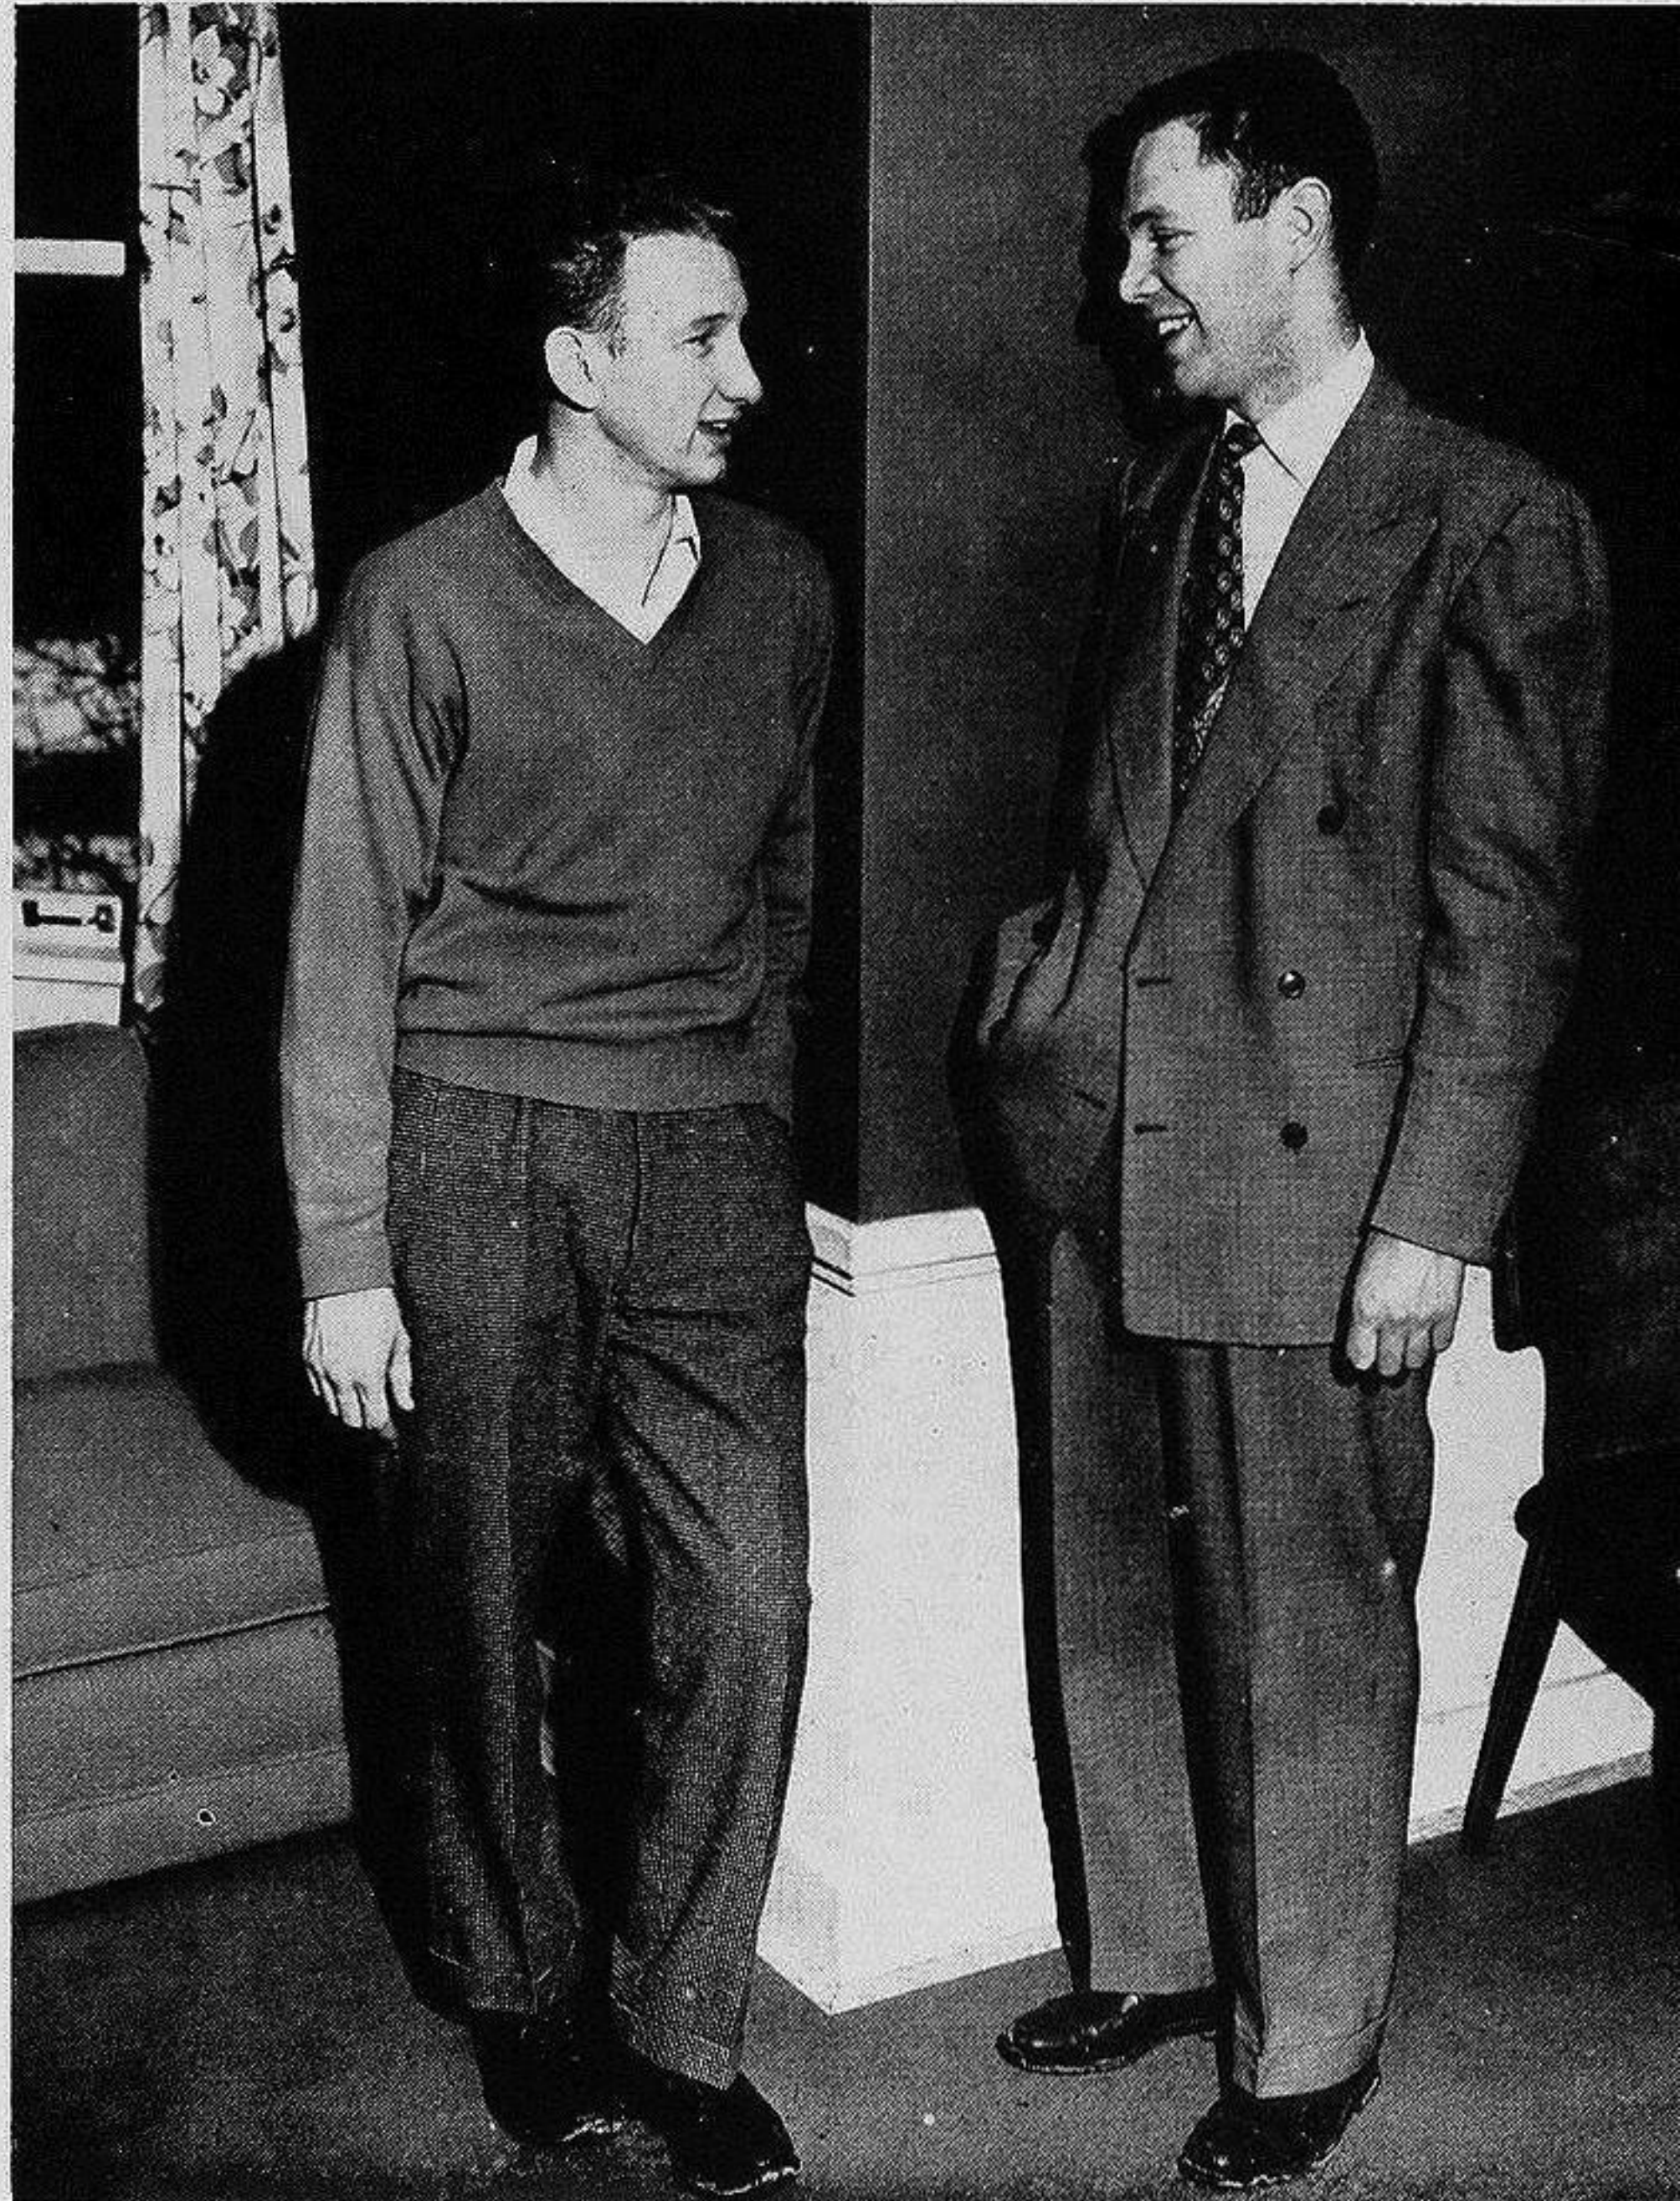

ASUW OFFICERS

As the sole woman ASUW officer, ANN CAVIN, secretary, has rendered herself invaluable. Not only does she head the Activities Bureau and serve on the Board of Control, but she also is ready to assist other officers and committees when they need help. Her office as secretary climaxes an outstanding career in campus activities. Ann has been an Assemblies Committee member, an Organizations Assembly delegate, a member of W-Key, Mortar Board, and Totem Club, and treasurer of AWS.

BOB MUCKLESTONE is known around the Hub as "the little giant." His capacity for activities is practically unequalled. At present he is chairman of three committees—the Hub Operating Committee, the Elections and Legal Interpretation Committee, and the Constitution and By-laws Committee. In the past he has proved himself an efficient leader by his success as Sophomore Carnival chairman, Junior Class President, and Athletic Committee chairman. Besides all this, Bob finds time to attend Oval Club meetings.

First vice-president, LARRY PEARSON, travels at a mighty swift pace. Though he entered the University just three years ago, he has accomplished more than most people do in five. In his second year at the University he became vice-chairman of Organizations Assembly, and proved himself so capable that he was elected ASUW first vice-president at the end of that year. Now he is OA chairman, Board of Control member, and ASUW head when "Mac" isn't around. This speedball from Port Angeles graduated in two years by going to summer school, and in 1950-51 attended graduate school.

ASUW ADVISORS

Busy ASUW Activities Manager, CHUCK OWENS, always finds time to help an interested student in activities.

JIM OVERLOCK, Assistant ASUW Manager, sets the pace for activities in the HUB.

Taking time out for their daily cup of coffee in the HUB are ASUW program advisers Joan Campbell, Sylvia Nilsen, Mildred Gellermann, Al Brevik and Minnie Harris. These five are the cogs around which the wheels of HUB activities revolve.

Publications adviser, CLYDE ROBINSON, seems pleased over sales of campus publications.

Accountant GENE PIERCE points out recent ASUW profits to assistant accountant RAY COLE.

Reservations supervisor, DOROTHY PURCELL, receives a reservation from an organization planning to use the facilities of a HUB banquet room.

MRS. HYLAND, MRS. HAMER, and Chef DAVID HARSTEIN plan the menu for student meals in the HUB.

The House Committee discusses a report to be made to the ASUW Building Operating Committee concerning rules and regulations regarding the HUB. Front row: Laveen Kanal, Madeline Ferguson, Ken Barr, Jack Rogoway, Dorothy Purcell, and chairman, Mert Glant. Back row: adviser, Jim Overlock.

Nelson Wahlstrom, Diane Gellerman, Peggy Cone, Donald Mackenzie, Chuck Kletsch, Curtis Vail and Lyle Goss, members of the Bookstore Board, discuss the policy of the University Book Store.

ASUW COMMITTEES

The Finance and Budget Committee is kept busy in preparing the annual ASUW budget, and recommending salary and expenditure changes which are not provided for by the budget. The group of mathematicians are Nelson Wahlstrom, Clyde Robinson, Glen Nygreen, Mac McCredy, Donald Wollett, Mildred Gellermann, John Corbally, Marilyn Metz, Larry Pearson, Gene Pierce, and Charles Owens. Not pictured: Harvey Cassill, Joseph McCarthy and Kathro Kidwell.

Students Organizations Committee approves groups that wish to become recognized student organizations. Front row: Peggy Mace, Alice Sorensen, Kathleen Johnson, Pat Tuthill, Lee Saunders, Mildred Gellermann. Back row: Richard Crain, Harold Shean, Laurence Zillman, Art Martin, chairman; Perry Baisler, and Glen Nygreen.

The versatile News Bureau keeps the file of hometown newspapers complete and up to date, produces the ASUW "Hubbub," and attends to the ASUW scrapbook. Front row: Dave Wood, chairman; Jackie Frost, Jerry Harsch, Dick Trowbridge, Doug Hansen, and Rog Loschen. Back row: Daisy Beach, Sally Morrill, Bob Arnold, Dick Hall, Rita Tappe, Evelyn Betz, and Dominick Driano.

John Piper, business manager; Sonya Marks, assistant chairman; and Wally MacDonald, chairman, planned the successful CAMPUS CHEST Drive for 1950.

The PROGRAM PANEL is busy discussing the program on new ASUW projects in the program area. Back row: Jerry Hall, Don Wolfstone, Diana Thorp, Alice Watson, and Paul Close. Front row: Mildred Gellermann, Harriet Follis, Daisy Beach, JoAnn Tallman, Joan Kamm, Virginia Jones, Jackie Sigman, and Jean McDonald, chairman. Not pictured: Geri Anderson, Bill Breimwoud, Bob Cushon, and Madeline Ferguson.

Friday afternoon "jam sessions" in the HUB cafeteria, sponsored by the ASUW Music and Entertainment Committee, help students celebrate TGIF.

The ELECTIONS AND LEGAL INTERPRETATIONS Committee, benefited by the participation of a few law students, supervises and manages ASUW elections. Front row: Ann Adams, Katie Price, Dominic Driano, Bob Mucklestone, chairman; Jeannette Lightle, Sharon LeVander, and Muriel Squillace. Back row: Gordon Culp, Cec Miller, Jim Milne, and Floyd McCracken.

Adviser James M. Davis discusses services and programs that promote international fellowship and understanding with International Committee members. Seated: Alice Blomberg, Daisy Beach, Alice Turtledove, Carrol Wycoff, Janet Crawford, chairman; Mary Weidlech, and Beverly Behar, secretary. Standing: Ken Graham, Barbara Beatty, Pat Quinn, Bill Drummond, Marilyn Witt, Joyce Heitzman, George Meshke.

The clerical staff is always ready to help a Washington student who comes into the activities bureau in the HUB. Seated: Marilyn Nederlee, Betsy Bird, Gloria Mocer, Rita Jean Hartung, Maureen Callahan, chairman; Peggy Allen, Nan Knudson, Betty Macdonald, and Mary Waller. Back row: Georgia Lee, Donna Moore, Jeanne Hamstrom, Marcia Keller, Susanna McPherson, and Diane Phillips.

The High School Leaders Conference Committee invites various high school leaders to the University of Washington, and plans a program to inform them of important information concerning UW activities. Top to bottom: Marilyn Bradford, Nan Knudson, Rita Tappe, Ron Barclay, Liz Myers, Bill McCoy, Raymond Lundy, Joanne Torney, Ann Fraser, and Joanne Gordon, chairman.

Activities Bureau Committee chairman, Ann Cavin, discusses with the chairmen of activities sub-committees the policies of their respective committees. Members are Rolfe Becker, Sylvia Nilsen, Tom Davis, Al Hauge-rud, Harry Phillips, Shirley Miller, Audrey Lundgren, Richard Hilleren, Maureen Cal-laghan, Bob Storey.

Committee member Jack Cowoger demon-strates a type of music that the Music and Entertainment Committee plans for an informal recreational entertainment in the HUB. Other members of the committee are Renate Hayum, secretary; Mary Haberle, Jeanette Lightle, Bob Berat, Al Brevik, adviser; and Paul Close, chairman.

A worried student looks on as his meals are planned by the Food Services Committee, Ken Hammer, chairman; Chuck Owens, advisor; Grace Friedrich, and Warren Hager.

The Mixer Committee plans another of one of the various ASUW mixers it sponsors. Talking over their latest plans are committee members, Alyce Rae Felt, Liz Lovsted, an invaluable help to the photographer (note Pepsodent box), Bob Kuebler, John Tomlin-son, chairman; Diana Thorpe, and Elizabeth Johnson, secretary.

The CONTEST Committee, Fred Nollan, chairman; Harry C. Bauer, Dot Cunningham, Joan Jasburg, Dick Fox, Donna Carbo, and Shirley Anne Wizer, approves campus contests to insure all-University participation.

Well-balanced programs of assemblies and off-campus speakers or entertainers for meetings are provided by the ASSEMBLY Committee. Front row: Bill Wing, Ray Ericksen, chairman; Professor Vernon Frost, Larry Erickson, Diane Gates, secretary; Winifred Taylor, Diana Thorp, Eva Mae Good, Don Smith, Bob Cushen, Tom Loftus, John Urner, Susie McPherson, and Audrey Catren. Back row: Professor George Shipman, Dr. Donald Cornu, and Winton Pettibone.

Health facilities at the University are promoted by the HEALTH SERVICES Board. Roger Meyer, chairman, calls the meeting to order with Kay Olswang, Bob Okano, Dick Neal, Dave Stevens, Mary Sennett, Joan Wingate, and Marilyn Kropf present. Not pictured: Nancy Shank, Elaine Loeb, Catherine Davidson, and Tom Gilpatrick.

Interviewers for ASUW activities are Val Whittaker, Georgene Horn, Nancy Lyon, Betty Stambaugh, Delores Somppi, Pat Walker, Barbara Meron, Reese Anderson, Dick Luther, Ken Funseth, Jim Greenway, Bruce Raby, Sharon Hagerty, Don Phelan, Jack Haley, and Bob Smith, and standing, Dick Hilleran, chairman, who comprise the INTERVIEWERS Committee.

The SOCIAL EVENTS Committee supervises and regulates social events of ASUW, AMS, AWS, and classes. Front row: Jan Wall, Janet Enge, Kay Miller, Lois Gunderson, Alice Watson, chairman; and Eileen Risegari. Back row: Henry S. Tatsumi, Ralph Thorton, Dick Walker, Shirley Mesher, Dorothy Purcell, secretary; and A. A. Auernheimr. Not pictured: Kay Bradshaw, Phyllis Tucker, Nat Moore, Don Firth, J. B. Morrison, and Helen Kaufman.

The WELCOME WEEK Committee carries out a program given at the beginning of each quarter to introduce new students to campus life. Standing are Dick Crain, Floyd McCracken, Paul Close, and Jerry Johnson. Seated are Helen Morris, Becky Nelson, Lois Gunderson, Pat Gilpin, Maribeth Balthaser, Gloria Mocer, Lois Raver, Nan Knudson, and Libby Graves, chairman. Not pictured: Kenyon Brown.

The CONFERENCE HOUSING Committee decides policies and finds housing for delegates to University conferences. Looking down from the balcony over the second floor lounge in the HUB are Ron Barclay, chairman; Jeannine Larson, Barbara Black, Mary Lou Bradley, Betty Beall, Bernice Rugg, secretary; Tony Schmidt, and Don Stark.

Arden Riess, Dorothy Purcell, advisor; David Novak, Rochelle Wienir, secretary; and chairman, Madeline Ferguson plan displays and exhibits in the HUB and supervise the trophy cases for the DISPLAY Committee.

Serving as a hub of all University publications, the PUBLICATIONS Committee consists of the following people: Professor Astel, Clyde Robinson, Professor Bevis, Joe Slate, Dick Barrett, Pete Bement, Ramona Smith, Al Goldman, Ken Cole, chairman; Gordy Wood, Bob Quickstad, Barbara Russell, Dave Wood, Wes Peterson, Florence Hoare, and Nell Budinger. Not pictured: Herb Ellison, Professor Bird, Mike English, Professor Everest, Glen Nygren, Fran Stoeckert, Gretchen Baragar, Maribeth Balthaser, Mayr Lou Zimmerman, Erv Jensen, Keith Kimerer, Bob McCain, and Minnie Harris.

The reason why the HUB runs smoothly is due to the policies set by the Operating Committee. Front row: R. J. Lampman, Edith C. Korres, Isabelle Benson, and Bob Mucklestone, chairman. Back row: Harold Peterson, Kenn Barr, Bill Berge, Charles D. Owens, Forest Goodrich, Mert Glant, Jean McDonald, Ken Hammer and Eugene Pierce.

Don Johnson, Bob Mucklestone, Ann Adams and Chairman Dan Brink as members of the Consitution and By-Laws Committee propose revisions of the constitution and by-laws of ASUW and ASUW committees to the Board of Control along with recommendations as to the wording and legal effect of the proposed changes.

Members of the W Book staff plan the annual handbook for freshmen and new students. Planning the next publication are Dick Trowbridge, Daisy Beach, Wendy Gibbs, Jackie Frost, Evelyn Betz, Fred Jappe, Sally Morrill (assistant editor) and Dave Wood (editor). Not pictured: Marilyn Smith and Peggy Mace.

The Cultural Events Committee plans how they will promote student interest in the various cultural events in the University and in the community. Discussing these plans are John Arneson, Dave Stevens, Mary Lou Gellerman, Ardelle Fahlstrom, Liz Lovsted, Diana Thorp, Joan Berken, Richard Ball, Jerry Vincent, Ken Graham, Ann Fraser, Miriam Niemi, and Virginia Jones, chairman. Incidentally, the shapely legs belong to Ken MacLean.

ASUW-chartered bus to the WSC football game provides various means of relaxation to Husky fans.

Bill Wing, chairman, points out areas of parking to the Parking Committee. Clockwise, members are Mildred Gellermann, John Kurtz, Pat Lee, Charmalee Crohn, Darrell Lee, Jim Rolfe, Sue Keaton, Dick Morgan, and Joan Gildmeister.

Planning and operating a program of games for University students is the concern of the Games Committee. Members are Mary Lou Edwards, Barbara Rogstad, John Ogden, Jo Ann Tallman, chairman; Gerald Schain, and Molly Elliott.

Among their various activities on the Athletic Committee, Dick Knott, Gladys Boner, Dayle Hoagland, F. Haydn Williams, H. P. Everest, Clark Jones, Harvey Cassill, and Chairman Duane Enochs supervise athletic awards, appoint student athletic managers and make recommendations to the Board of Control regarding changes in athletic personnel.

WOMEN

GERI ANDERSON's friendly smile has followed her throughout her three active years in AWS highlighted by the title of "Miss Personality" in her freshman year. From assistant chairman of the Concerts Committee, she was elected AWS corresponding secretary in 1950.

Cute and petite—that's NANCY LEE, and she can give you the scoop on all AWS finances. Service on Frosh Standards and Master Files Committees preceded her election as AWS treasurer in 1950.

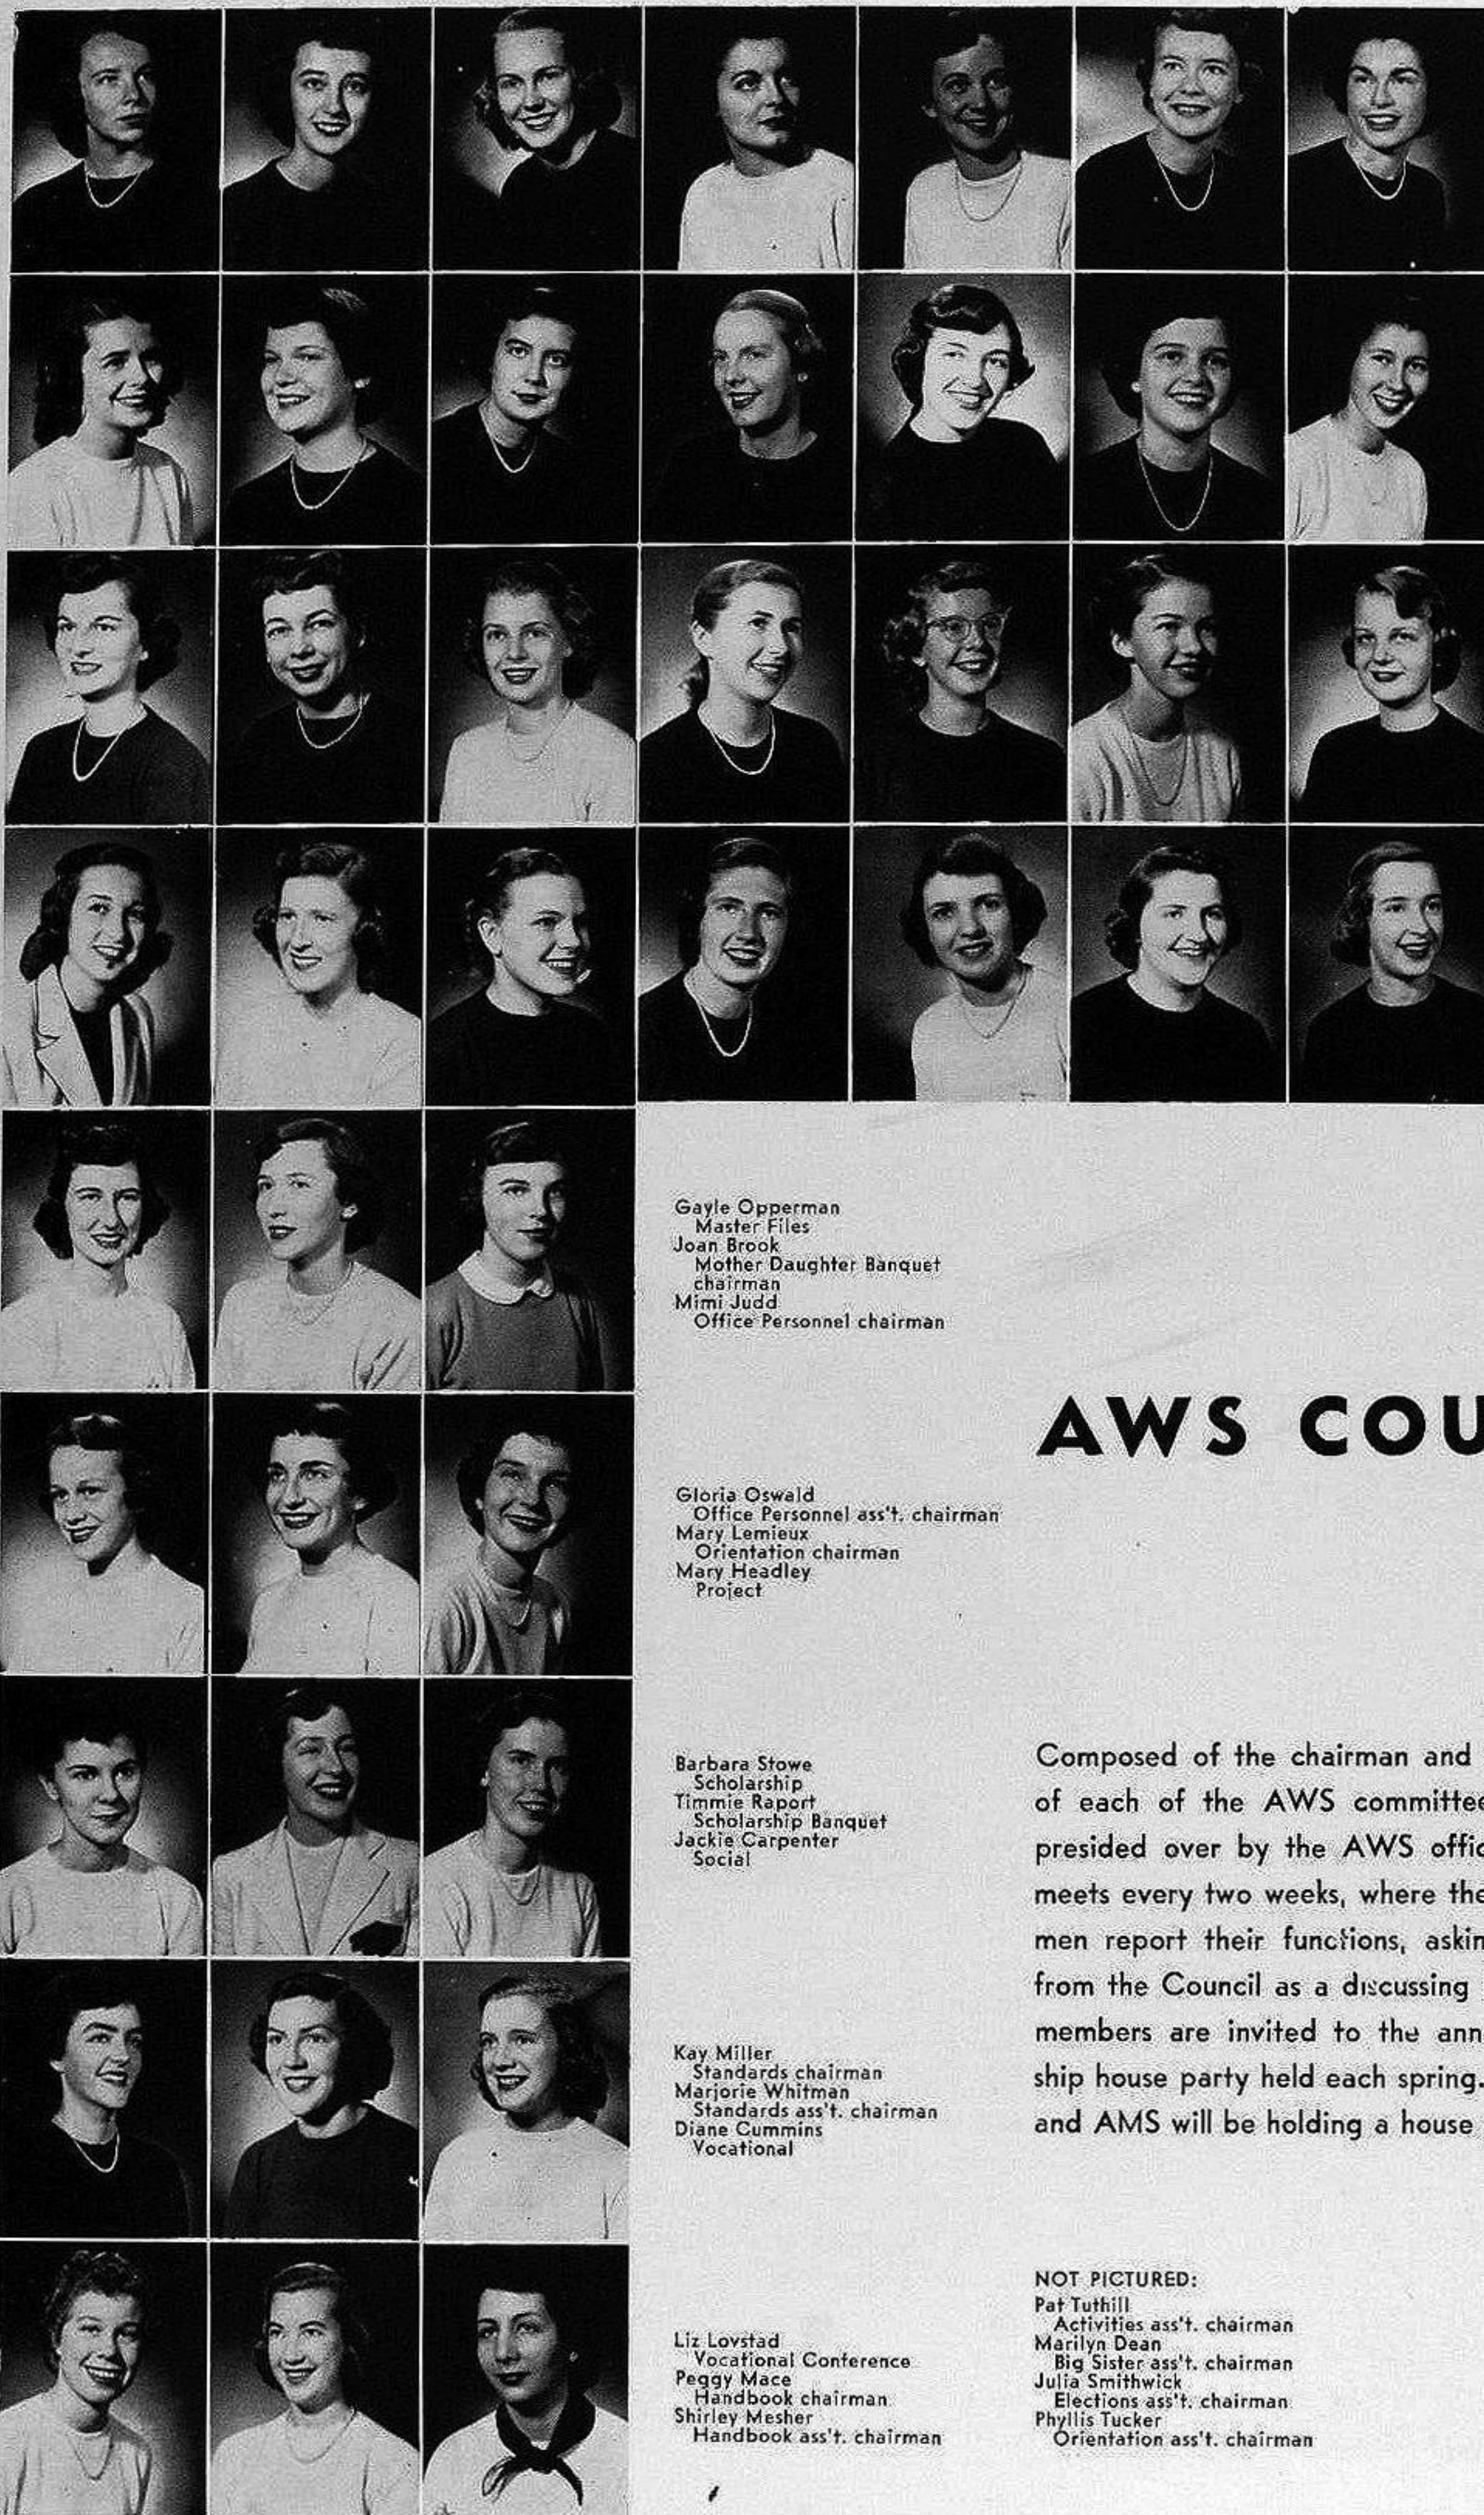

Keeping all the minutes up-to-date doesn't stop CORKY COCHRAN, AWS recording secretary from participation in other activities on campus. Chosen as one of the seven finalists in the Ski Queen Contest this year and serving on AWS committees, such as the Concerts Committee last year really keeps this gal on her toes.

Edgar Allen Poe didn't have anything over this gal, because not only graduation but wedding bells will toll the end of a successful and eventful career this June for prexy PAT MILLER. Capability and leadership in serving as chairman of College Days and assistant chairman of Scholarship, along with many other activities, brought Pat to the top honor as AWS president.

Preceding her election as AWS vice-president, JARINE OLSON has had a very full schedule, including service as chairman of AWS House Announcements and assistant chairman of Orientation. Full of spirit and always willing to give her service, AWS owes a lot to this ambitious gal.

All coeds automatically become members of the Associated Women Students. One of the most active groups on campus, it is the purpose of AWS to provide opportunity for individual growth, the development of new friendships, and service to the University through social, cultural and educational means. Every interested woman student is given an opportunity to work on AWS projects such as the annual Spring Style Show and the Scholarship Banquet. AWS works with AMS on Faculty-Student Relations, May Day, the Vocational Conference and the Art committee. Since 1920 AWS has brought famous musicians to the campus through their non-profit "Music at Meany" concerts. A position on AWS Council is a worthy goal and brings with it an invitation to the house party which culminates each year's program. Pat Miller, Jarine Olson, Geri Anderson, Corky Cochran and Nancy Lee were at the helm for 1950-51.

AWS COUNCIL

Composed of the chairman and assistant chairman of each of the AWS committees, the Council is presided over by the AWS officers. The Council meets every two weeks, where the committee chairmen report their functions, asking for suggestions from the Council as a discussing body. All Council members are invited to the annual AWS Leadership house party held each spring. This spring AWS and AMS will be holding a house party jointly.

AWS CABINET

THE AWS CABINET meets at least once a quarter to discuss problems and matters of concern to all women on campus. Composed of the Presidents or Representatives of the major women's organizations on campus are Peggy Cone, Independent Women's Association; Katie Price, Totem Club; Diane Gates, Husky Winter Sports Club; Joanne Sussman, Campus Religious Council; Pat Gilsek, Home Economics; Shirley Willis, Sigma Epsilon Sigma; Janet Enge, Panhellenic; Timmie Raport, Mortar Board; Judy Reynolds, Y.W.C.A.; Lois Gunderson, W-Key; Ann Gavin, ASUW Secretary; Nancy Lee, AWS Treasurer; Geri Anderson, AWS Corresponding Secretary; Corky Cochran, AWS Recording Secretary; Pat Miller, AWS President.

AWS COMMITTEES

Making arrangements for having faculty members as honor guests at various University social functions, the Honor Guests Committee consists of Betsy Bird, Joan Smith, Peggy Allen, Ann Osten and Alice Hail, Chairman. Not pictured is Shirley Groggins.

Buying and selling football chrysanthemum corsages and boutonnieres at football games is one of the best AWS money-making projects. "It's loads of fun," claim Carol Jean Gregory, Joanne Tranel (back row), Chairman Jackie Powell, and Marcia Rhind.

Taking advantage of the sunshine are Marg Landweer, Chairman Ruth Sullivan and Cookie Kirkendall, members of the College Days Committee, who act as a group to arouse interest in college life by acquainting high school students with campus life.

From the Social Committee are Donna Moore, Chairman Jackie Carpenter, and Marilyn Lockwood, who take charge of AWS teas, parties and banquets for the council members.

The Concerts Committee arranges "Music at Meany" concerts given on campus each year. Here Sue Scherner, chairman, is showing one of the programs to Pearl Svenson, Joyce Wiley, Diane Gellermann, Kathy Oliver, Noreen Salvino and Shirley Moore. Not pictured are: Joan Swerdlik and Marilyn Baker.

Serving as a committee to review standard procedures and acquaint freshman women with AWS is the Frosh Standards Committee made up of Maxine Softky, Charlotte Prescott, Louise Meyer, Chairman Shirley Willis and Jackie Claypool. Not pictured is Connie Jacobson.

Planning the annual Scholarship Banquet honoring outstanding women on the campus are Lizbeth Pisk and Joanne Trexler (back row); Audrey Catren, Dotty Mohr and Chairman Timmie Raport.

A football corsage, along with a big smile from a few Football Corsage Committee members, goes to Jim Rosenzweig.

Here's the Fashion Board, putting aside the discussion of who's to speak on the next fashion and grooming program, and taking a little time out for coffee. Members include Chairman Katie Price, Mary Lou Bradley, Barbara Smith, Shirley Miller and Pat Lee. Not pictured are Gerry Grisinger, Janet Cowderoy and MaryAnn Whalen.

Helping to interest freshman girls in AWS programs by organizing frosh discussion and activity groups is the Big Sister Committee, consisting of Marion Parodis, Barbara Abbott, June Hawthorne, Peggy Baugh, Nancy Danielson, Jill Frost, Liz Myers, Marjorie Whitman, Shirley Thiel, Joanne Sussman, Sally Hyneman, Barbara Black, Jean Homstrom, Nancy Dillon and Daizy Beach (back row); Jean McCroes, Chairman Sue Clark, Marilyn Dean and Diane Dick (front row). Those not pictured are Bev Behar and Pat Morrison.

Maintaining a record of all girls working in AWS activities, the Master Files Committee consists of Jean Parcel, Chairman Gayle Opperman, Dorothy Barger, Beverly Blythe and Sally Soursky. Those not pictured are Jean Rupp, Lois Raver, Arlean Hume, Doris Horn and Sylvia Wiper.

"It's a job," say Cherie Westlie, Chairman Barbara Brace and Jeanne Henson, "to keep the AWS Constitution and By-Laws up to date." Not pictured are Joan Smith, Barbara Hughes and Madeline Ferguson.

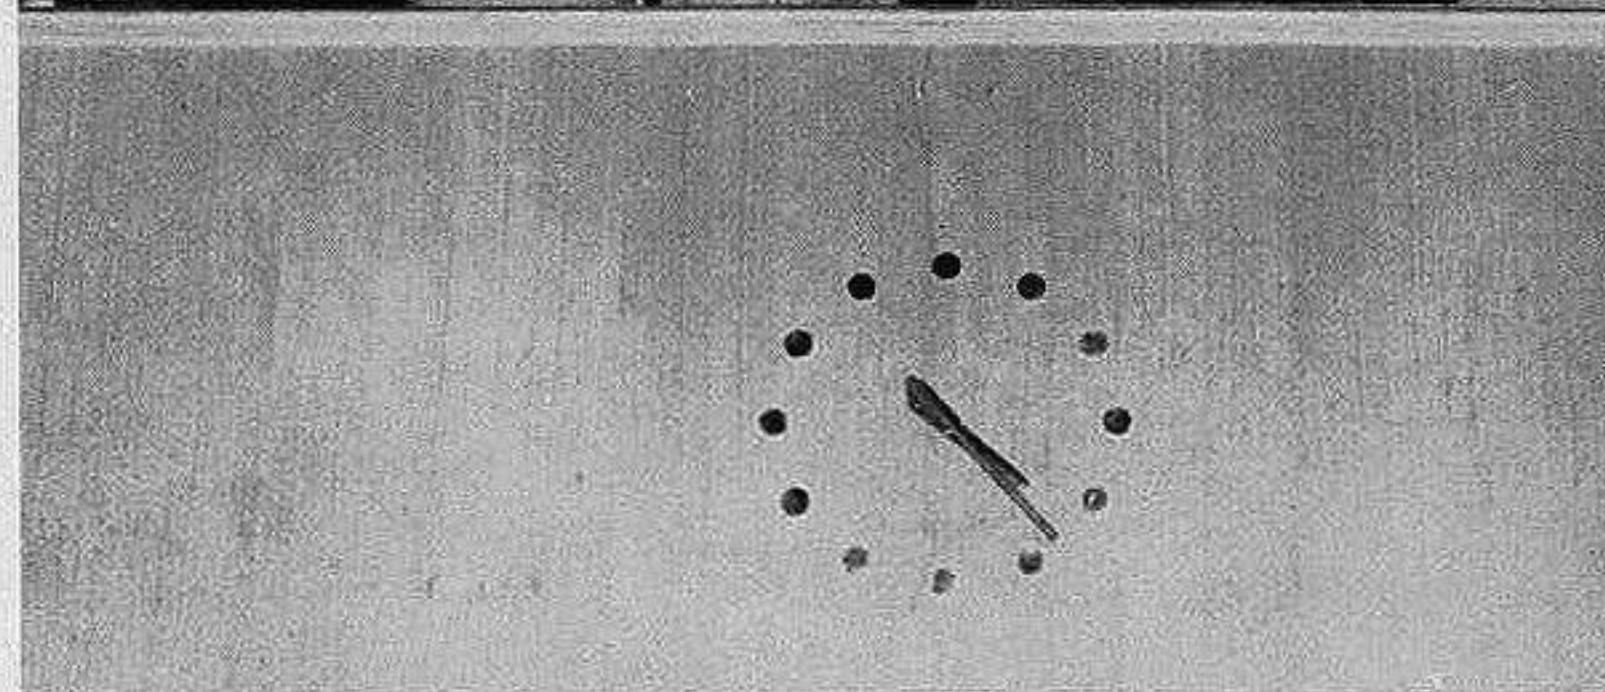

The Scholarship Committee meets with a council composed of scholarship chairmen from all organizations, and Mary Anderson, Chairman Barbara Stowe and Janet Brooke help to promote with these chairmen group scholarship emphasis and techniques.

Not the AWS Fashion Board—but the freshman orientation skit with AWS' "Smoothie," "Flirt," "Shy One," "Eager-Beaver," and "Bookworm"!

Making the arrangements for the annual Father-Daughter Banquet, honoring fathers of AWS council members, are Karol Hammer, Evelyn Anderson, Chairman Betty Stambaugh, Joanne Torney, Lael McAllister and Dolores Somppi.

From the Activities Committee, Chairman Bev Jacobson, Pat Tuthill, Connie Gunderson, Polly Pat Price, Connie Luke, Ruth Tappe and Marcia Rhind, meet with representatives from the organized houses and assist in appointment of AWS committees.

Important to the smooth functioning of AWS activities is the committee of OFFICE PERSONAL gals, including, standing, Joanne Schwary, Carol Johnson, Marion McFarlane, Kathleen Long, Sally Lyman, and Cynthia Wild. Seated are Nancy Spafford, Joan Bonner, Gloria Oswald, Chairman Mimi Judd, Mary Lou Edwards, Marilyn Armstrong and Jane Piper. These girls provide office managers and handle the routine duties in the AWS project room. Those not pictured are Jeanette Barger, Charmaine Paradis, Emily Michael, Joan Thwing, Evelyn Hammond, Liz McDowell and Joan Packard.

Serving in many ways is the COMMUNITY SERVICE Committee. With broom and dustpan are Glorietta Manes and Ruth Ostrow. Standing are Joan Francis, Marilyn Low, Kathleen Conlon, Nancy Lyon, chairman, and Jackie Fullager.

Pat Walker, Connie Nielsen, Chairman Joan Brooke, Kathy Long, and Gwen Jackman plan and make arrangements for the annual MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET, honoring mothers of AWS council members. Not pictured are Marilee Anderson, Ann Friedlander and Joyce Murray.

One of the big jobs of the STANDARDS Committee is to make the rulings governing all University women and handling cases of infraction of the standards rules. Standing are Pat Miller, Gloria Shelton, Chairman Margie Whitman and AMS Representative Bob Laudin; seated are Ann Cavin, Kay Miller and Janet Enge.

All set for the "big meeting" are the HANDBOOK Committee members, including Shirley Wizer, Robin Chittendon, Barbara Black, Shirley Thiel, Joan Bowman (the eye), Jackie Trullinger, Shirley Mesher, Sue Shaw and Chairman Peggy Mace, who edits the AWS section of the W-book. Not pictured is Molly Forler.

Acting as a coordinating group in acquainting freshman women with activities is the FROSH ORIENTATION Committee, including Barbara Park, Pat Donahoe, Joan Swerdlik, Shirley Riggs and Chairman Mary Lemieux. Not pictured are Mary Lou Hoffman, Gloria Mocer, Sally Wroth, Nancy Delzer, Liz Lovstad and Phyllis Tucker.

The VOCATIONAL Committee assists the University employment office in compiling and presenting summer jobs and vocational information. Working on the bulletin board are Barbara Ferguson, Chairman Diane Cummings, and Colleen Cassels. Not pictured is Winnie Slater.

Chosen as one of the students to model, Lois Hagen is showing some of the girls how it's done. The style show is presented by the AWS STYLE SHOW Committee each spring.

Peggy Allen, Hazel Goodwin, Zadell Myerson, Joanne Naden and Chairman Mary Jane Headley handle special AWS projects for the PROJECT Committee. Mary Jane is showing to her committee one of their finished products—the AWS scrapbook. Not pictured are Helen Hazen and Bearnice Rugg.

The ELECTIONS Committee assists the vice president in handling the annual AWS election. Looking at the birdie are Donna Fries, Sue Weaver, Chairman Carol Schreuder, Violet Michael, Mary Ann Larsen and Rita Kakela.

Handling art work for AWS committees and serving all campus organizations upon request are Carl Wills, Don Mosbarger, Paul Cole, Chairman Charles Wynn and ASUW advisor Minnie Harris (standing); seated are Marilyn Low, Karin Simonsen, Violet Michael, Virginia Brown, Sally Morrill and Rayda Pomroy.

AWS-AMS JOINT COMMITTEES

The Student-Faculty Relations Committee consists of Bob Massey, John Constantine, Charlotte Landin, Mildred Durnam, Ann Kellogg, Donna Elmquist, and AWS-AMS Chairmen Marilyn Bradford and Marty McDougall, who help to promote out-of-class association between faculty and students through informal meetings and departmental organizations. Not pictured are Diana Thorp, Lois Robblee and Bob Alexander.

With the AMS, the annual May Day celebrations on campus are planned during the first part of May by Chairman Sally Morrill and Connie Howe (seated); standing are Beverly Nelson and Terry Proctor. Not pictured are Ann McGovney, Tianne Paris, Louis Robkee, John Nederly and Jim Briggs.

ASSOCIATED MEN STUDENTS

BOB ANDERSON, AMS president, after serving on the AMS Athletic Committee in 1948 and as vice-president of AMS in 1949, held AMS's head well above water in 1950.

Getting his start in AMS as chairman of AMS Bowling League Committee in 1949, BILL LUCKS performed the duties of secretary in 1950, one of which was to act as bookie for Fistfest bets.

Advancing from corresponding secretary of AMS in 1949, DICK MORGAN carried the load of vice-president in 1950, taking over when the president was furthering AMS "public relations."

Since its formation in 1944-45, AMS has followed an ever-expanding program of service to the University and to all men students. An integral part of the ASUW, AMS serves as the coordinating body for all men's activities.

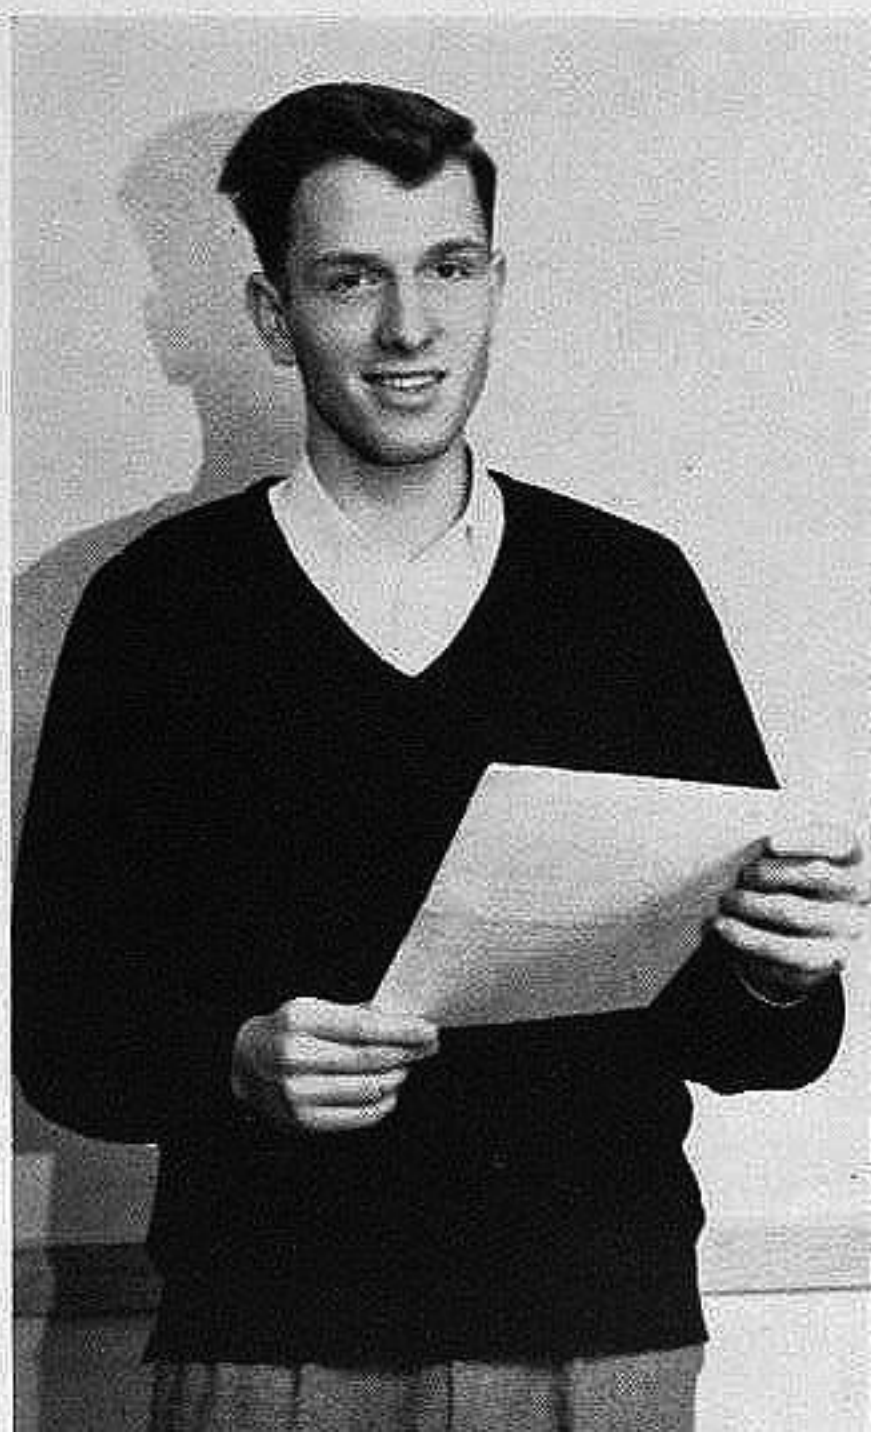

One of the biggest projects of AMS this year was the participation of more men than ever before in its activities. Again, as in the past, AMS sponsored the billiards tournament in the fall, with nationally famous trick shot artist, Charlie Peterson, giving an exhibition. The highlight of the year came in February when the best pugilists on the campus displayed their manly forms before an enthusiastic crowd at the AMS-sponsored Fistfest. In all respects, the year 1950-51 was rated as another success for AMS.

Being the "growing" organization that it is, AMS used two secretaries this year.

HARRY LUTES helped out on this angle as secretary to the board.

Treasurer RAY LEE, seated, besides taking in gambling profits on Fistfest, handled AMS finances very efficiently in 1950.

DON THORESON, during 1950, held the position of member at large, which conveniently doesn't imply any duties. Turn the page and you'll see, however, what an active part Don took in AMS this year.

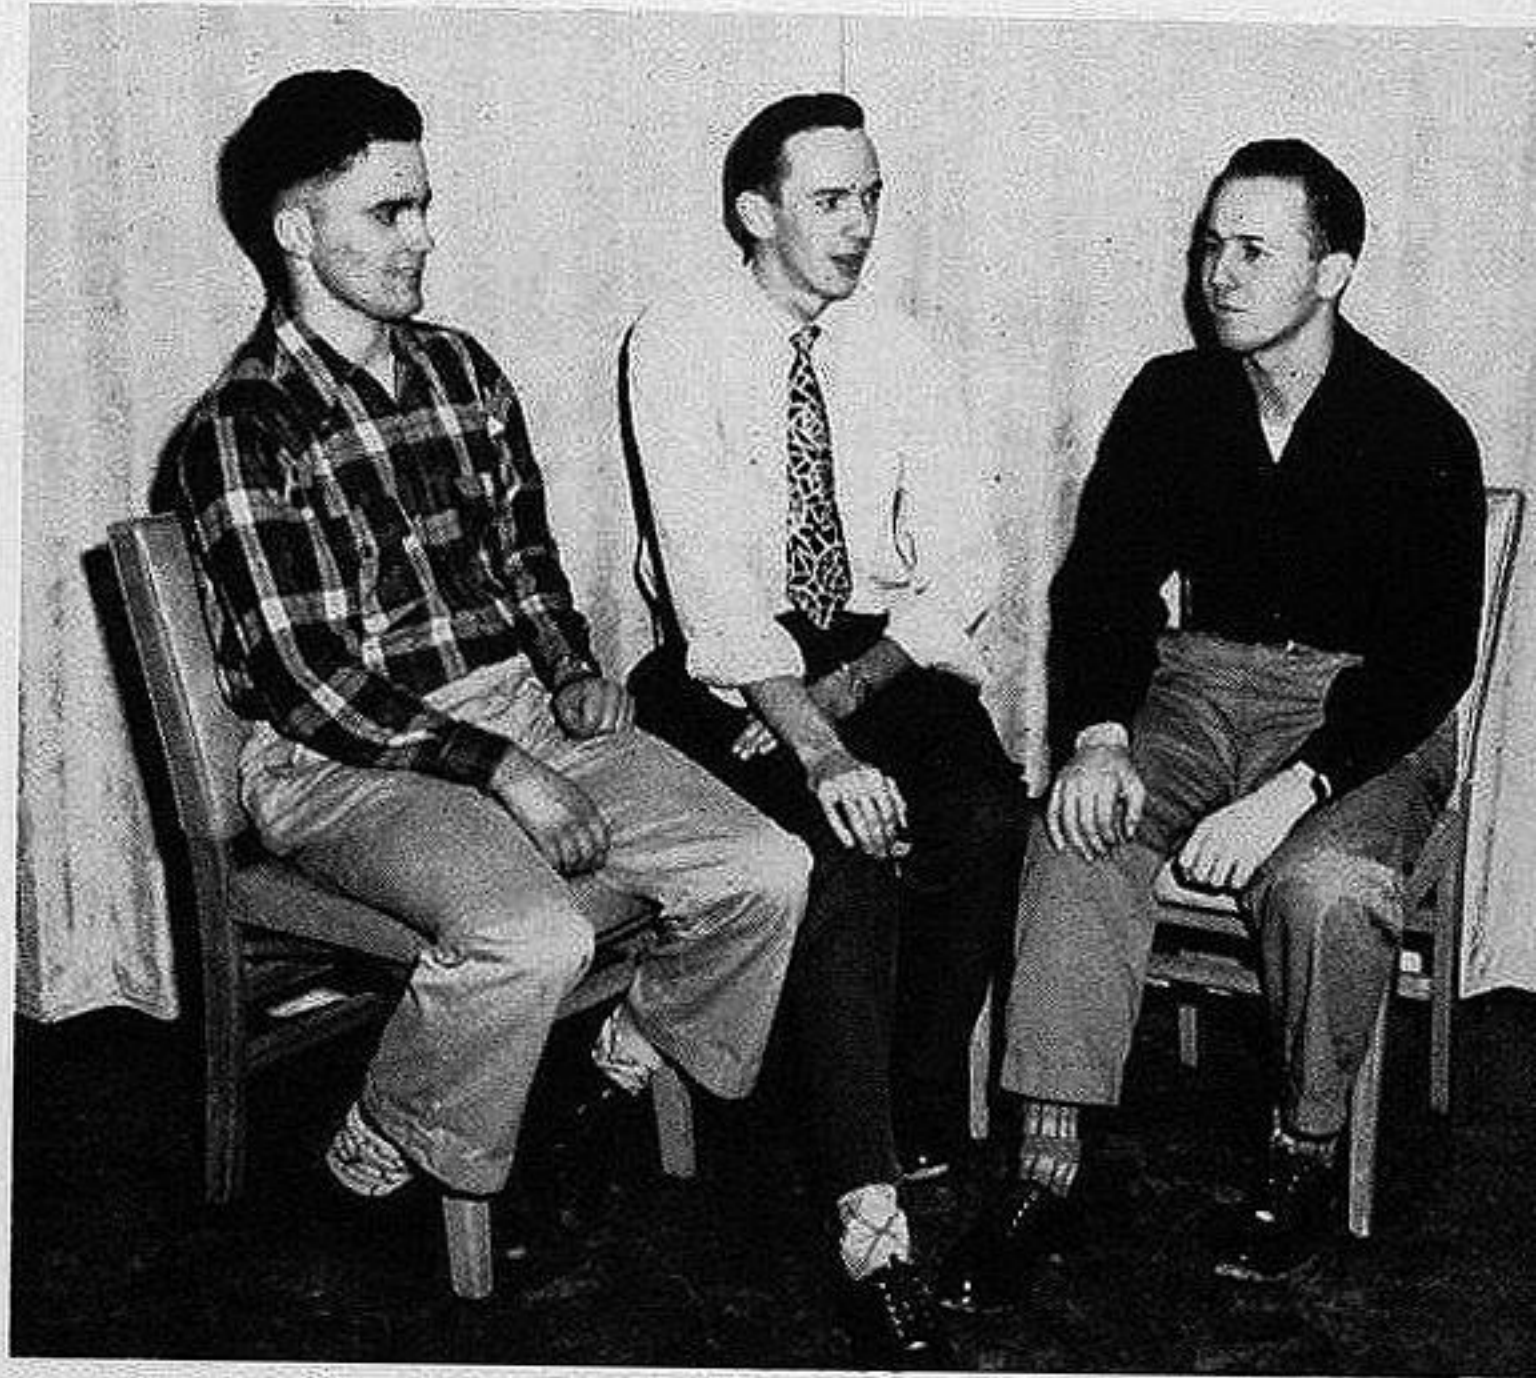

AMS COMMITTEES

JERRY HALL is the AMS delegate to the ASUW Program Panel.

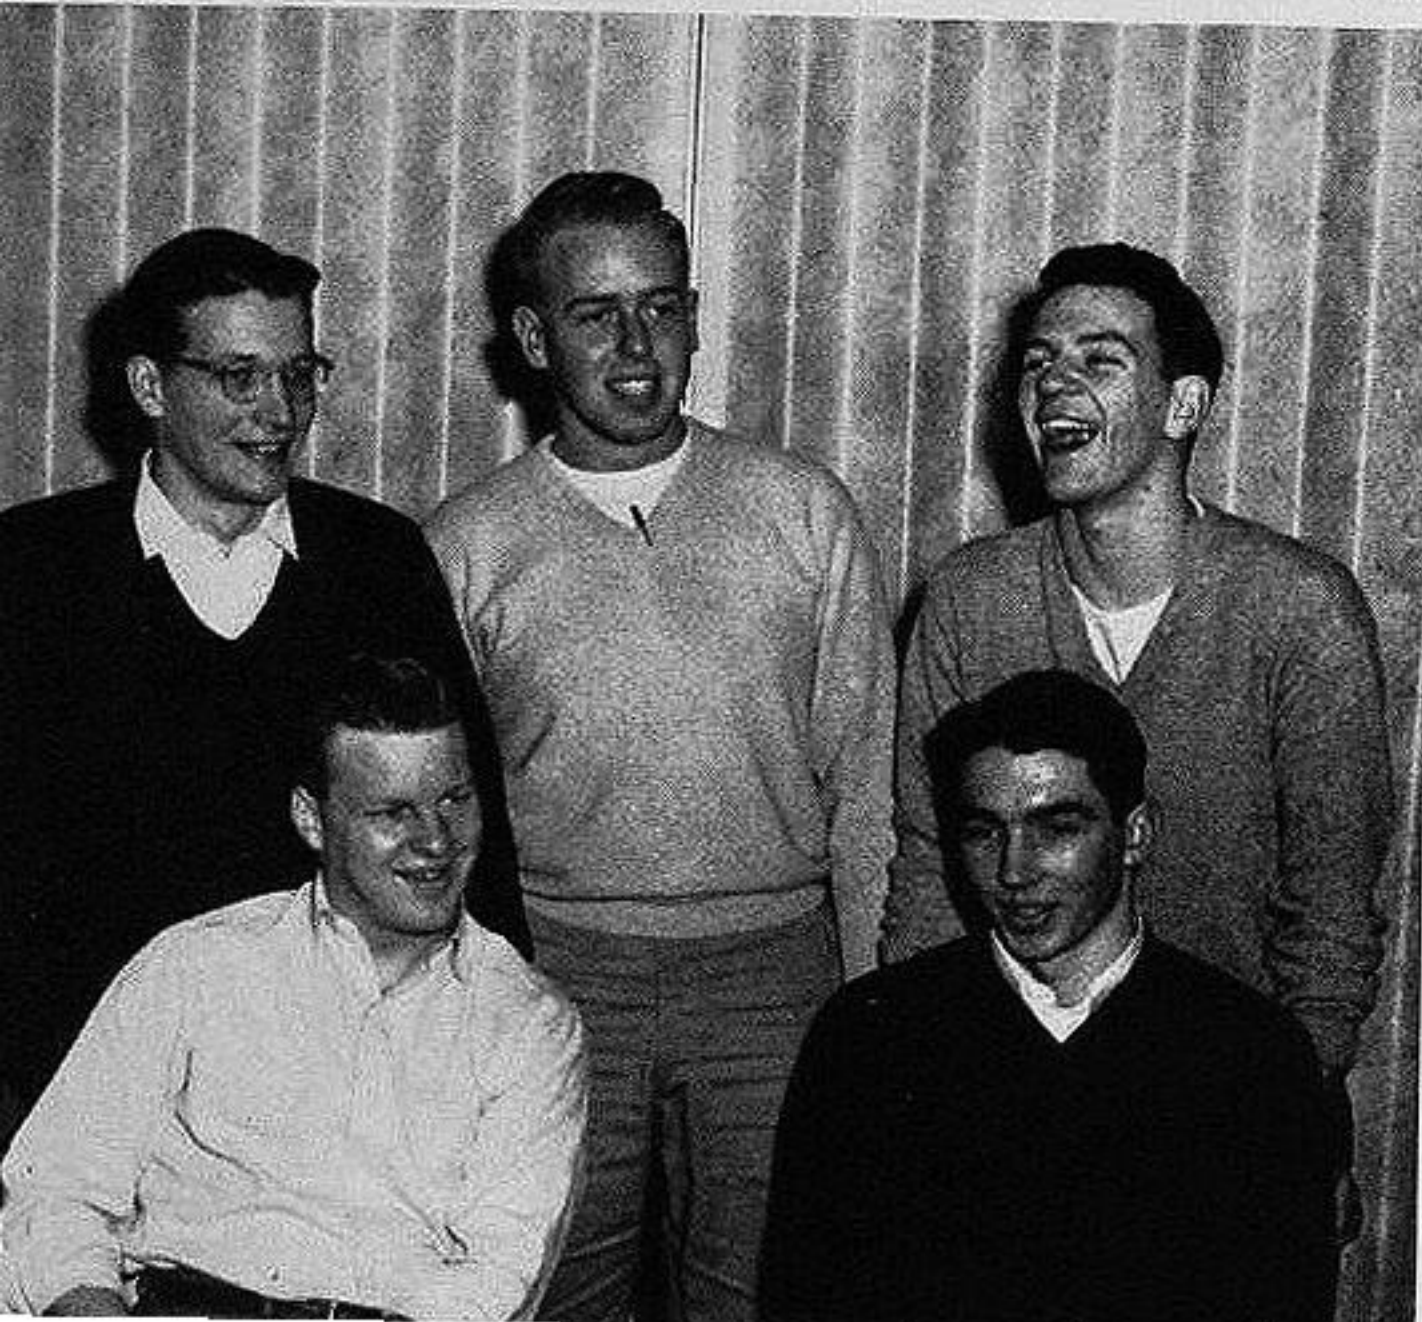

BOB LOUDEN represents the men on the AWS Standards Committee.

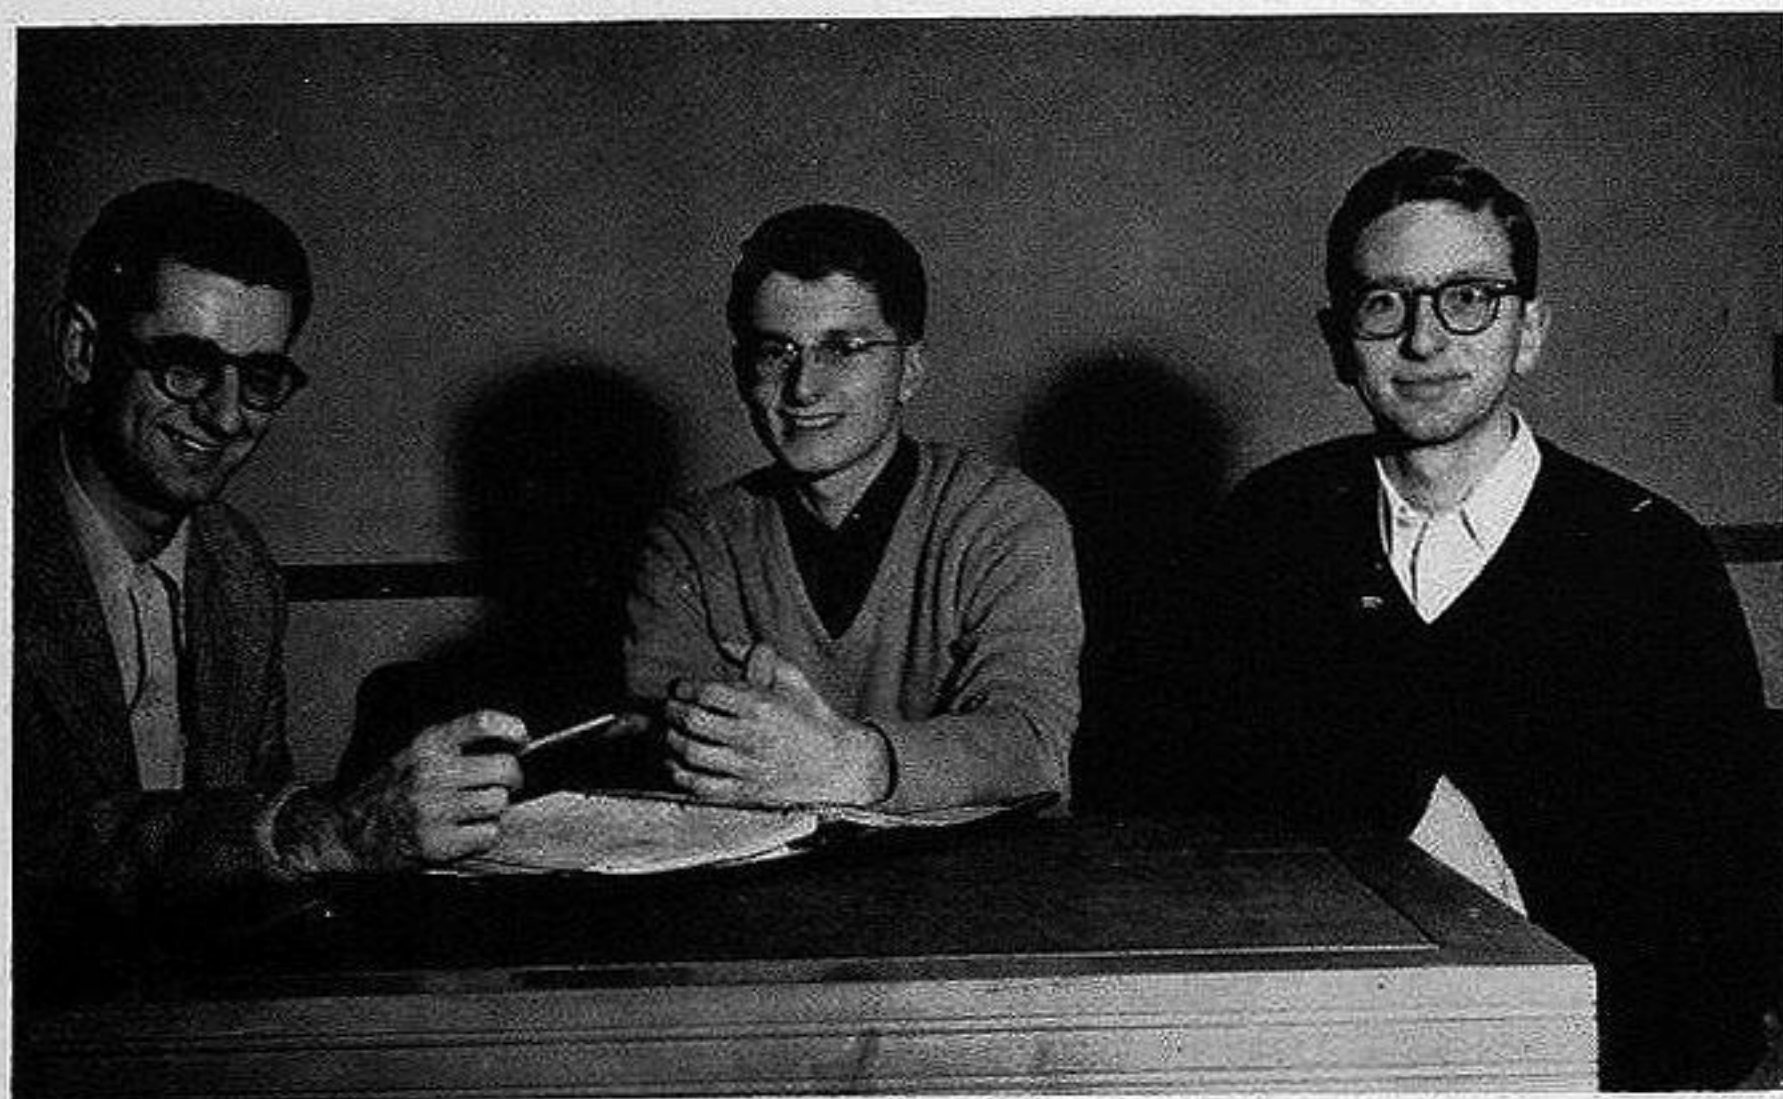

The intramural bowling league is organized by the AMS Bowling Committee. Members pictured are Harry Phillips, Bill Bates, Chairman, and Arden Riess. Not pictured: Howard Kellogg.

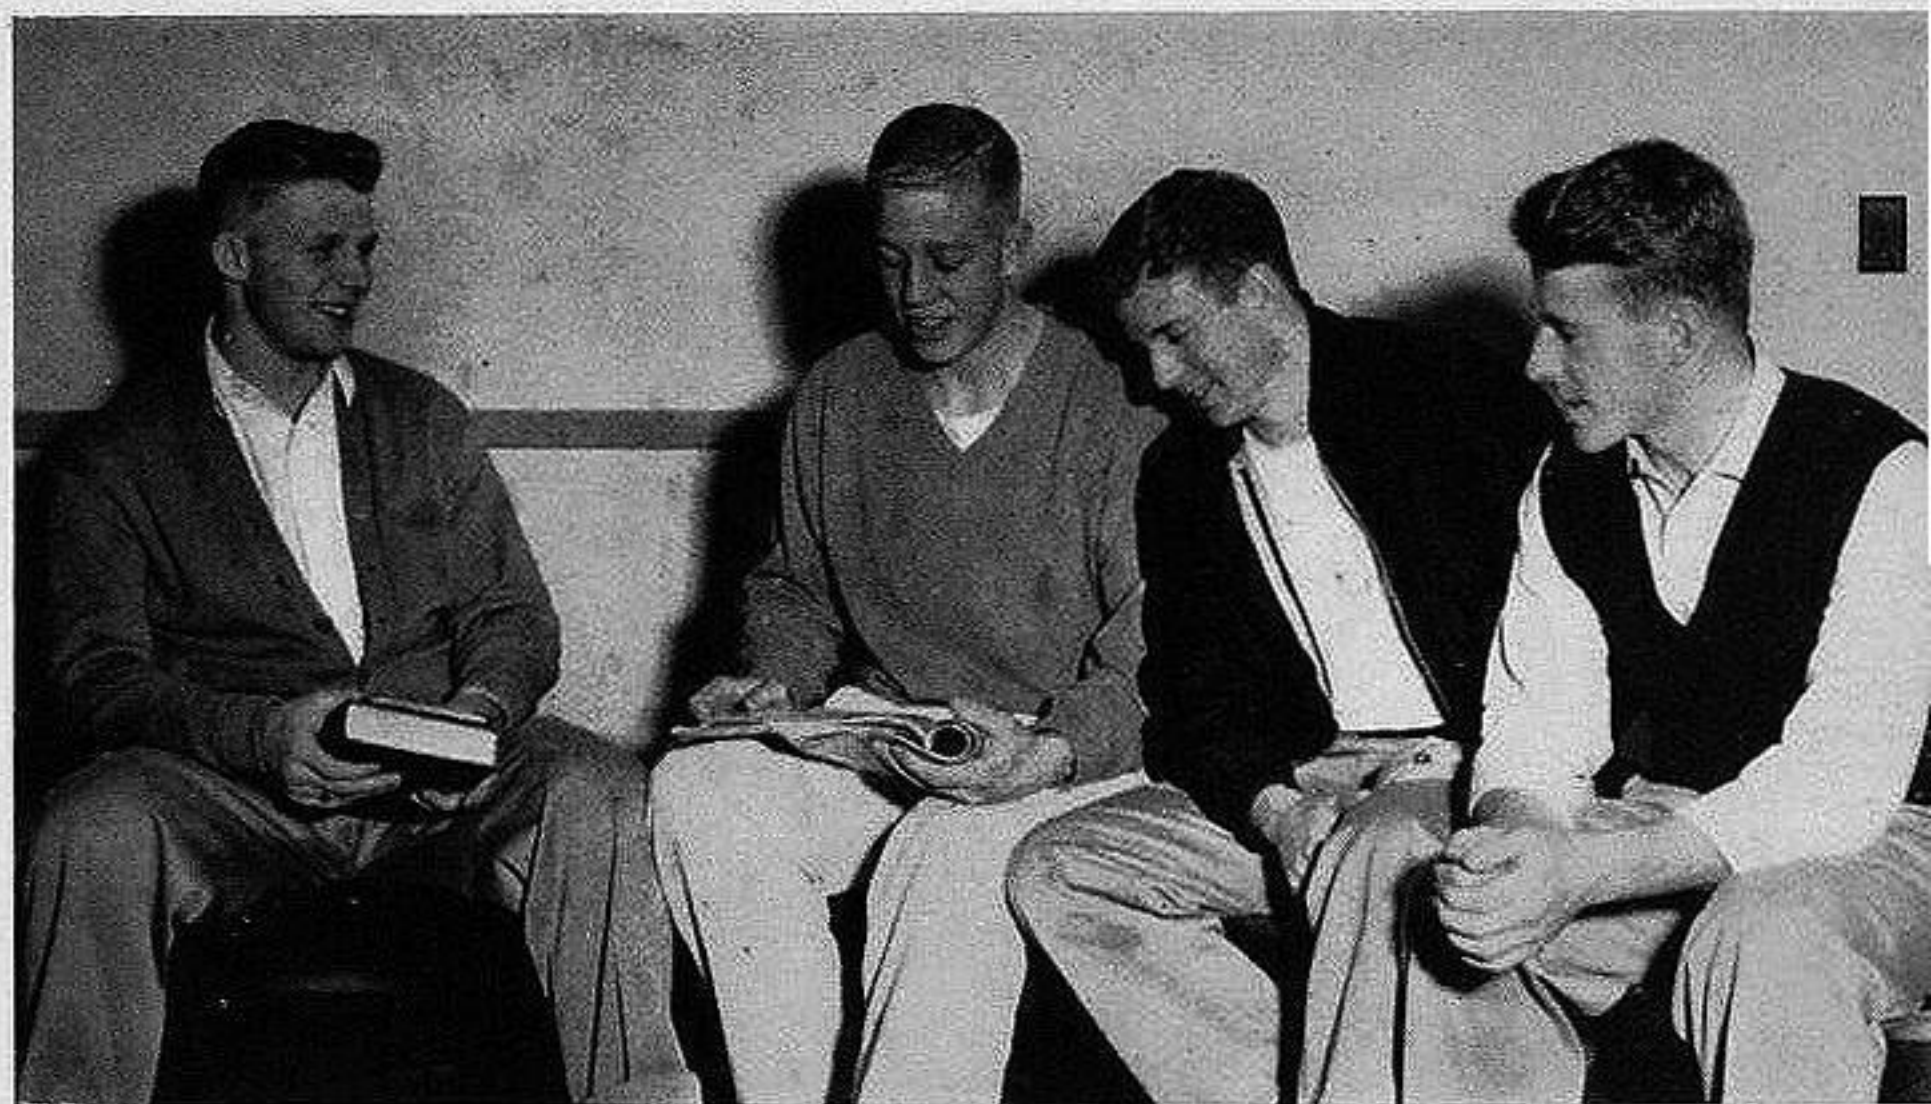

The Athletic Committee helps administer the intramural sports program and presents awards. In an informal discussion are Floyd McCracken, Chairman; Ken Wherry, Chuck Magnuson, and Joe Donoghue. Not pictured: Dick Thor and Jack Bartleson.

The Football Movies Committee provides for sports talks and assemblies. Seated are Cece Miller, Chairman; and Dick Bale. Standing are Don Billington, Tom Gowman, and Darrell Lee.

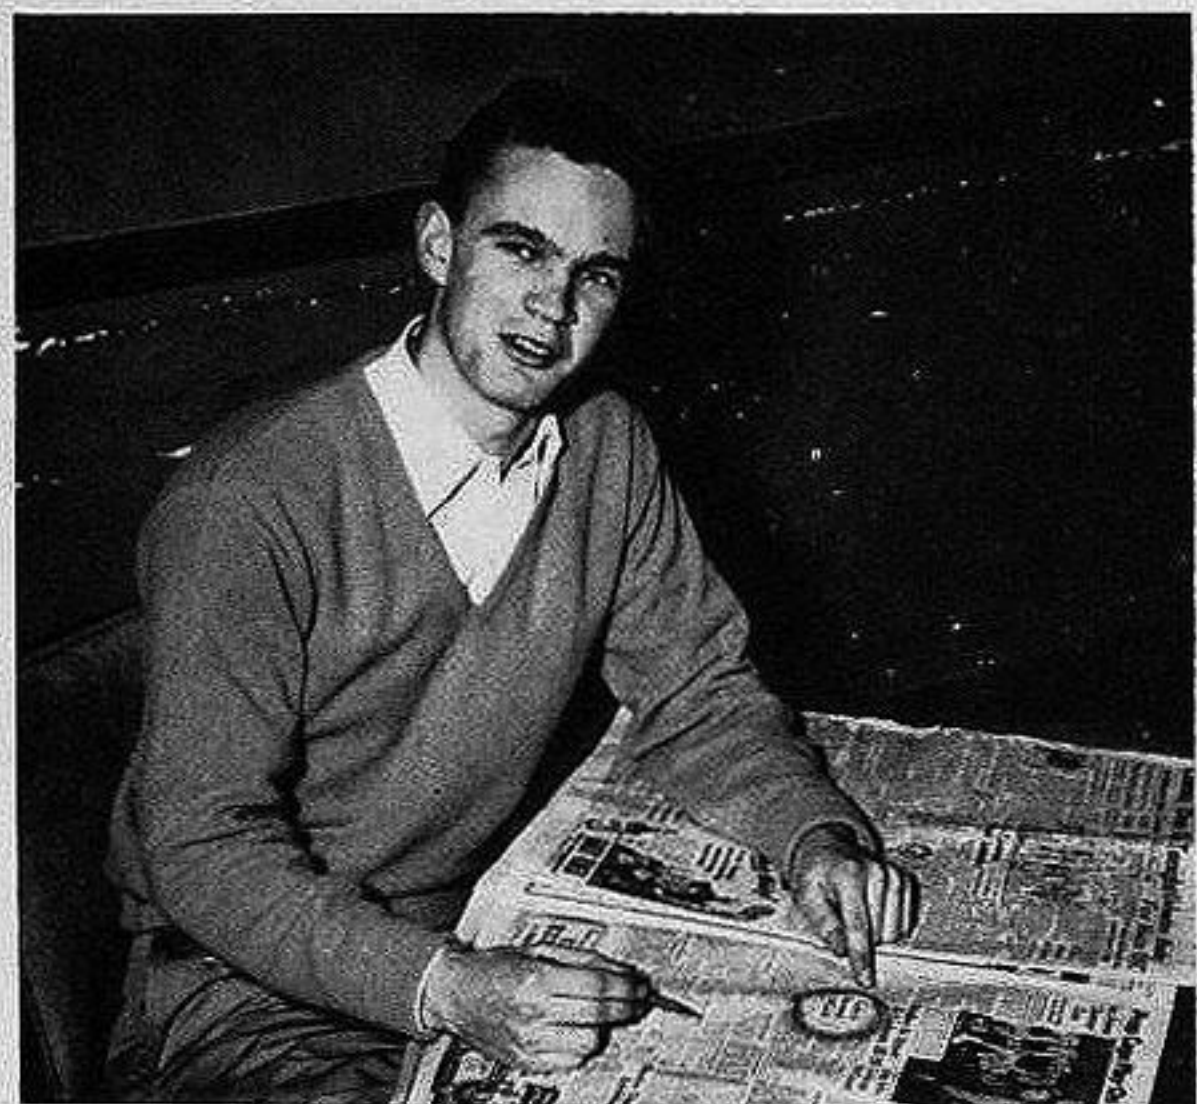

The Information Booklet Committee, new this year, published a booklet concerning AMS functions and activities. Marv Rowe, Brian Comstock, and Dick Simpkins edited the booklet.

The Fistfest Committee sponsors the annual all-University boxing tournament. Members are Holly Young, Carl Lovsted, chairman; Irv Shotwell, and Dick Boyce.

STUDENT LIFE INFORMALS

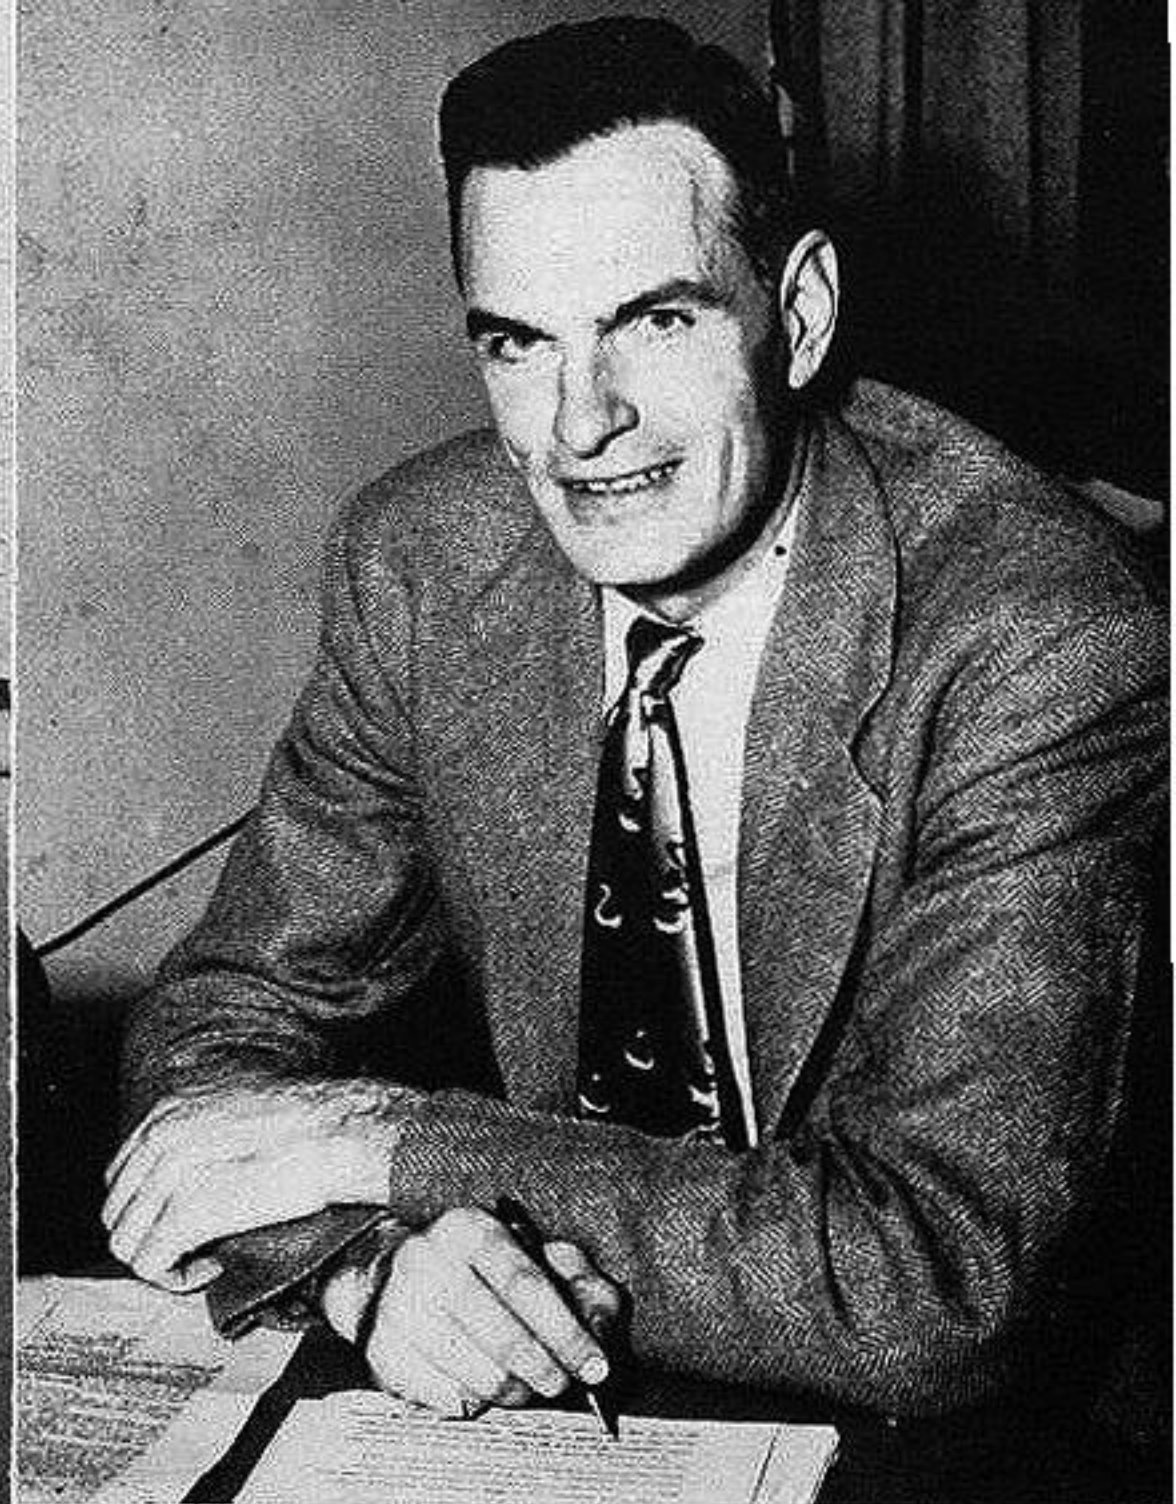

After winning the "Top Flight" Award for 1949-50 by selection of the three Daily staffs during the year, JOE SLATE took over the job of editor for the first half of 1950-51. On the side, Joe handled the campus news for the Times.

Chelan Hall seems to foster Daily editors, LEONARD SAARI, as well as Joe Slate, hailing from the Women's P.E. annex. Len was editor during the month of February.

Commuting nearly every day from Bremerton during the portion of his education at Washington, ERV JENSEN held the position of editor during spring quarter. Also serving on the Columns staff, Erv was the recipient of the Doble Scholarship in 1950.

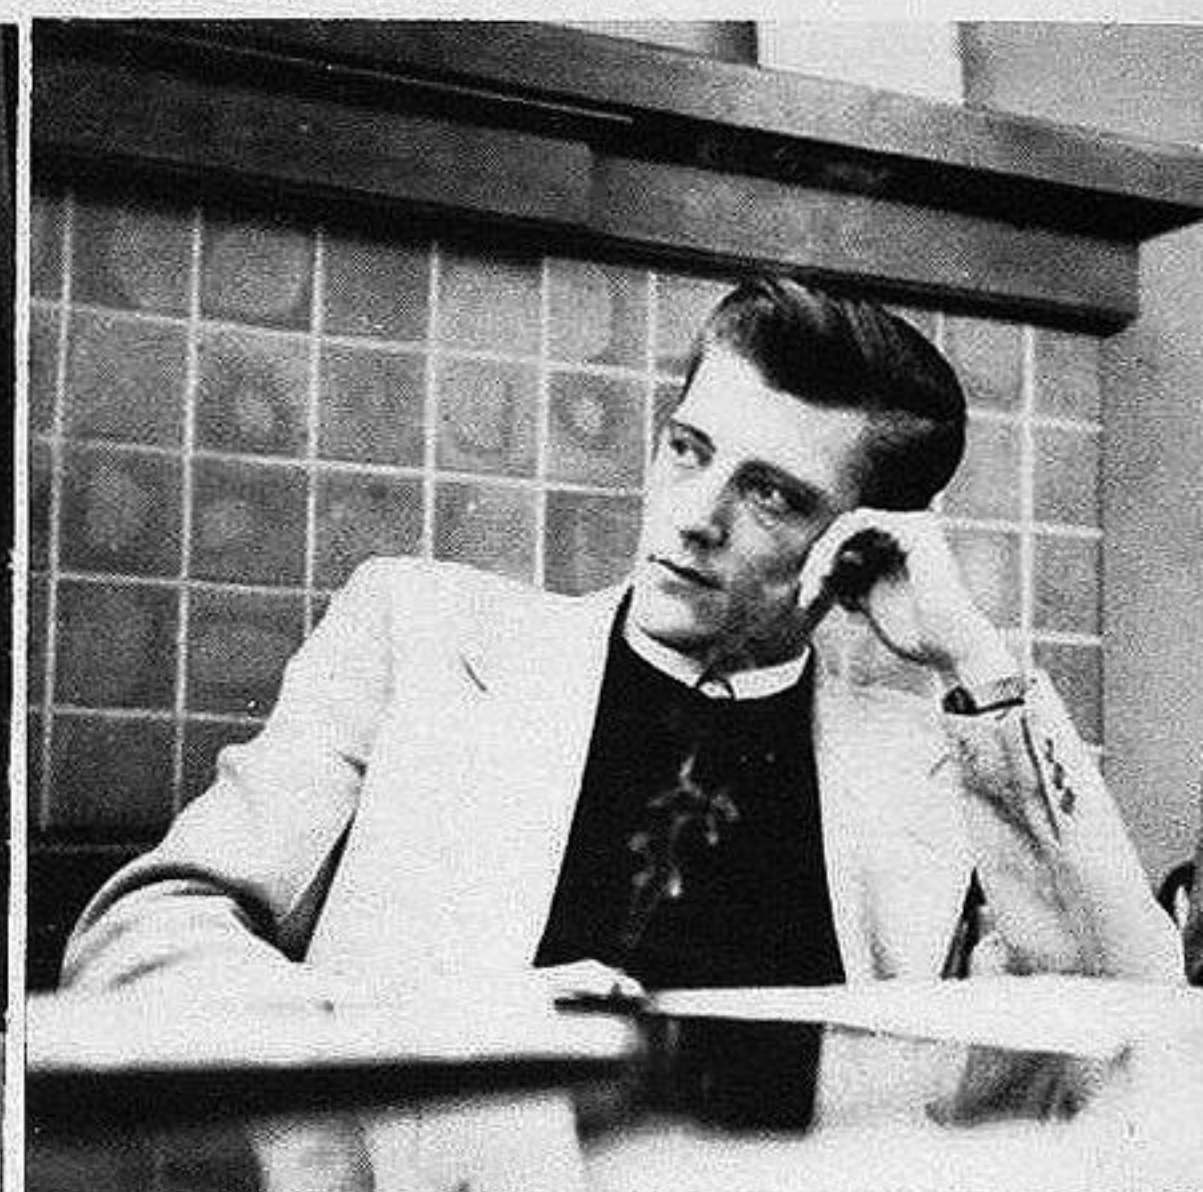

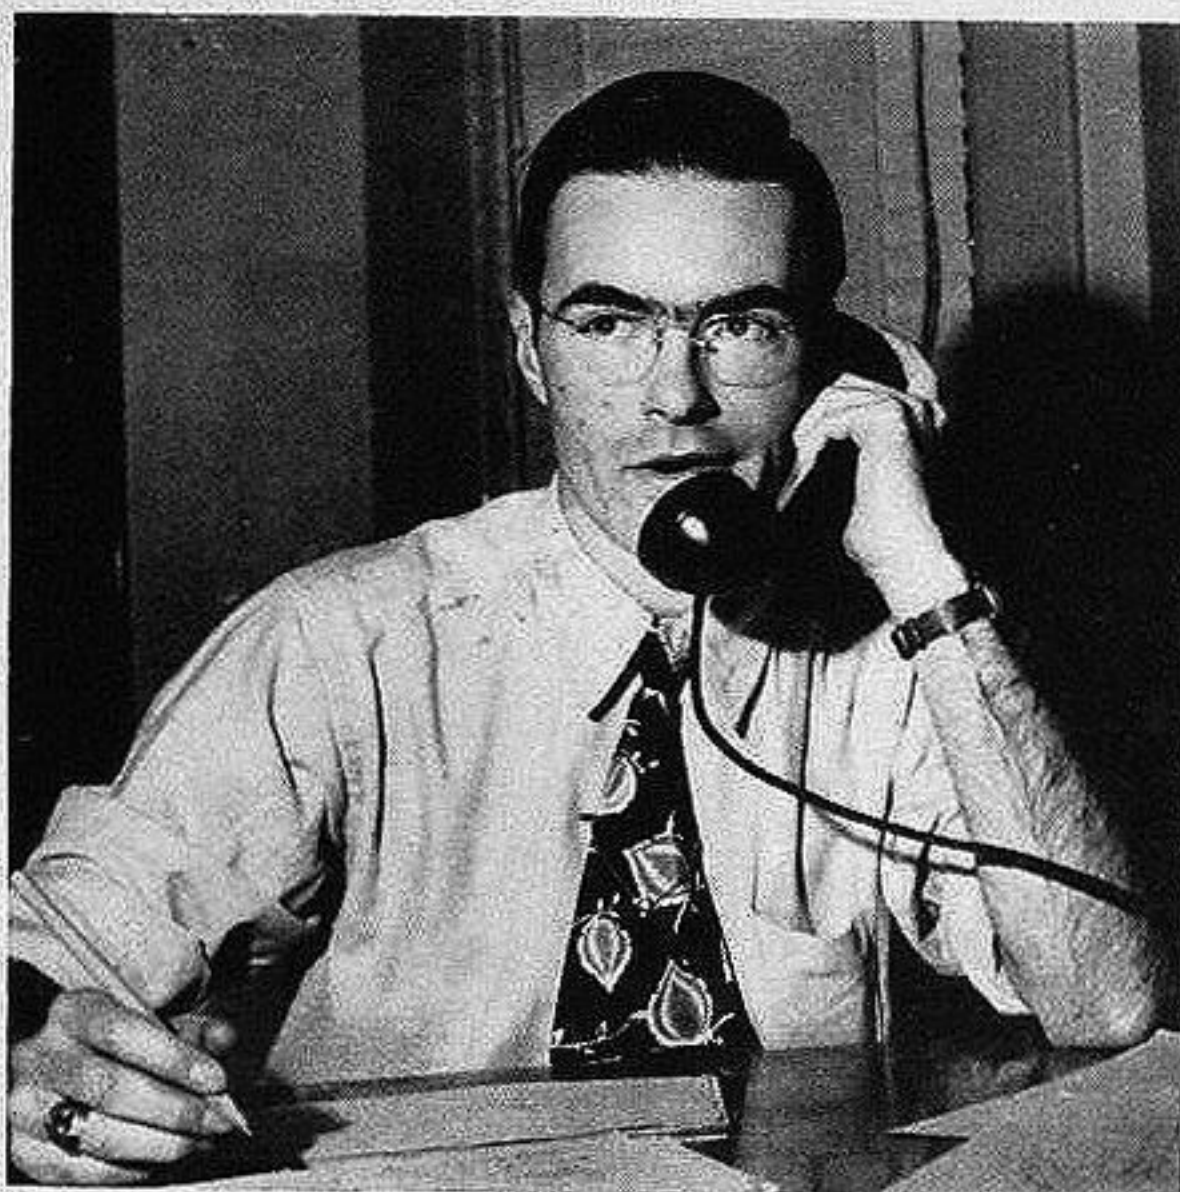

DAILY EDITORIAL

Professor GEORGE ASTEL has the distinction of being, not only an advisor, but a mayor. Chicago, Washington, claims his services. Once an editor of the Daily, Mr. "A" drives his Cadillac to Lewis Hall every day to give advice to present editors.

Noted for stirring up interest in draft evaders and Fijis, CLARK GREEN served as associate editor of the Daily for the first half of the year. Active during all four years, he wrote Radio News copy for the University Hour during 1950-51.

BILL MERRY, who took over as spring quarter associate editor, wrote the original script for the All-U Show. Among his major accomplishments, Bill kept his engagement to Mary Jane so secret that not more than ninety percent of the people in Lewis Hall knew about it.

Fall quarter sports writers Bill Knight, Bob Slingland and Gil Lyons gather for a sports jamboree on weekend football scores.

Four afternoons and evenings a week through rain, fog and exams, staffs of some 20 journalists gathered each quarter to produce the campus scoop-sheet, the Daily. Under the leadership of Joe "If The Shoe Fits" Slate, first term editor, and Irv Jensen, second term editor, policy of accurate news reporting and fair interpretation of campus issues was followed. With a drawer full of "letters to the editors," the editorial page throughout the year took a definite stand on all campus issues. The day-to-day business was carried on by two capable associate editors, Clark Green, first term, and Bill Merry, second term, with the aid of great quantities of copy paper and journalistic inspiration. Sometimes news was scarce and the going rough and sometimes there was too much copy and stories had to be cut. But with a corps of reporters and assistant editors who received basic experience for future news work, Editors Slate and Jensen directed hot tips and beat assignments for the paper "unequaled in campus coverage" by other college dailies. One hand on the telephone and other writing headlines, Professor George B. Astel, Mr. "A," directed the activities of the staffs in the Lewis Hall Daily news room. And yet the reporters who met the demands for "more copy" and worked hard on lay-outs and handout assignments, always had time for fun.

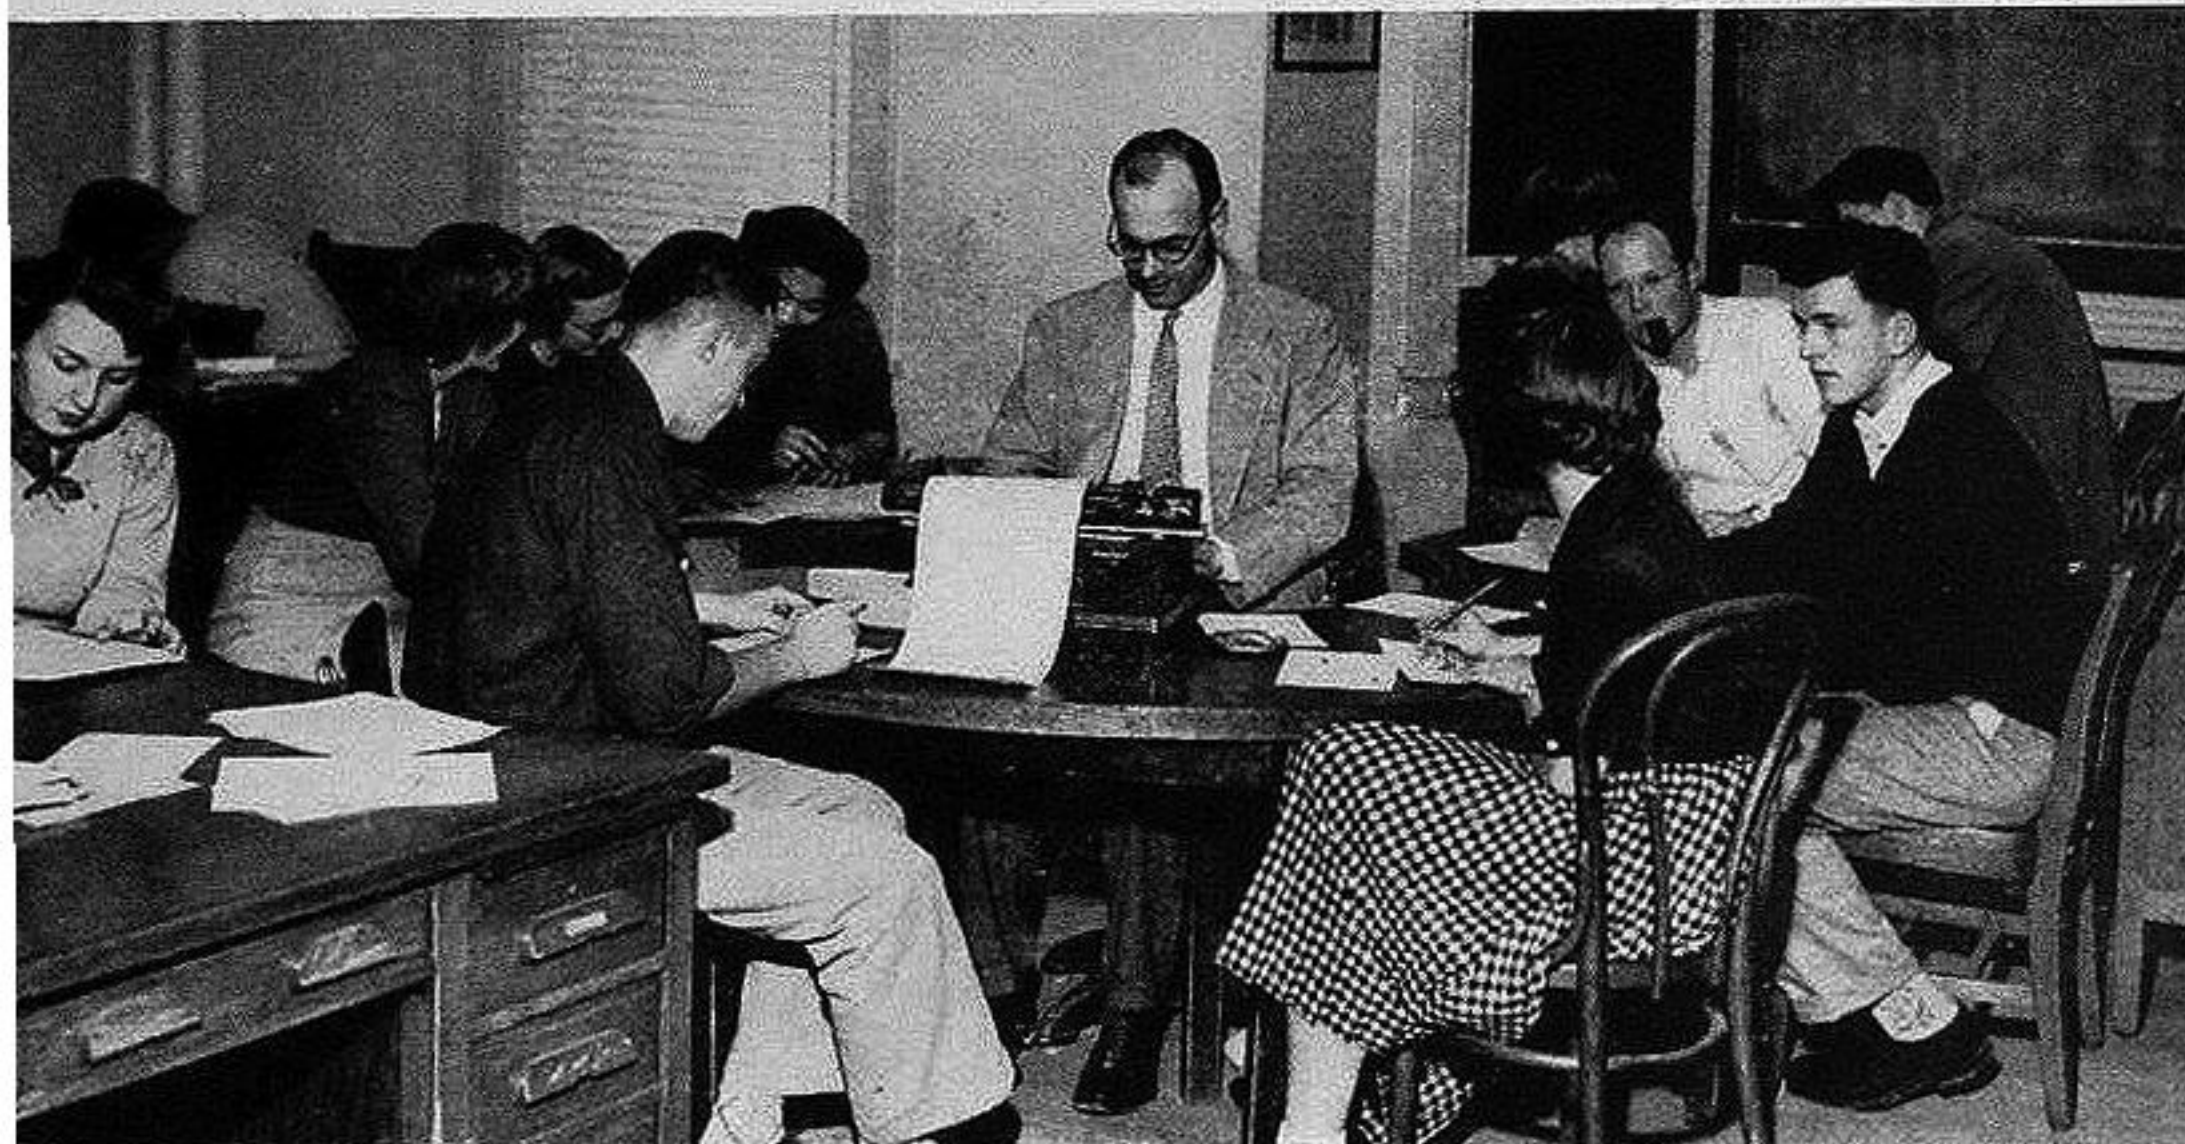

Derwyn Christensen is caught in one of his more serious moments as he hustles to meet the sports section deadline.

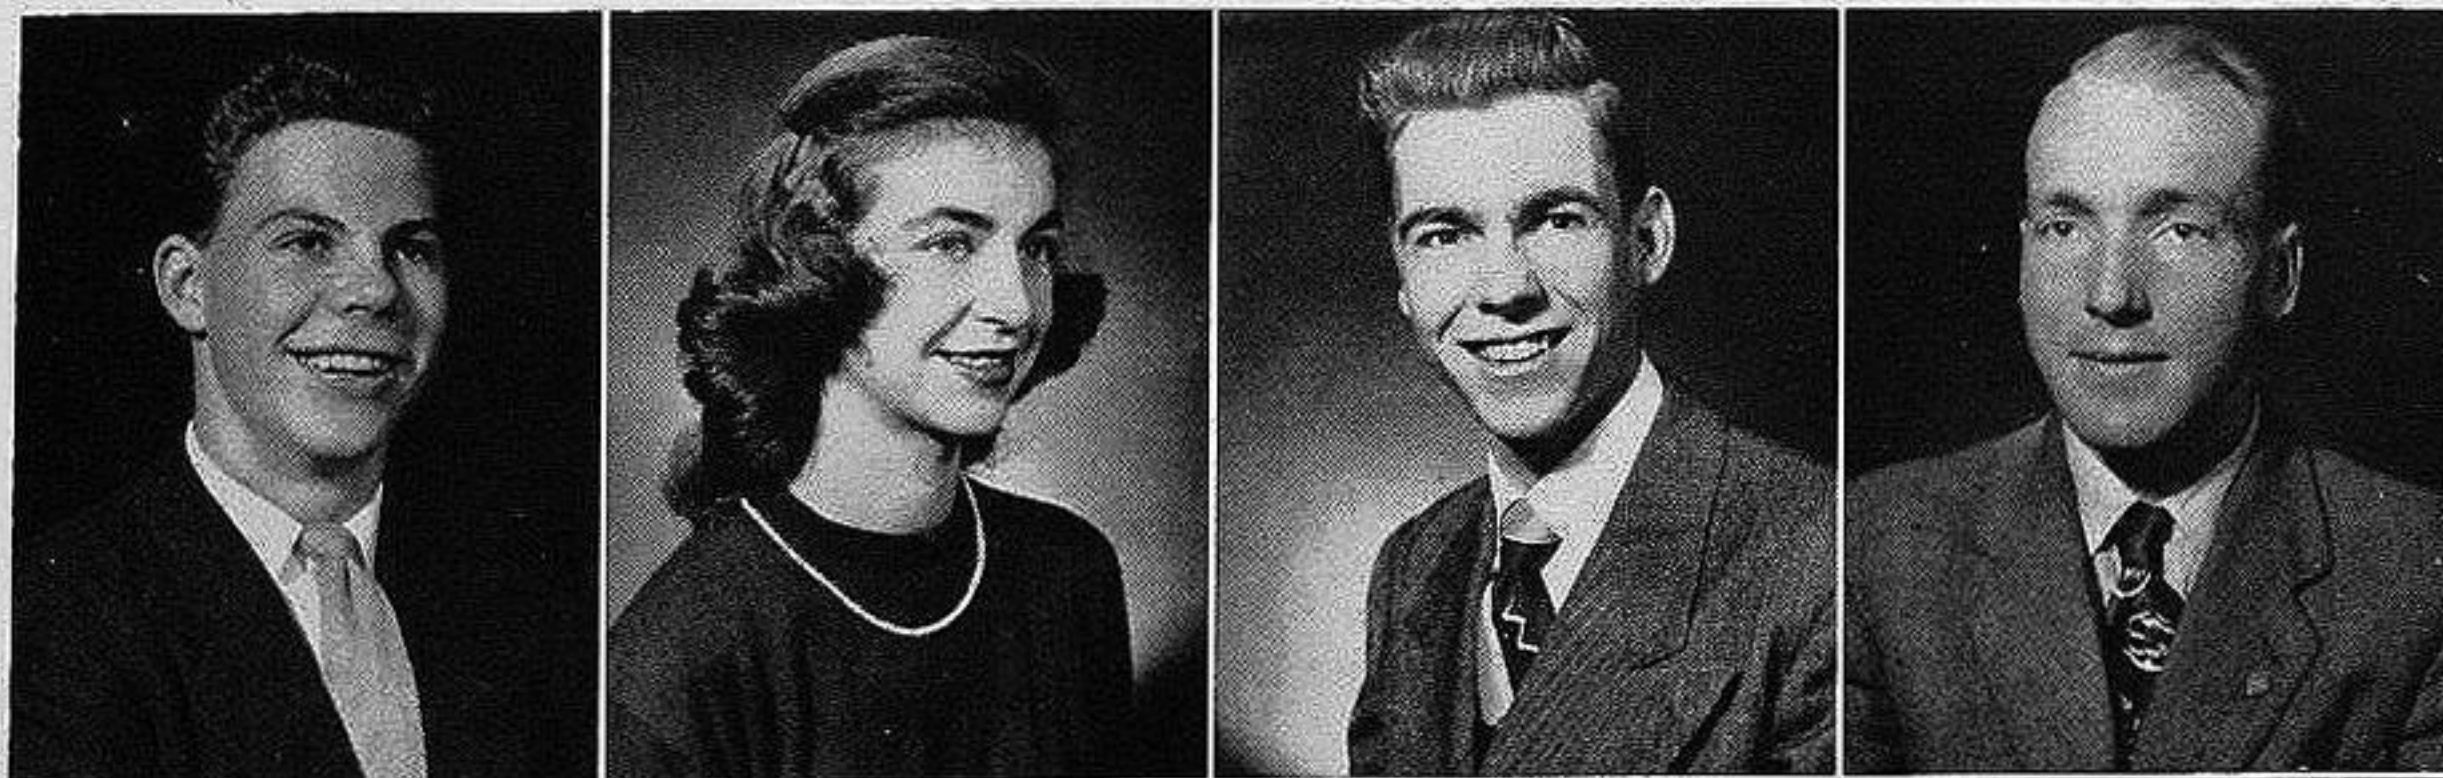

Jeanine Laakso and George Lowe examine INS communiques of late national copy for tomorrow's DAILY.

Before the 5:30 deadline, reporters gather around the copydesk to write heads, ever fearful lest they place a preposition at the end of a line.

DAILY EDITORIAL STAFF

Several of these hard working Daily reporters lasted longer than any of its editors. In fact, some had the experience of working under three editors. Each student in junior journalism must work one quarter on the active staff. Their daily Daily grind is not one to be envied. There is one good thing about being a "j.i." At the end of each quarter, with finals over early, they celebrate at a big blast. For some reason this private affair is never held in the same place twice. They have a famous slogan . . . "Get it straight, keep it short, keep it clean." This is the truth?

H. Westbrook Peterson, trading positions with Keith half-way through the year, acted as Business Manager the first half and Advertising Manager the second half. Besides holding down these two big jobs, Wes is the treasurer of Sigma Delta Chi and a member of Alpha Delta Sigma. He plans to continue in newspaper advertising when he graduates this year.

GRETCHEN BARAGAR, business manager winter quarter, spent a good deal of her time calling for "more ad copy" from her Columns advertising staff. And, with her vivacious personality and endless energies, she got it. Between deadlines she managed to squeeze in activities of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, Pi Alpha Sigma, women's advertising honorary, and Tau Beta Sigma, music honorary.

Accepting the position of Columns business manager spring quarter as a "challenge" red-headed BOB MCCAIN rearranged his usual spring afternoon schedule and spent most of his time getting ads. Not to be thought of as a "one-activity man," Bob is also a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising honorary, Scabbard and Blade, and the Junior Advertising Sales Club of Seattle.

COLUMNS BUSINESS

Circulation manager, BECKY NELSON, helped to put Columns sales way up there in 1950-51 through such interest-builders as treating sorority pledges to coffee and a pep talk by campus wheels the day before they were to sell. The first two quarters claimed Becky for this job.

Filling a new position this year on the Columns staff was RUTH TRUSCOTT, winter and spring quarters promotion editor. Ruth handled the publicity for the magazine and took care to see that posters announcing sales were up each month. In addition she sold ads between editions.

Spring quarter found DELORES BRAINARD occupying the circulation manager's desk. After learning the ropes winter quarter, Delores stepped into the job which included the distribution on campus and the Ave. and mailing the magazine.

COLUMNS

GEOFF RELF, Art Editor

BOB BENSON, Associate Editor

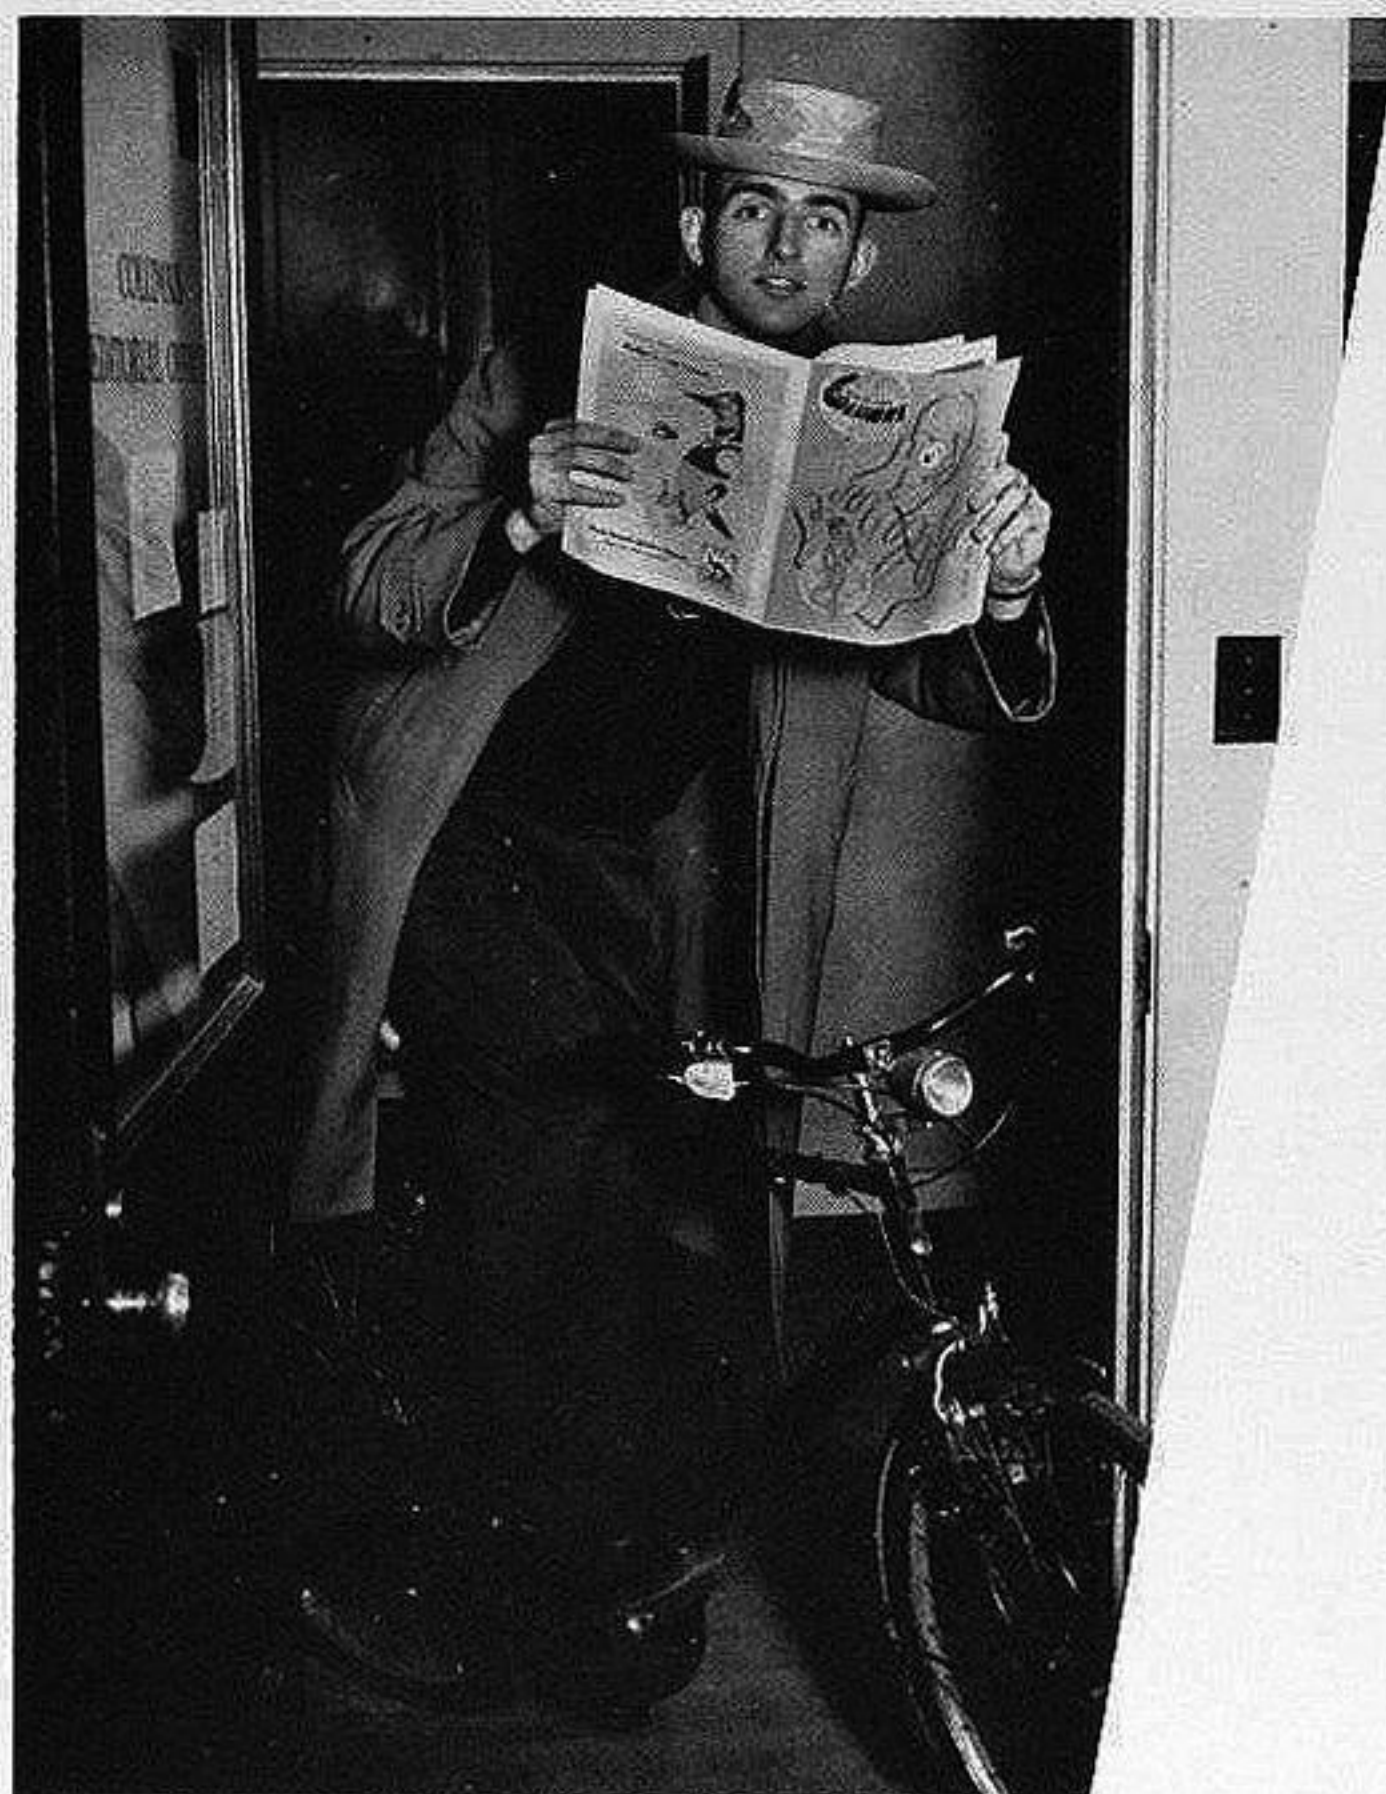

Demure, young female devil Sinthia Lewis (Sinnie) crawled from out a COLUMNS ink bottle early last fall and immediately took charge as mascot, office girl, cigarette lighter (i.e. lighter of cigarettes) and general inspiration to the COLUMNS staff. Since that time the devilish miss has supervised nine big issues of COLUMNS, highlighted by the ski issue, "Tyme" parody, "love, sex and passion" number, and the May souvenir magazine. Sinnie's impulsive extra-curricular activities resulted in an investigation by the board of control, rejection of her candidacy for Homecoming Queen, and a threatened libel suit from an Eastern college humor magazine.

Although this year's COLUMNS was essentially a one-woman activity, minor editorial positions were held by Editor Bob Quickstad, Associate Editor Bob Benson, Art Editor Geoff Relf, and Promotion Editor Ruth Truscott.

The business staff was headed by Gordon Wood until January when Gretchen Baragar moved in as business manager. Bob McCain took over the books in March. Becky Nelson was circulation manager.

BOB QUICKSTAD, Editor

COLUMNS art staff: Bud Erickson, Ryck Eisen, Don McKeehan, Ray Jensen, Ed Schaffnit, Carolyn Hickox (creator of Sinnie), and Bill Gallacci.

Energetic Kay Bradshaw did much of the tiresome paper work involved in producing COLUMNS. Letters, letters, letters—she wrote to everyone about a myriad of things. The June exchange issue was under her guiding hand.

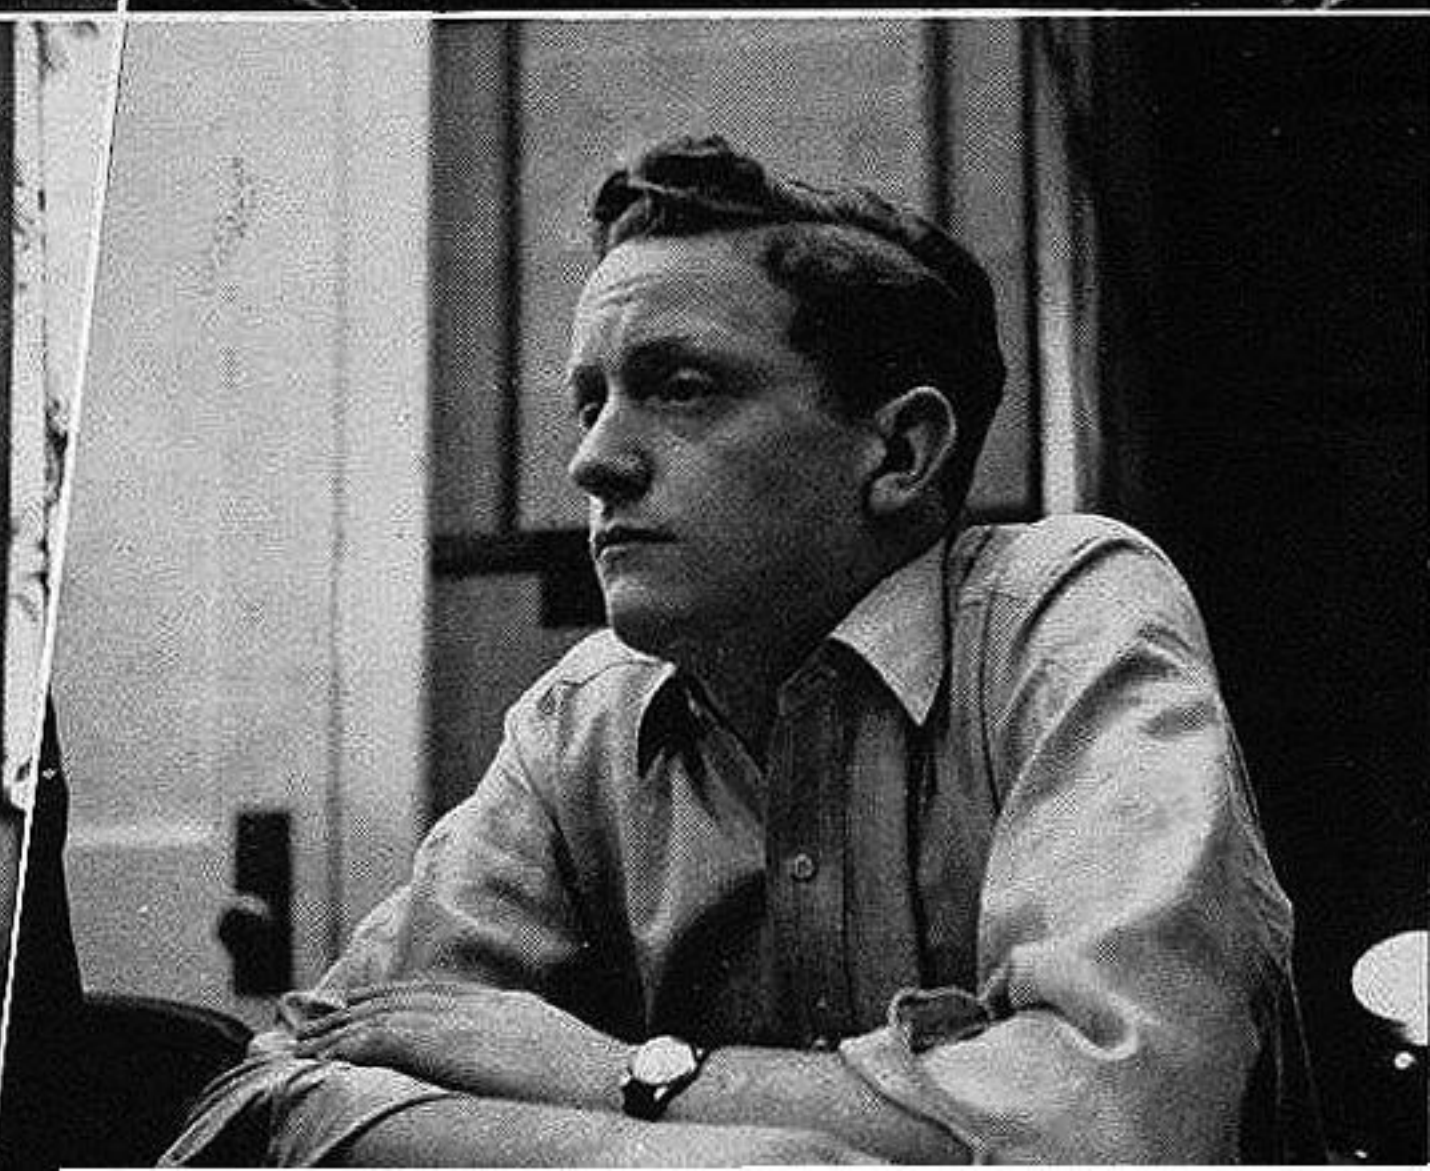

Radio major Marlene Miller applied her script-writing talents to producing Dorothy Parker style stories with a feminine angle for the COLUMNS pages. Always there with an original idea, Marlene pushed through the perfumed April issue.

Laugh-a-minute Bill Merry satirized everything and everybody in the pages of COLUMNS. Wacky Washington was his regular monthly masterpiece and he pounded out much copy in the Tyme parody issue.

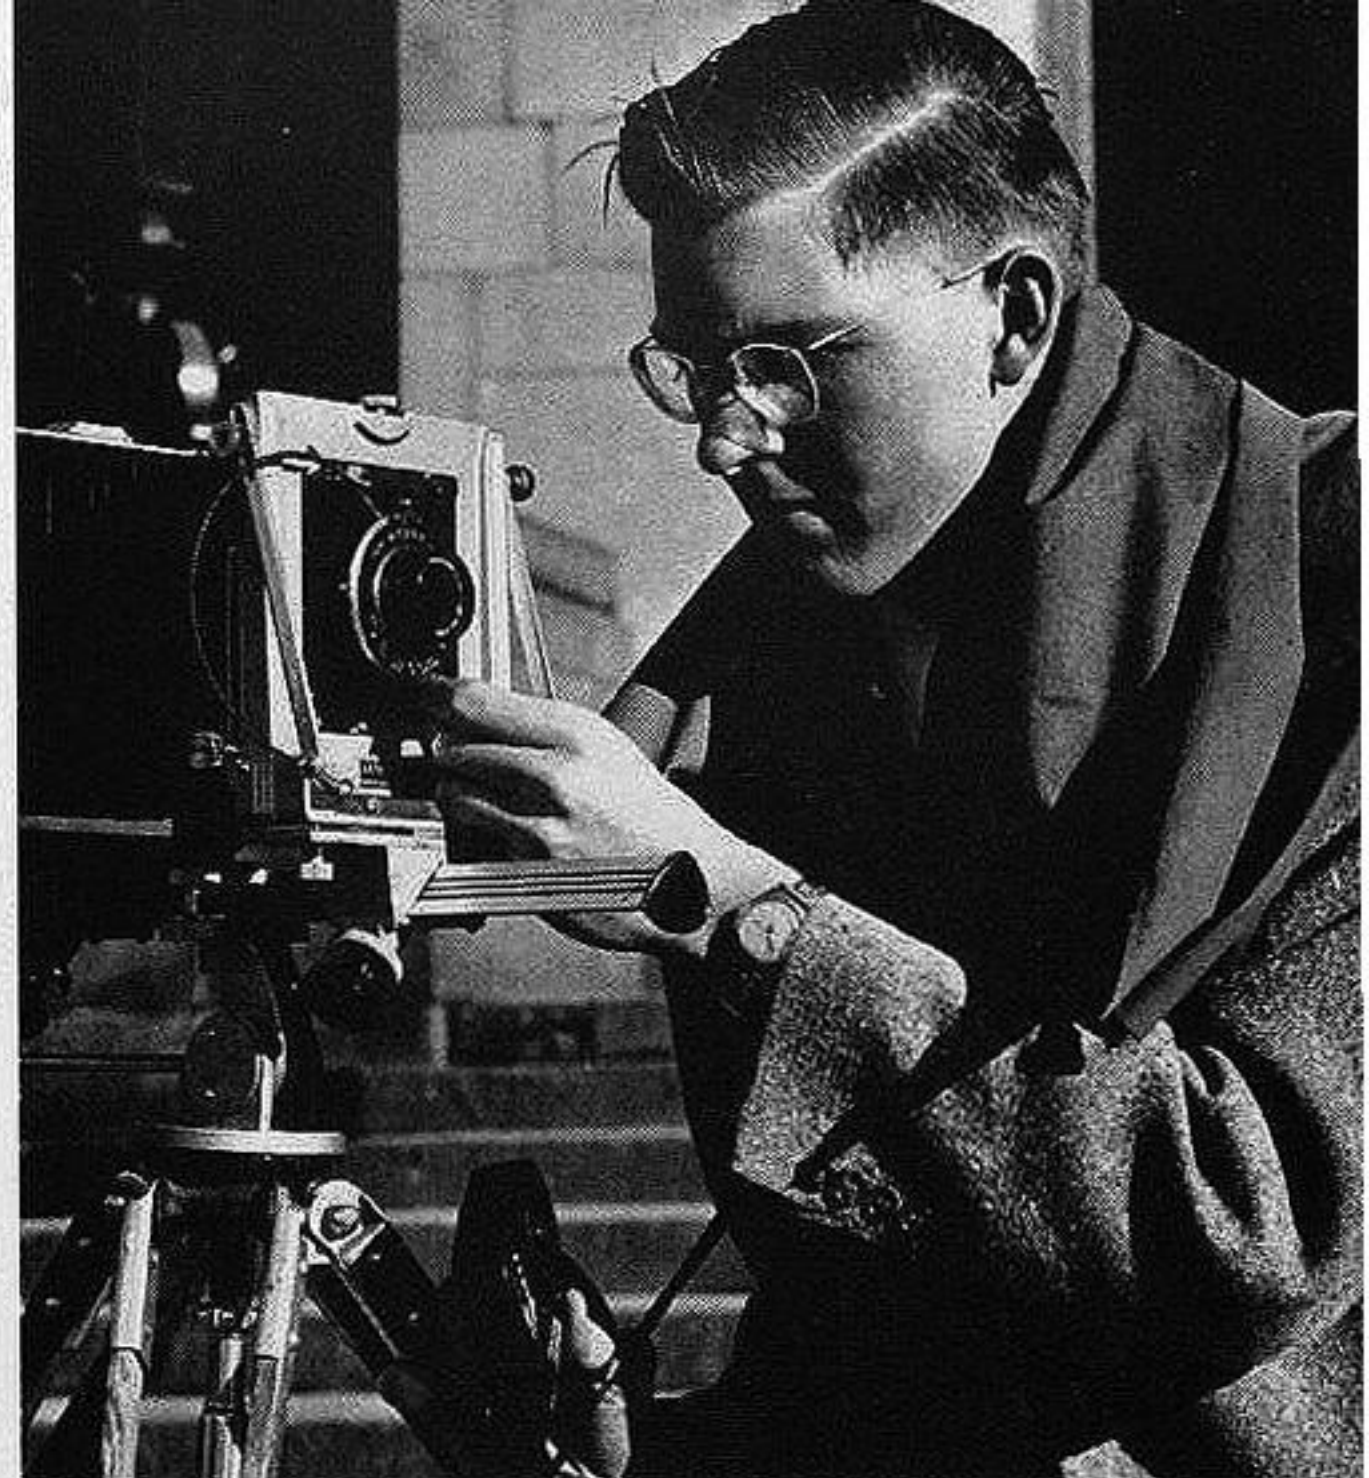

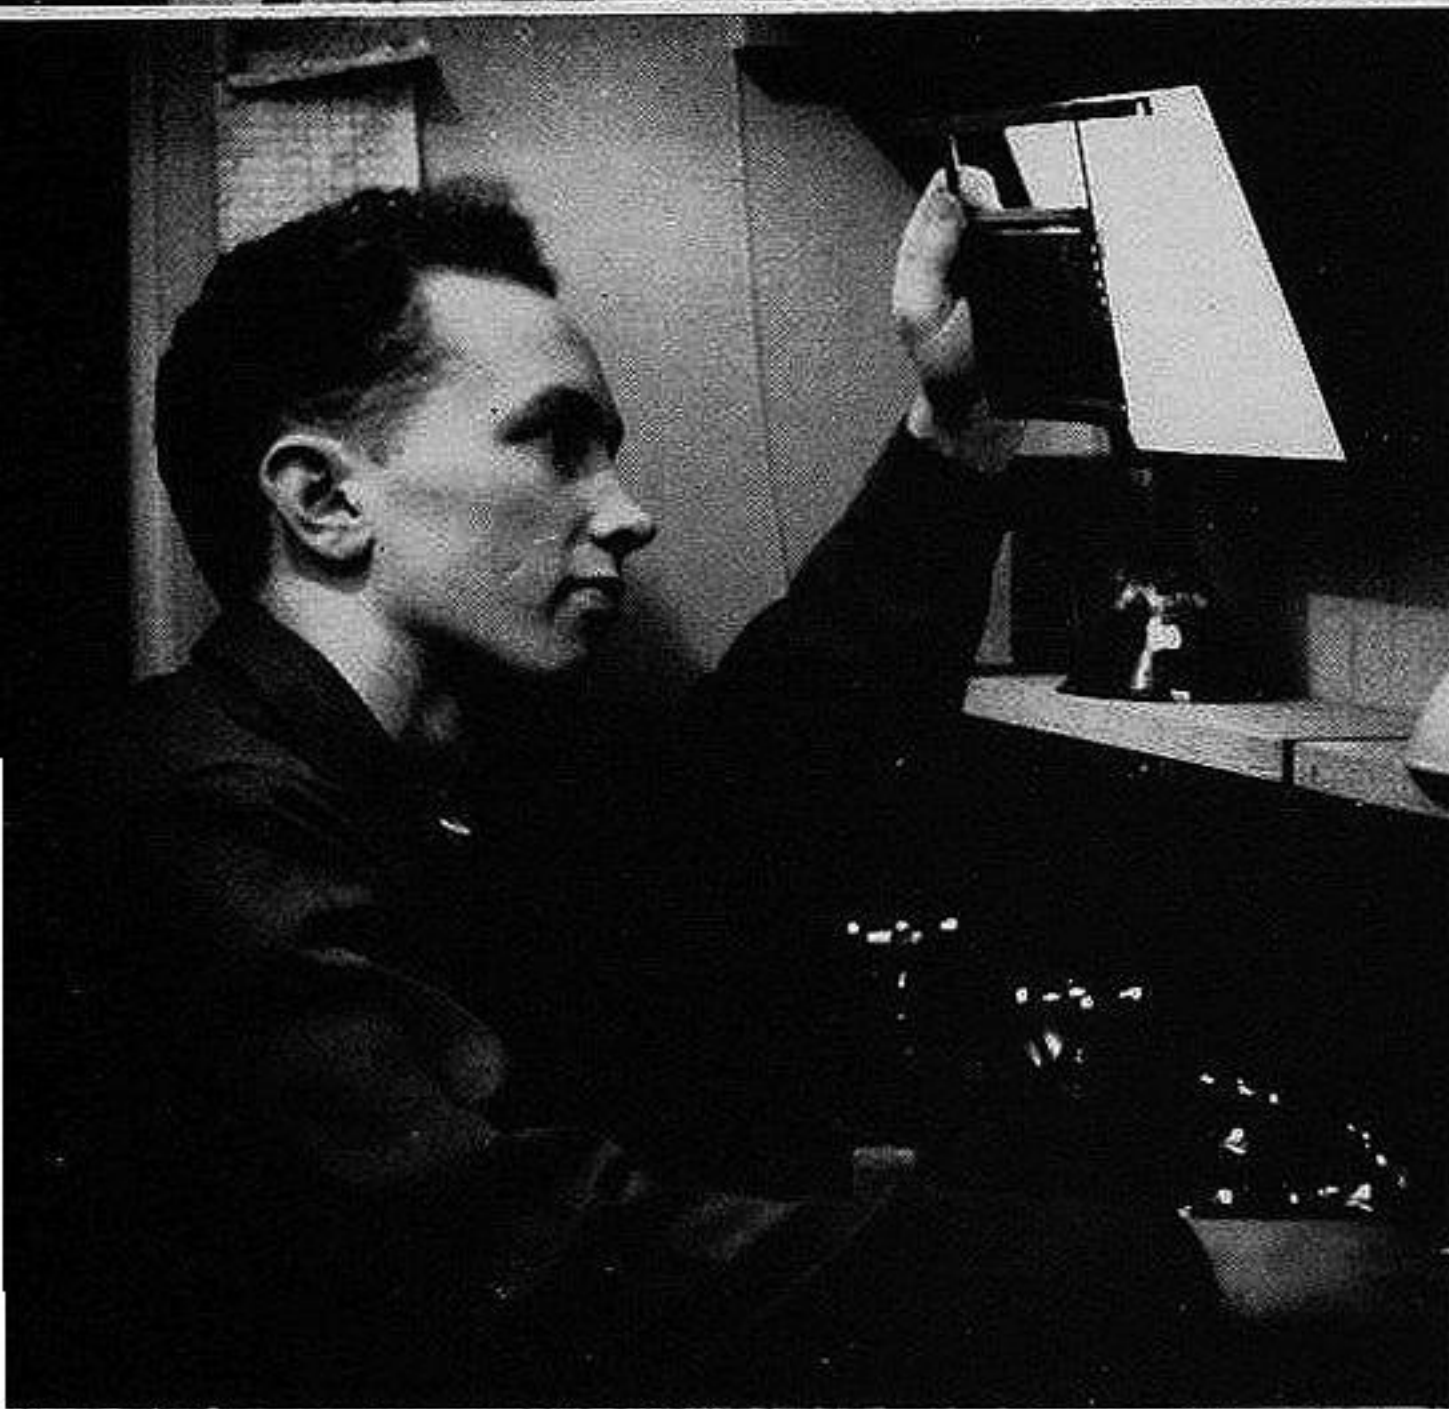

Hard working Nancy Jo Thomas was another of the COLUMNS writers who doubled in research. Fashion was her specialty as was the many-paged May souvenir issue which was produced under her supervision.

Perfectionist Erv Jensen was one of the few writers who turned out copy that needed little editing. Erv was an expert at subtle satire and rocked the world with his February "sex and passion" issue.

Red-haired Gordon Wood attended to the duties of Business Manager until mid-year when he ambled off to Portland to prepare for the Air Force. Gordon was succeeded by Gretchen Barager and Bob McCain.

ASUW PHOTOGRAPHERS

SID DEAN, student manager of the lab and staff for publications work, found time to take a few pictures between long hours coordinating assignments and making sure the work was done. All three publications have this German-speaking, amiable camera-man to thank for their success this year.

Almost exclusively the COLUMNS' photographer, BILL COLLINGS, did both photography and writing for this publication in order to get experience in Pictorial Journalism, his field. The TYME issue was, photographically, his.

In his first year on the staff, CARROLL GILBERTSON got stuck with more dark-room work than anything else. He can lay claim to several DAILY and TYEE shots, however.

JESS TERRY takes time out from his usual occupation of picturing the players and productions of the Drama Department to indulge in his favorite hobby of photographing daisies. Jess, a senior in drama, worked mostly on the shooting and editing of that section for the TYEE.

Showing magnetic "camera appeal" characteristic of all photographers, BRUCE McASSE spent quite a bit of his time out hunting for picture possibilities.

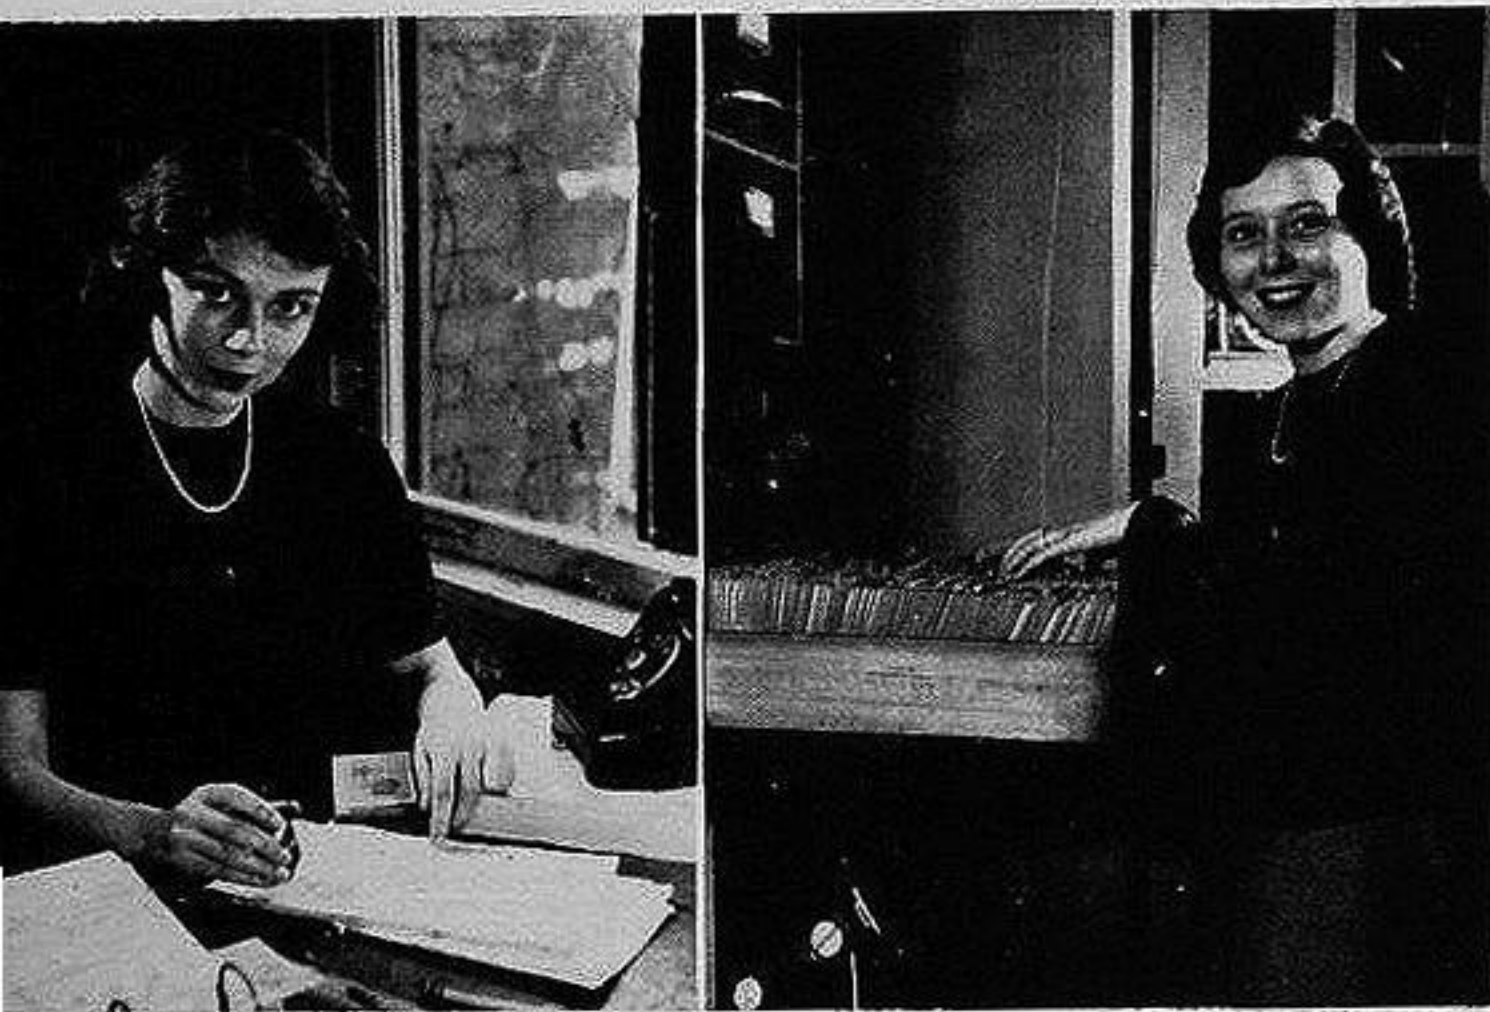

The Publications Photo Staff, from its headquarters on the third floor of Lewis Hall—any year now expecting to be moved to the second floor of the new Journalism building—ranges to all the far corners of the campus, picturing all phases of campus life. Every type of assignment from portraiture in the lab studio to COLUMNS' advertising shots on the "Ave." to sports coverage is taken.

The staff has felt the impact of new equipment. In previous years, all of the work was done on 4 x 5 Speed Graphic cameras. This year, the Automatic Rolleiflex cameras became popular with several members of the staff.

Two members of the staff, out of school winter quarter, but devoting quite a bit of their spare time to the Photo Staff were Bob Bergere and Bill Staley. Bob is responsible for the Senior Prominents section in the TYEE and Bill for some of the football and concert shots.

This spring the staff will have the highest mortality rate it has had in years. The burden of forming the nucleus for next year's staff will fall on four men, Sophomores Bergere, Gilbertson, and Staley, and Junior Don Schaefer.

Forester DON SCHAEFER, a transfer from Wisconsin, fitted nicely into the staff. Working primarily with his "miniature" Speed Graphic, his pictures always seemed to turn out well.

This year saw the installation of two lab secretaries, PEGGY CRITCHFIELD and NANCY WALKER, relieving the photographers of much of the routine of filing and recording assignments.

DEWAYNE SHARP'S favorite field is portraiture and he can often be found between assignments, in the studio experimenting with some new lighting arrangement. Next best is a good basketball game.

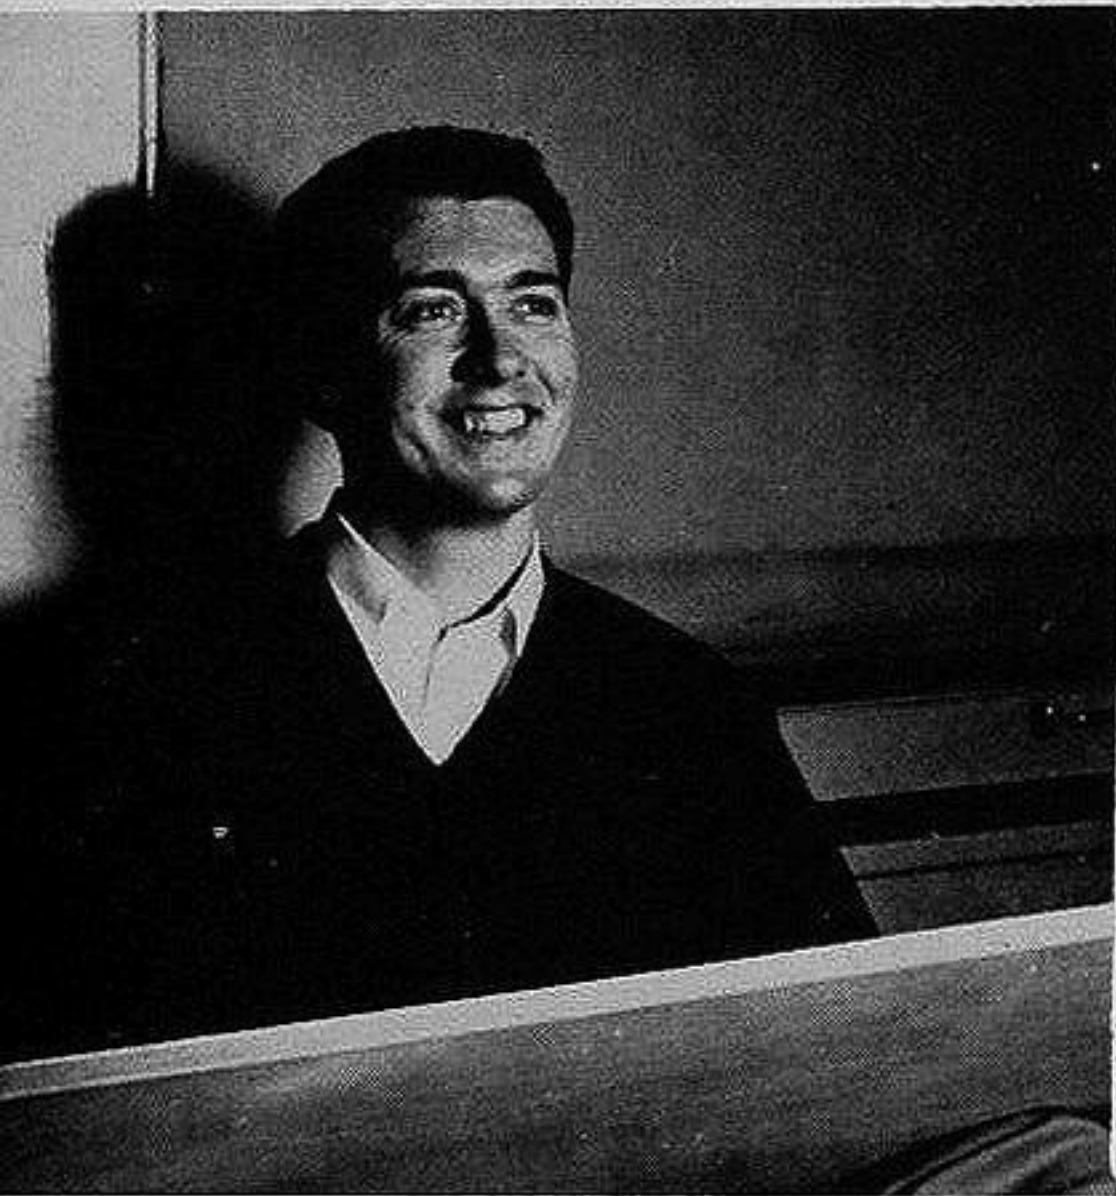

JIM GREENWAY, roaring around campus in his new "Chev" was the first man on the staff to get a Rolleiflex and started a trend.

LEO CARLSON, Sports Editor

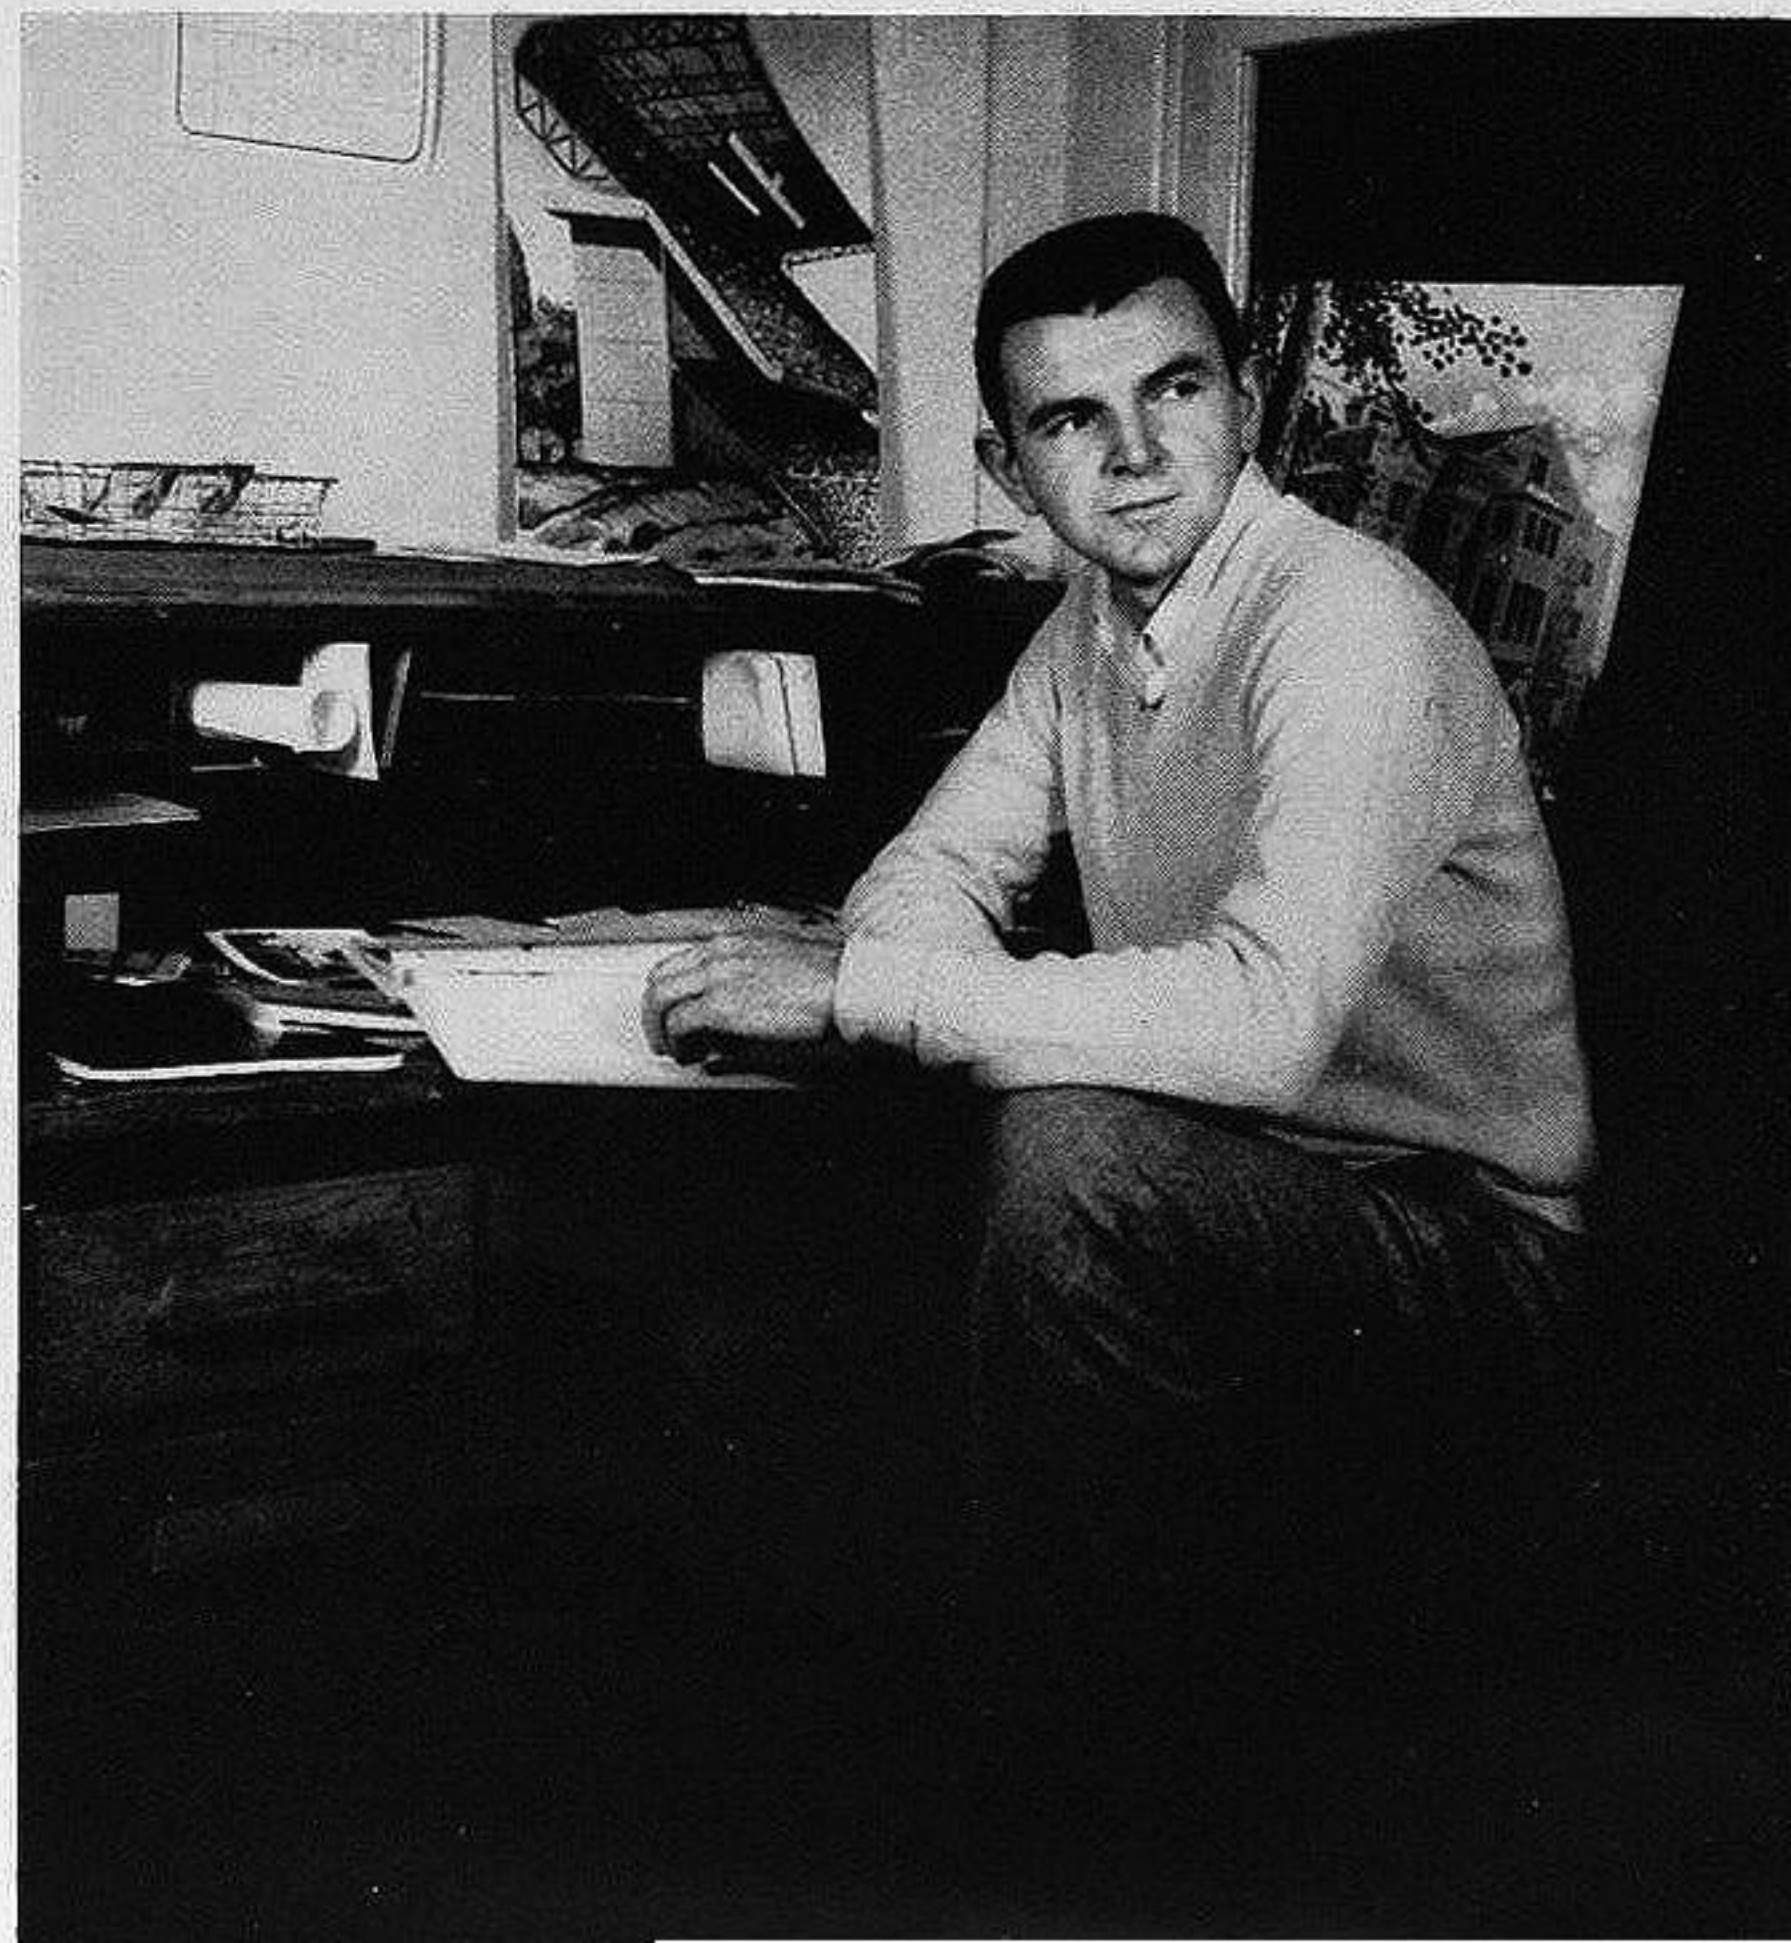

BILL McLEAN, Art Editor

RAMONA SMITH, Associate Editor Emeritus

MIKE ENGLISH, Editor

Progress! Progress! Although this term applied to the 1951 edition of the TYEE, it didn't always apply to the functioning of the staff. Mike English, editor, through constant pulling and coaxing and setting four or five successive deadlines for each section, found to his surprise at the end of the year that the book was all there. Ramona Smith, better known as Smitty, took care of the difficult job of coordinating the staff and finding things for office girls to do. The oil paintings of new buildings were done by Bill McLean, carrying the position of Art Editor again this year. The "boy chases girl" theme on section pages was created by Don Mossbarger. Voted as the man most likely to make the fastest time from the TYEE office to the Pavilion with a photographer on his heels was Leo Carlson, Sports Editor. Although her time was at a premium, Fran Stoeckert capably finished out the second half of the year as Classes Editor. Mary Lou Bessor Brennan handled the job the first half of the year. When members of living organizations heard, "Your house it about the only one which hasn't handed in an informal picture," Andy Harris, Living Groups Editor, was probably on the other end of the line. Planning, revising, and censoring sections in the Activities Division was the responsibility of Activities Editor Peggy Mace, who also contributed the radio to the good of the cause.

TYEE BUSINESS

Moving down the hall from the editorial office and being put on the "Tyee retirement pension plan" was Ken Cole, last year's editor-in-chief... His office was always filled with a bevy of "office girls," all trying at once to tune in the mystery radio. Of course when Ken got there, all would immediately come to attention, salaam three times and break out in a chorus of "Margie."

The business office down on "publication office row" in Lewis started out the year by contacting all organized houses and campus organizations to buy pages in this book. The next on the agenda was the subscription drive. The ad staff, with Vivienne Griffith, top salesman of last year, as ad manager, button-holed merchants, and when the "prospective advertiser" had become an "advertiser," they let him come up for air. Be sure to read the ads in the rear. They represent spirited, reliable firms in the district and the city.

Spring quarter comes but once a year, and the Tyee business staff is glad it doesn't come any oftener. For—it's about that time that the INDEX (swear word) must be thrown together. Everyone for blocks around is roped into their spacious 2 x 4 suite of rooms by the business staff to help type SMITH, Al, 105, 212, 253; etc. Then the job's done. Let's have a PARTY!!

SHOWBOAT THEATRE

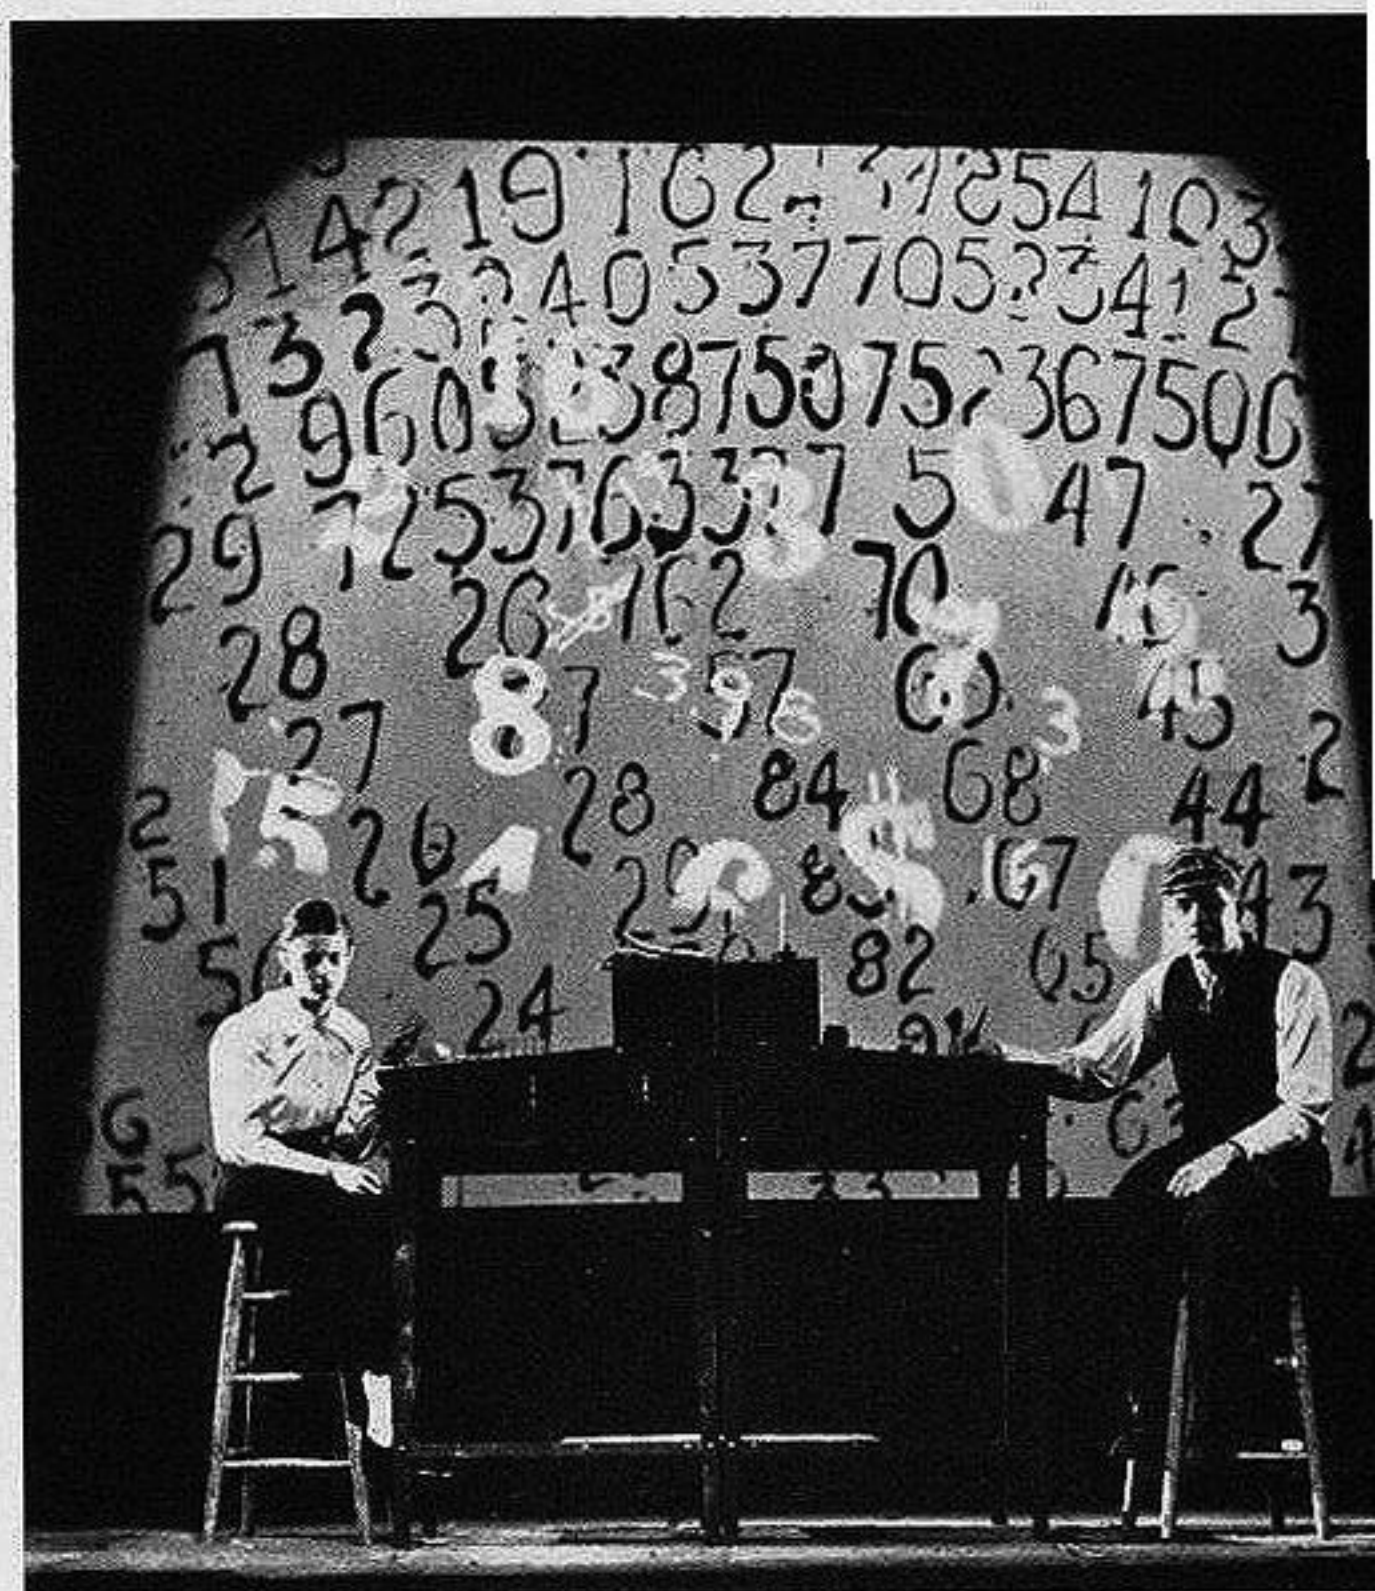

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: With Mary Tauffest as Alice.

YOU TOUCHED ME: Jerry Hjert, Earl Kelly, Albert Mattus, Nancy Prebezac, Carol M. Harper, and Lois Smith.

The University of Washington's Showboat Theatre, although its basic architectural design is that of a conventional theatre structure, is unique in many aspects. The first permanent theatre to be built on the campus, it presents the atmosphere of the old-time itinerant river boats yet possesses the latest of technical equipment for the presentation of any known type of stage play.

Foremost of the theatre's assets is the newly installed machine which projects scenery on stage optically. In use, the machine transforms scenery executed in full color upon small lantern slides to full-scale scenic images upon the theatre cyclorama. The machine is operated electronically and can achieve such effects as moving panoramas and exceptionally realistic sunsets. In addition, the theatre utilizes a revolving stage to simplify scene changes and has a permanent sky cyclorama to facilitate outdoor settings. A remote control switchboard provides the ultimate in college theatre lighting.

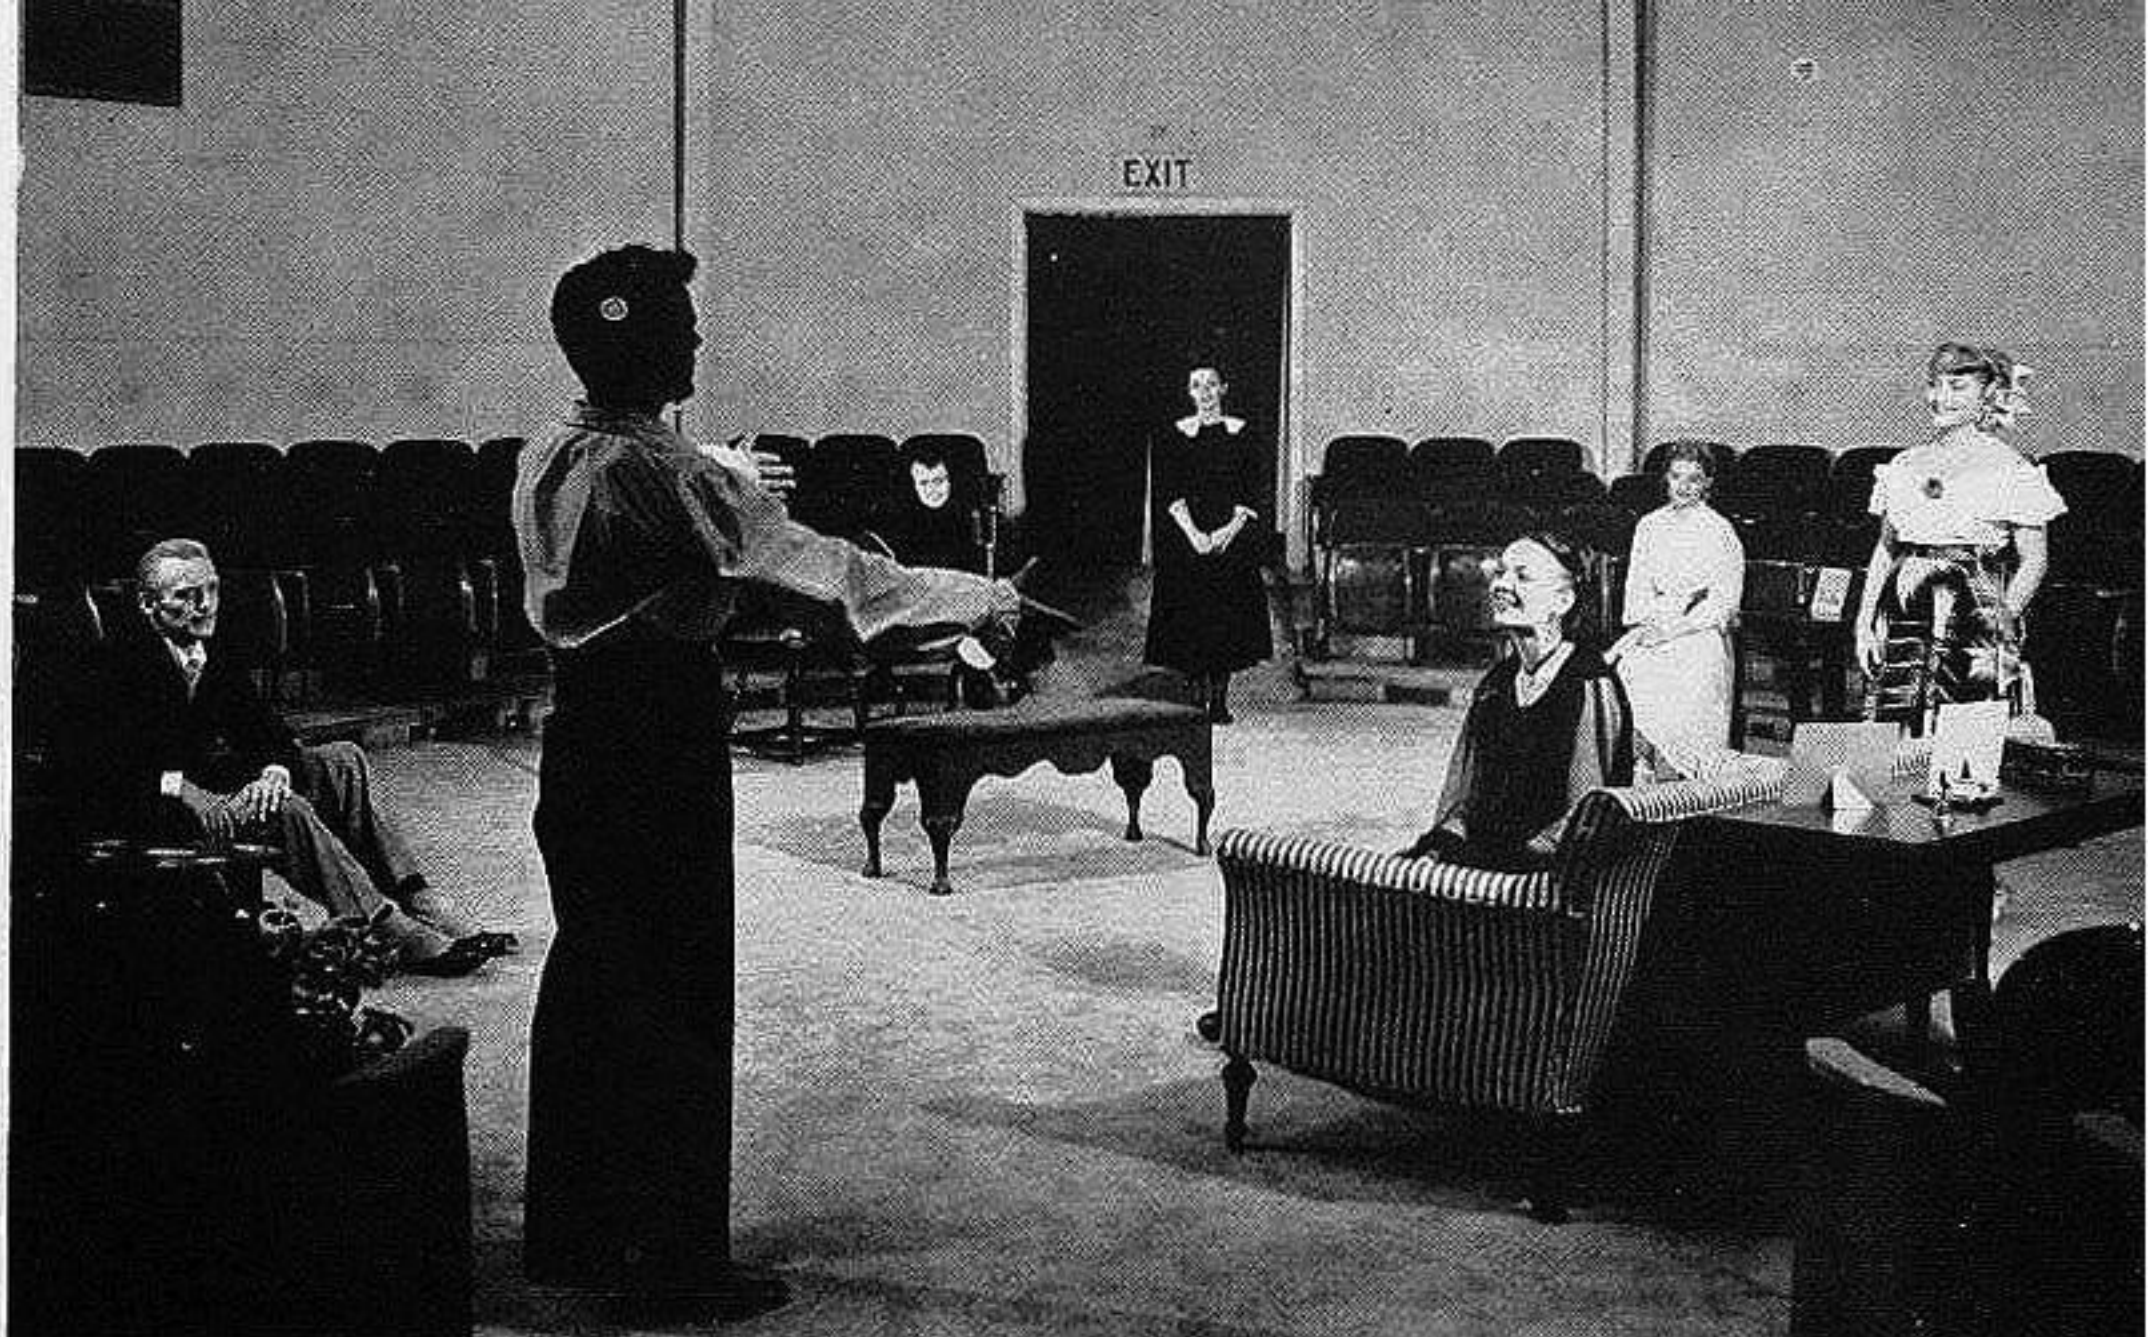

THE ADDING MACHINE: Lois Smith and William Grisham.

World famous for its contribution to modern dramatic staging of arena-type theatre, the Penthouse Theatre has, for a decade, provided its audiences with the best of arena theatre. This form of staging is now gaining favor with professional, amateur and educational theatres throughout the nation, in Europe, and even in Asia.

From all parts of the globe students, educators and professional theatre people have come to observe and participate in Penthouse productions; an illustration of the School of Drama's growing recognition with that of an ever-growing University of Washington.

BACK STAGE

Students are drawn to the University of Washington's School of Drama primarily for its concentration on professional training in acting. With the two campus theatres presenting plays six nights a week, fifty-two weeks a year, there is no lack of acting opportunities. The wide variety of plays presented offer every form and style of acting: Smash-hit comedies, period plays, Shakespearian productions and classical works.

But behind every "two hours' traffic" upon campus stages are a host of production tasks and the actor's task precludes a knowledge of all the theatre's arts. To this end the School of Drama's curriculum provides excellent professional training in scene design, stage lighting, set construction, costuming and theatrical makeup. Every phase of production including theatre management is provided.

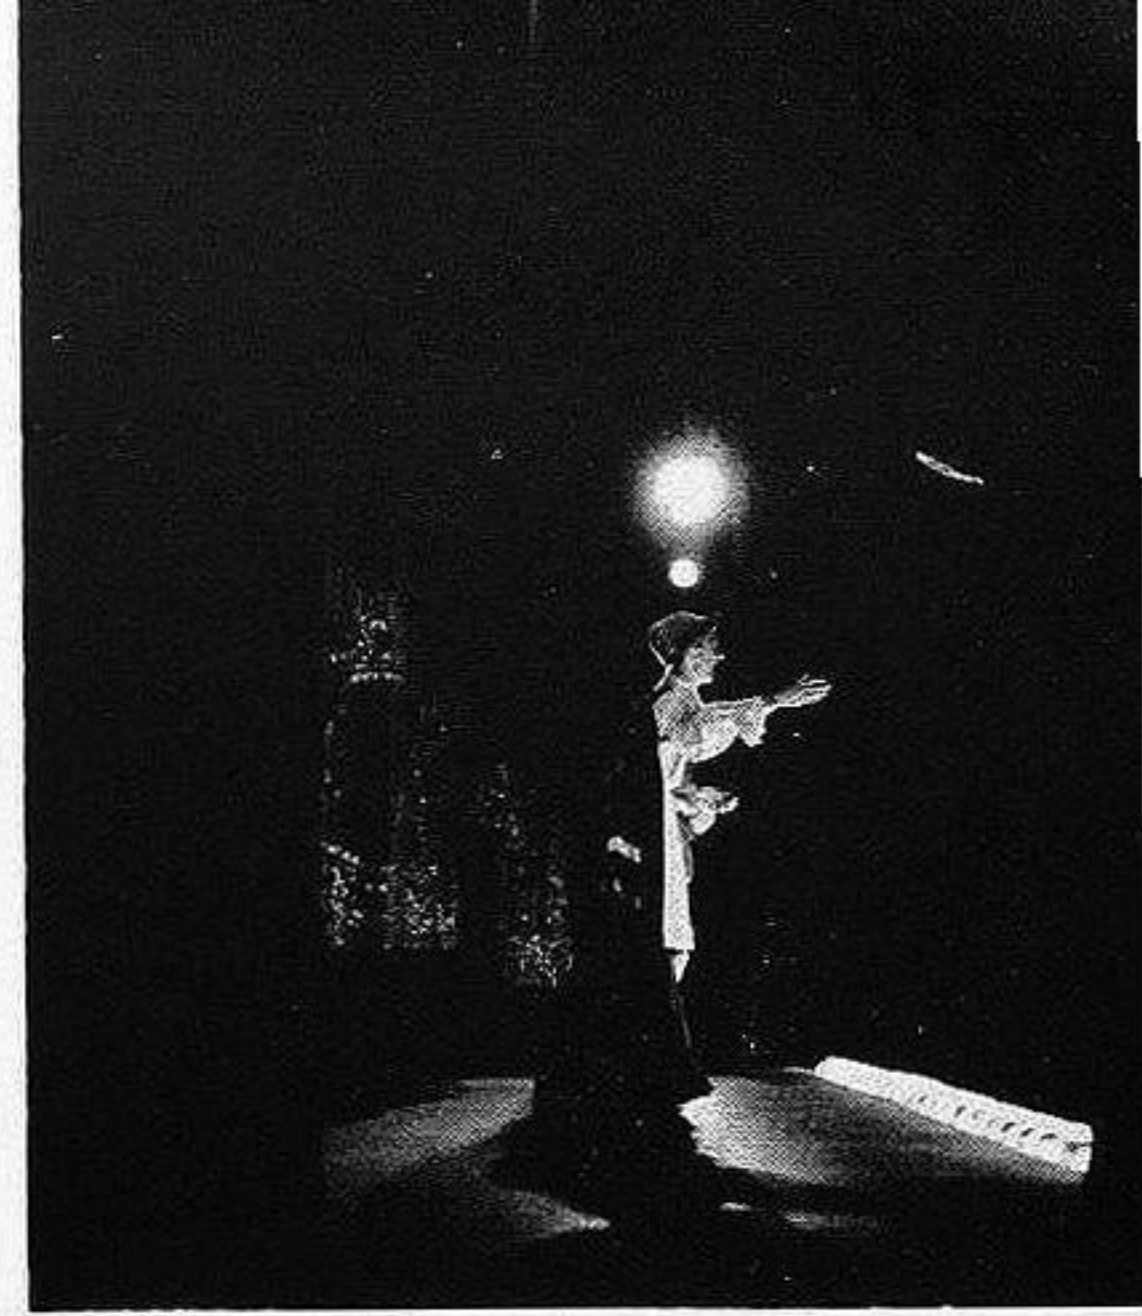

OFF STAGE

Campus theatre is an extracurricular activity open to every student, though the experienced drama student is usually more capable of securing an acting part in a production. Students have charge of lighting, the handling of sets and properties and serve as theatre staff.

In addition to a normal class schedule the active participant in this activity spends approximately three hours in afternoon rehearsals and another three hours in an evening performance each school day. He also gives a performance on Saturday evenings and must attend an all-day Sunday rehearsal prior to the opening of a play. Each play is in rehearsal six weeks and is performed for six weeks. Rehearsals and performances continue throughout all school vacations.

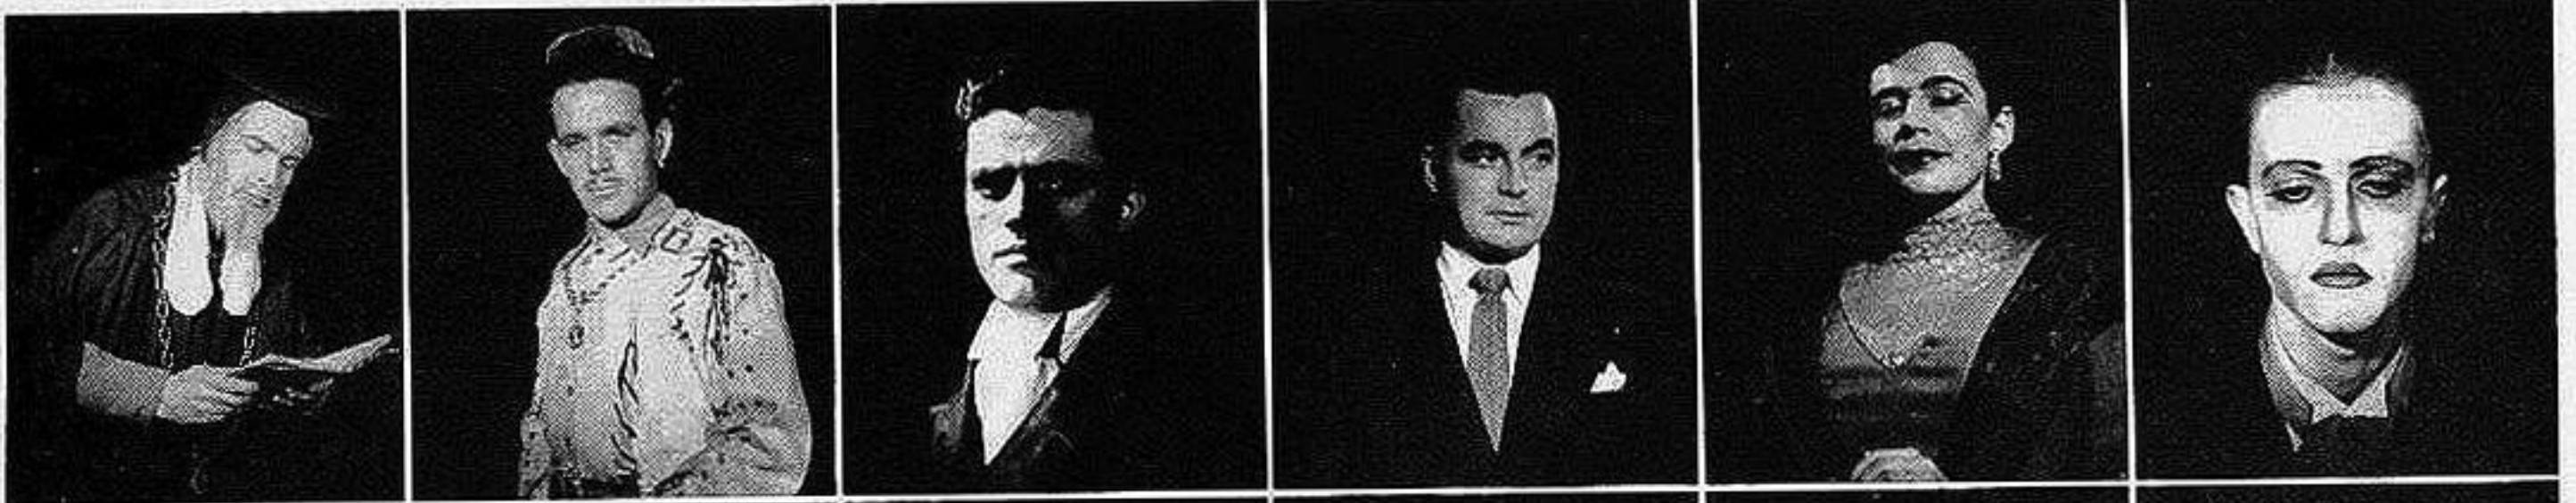

In following Tyee's editorial policy of including as many faces as possible this year, your section editor, beset with the circumstances of being also a staff photographer and a drama major, was somewhat carried away with the many photographic opportunities which presented themselves. And in choosing the form of portraits for these two pages, the theme of theatrical makeup pervaded the intended theme of personalities; therefore, a few words on the art of makeup seem a pertinent addition.

The aroma of grease paints and makeup materials has often been cited as one of the most enticing lures of the acting profession; but, to the actor a stage makeup neither begins nor ends with greasepaints: characterization, costume, properties, stage lighting and even the setting contribute to the final illusion of the actor's makeup as it is created on stage.

HASTY HEART

An Extension class of adults creates a play based on the familiar story of Cinderella.

CREATIVE DRAMATICS

Co-sponsored by the School of Drama and the Adult Education Division and Extension Services the Creative Dramatics program has grown rapidly since its inception in 1947.

Classes in informal drama created by children from stories, daily experiences, or from their own imagination are offered to children in over twenty communities throughout the state. Regular University classes and Extension classes offer University students and adults training through the observation of local groups under the leadership of advanced students.

This year the program reached far, for three students from Austria and one from Germany came to study the activity on UNESCO scholarships. These students hope to inaugurate similar programs in the rehabilitation program for the children of Europe.

PUPPETRY

Providing one of the most interesting and valuable courses in the School of Drama curriculum, Puppetry accents the use of puppetry in the fields of education and therapy as well as entertainment. Students present two hand puppet shows weekly and are instructed in the design, construction and manipulation of all types of puppets.

This season University of Washington Puppeters performed for nearly 20,000 school children in Seattle and the vicinity. The shows were: "The Iron Stone," "The Princess and the Pea," and "One Eye, Two Eye, and Three Eye."

CHILDREN'S THEATRE

Children's Theatre was one of the fastest growing activities in the School of Drama during the 50-51 season. More than 13,000 Seattle school children attended productions given at the Showboat, Music Hall and Orpheum theatres.

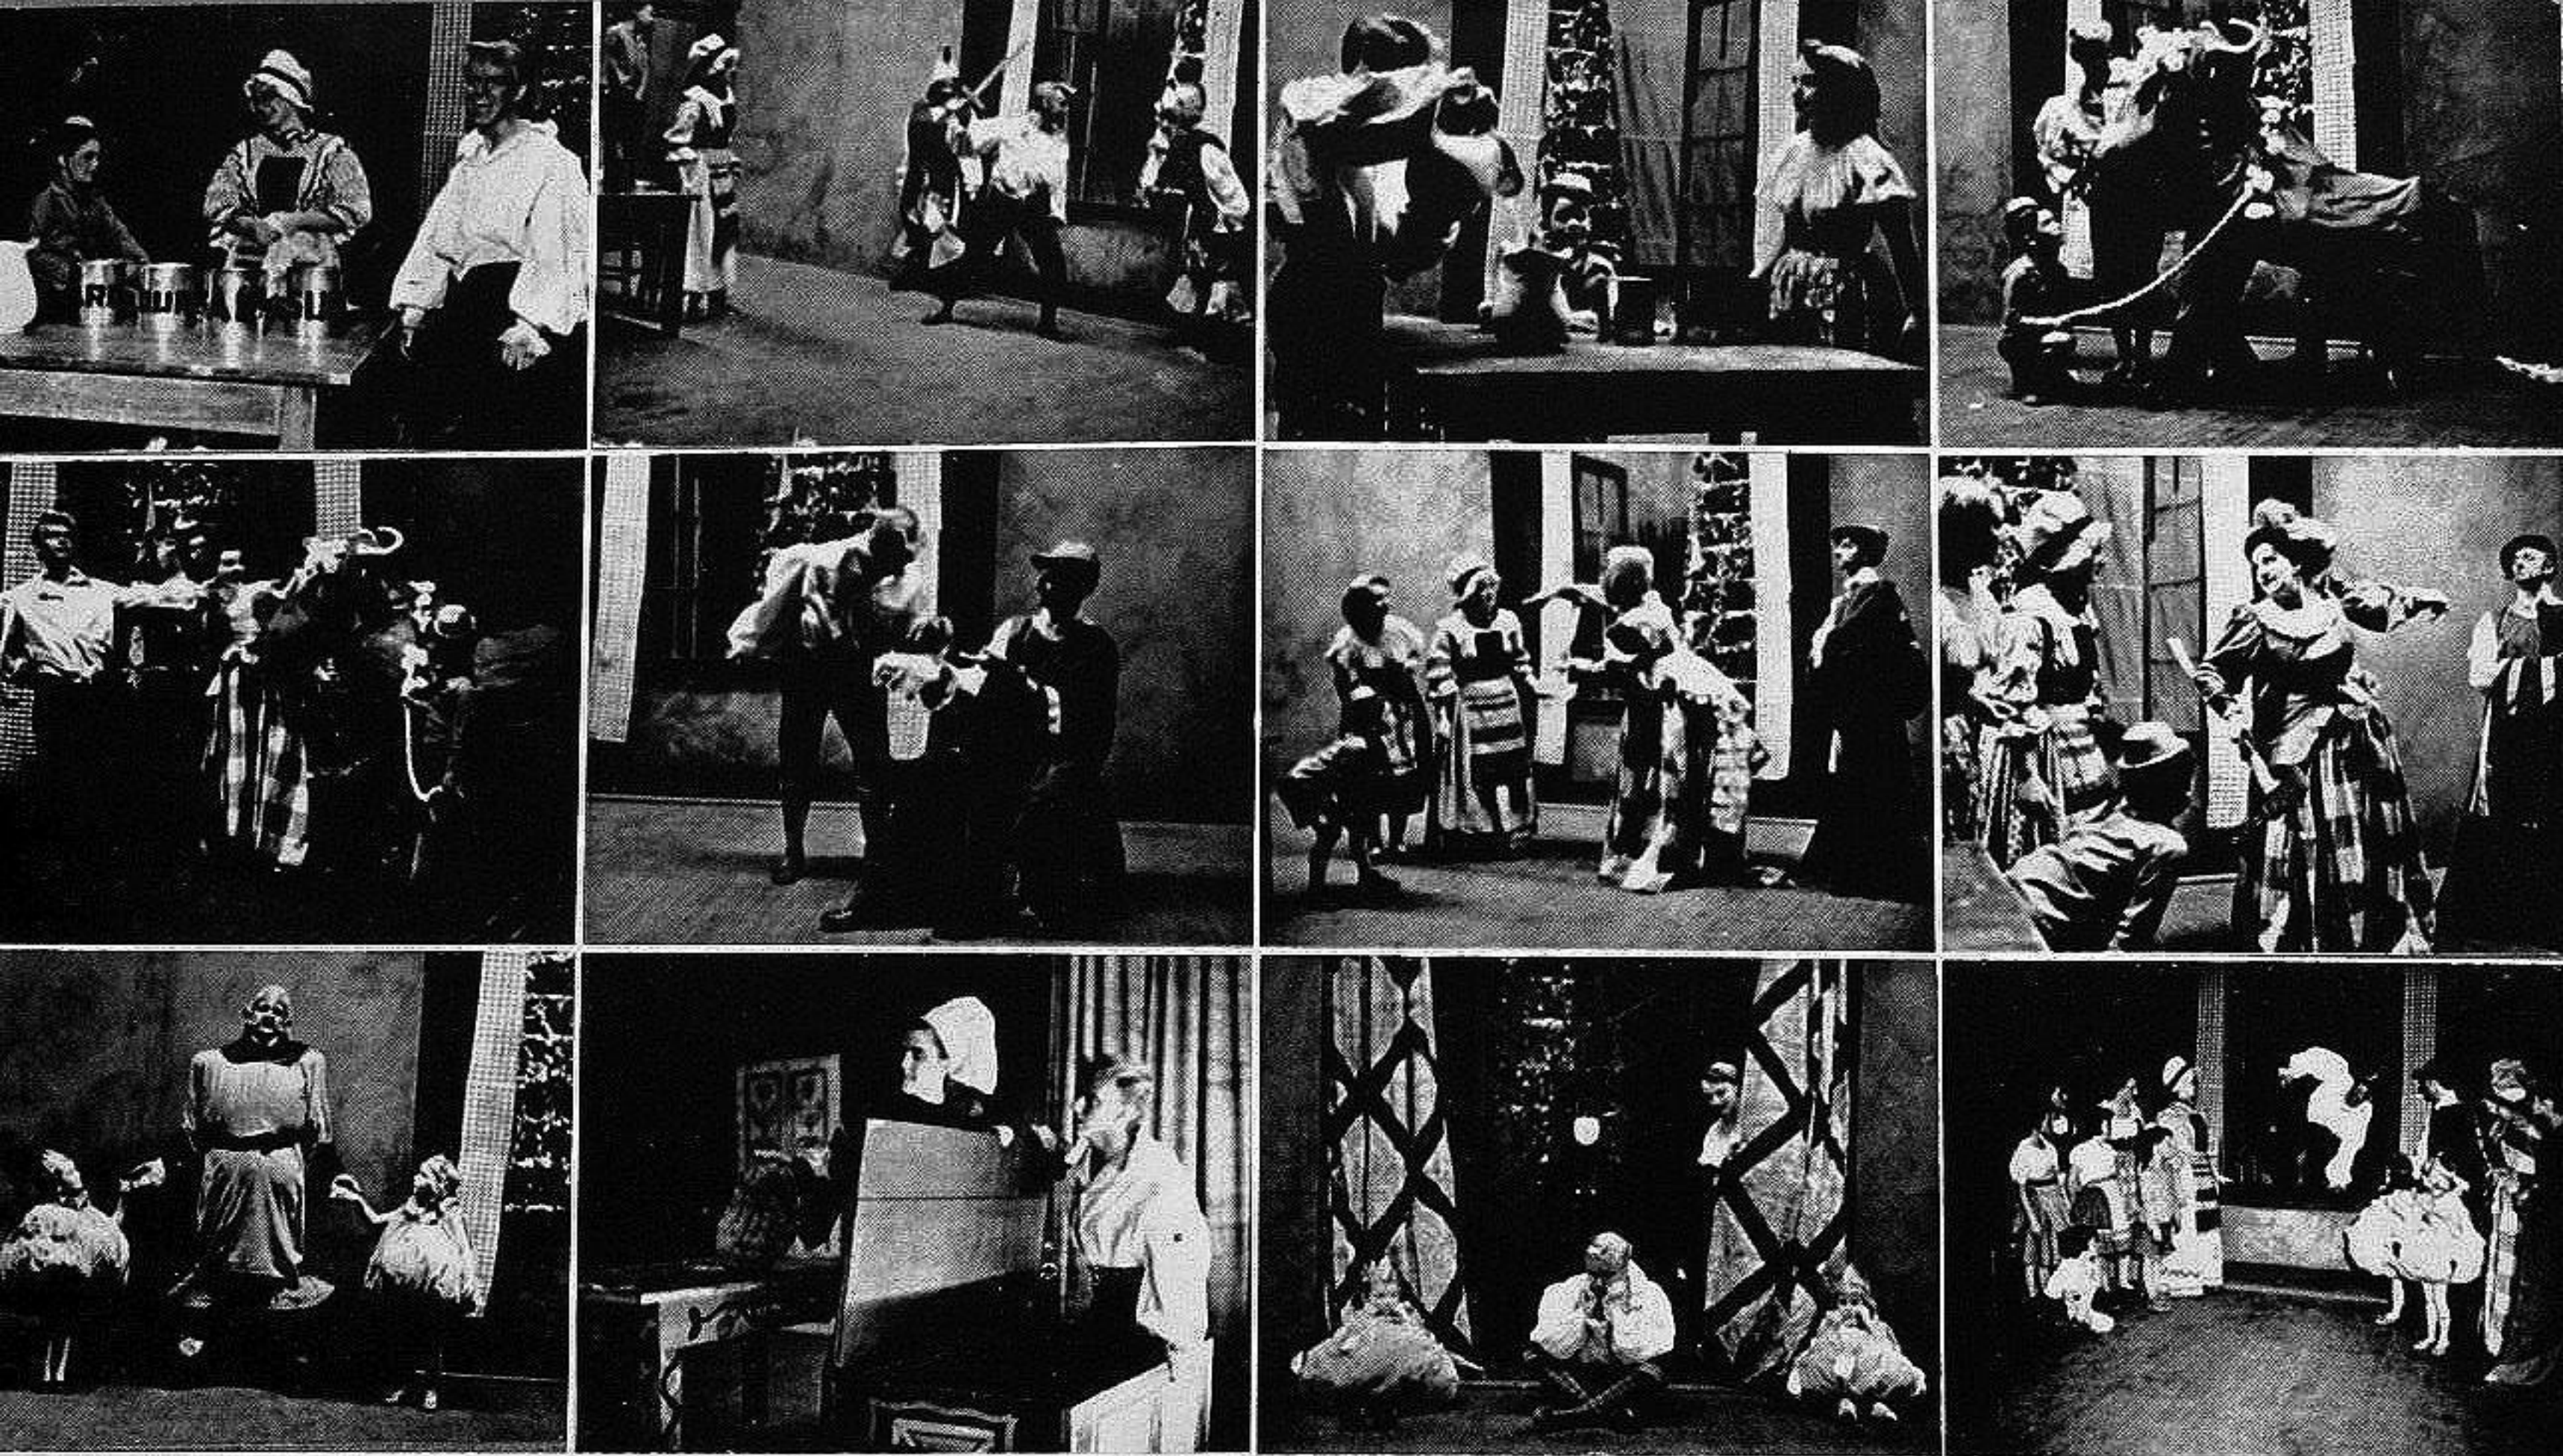

Created through the fine work of the division this year was an entirely new program: "Junior Theatre" wherein Seattle grade school, junior high and high school students attended drama workshop classes and participated in their own productions. Students in these classes are chosen to appear in the children's parts in adult Children's Theatre productions and are given the opportunity to appear on radio and television programs.

DISCUSSION

Deep in the process of determining one of their major issues are the members of the Social Problems Discussion group, Robert Battin, John Sawyer, Irv Handlin, Roy Mocer, Bill Ziegner and Larry Worthey.

The Panel of America is shown making plans for one of their trips. Standing in back are Gene Walton, Art Morgan, and Bill Hamilton. Seated are Edward Jones, Bill Nakagawa, Jean Clark, Mr. Irving Handlin, Gloria Holladay, Mr. Robert Cox, Drusilla Potts, and F. J. Johnson.

ROBERT J. COX, coach for Social Problems Discussion and Panel of America.

SOCIAL DISCUSSION

This year the Social Problem Group discussed the question of the responsibility of the federal government for the people's welfare of the United States. The members of the group, working on this problem, did their own research, and under the direction of Robert Cox and his assistant Irv Handlin, presented their discussions to organizations throughout Washington and Oregon. They appeared before the PTA, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary Clubs, AAUW, church groups and many schools and colleges. The ASUW and Speech Department are co-sponsors of the group.

PANEL OF AMERICA

The Panel of America originated at UCLA and being so successful, the University of Washington adopted it in the fall of 1950, receiving enthusiastic backing from the National Council of Christians and Jews. The panel traveled extensively through the Pacific Northwest discussing how the people of different races and cultural backgrounds live together in harmony. No previous speech training is necessary for any member of the ASUW who would like to join the group. If he is accepted, he receives three academic credits at the end of his three quarters' work. Robert Cox is the advisor of the group, and Irv Handlin, his assistant.

WOMEN'S DISCUSSION

The Women's Group is a panel of women students which presented this year a discussion on what America's foreign policy should be in Asia. Though the group made many trips presenting their discussion in Washington and Oregon, the climax of the year came in April when they went to British Columbia. Dr. Crowell, the coach, says that the non-speech majors outnumber the girls majoring in speech, and not only is any AWS member with a 2.0 grade average eligible, but she will receive academic credit for her work.

Bob Slate explains his impression to Byron Coney, Tom Foley, Harold McNeil, Dick Hilleran, manager; Tom Loftus, Doug Hansen, Tom Nilson, Duane Radliff, and George Hansen.

MEN'S DISCUSSION

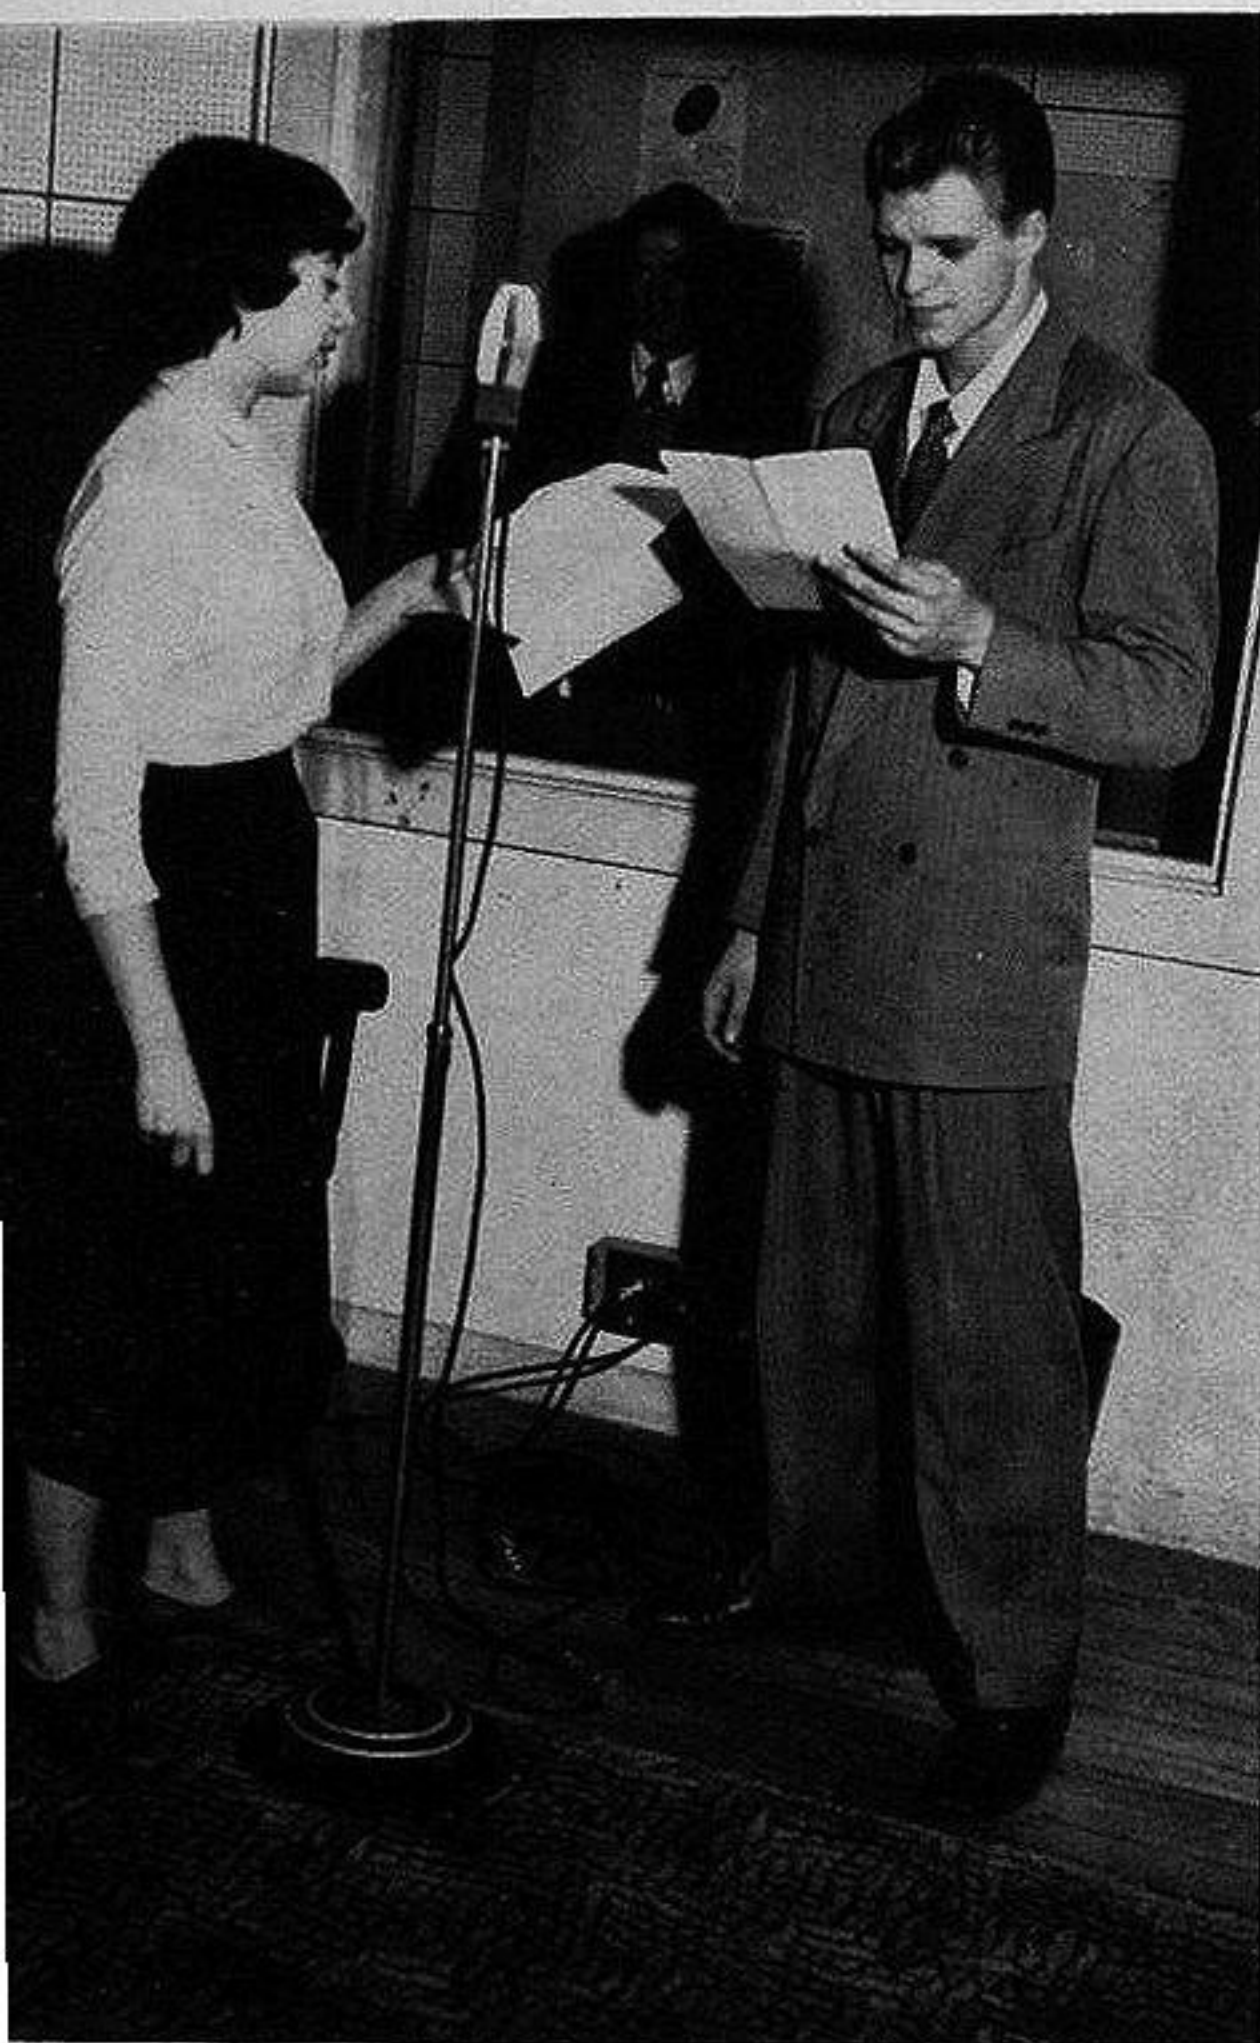

"By what means can the United States best promote stable world relations?" This is the question on which the Men's Discussion Group has concentrated this year. The topic was broken down into various sub-topics under the coaching of Advisor Thomas Nilsen, and presented to navy colleges, high schools and service clubs throughout Washington and Oregon. The high point of the year comes in April when the group travels to Stanford to participate in the Pacific Forensic Meet. Any University man with an interest in discussion speaking and a 2.0 grade average is eligible.

RADIO

If visions of microphones float through your head, you are on the right campus to promote your dreams to action and become a radio announcer! Radio Hall, which such aspirants call home, is the humming center of the University Hour—a student operated program. Broadcast every weekday from 4:00 to 5:00 o'clock over KISW, this production gives practical training in all the various phases of radio work and supports University activities with free commercials. Besides this actual broadcast, twelve radio shows a week are compiled, recorded, and later copies are sent to thirty different stations throughout the state. Radio Hall comprises a whole community with its own atmosphere and lingo. Informality is the keynote here, and under the department's friendly persuasion, many of the "raw recruits," the dreamers, are polished into skilled radio announcers, writers, and producers.

MUSIC

The University Sinfonietta, directed by Dr. Stanley Chapple, has been playing for Seattle audiences for only two years, during which time their excellent interpretations of seldom heard symphonic works have received enthusiastic receptions from their audiences. The group is composed of Faculty members and talented student musicians who together have presented many varied programs throughout the year.

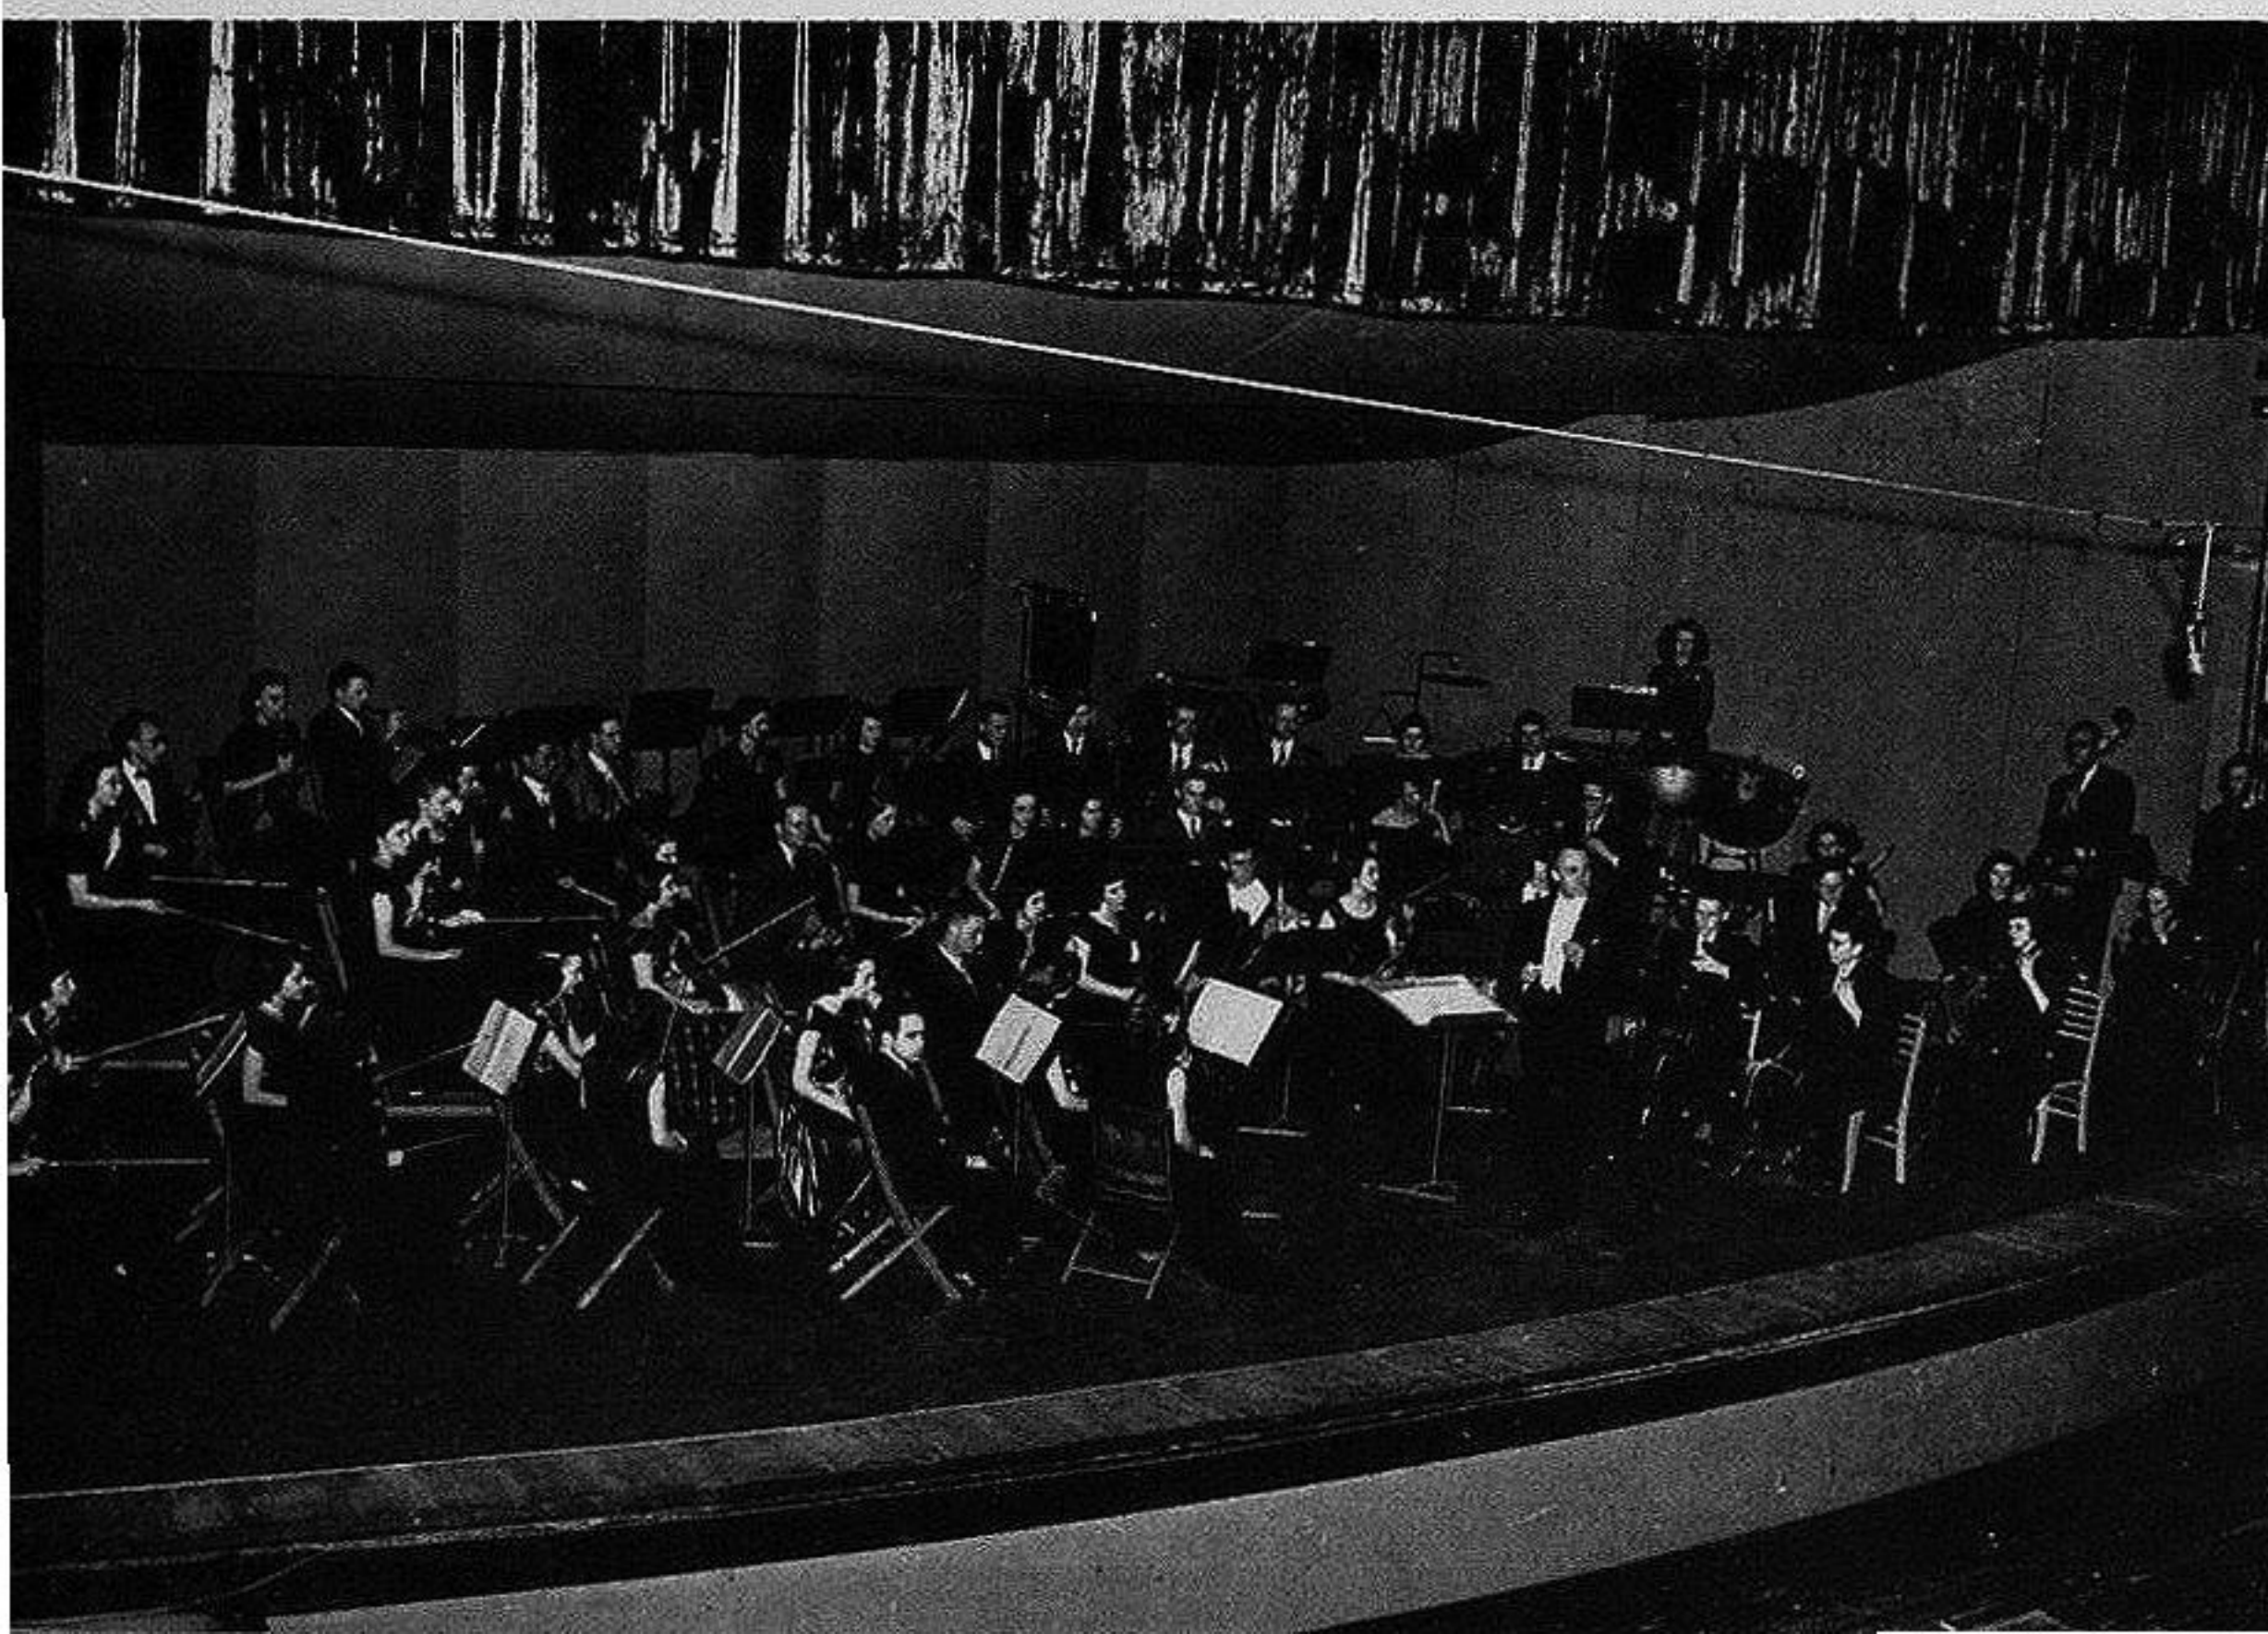

FACULTY STRING QUARTET

Under the direction of Doctor Stanley Chapple, the School of Music has achieved a successful and musically progressive year. Concerts and lectures were presented at Meany Hall and in the new Music Building for appreciative audiences. The University Symphony, conducted by Dr. Chapple, was heard in several fine programs each of which was highlighted by the performance of seldom-heard compositions along with the more familiar works. A rich blend and excellent musicianship has characterized the String Quartet in its concerts.

UNIVERSITY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Members of the Men's Glee Club: Ted Baer, Derek Burleson, Jack Cowzer, Alfred Crocker, Bert Davidson, Dan Devin, Ronald Duff, Eldon Dunn, Ross Gibson, James Glann, Vern Greenstreet, Don Herrett, Robert Hickman, A. Hitch, Virgil Johnson, Bill Kiskaddon, Val Kramer, Don Kusler, Kenneth Lake, David Lehman, Frank McGowan, Dick McNamee, Don Mehaffey, Jack Morris, Bill Parker, Douglas Price, Dave Ramasko, Ted Remmert, Don Seebart, Dan Semanskee, W. J. Skinner, Forest Snyder, James Sparks, Ronald Tarr, John Tomlinson, Don Young.

The Men's Glee Club, directed by Professor Charles Lawrence, had a successful musical year, their concerts and public appearances being numerous as well as enjoyable. The Club includes men from all departments on campus, and is pictured above.

Also directed by Professor Charles Lawrence, the A Cappella Choir was heard by audiences throughout the Seattle area. Many departments are represented by this group, each voice blending to give the fine results heard in their concerts.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Members of the A Cappella Choir: Walter Adkins, May Anzai, Guilford Brett, Dorothy Carter, Serena Cole, Joan Collier, Pauline Collins, Carolyn Cook, Geraldine Dixon, Eldon Dunn, Ernest Fielder, Irene Fevegeon, Vera Fryer, Joyce Gilbertson, Jim Gore, Alyce Hauser, H. OPERA WORKSHOP

The Opera Workshop, under the direction of Dr. Stanley Chapple, has had another successful year. Two operas were presented during the year, DON PASQUALI, and MACBETH. Both were heard and enthusiastically received by capacity audiences at the Center Theater. Undergraduates, graduates, and faculty members were performers.

WOMEN'S GROUP

The All-University Song Fest was enlarged this spring to four competitive groups; Mixed Ensembles and Small Ensembles may now enter, along with the traditional Men's and Women's Groups. The Song Fest, which is sponsored by the Malamutes, was held this year on the steps between the new Music and Art Buildings, in order to accommodate a larger audience. Wesley Club for women, directed by Virginia Johnson, won first place in the Women's Division. Zeta Tau Alpha and Chi Omega Sororities took second and third place respectively.

First place in the Men's Division was won by Wesley Club for men, directed by Lowell Hart. Members of the group are pictured on the following page. Second place was won by Alpha Delta Phi, third place going to Phi Kappa Psi.

Kappa Phi, winner of the Small Ensemble Division, was followed by Phi Kappa Sigma which took second place.

Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Sigma Phi were winners of the Mixed Group Division and are pictured on the following page. Alpha Xi Delta and Zeta Psi were second.

FOLK SONG SERIES

LECTURES AND CONCERTS SERIES

The Paganini Quartet, pictured below, appeared at Meany Hall in this series, as did the Pasquier Trio, the Hungarian Quartet, and Suzanne Bloch. The series is sponsored by the Office of Lectures and Concerts.

Among the four excellent folk singers heard at Meany Hall were Susan Reed, above right, and Burl Ives, below. Others presented were Josh White and Julie Andre.

The engineers came up with some clever ideas to get pulicity for their Winter Quarter Informal. With a boat adrift on Frosh Pond and their robot wandering around upper campus, everyone was convinced that the students who have classes south of the Library don't spend all their time over their books.

SOCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

MAY QUEEN AND KING

Finalists in the Scabbard and Blade Queen Contest must "Shoot it out" on the rifle range. The girl registering the highest score is made "Honorary Colonel" of the annual dance.

A high point of the sports season is the Washington-WSC football game. This year a large number of students traveled to Spokane for the "Big Game," and the trip was an enjoyable one in every respect.

The COLUMNS mascot, Sinnie, found waiting around for Queen Contests tiresome, and is seen here curled up in a chair in the HUB.

SOCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

A group of Indian students furnish the colorful music and background for a dance on which the audience seems to be concentrating intently, under the spell of the dancing of RUTH SHORTER.

In colorful kimonos, FUKU IKAWA of Japan sings "The Bouncing-Ball Song" to the accompaniment of JULIANNE SATO on the Koto.

INTERNATIONAL BANQUET

"ONE WORLD A-GROWING" was the theme of the sixth annual International Banquet sponsored by the YMCA and the YWCA. Students of forty-eight countries, faculty members, and representatives from the various organized groups on the campus participated in the Thanksgiving festivities. Entertainment was furnished by the foreign students in numbers based on songs and dances of sixteen countries.

Many contributed to the success of the banquet; among these were co-chairmen Virginia Jones and Bob Gibson; Connie Luke, secretary; Annabelle Gullickson, programs; Wing Luke and Theo Jonkel, publicity; and Ansel Butterfield and Bill Drummond, arrangements.

AIDA ESCUTAN, JOSEFINA CORSILLES, TERESA MONSANTO, LOLITA GAMIDO, JAIME NARTE, FRANCISCO FLOR, PABLO GARDONA, and LIBORIO MARTIN do the "Salakat" dance, a colorful dance of the Philippines.

"The Ribbon Dance" and a mad twirling of color by CAROL KWAN, MARY LOCKE, and ALICE ENG was the contribution of China to the festivities.

"A Morning with Grandpa in Korea" was enacted by SOON-SOOK HONG, OHTON KWON, and SOON CHUL HONG.

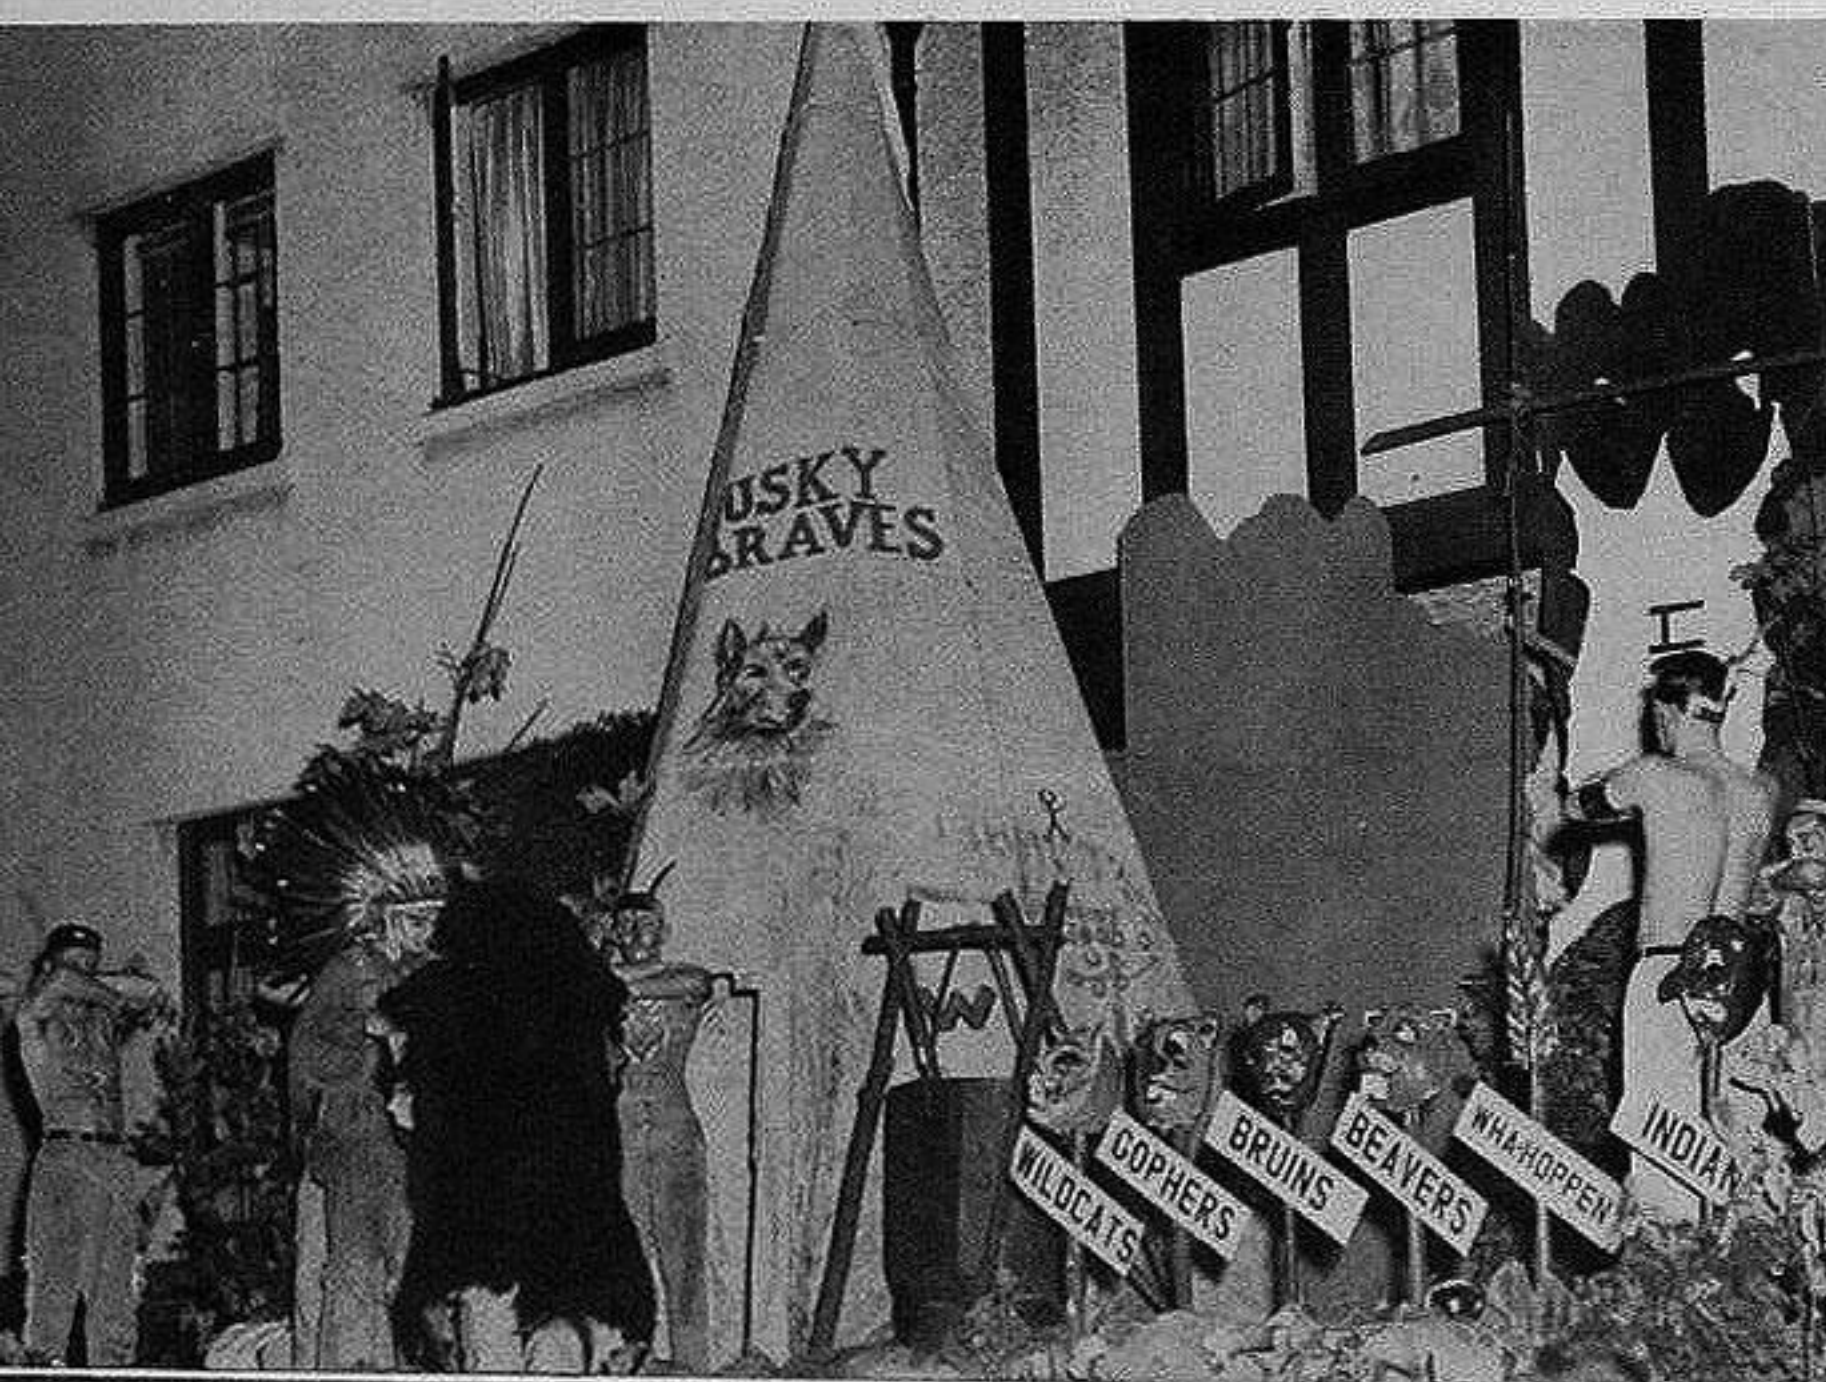

HOWIE ODELL, the Husky football coach, was one of the most popular speakers at the rally.

The largest crowd to ever attend a pre-game rally turned out on the eve of the "Big Game," filling Memorial Way all the way back to 45th.

HOMECOMING 1950

Homecoming Activities pour out of the Big Blanket Parade of the halftime of the California-Washington game, on November 4.

Another unique Rose Bowl theme placed the Chi Omega sign in the second position. Their colorful little train is Victory-bound dragging the defeated California in the caboose.

Second place sign, Rose Bowl Bound, found the Delta Chis being propelled California way by the Golden Bear. Their ultra-modern vehicle is dragging along the defeated Stanford Indian, Oregon State Beaver, and the ruffled UCLA Bruin.

Gloria struts followed by the Husky band . . . their destination . . . the giant rally on 17th Avenue. The parade serpented the streets from 22nd to 17th and grew to a mass crowd of thousands.

Queen Charlotte Small snuggles between Don Emanuels and the alum chairman, Larry McIntosh, as they weave their way to the largest rally ever held on the University of Washington campus.

The Dee-Gee proverbial "too many cooks" whip up some Husky Mix to Beat the Bears and win the Delta Gammas a third place award.

The very effective luminous sign of the ATO's was concealed behind a large Welcome blanket. Their Travelog theme was awarded third place. The scenes shifted for each game played by the Washington Huskies.

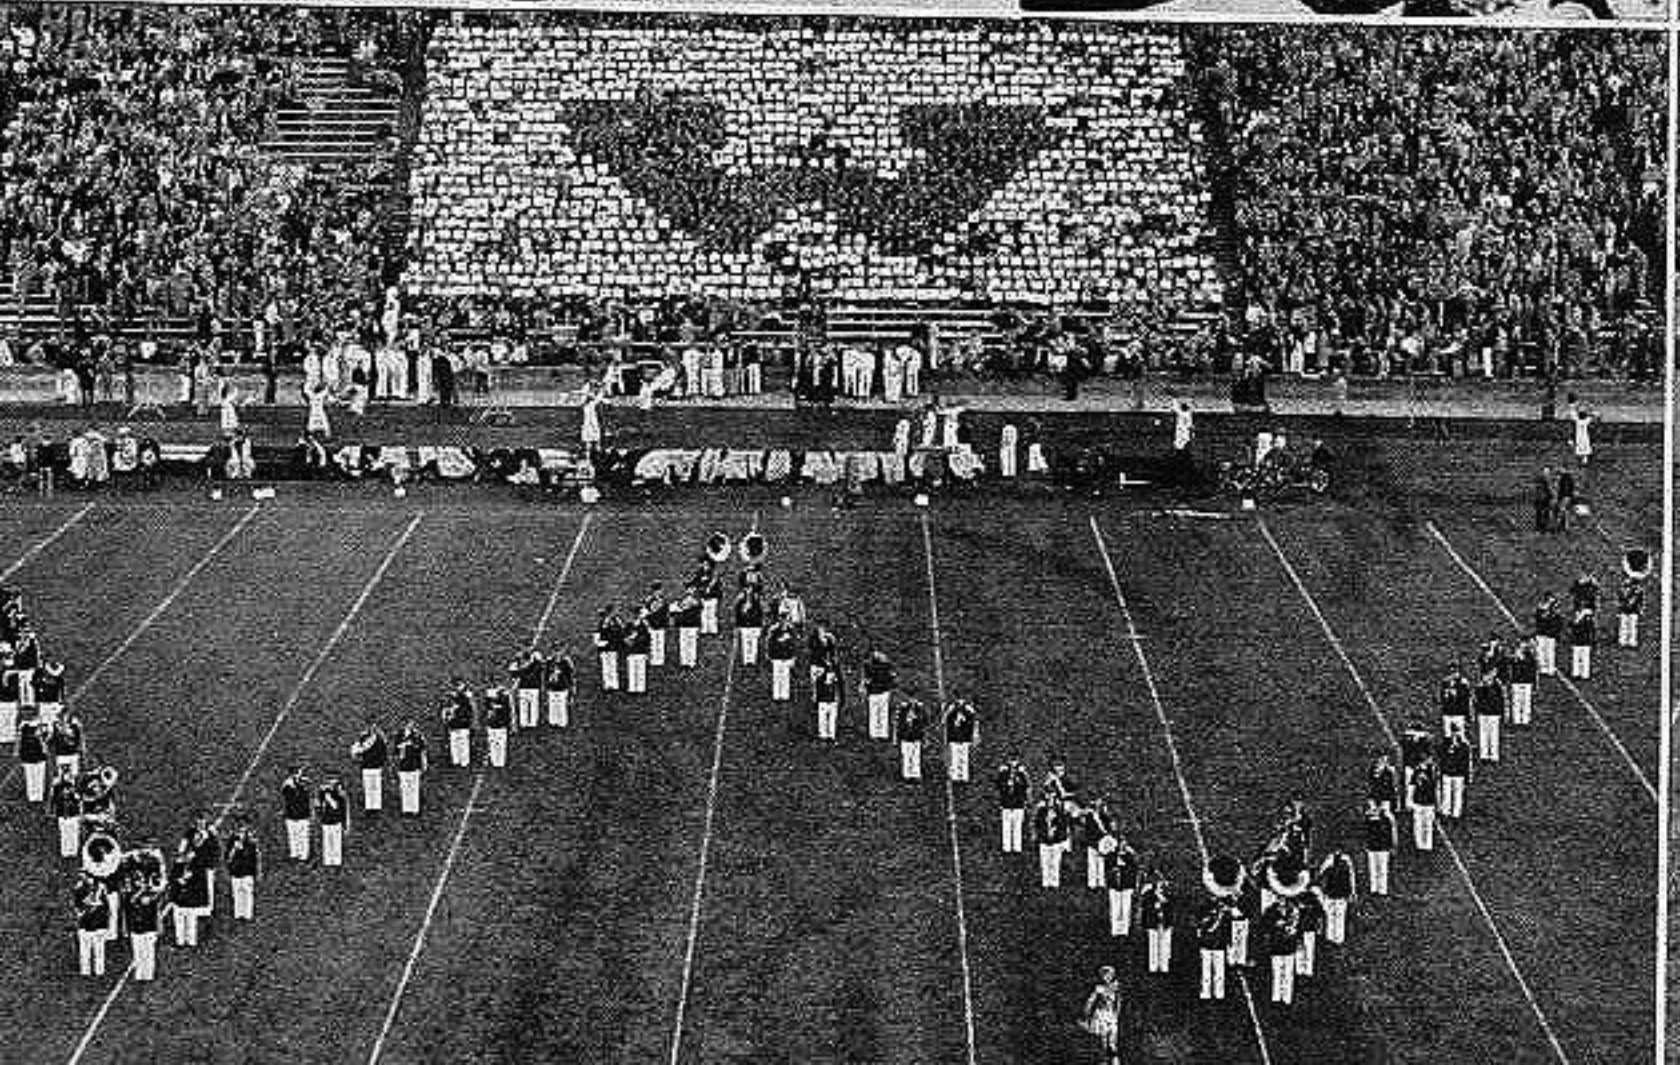

The Big-W spell-out, as the half-time climax, shows the card section and the well organized Husky band members.

In honor of the class of 1925, band members create a huge "25" while the student body stands in tribute to the alumni.

The Delta Upsilon Redskins give a convincing performance with their scalping activities in front of the tepee of the Husky Braves. With a great war whoop the DU's were awarded 1st place in the Men's Division.

The Theta dance program theme honored both the teams of 1925 and 1950 with a complete shift of props, costumes . . . and girls. The first place award went to the Kappa Alpha Theta's for their colorful and original sign.

President Allen and his wife seem "away from it all" as they share in the festivities with their Veloz and Yolanda routine.

The final flurry to the weekend of Homecoming activities was the Homecoming Dance on Saturday night. Committee members, Joan Smith, Fran Stoeckert, chairman, Ralph Holmstad, and Jack Ehrig, wound up their plans into a tremendous campus affair. Other members were Jim Eastman, Bill Gallacci, and Valeria Whittaker.

Students mass the Field Artillery Armory decorated with huge caricatures of the Husky football team, and a mid-floor panorama of Huskies and Bears.

Varied expressions reveal mixed emotions as Husky revelers pause to listen to the music of Skinny Ennis and his band.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

A mad whirl of Frosh pond water, and within seconds one forester plunges into the brine, leaving the victor logging it alone....This is called "birling" ...but the water is quite the opposite.

Bern Berry takes a mad plunge (well prepared with held nose). Her punishment was inflicted for her lack of entering the beard growing competition, and she had the nerve to try to hide behind false whiskers.

This is not part of the day's festivities...although everything but throat slitting is attempted. These forestry students are merely demonstrating how not to get a shave.

GARB DAY

Fred Schmidt and Harry Merriam are demonstrating their manly prowess in front of Anderson Hall with their brutal attempt at tree-falling, a la Garb Day style.

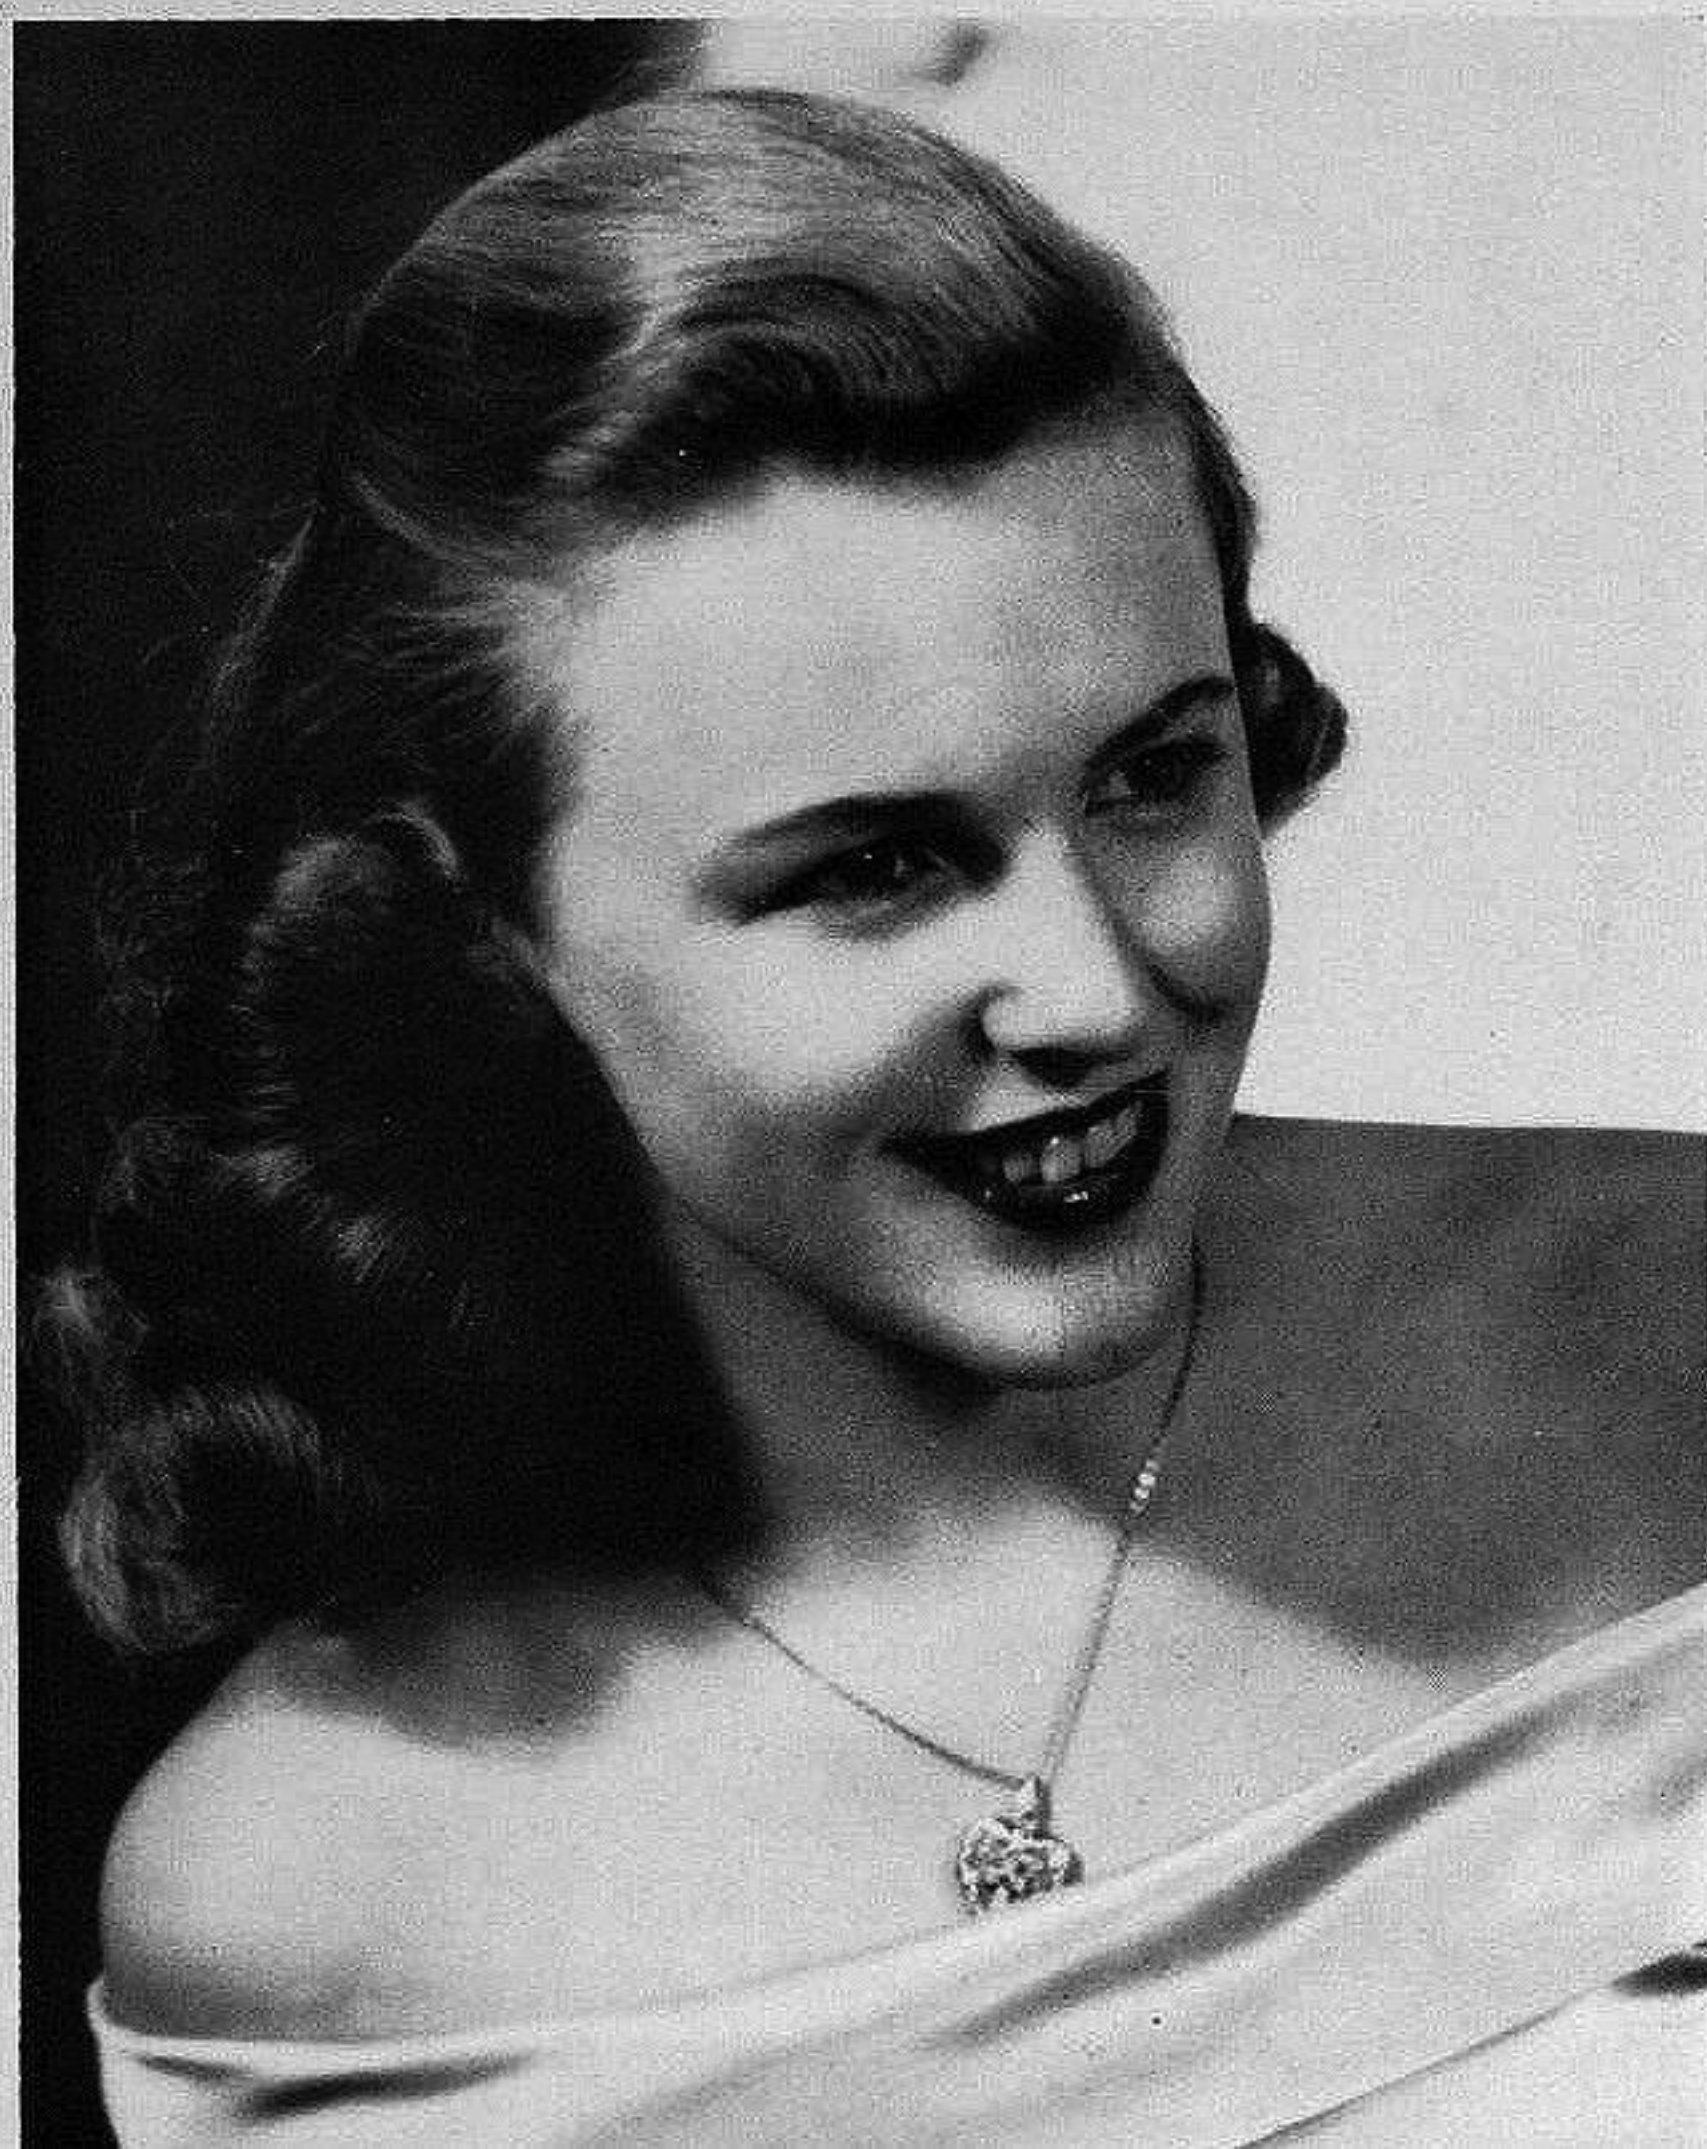

Rain did not hamper the events of Garb Day, October 27. It has been a tradition of the School of Forestry since 1922. The ten-day competition of beard-growing was climaxed by events of chopping, double bucking, tree climbing, and birling, a pump race, and inter-class tug-o-war. Chosen "Ole, King of Loggers," was Fred Micholotti, who chalked up the most points for the contest activities. Montgomery "Gummy" Johnson narrated the day-long contest of open-air events.

The Loggers' Brawl held in Anderson Hall climaxed the day's doings. Program chairmen were Chet Whitman and Joe Smith, with the assistance of Jerry Monahan, contests; Bob Palmer, publicity; Bill Dost, prizes; and Roger Baird and Dave Thomas committee-ing the dance. Mike Mohundro had the honorable title of "Chairman of Clean Up."

VARSITY BALL

The Varsity Ball is a traditional event, an all-University dance honoring the varsity letter winners. This year's dance, the theme of which was "Harbor Lights," was a huge success. Members of the Big W Club pick the queen to reign over the affair. Ralph Flanagan and His Orchestra furnished the music, with his vocal group, "The Singing Winds" coming in on the choruses. Bob Edgers was chairman of the dance committee, which made the arrangements for the February formal at the Field Artillery Armory.

Student BOB BAXTON was chosen by Ralph Flanagan to sing with the orchestra.

Finalists in the Miss Varsity Contest were Muriel Thorpe, Harriet Follis, Bev Fritz, Meno McLaughlin, Ann Osten, and Joan Swerdlik.

A record turnout (1600) and good skiing conditions made this year's Husky Winter Sports Carnival, at Stevens Pass, a big success. Chairmaned by Bill Wing, he was assisted by Nancy Donalson and Joan Cruise. Queen Corky Cochrane, who presided over the week-end affair, was crowned Saturday night and presented along with her court of Joan Richardson, Janie Creswell, Diana Thorpe, Jean McDonald, Sally Moses and Connie Howe. French ski ace Emile Allais, internationally famous world champion, helped with the races which included obstacle, handicap, costume and giant slalom events. Winners respectively were Mike Jared and Peggy Baugh (tied together with a six-foot rope), Jane Creswell and Dave Gossard, Candy Kennedy (as a "candy kiss") and Fred Brown and Dave Kingery (as "John and Marcia"), and Joanne Carlson and Curt Brown.

RING DANCE

Highlighting the Navy ROTC social season is the Compass and Chart annual Ring Dance. This year's dinner-dance was held at the Inglewood Golf and Country Club. Steeped in tradition dating from Class Ring day at Annapolis, the whole affair centers around a huge replica of the ring, newly constructed this year by Helmuth Seimer. Shown day-dreaming (top, left) by the ring is Jean Ross. Eager NROTC midshipmen surrounding her are (left to right): Harold Cowman, Joseph Donoghue, Robert Milbrad, Jack Jorgenson, Keith Jefferts, John Mulder and Daniel Waldorf.

Hi-point of the dance is when the queen, who reigns over the event, is announced. Queen for 1951 is Pat Tuthill, who was chosen by staff officers and their wives.

First step in the "ring ceremony" is dipping of the junior class rings in water imported from the "Seven Seas." Standing by the "binnacle" (right), Shirlee Johnson does this for her escort, Tom Nielson. Waiting for their turn is Jackie Swanberg and Art Gollofin. The next step after this (left) makes good use of the ring. Here the midshipman kisses his "best" girl to complete the ceremony.

Queen Pat Tuthill is presented the "royal scroll" by Captain C. D. Emory, USN, while her beau Don Stenquist looks on.

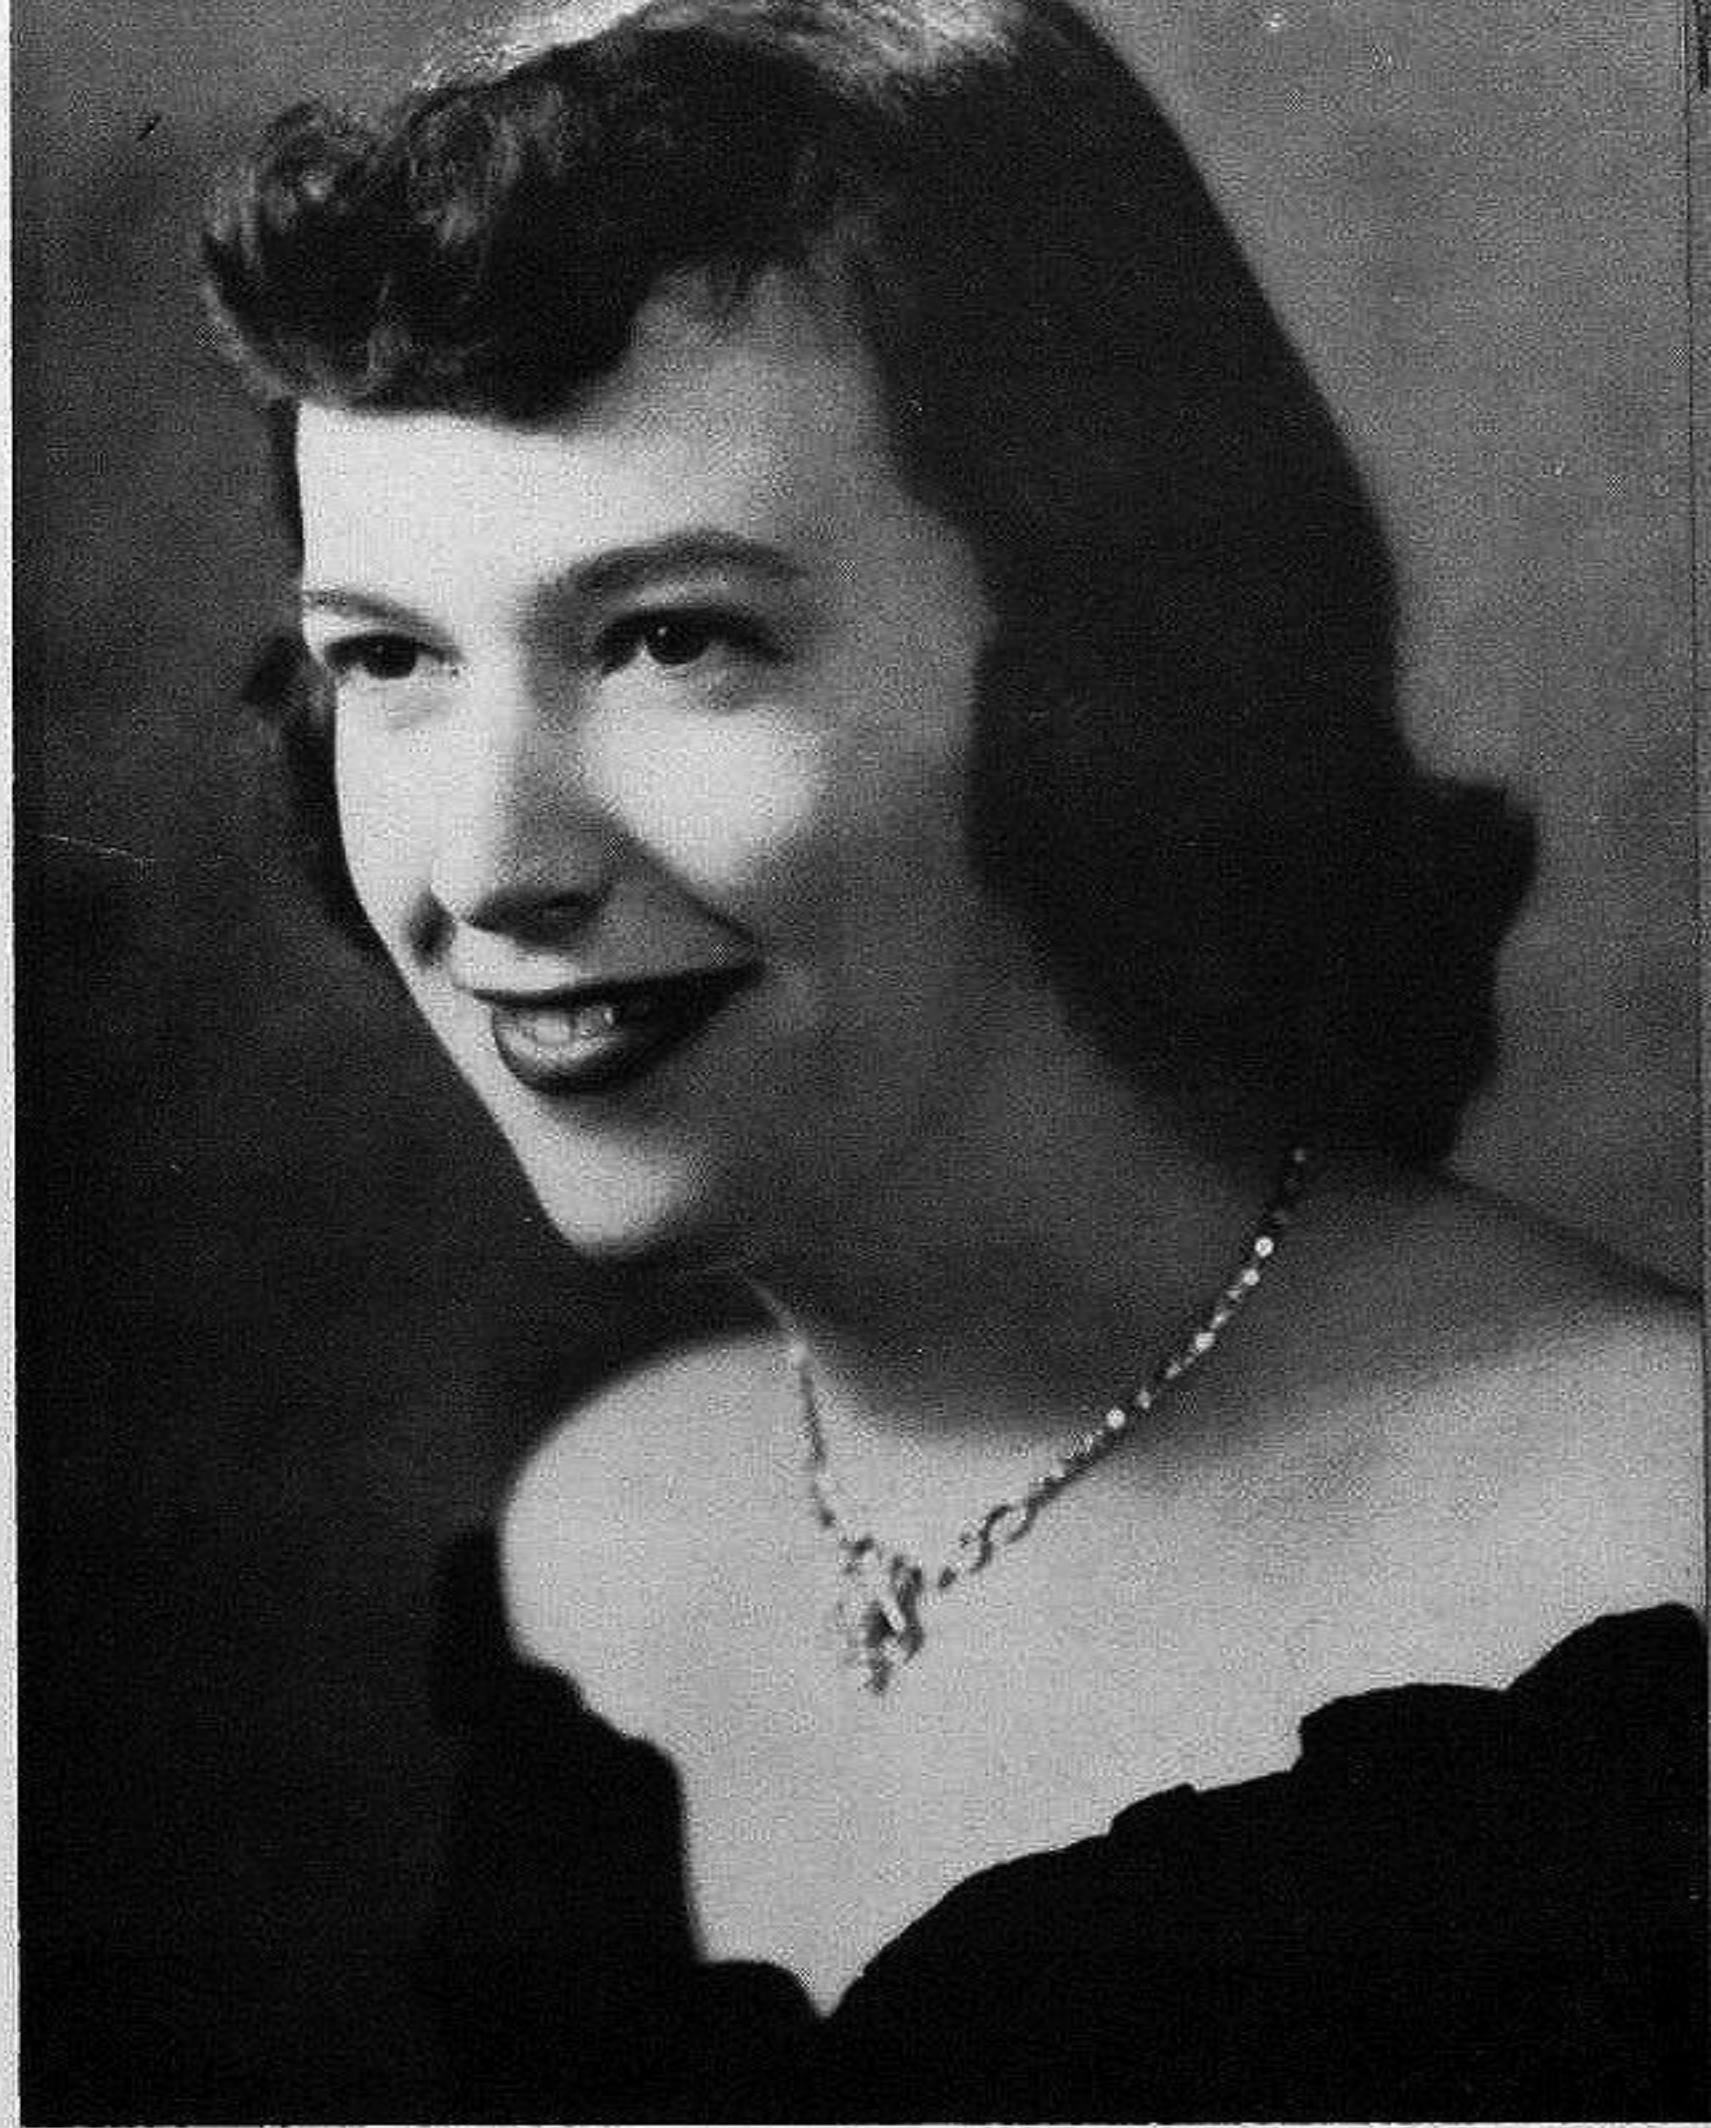

Prior to the formal was the "Queen's Luncheon" at the Bachelor Officers' Quarters. Midshipmen and their dates are: Bill Kirkman and Patti Bartlett, Don Stenquist and Pat Tuthill, Dex Washburn and Shirley French, Windy Hurlbut and Annette Weaver and Phil Meade and Corky Cochrane.

Novel half-time entertainment was provided by the lads in a skit depicting a mock amphibious landing.

ALL-U SHOW

Things are different and so was this year's All-U Show. Women finally took over the country and were drafted into the Army; so went the plot of "G.I. Jane." Second author-producer of the show was Craig Crawford who directed this unusual production. Even "John and Marcia" got into the act in the persons of Joan Gellermann and Fritz Apking. Other leads were: Jarine Olson and Bob Osborne, Mary Jane Palmer and Bud Shiner, and Dawn Trembly and Ernie Schwidderor.

Plot starts jelling in the Women's dorms, when the girls learn they are to be drafted. The scene shifts to gay Paris and those "Frenchmen" replacing the boy friends left behind. The story concludes when the 4-F boys join the USO and meet their soldier-girls in Europe.

Helping with the musical comedy were: Harry Poll, assistant producer; Liz Thompson, dance director; Bill Bohlin, dramatic director; Marvin Rowe, stage director; Gordy Lyle, stage manager; Bob Hudson, business manager; Len Lefkow, publicity manager; Nancy Lou Gellermann and Guy Wright, scenery; Dick Swartzell, music, and Mary Ellen Valack, costumes.

This, is a wolf? The rest are girls!

ARCHITECT'S BALL

"Out of This World," the theme of this year's annual Architects' Ball, is inadequate to describe this affair. The unique costumes are original, no one else would claim them. Sponsored by the Atelier Club, the dance was held during winter quarter at the Inglewood Country Club. Winner of this year's mural contest (shown in picture above) was Kenneth Piper, a junior architecture student.

Lustily singing their class song at the finale were the winners, the junior class. Shown in the front row are two of the leads, Louie Warren (in bloomers), as the "man from the moon" and dreamer Al Taylor (in a night-shirt). Their scene wove around a dream sequence with the talent coming from the moon.

SONG AND STUNT

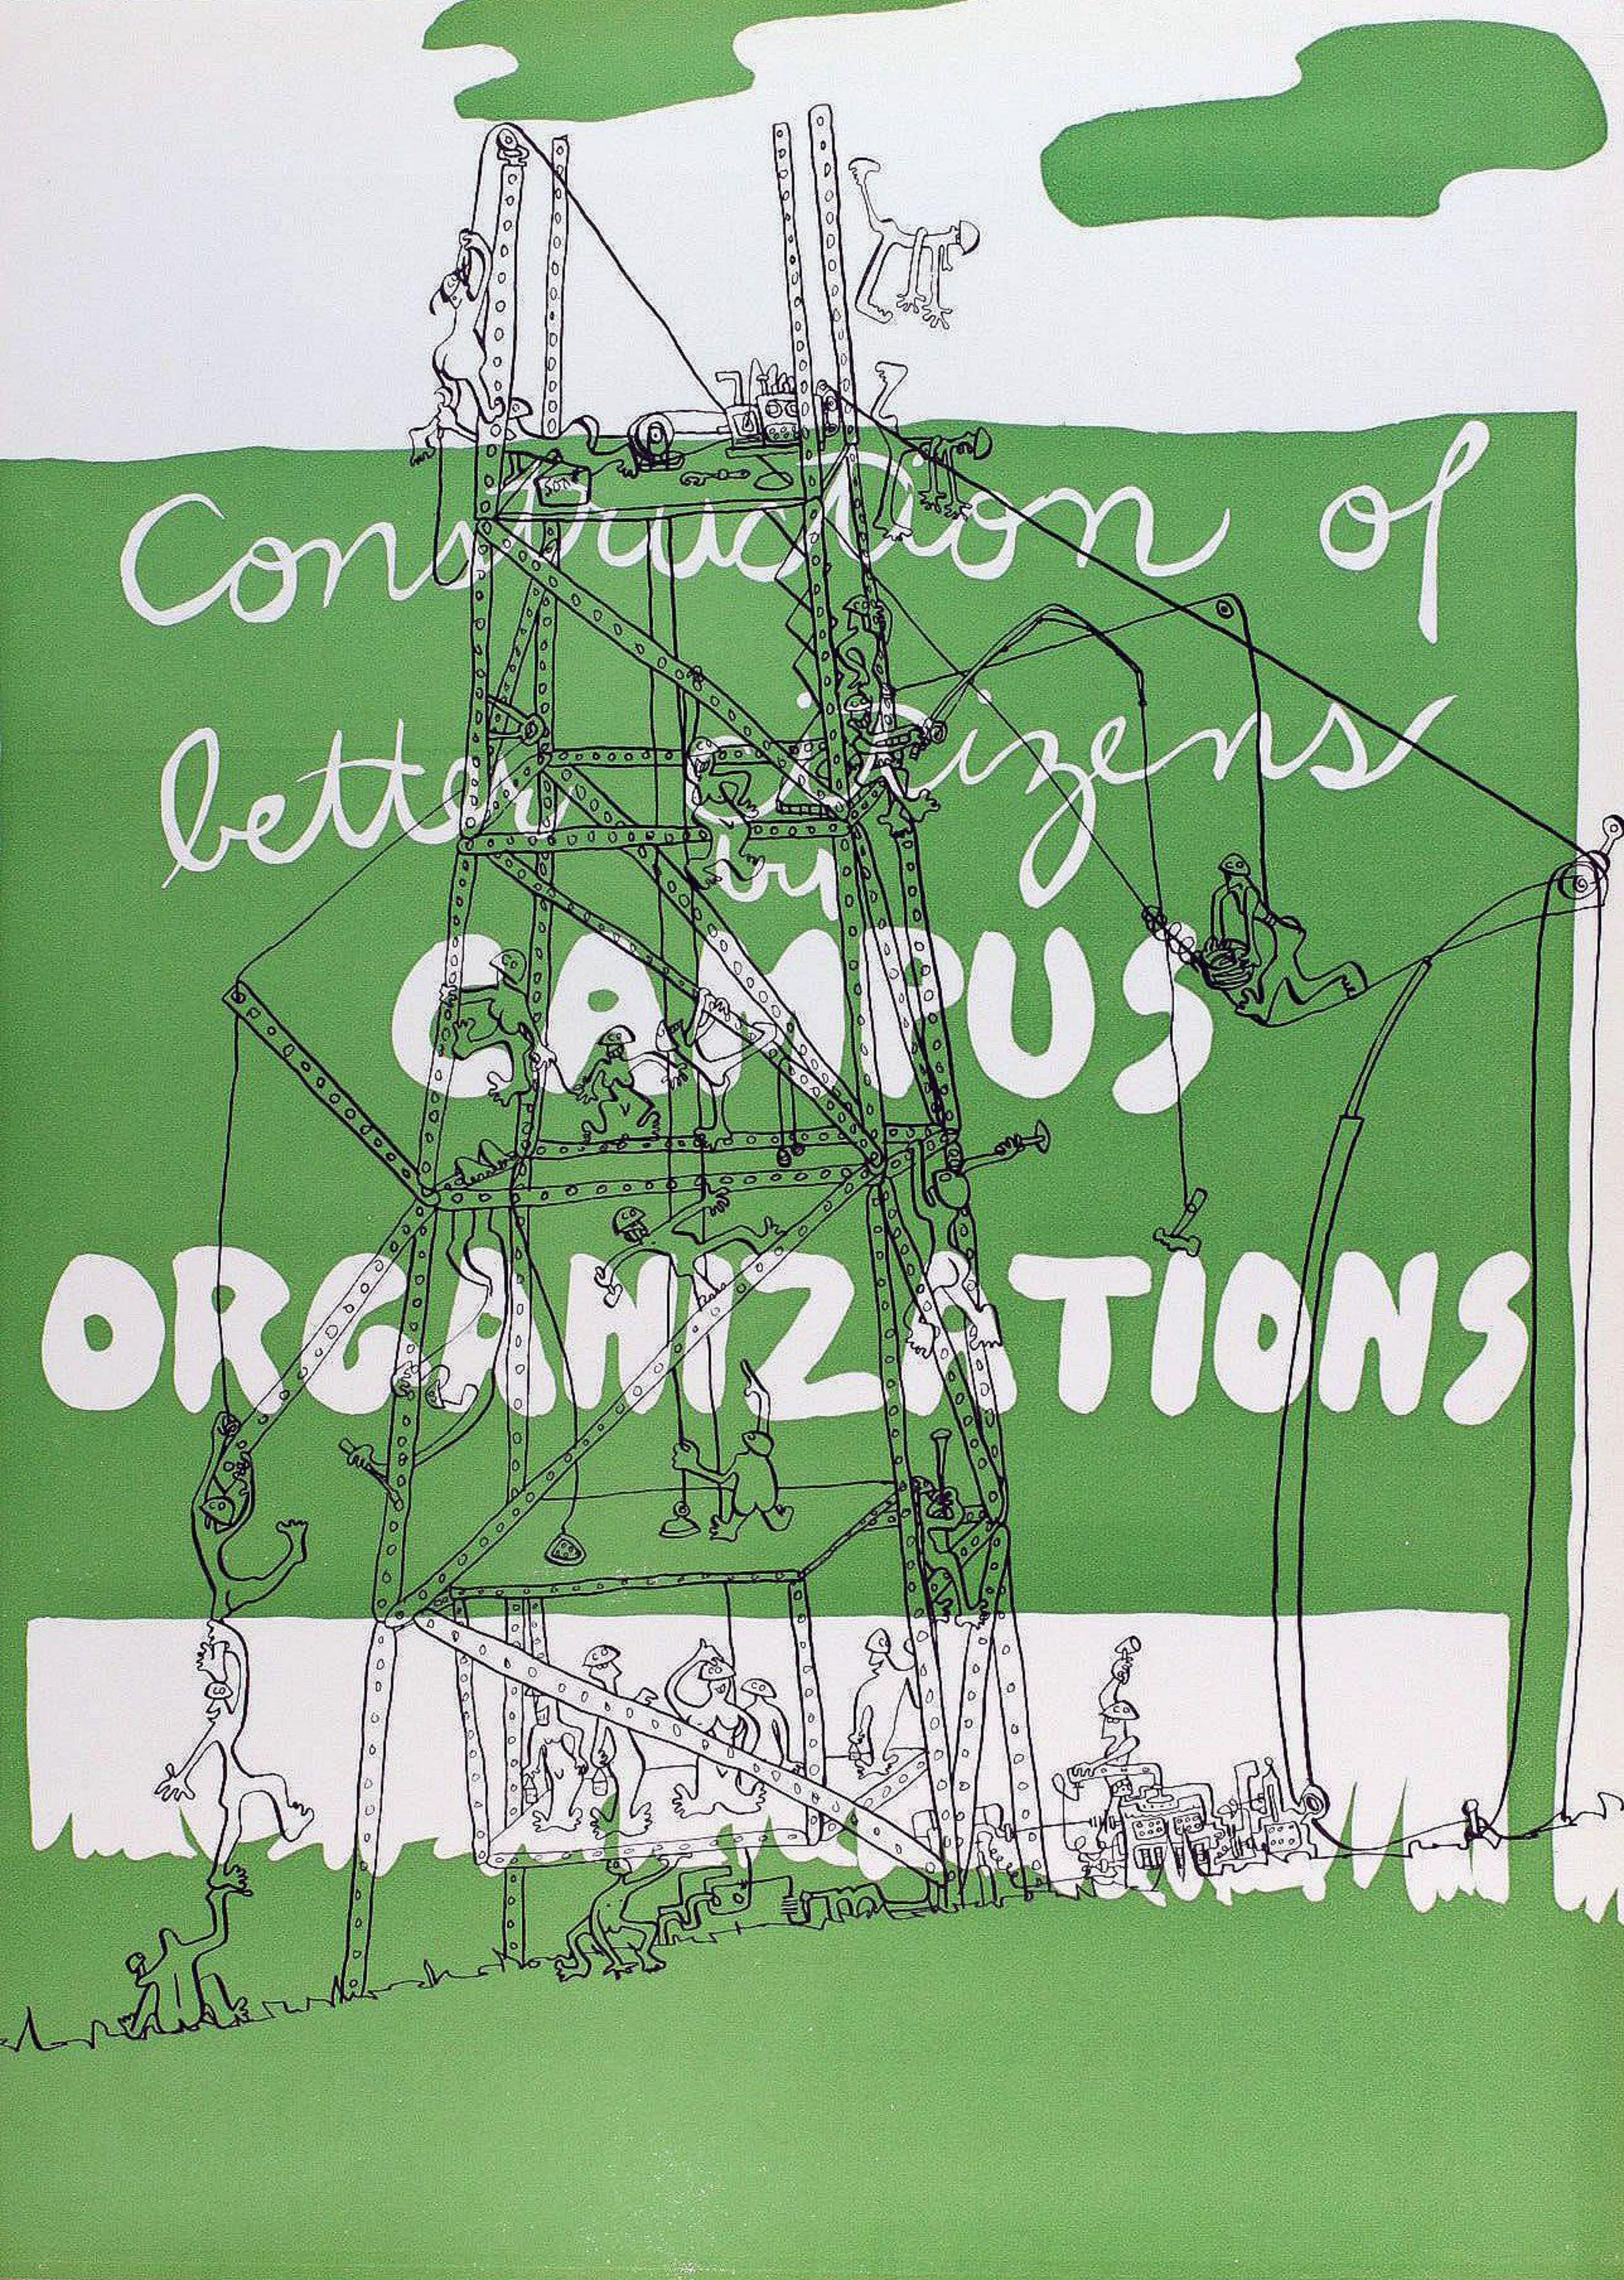

One of the outstanding freshmen acts was Joan Gellerman's rendition of "You Made Me . . . What I Am Today!"

Somehow the Charleston crept into the sophomore display, along with torchy harp players and lone-some service men.

The seniors will be remembered for their large "Arab" chorus and card stunt section shown here. The dancers in front were also nice.

Totem Club's annual Song and Stunt night played this year to a capacity audience. Competition between the four classes ended with the juniors taking top honors for the best stunt and freshmen, for the best song. The four stunts based on famous operettas were: "Show Boat" by the frosh with Bob King in charge; "Naughty Marietta," led by John Tomlinson of the sophomores; "New Moon," chairmaned by junior Alberta Wilkenson; and "Desert Song," directed by Jack Ehrig for the seniors. For the Totem Club, Joan Thrasher was general over-all chairman and Rosalie Hoar was her assistant. Working with them were: Kay Miller, script; Mary Jo Cleveland, between-acts entertainment; Ramona Smith, frosh assistant; Suzanne Bemis, programs; Kay Bradshaw, judges; Barbara Rue, publicity, and Ann Long, ushers.

Adelphi clubs are groups of independent men, banded together to further some common purpose. These clubs are kept small so as to maintain close relations between the members. Each club elects its own officers and carries on its own social program in cooperation with the other Adelphi clubs.

Adelphi signifies brotherhood and fraternal fellowship. This name was suggested as a fitting symbol for the organization by the late Professor Edmund Meany. Its aim is to give its members training in leadership, and through social activities, make their career more fruitful and enjoyable.

Phrateres, international social and service organization, is open for membership to all women on campus. This year, 150 members were included in plans for dances, a monthly newspaper, slumber parties, sports activities, ski parties, a week-end houseparty and the annual Mother's tea. The six sub-chapters on campus also consider service projects an important part of their activities. They have adopted a Belgium amputee and send her letters and boxes of food, clothing, and toys regularly. Parties for orphans, hospital tray favors, a Christmas basket, and participation in the March of Dimes campaign were a few of the many projects. Phrateres encourages high scholarship among its members and many are known for their participation in campus activities. No matter what they do they always fulfill their motto, "Famous for Friendliness."

SORORIA

Sororia was organized at the University of Washington in 1910 to bring together mature women students, both married and unmarried, enrolled for either graduate or undergraduate studies. Its purpose is to promote friendship and mutual interests, both academic and social. The group is fostered by a strong alumnae who aid in the social program with interesting functions for the campus group such as the fall tea for getting acquainted, Christmas party for members in the city during the holidays, summer picnic and a graduate breakfast honoring the current year's graduates.

HUSKY WINTER SPORTS CLUB

From the ORGANIZATIONNS ASSEMBLY to the HWSC meeting, representatives Anne Edmiston and Barbara Pascoe will report on happenings around campus.

Chairman Dave Ridgeway, Mike Jerrad, Marilyn Lockwood and Peggy Baugh take care of rules and regulations for racing events and hold the title of RACING committee.

Handling a big job for a little girl, Marily Enger is the SOCIAL AND SPECIAL EVENTS chairman.

The ART COMMITTEE, consisting of Joanne Schwary, Chairman Shirley Wizer and Shirley Anderson, carry out plans of other committees through posters, decorations and other art work.

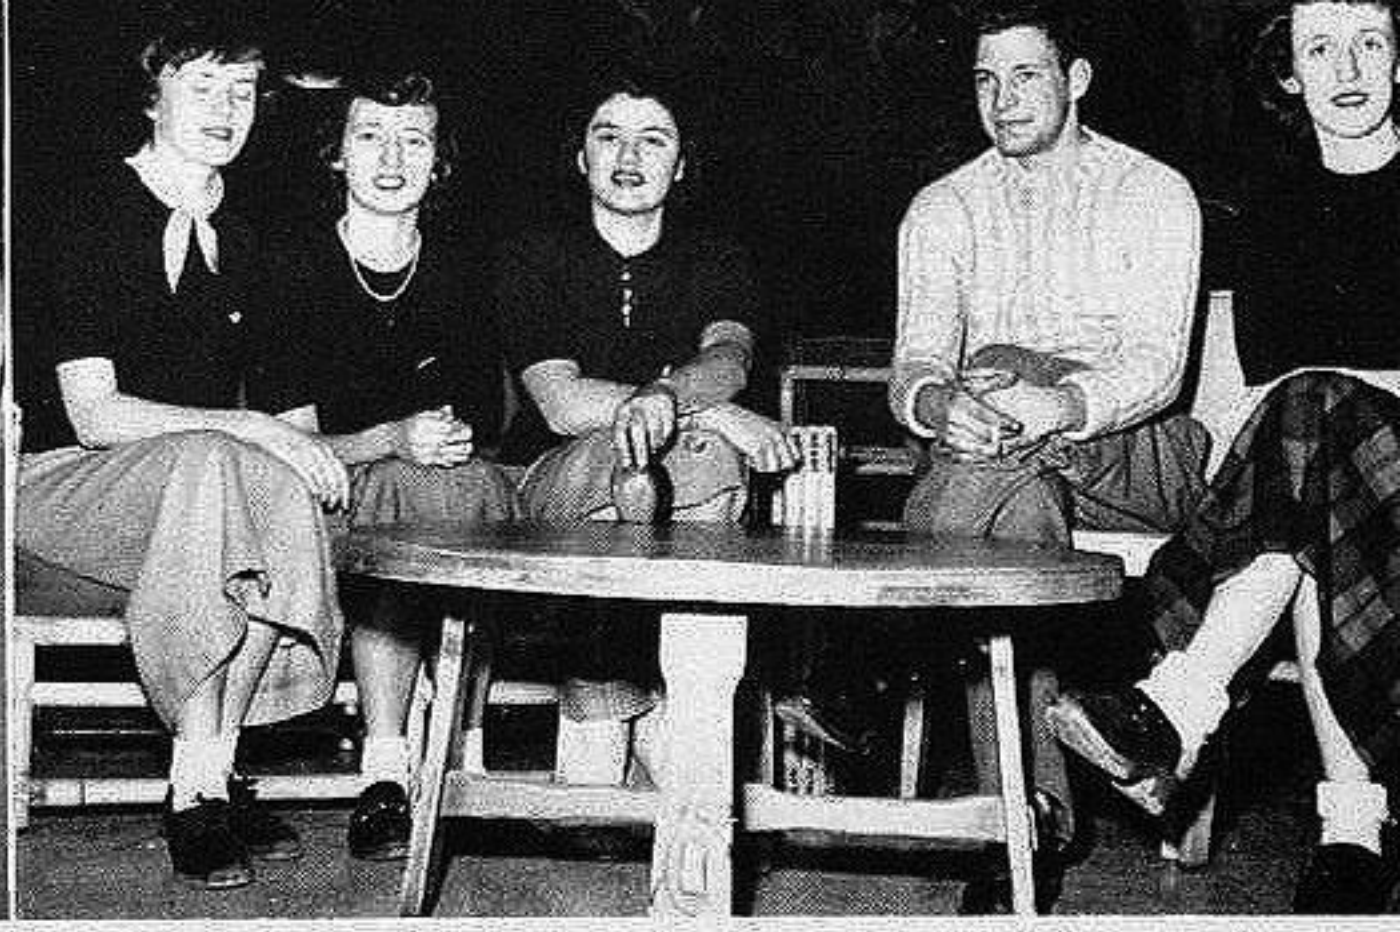

The Husky Winter Sports Club was very successful in putting skiing in the sports spotlight this year. Even before the first snowfall, HWSC sponsored the annual John Jay movies, which really set the mood. Arranging for car pools, free ski and first-aid instructions are just a few of the many advantages one has by joining HWSC. And all this is only the preliminary for the main event of the Washington skiing year—the Winter Carnival. This year Queen Corky Cochrane reigned over a full weekend of events including amateur intramurals, costume and handicap races.

These six girls kept HWSC working machinery well-oiled through endless hours in the third floor HUB office. Seated are Sharon Dennis, Anne-Marie Lundberg and Shirley Campbell. Standing are Joan Brown, chairman; Marlene Meyer, and Margie Santo.

All set for one of many HWSC tours, the TOURING Committee pauses for the camera. Dick Knott, Ole Roald, chairman, and Betty Jean Johnson are members. Ole Roald is also Membership chairman.

Responsible for this year's successful Winter Carnival are Anne-Marie Lundberg, Marilyn Witt, Joan Krakovsky, Bill Wing, chairman; and Kathy Thomson, members of the WINTER CARNIVAL Committee. Not pictured: Joanne Garrett, co-vice-chairman; Nancy Donalson, co-vice-chairman; Joan Cruise, Mickey Wright, Diana Thorp, Nancy Janson, Mary Edwards, Desi Weaver, Jane Creswell, and Joan Richardson.

It takes plenty of accuracy and patience to make headway in a novice race.

Form is an important element in the advanced races; get a load of that knee action!

The YMCA is one of the University's oldest organizations, having been founded on campus in 1888. The group is governed by elected and appointed student members and has initiated a number of campus traditions and services—first employment center, housing bureau, international house, "W" book—to mention a few. Housed in Eagleson Hall, on the edge of campus, the Y has many facilities and services to offer students—study rooms, library, lounge, information services, recreation room, social hall, cafeteria and meeting rooms.

Learning by doing—that is the best way to learn. When it comes to human relations and social responsibility, the academic system seldom provides an opportunity to learn through action. The YWCA offers students a "laboratory of life" to test ideas, try out techniques and crystallize beliefs.

The city of Seattle and the state of Washington are rich in opportunities for learning by doing. Programs of the University Y brings students face to face with these opportunities in situations which point out the problems of democratic living and indicate possible solutions. Juvenile delinquency, international strife, racial tensions, religious conflicts, political lethargy, self-government—these and many other issues of our day are dealt with in the Y's program—not academically from an ivory tower, but realistically through actual experience.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

Wing Luke leads a Cosmopolitan Club discussion in Eagleson Hall.

Cosmopolitan Club provides an opportunity for students from abroad to become familiar with American students and their customs. Through weekly noon lunches, every country's ideas and traditions are represented by its respective student members. Membership in the organization is open to all who are interested.

Coffee adds to the hospitality which pervades Cosmopolitan Club meetings.

Toastmasters Club is the University organization of the International Toastmasters Clubs. The main purpose of the club is to help every member get experience in talking before a group. In this case, the group consists of fellow Toastmasters who are friendly and helpful to the inexperienced speaker.

In addition to developing this valuable asset of speaking freely and effectively, Toastmasters also has a social program. The members meet weekly, and sponsor several events during the year.

The Toastmasters Club is open to anyone interested in a friendly social club with a purpose. If you are interested, drop over to the HUB any Tuesday evening and observe the Toastmasters in action.

"Be a leader, Be a friend, Be of service" is the motto of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Its purpose is to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Boy Scout Oath and Law.

Gamma Alpha chapter was founded in 1939 and was inactive during the war. Since its reactivation in the fall of 1947 it has become one of the most active organizations on campus. Two members, Rusty Callow and Brock Adams, are past ASUW presidents.

Some of the regular service projects carried on by Alpha Phi Omega are caring for campus bulletin boards, providing maps of the campus, acting as election officials and working for the rehabilitation of the amphitheater. This natural theater, situated just north of the infirmary on the side of the hill running toward Lake Washington, once held 12,000 persons. It is now overgrown with trees. Former president Taft spoke there during the AYP Exposition. Theodore Roosevelt was another notable who addressed an audience in the Amphitheater.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national organization of 176 chapters and over 20,000 members. Gamma Alpha was host chapter to a Northwest Sectional conference two years ago.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Established during the summer months of 1949, the Baptist-Disciple Fellowship is an organization for Baptist and Disciple young people. Because of the unification of the Baptist and Disciple students at the University, a student house was purchased. Situated on the corner of East 45th and 15th Ave. N.E., the Fellowship house provides many opportunities for Baptist and Christian students attending the University.

The purpose of the Fellowship is two-fold: To promote Christian fellowship and leadership among the Baptist-Disciple students and their friends. To aid students in finding an intelligent and personal religion.

The fellowship house was transformed for the evening for a night of fun and frolick.

ALPHA ALPHA MU

The need for a men's organization in Westminster Club was first felt in 1946 and plans were laid to begin such a club the next fall. Today the group has grown to a membership of 25 actives. The club sponsors dances, a beach party and cruise, fireside devotionals, as well as a stag party, father and son banquet and regular bi-weekly meetings.

The Tuesday noon luncheon and discussion group was held in the HUB this year.

The Canterbury Club is an organization of Episcopal students at the University of Washington. Its purpose is to provide an opportunity for students to receive the teachings and life of Christ through prayer, study, service, giving, evangelism, and unity. This opportunity allows for Christian growth of the student as an individual and as a member of the corporate body of the church. The club has an able chaplain and advisor in the person of the Rev. Canon David R. Cochran, and an assistant advisor, Miss Merrill Babcock. Both are engaged in full-time work with the Episcopal Students. Christ Church at East 47 and Brooklyn Avenue is the headquarters for the club. Membership is open to any student who is interested, and who is willing to participate in its activities.

Kappa Phi, which was founded at Kansas University in 1916, is a national organization for Methodist preference college women. Our aim is "Every Methodist Woman in the University World Today a Leader in the Church of Tomorrow." Regular dinner meetings are held every first and third Thursday at Wesley Foundation.

"Our Heritage" is the theme around which this year's programs are built. Other activities include an annual concert, pledge dance, initiation banquet, and a box social.

The home of Mu chapter of Kappa Phi is Wesley House at 4205 15th Avenue N.E. where it shares the use of the house with Wesley Club. Kappa Phi also co-operates in all Wesley Club activities.

Balloons adorn the festive winter quarter Pledge Dance.

Wesley Club is a student organization sponsored by the Methodist Church, bringing students together to share their common convictions and concerns in the quest for Christian living. The membership includes both men and women and is affiliated on campus with the Campus Religious Council, Kappa Phi, and Wesley House, resident group. Nationally, Wesley Club is associated with the Methodist Student Movement, the World Student Christian Federation, and the United Christian Students Council. The program during the year includes Sunday Evening Firesides, Religious discussion groups, the weekly Coffee Hour, the noon lunch fellowship, student-led Chapel services, week-end social events, work camp projects and Student Sunday at the University Methodist Temple. Wesley Club facilities are open for the use of all students and student groups.

The Newman Club is the center of Catholic student activities on the University of Washington campus. Its purpose is to bring into common fellowship all Catholic students attending the University... To promote this purpose a program of religious, intellectual and social activities is presented throughout the year. The local chapter of the Newman Club was established in 1908 and is a member of the National Federation of Newman Clubs.

The officers of the past year were Michael Hughes, President; Frank Powers, First Vice-President; Steve Mondau, Second Vice-President; Sally Mahoney, Secretary and Henry Zepeda, Treasurer.

"Thy Lord Is Truth" is the theme for Lutheran Student Associations all over the country. Luther Club is one of 400 Lutheran Student groups on college and university campuses.

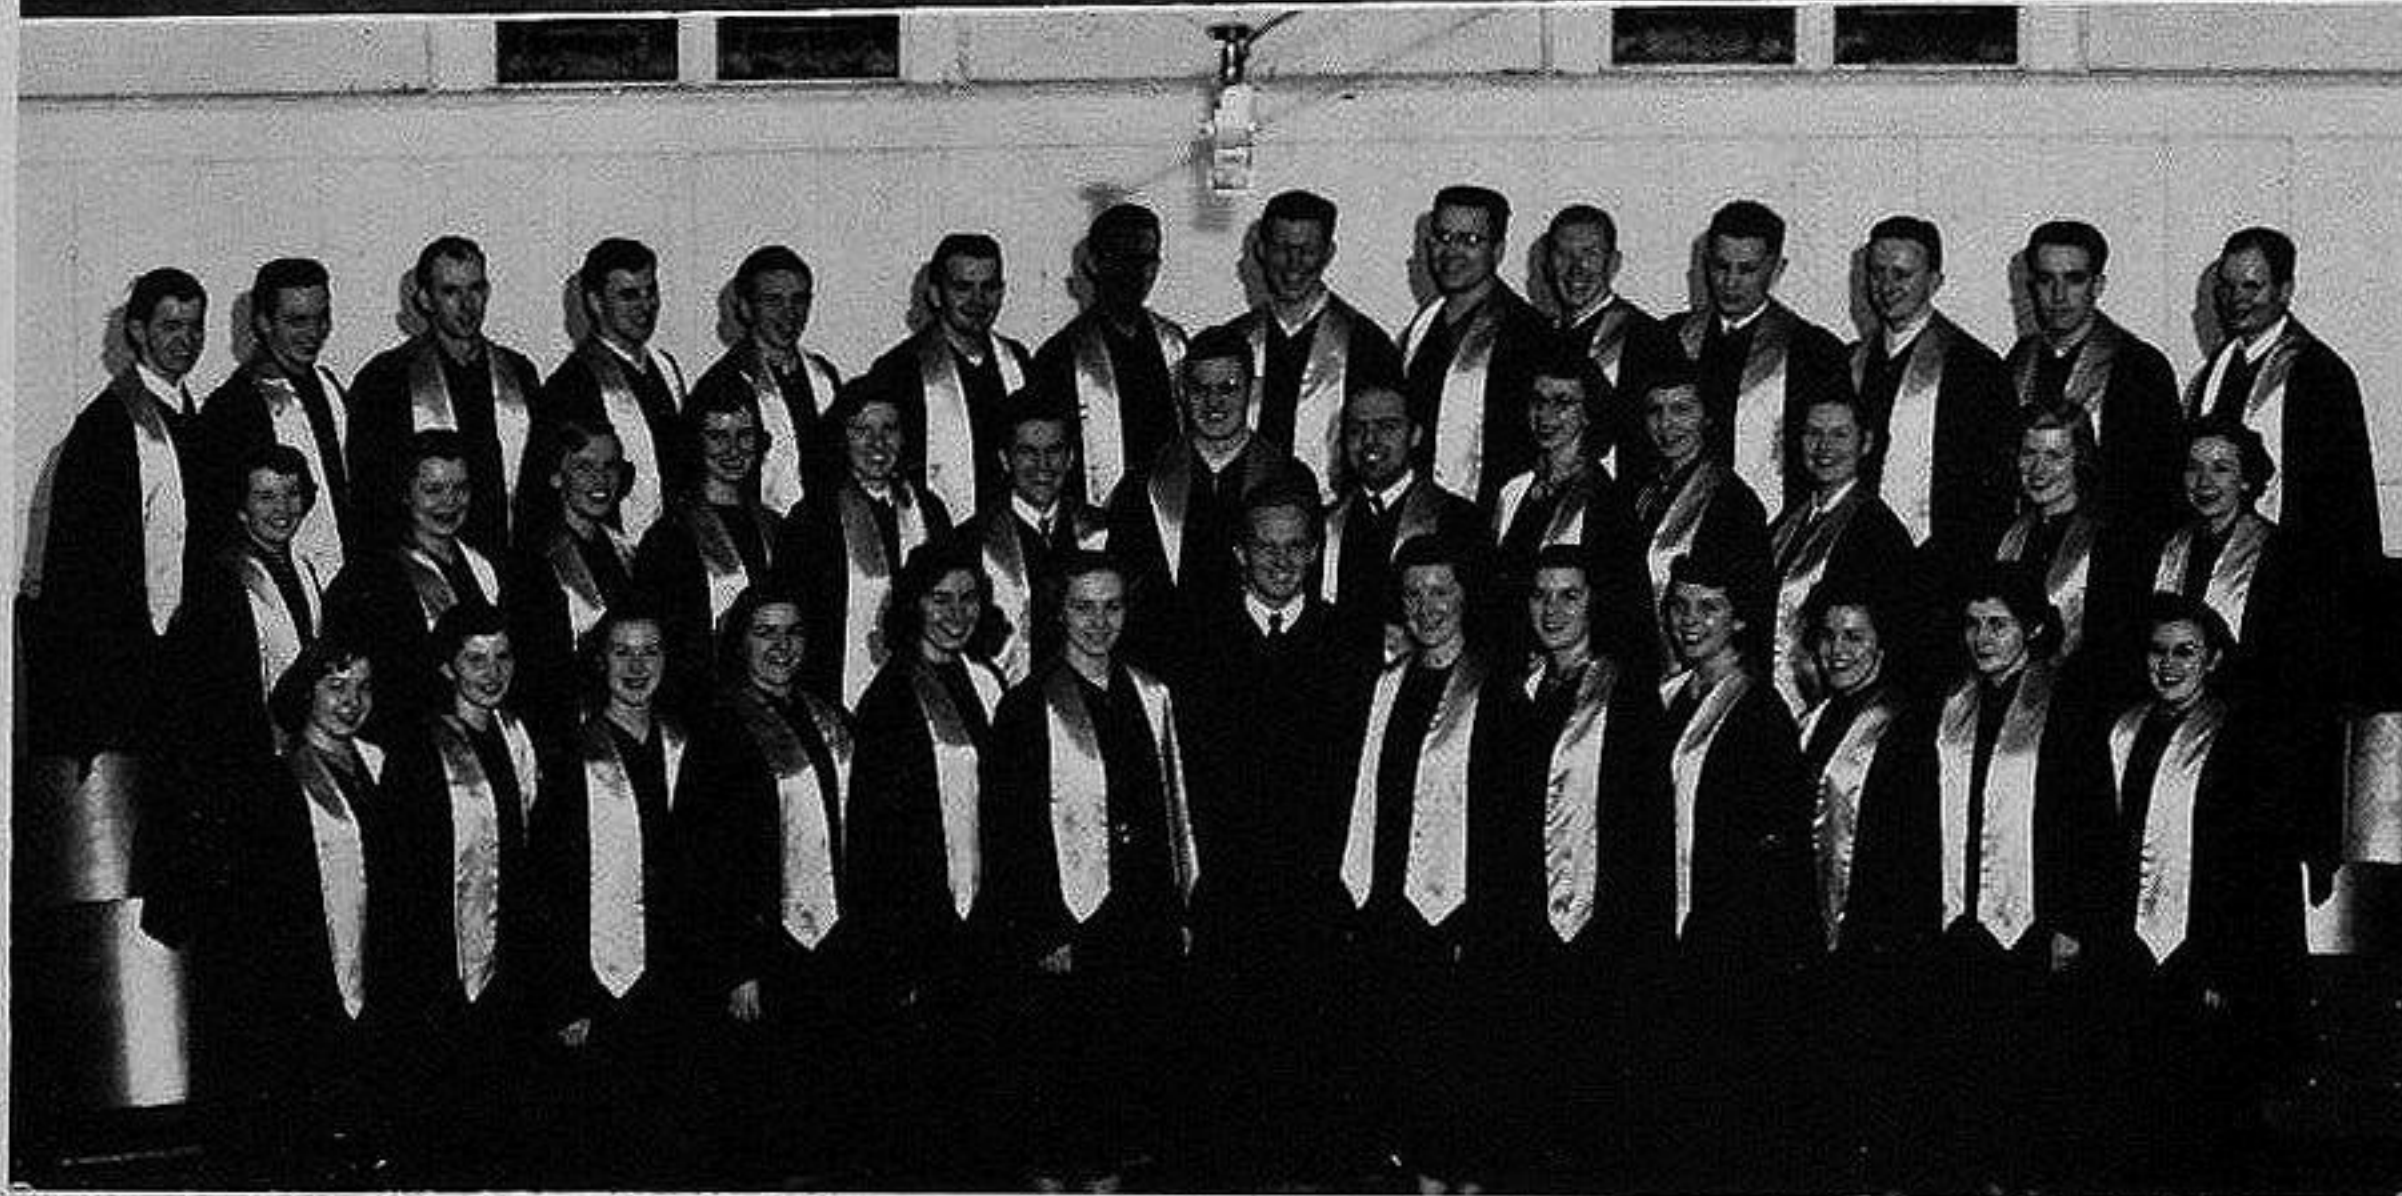

Luther House is the center of many of the club's activities—noon lunch, Bible Studies, Thursday noon meditations, and Friday night socials, as well as always being open for fun and fellowship, study and serious discussions. The Sunday evening supper meetings, the highlight of the week, are held at the University Lutheran Church, including worship, speakers, and discussion. A graduate-student and faculty discussion group led by the faculty members on their own field as it relates to Christianity, has aroused enthusiastic responses.

Calvin Club is the college group of the University Presbyterian Church. Organized in the spring of 1948 with the underlying purpose of providing spiritual growth and social activity, the group has grown to a membership of over two hundred.

Among the activities comprising the Calvin Club schedule are: Sunday Morning Bible Hour, Sunday Evening College Hour, Bi-Monthly Singspiration, Tuesday Night Fellowship Dinner, Weekly Bible Study, Collegiate Choir, Prayer Groups, Deputation Team, Fall and Spring Conferences, and Socials.

B'nai B'rith is a national organization devoted to cultural, religious, and counseling service among Jewish students at colleges and universities and was organized at the University of Washington as a Hillel extension unit in December, 1940. Established as a full foundation in March, 1941, through the efforts of Seattle and Pacific Northwest Lodges of B'nai B'rith, B'nai B'rith has sponsored Hillel since 1923. Today it maintains Foundations and Counselorships in 201 colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, Cuba, and Israel.

A shady spot on 15th provides a restful and convenient meeting place for Christian Science students.

Relaxation is accompanied by a piano duet.

Picnics fill in an active schedule at the Organization's house.

Christian Science Organization at Washington was formed in 1917 by seven students, guided by the provisions in the Mother Church Manual of Mary Baker Eddy, who founded the Christian Science Church as a "church designed to commemorate the word and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing." (Church Manual, page 17.)

The organization's primary activity has always been its weekly religious meeting-testimonies of healing and remarks on Christian Science. Meetings are now held in Eagleson Hall every Thursday evening of the school year, and on Tuesday afternoons at the Organization Student House.

Since 1920, the organization has sponsored an annual lecture, open to the student body and faculty, by a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The organization student house at East 43rd and 15th N.E. was purchased in 1945 with the help of alumni and friends. The house is a quiet, convenient place where students may read or borrow the Bible and writings of Mary Baker Eddy, study their university work, eat their lunches, and make satisfying friendships. The present structure will in the future be replaced by a modern building. This new building will provide adequate space for all activities of the organization, including the Thursday evening meetings'

The University's athletic program furnishes opportunities for everyone. Besides the nine major varsity sports and a number of minor sports, there is a large intramural program and a women's athletic program, in all of which a large percentage of the student body participate.

In the past couple of years, a new addition has been made to the Stadium, increasing the seating capacity to 55,000, and new quarters have been constructed for the long-famous Husky Crews.

The Husky, symbol of University teams since 1923, has exhibited its strength and spirit with excellent showings in all sports. Its crews, football team, basketball team, and ski team have demanded and received national attention, and all of its athletes are to be reckoned with by any and all opposition.

VARSITY CREW

Despite problems encountered by a delayed turnout and unusually poor weather, Coach Al Ulbrickson proceeded to turn out another championship crew. He is shown above giving a few helpful hints to Ken Walters, varsity number 4 man and Captain of the 1951 crew.

Washington completed another successful rowing season last year with impressive victories over Wisconsin and California, and a "clean sweep" of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta held in Marietta, Ohio.

Displaying their collection of T-shirts won during their four years of varsity rowing, Norm Buvick, Rod Johnson, Al Morgan, Bob Young, and Warren Westlund are the only crew men ever to accomplish the feat of winning four varsity letters. This was made possible by the special wartime athletic rules making it possible for freshmen to compete in varsity sports. They won their freshman awards by competing in the National Sprint Regatta held on Lake Washington in 1948.

This cartoon depicting Washington's Supremacy of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regattas, appeared in one of the Eastern papers. Drawn by one of their cartoonists, it shows the impression shared by the majority of rowing fans in the East.

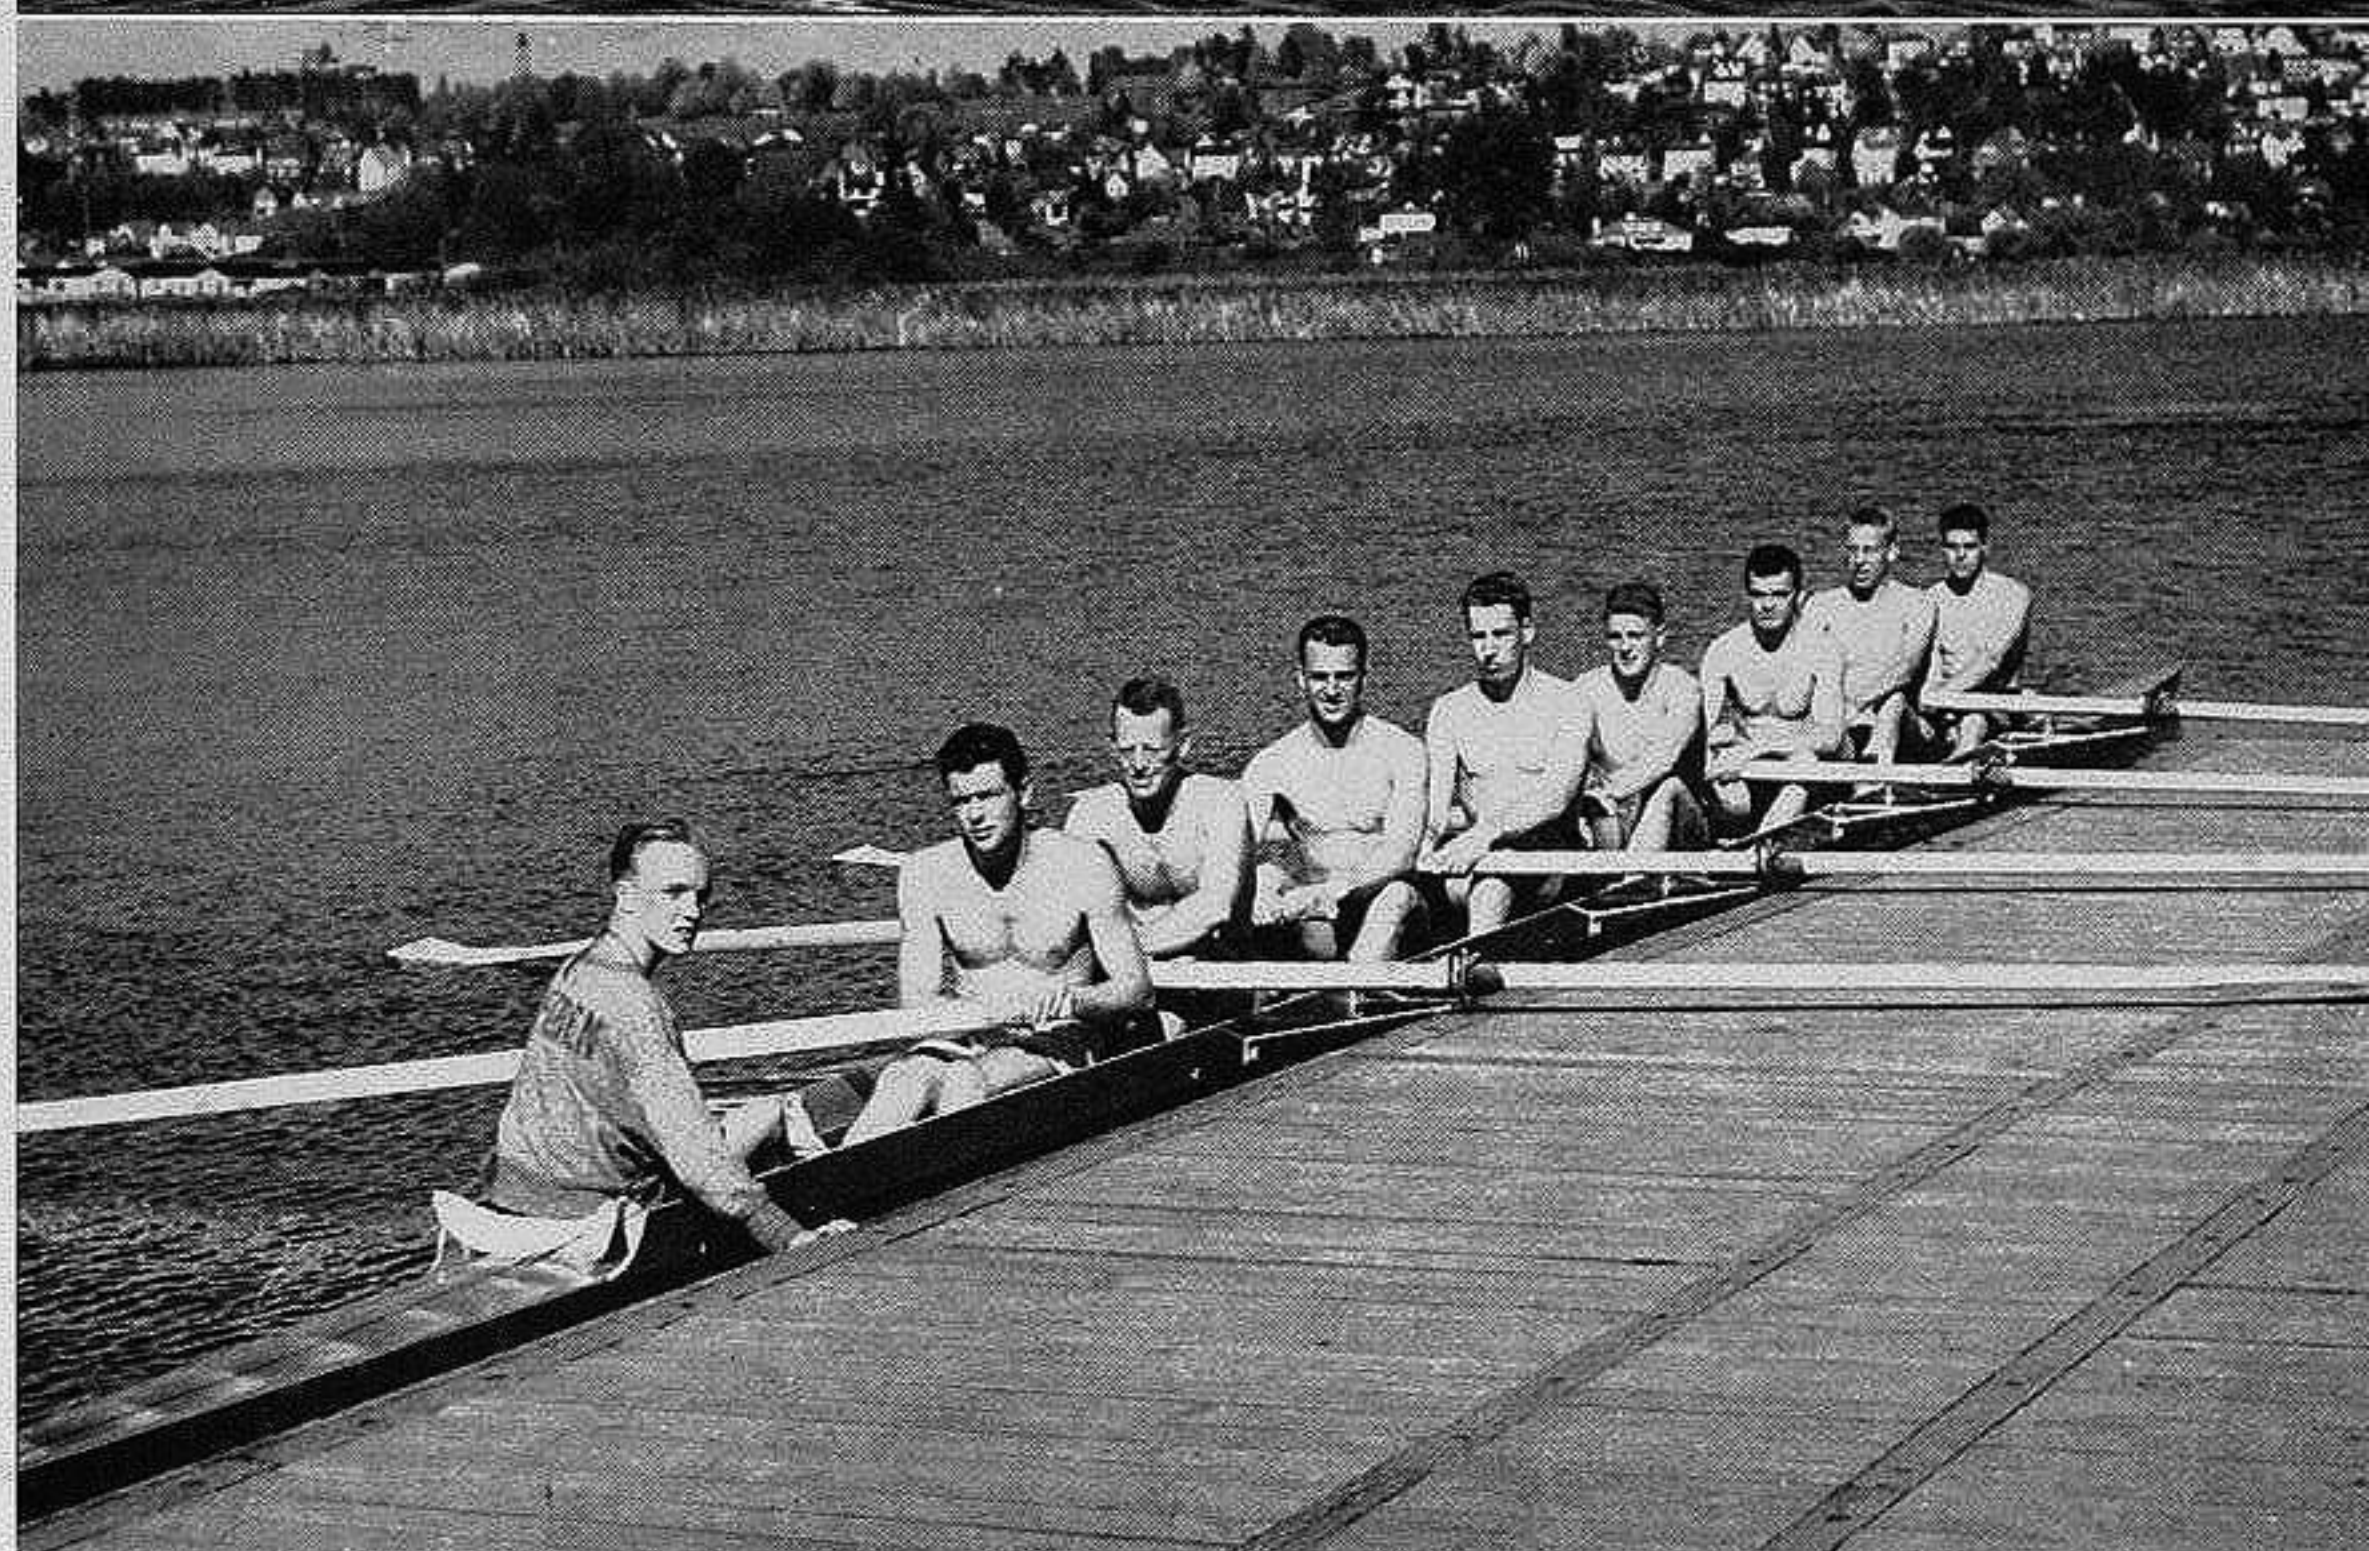

Last year's varsity having Roger Baird at stroke, and backed by Rod Johnson at 7, Al Ulbrickson Jr. 6, Norm Buvick 5, Ken Walters 4, Bob Young 3, John Audett 2, and Carl Lovested in the bow, went through the season undefeated.

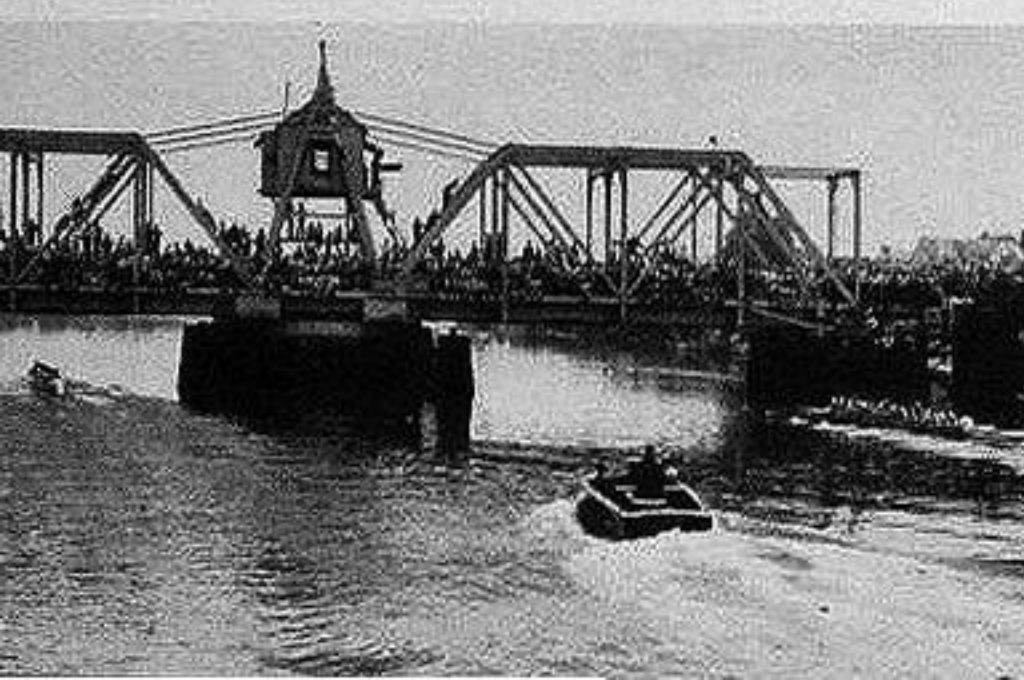

Washington's J.V. crew stroked by Charlie McCarthy with Wilbur Lowe at 7, Warren Helgersen 6, Phil Horrocks 5, George Waiss 4, Dick Jordan 3, Warren Westlund 2, and Owen Miller in the bow, beat Wisconsin on Lake Washington. Then, after meeting California on the Estuary, scored an impressive upset victory over all the J.V. crews at Marietta.

1950 Varsity and J. V. Crew Season

Washington started off its string of 1950 victories with an unimpressive win over Wisconsin. The race was rowed on Lake Washington under the worst of conditions, for the entire Seward Park course was turned up by a strong wind. The experience of the Washington Juniors in rough water was a deciding factor, for they immediately pulled out to a length lead and continued to win by a considerable margin.

By the time the varsity shells were lined up, conditions became even worse. The Huskies found their stroke, but before either boat had gone over a quarter mile Wisconsin began to ship water. After a brief discussion both coaches decided to stop the race rather than risk the chance of swamping both shells. With Wisconsin bringing their shell in on the paddle Washington proceeded at a low regular stroke to finish the race and relieve any doubt as to the winner.

Senior NORM BUVICK rowed number 5 in the varsity.

Washington had its first real chance to show its wares when the Huskies journeyed South to take on the powerful Cal crew. Contrasted to the Wisconsin race, the weather was at its best with smooth, flat water prevailing over the entire course.

The J.V. race over the customary three miles found California taking an early lead and holding it throughout the race. The Washington Juniors just couldn't get going, and gave California a victory with open water.

The feature varsity event was everything the experts said it would be. Cal jumped to its usual quarter boat lead in the first few seconds and maintained 33 strokes per minute to Washington's 32. At about the mile mark, Washington started to cut the lead, for the Husky power more than made up for California's higher stroke. At the beginning of the third mile, Washington's rugged conditioning and months of hard work began to pay off. Each stroke seemed to be more powerful than the last, and the Husky shell pushed out ahead of California by first one seat, then two, and finally by half a length. At the end of the race, Washington was sprinting at 35 strokes, and Cal, despite a desperate 38 beat, fell back. Another great Washington crew had defeated the best that Cal could offer.

Rowing number 7 in the varsity was ROD JOHNSON, a senior.

WARREN WESTLUND, number 2 man of the J.V., was also a senior.

Varsity number 3 man was BOB YOUNG, another senior.

"Squirrelly" JOHN AUDETT, senior, held down the varsity number 2 spot.

With two victories behind them, the Huskies returned home to prepare for the big Eastern race held last year at Marietta. All of the races at Marietta were abbreviated when a prolonged rain storm caused the Ohio River to rise. But the strong current and the shortening of the races were taken in their stride by the Huskies, for they went on the sweep the river for the fourth time in the history of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta. No other crew ever has been able to achieve this feat even once.

The yearlings won the opener, and then the junior varsity turned in the surprise of the day. Their earlier defeat by California left them decided underdogs, but they went out like favorites and beat the strong California boat by two lengths.

In the varsity race, Washington got off to a bad start and gave Stanford and Wisconsin a strong lead. At the mile mark Wisconsin continued to lead, but Stanford dropped back. Then Navy, about a length behind, hit a marker buoy and had to drop out of the race. As the final mile began to pass under the boats, Washington started moving. They pulled away and left California, their nearest rival, three lengths behind.

The western crews dominated the race, with Washington, California, Wisconsin and Stanford placing first to fourth. The order of the rest of the crews, fifth through twelfth, was M.I.T., Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Syracuse, Rutgers, and Navy.

The I.R.A. Regatta will be held at Marietta, Ohio, again this year.

A Washington crew waits at the finish line while their Wisconsin opponents paddle across in an attempt to keep their shell from swamping. Washington won both the varsity and J.V. races over the Lake Washington course.

ART GRIFFEN, junior varsity coxswain, gets a free swim after the J.V.s had defeated Wisconsin over an unusually rough Seward Park course.

WILBUR LOWE rowed his final year at number seven in the J. V.

Varsity stroke ROGER BAIRD was a junior.

Another junior, KEN WALTERS, rowed number 4 in the varsity.

Senior CHARLIE McCARTHY stroked the J. V.

INDIVIDUAL HONORS

After last year's outstanding performance as a team, Washington's crew proceeded to bring home some fine individual honors also, placing three men on the All-American list. Al Morgan, the Huskies' four-year varsity coxswain; Norm Buvick, powerful varsity five-man; and Bob Young, an outstanding three-man, made up this trio.

Washington's crews were led through their string of victories last year by co-captains Warren Westlund and Rod Johnson. This year's crew nominated Ken Walters as its captain. Ken rowed four in last year's varsity and is currently holding down the same seat.

Bob Young, on top of his All-American honors, was chosen as last year's inspirational award winner by his fellow crewmen. This was a fine tribute to a deserving oarsman.

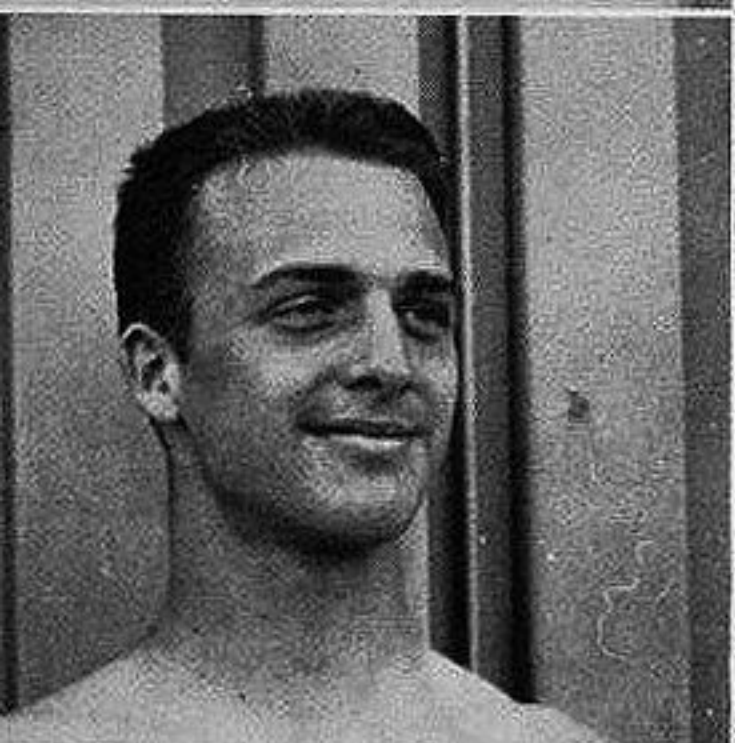

Sophomore PHIL HORROCKS held down the five seat in the J. V.

OWEN MILLER, another sophomore, was the J. V. bowman.

Number 4 man in the J. V. was sophomore GEORGE WAISS.

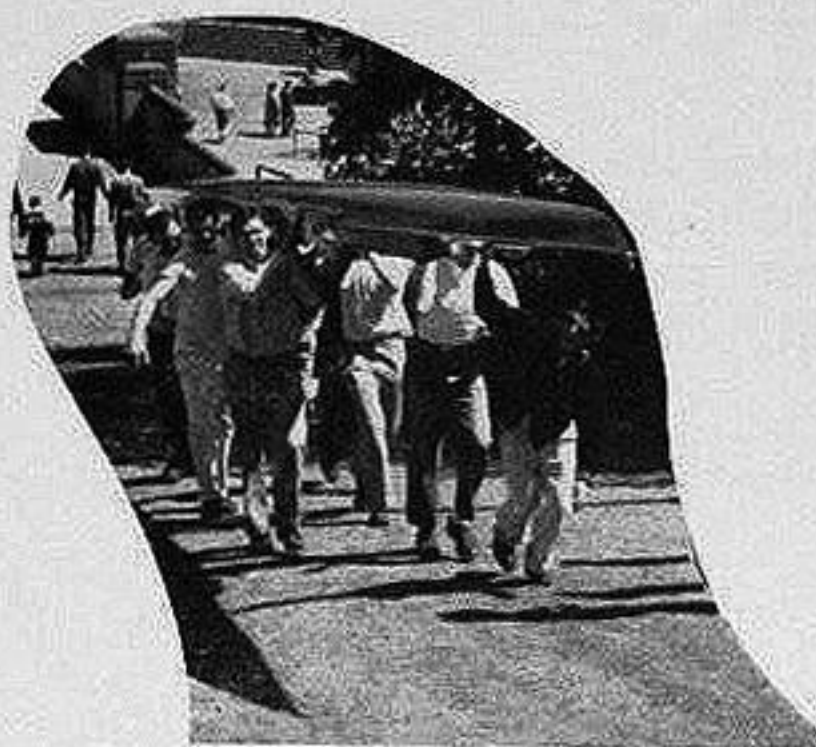

On the number 6 J.V. oar was WARREN HELGERSON, a sophomore.

Long Hard Turnouts Make Up for Shortened Rowing Season

Starting out the 1950 rowing season, the Husky oarsmen were handicapped by lack of docking space at the new shell house, and thus missed the fall turnout. Coach Al, who believes that a crew should row close to 1500 miles to be in condition to compete in races, had to make up for lost time during the winter and spring turnouts. This necessitated longer and harder rows than usual, but the boats came through in good shape.

Poor rowing weather also hampered the Huskies. Strong winds, which always give oarsmen trouble, seemed to be ever present during the early spring months.

Washington's shellmen really began rounding into shape during spring vacation when they were able to turnout in the mornings and late afternoons. They were able to concentrate on perfection of rowing and conditioning, without having studies to bother them.

After spring vacation there was considerable sprint work added to the long conditioning runs, and the Huskies returned to one turnout a day. Four boats battling each night provided keen competition, and it wasn't until late in the season that the first and second boats began pulling away from the others, and Coach Al began to see who would be behind the oars in the first two shells.

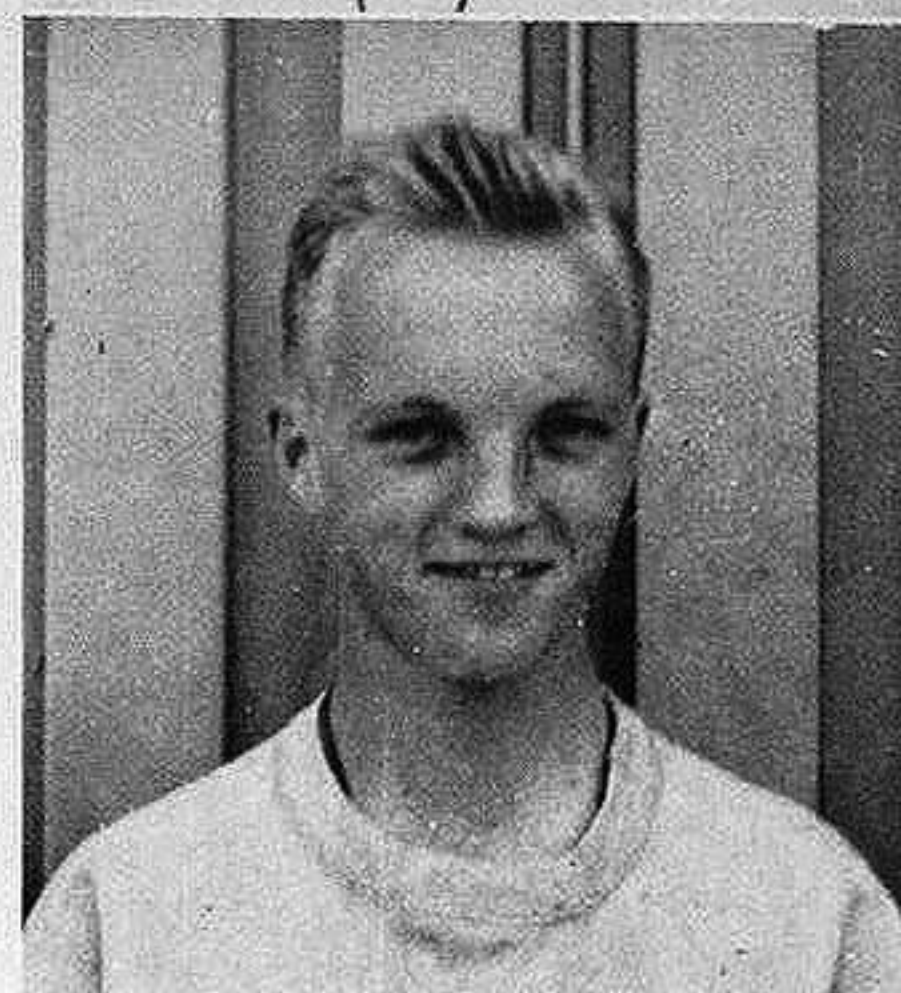

AL MORGAN earned his fourth letter as coxswain of the varsity.

Varsity and J. V. coxswain TREN GRIFFIN was a junior.

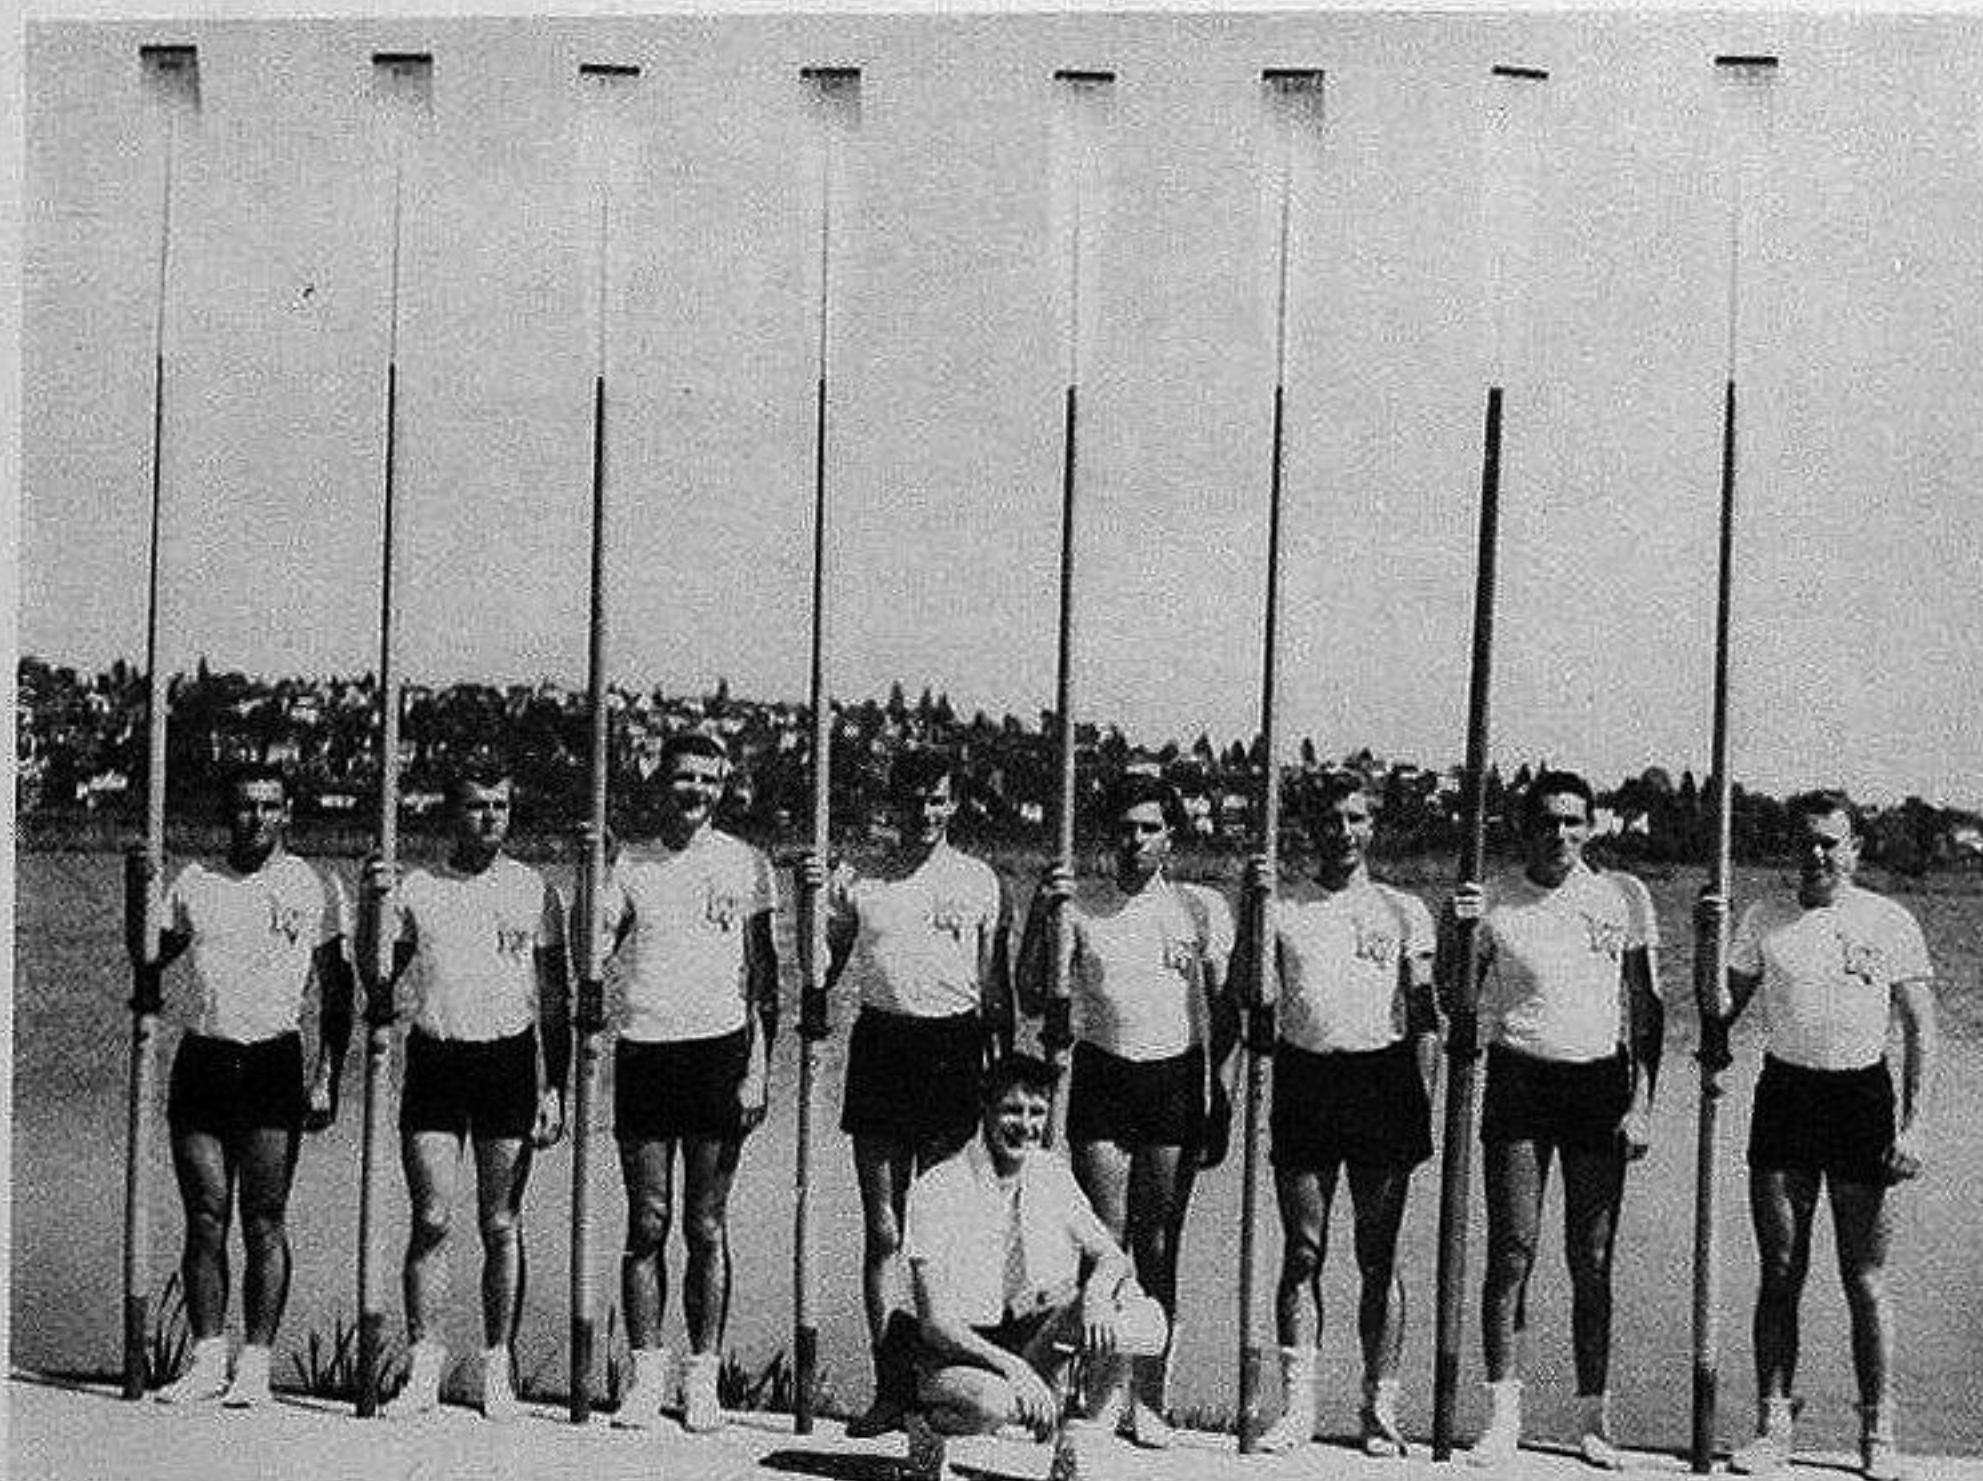

Junior ART GRIFFIN won his J.V. letter as coxswain in the Wisconsin race.

Below are four of the varsity boats racing in from the Laurelhurst light during one of the last turnouts before the first races in the spring. Husky crews are a familiar sight to lake-side residents all during the school year.

DON LANDON, last year's lightweight coach did a fine job in maintaining Washington's lightweight crew superiority in this area by having his varsity eight win all four of their races.

The ordinarily limited schedule of the University of Washington lightweights was extended last year by rowing return races with both Oregon State and the University of British Columbia.

The lightweights started off the season by travelling up to Vancouver to challenge the U. of B.C. varsity and J.V. in Coal's Harbor. Rowing under the worst of conditions, the first lightweights took their race with ease, the UBC eight sinking in the rough water right after the start. The UBC J.V. retaliated by taking the second race after the Washington shell broke a rigger in the early part of the race.

The second race of the year found the first lightweights defeating the Oregon State Varsity over the Laurelhurst 2000-meter course.

Two weeks later the lightweights repeated themselves with another victory over Oregon State, this time on the Willamette River.

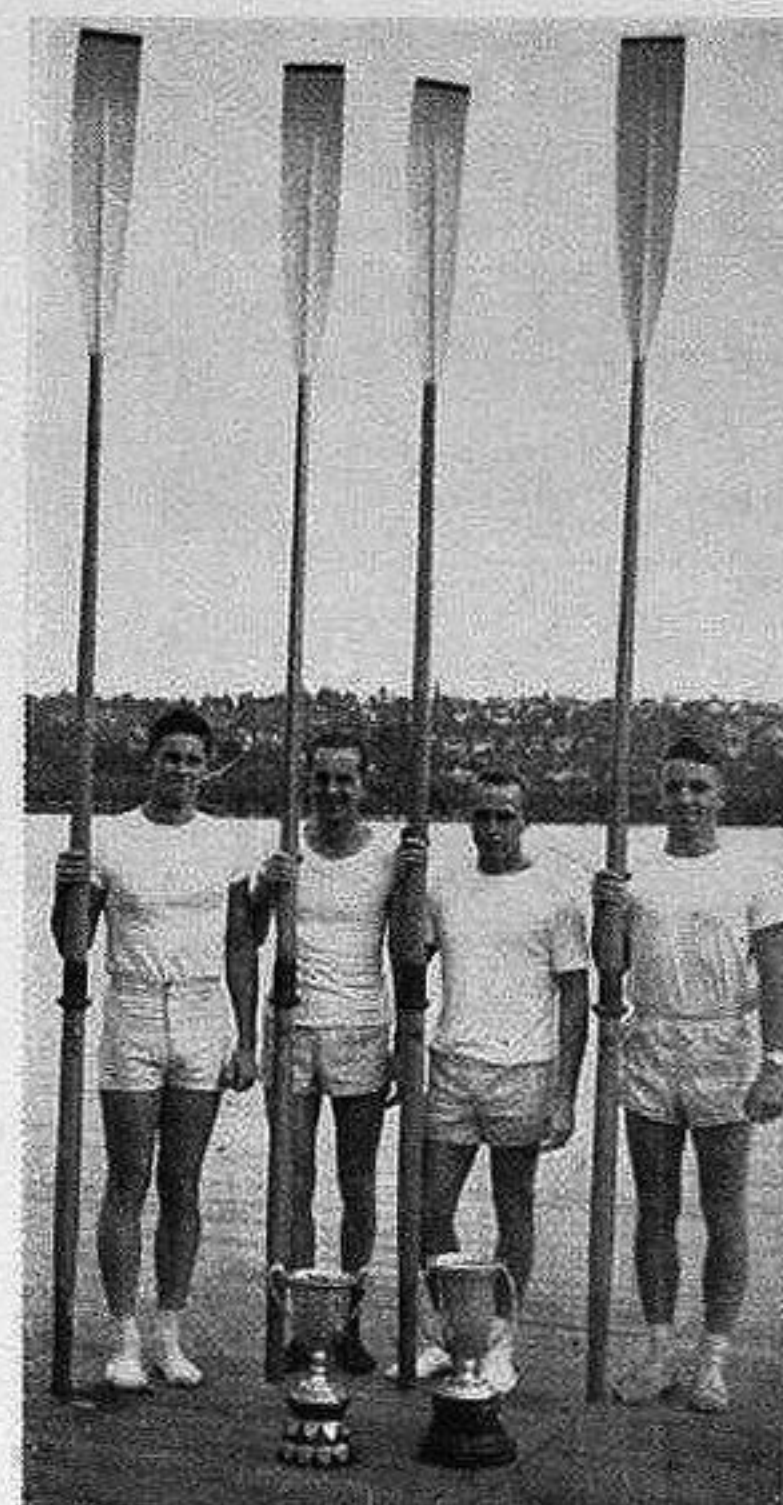

For the final race of the season, the UBC Thunderbirds came down to make another unsuccessful attempt at defeating the Washington lightweights.

The lightweights were coached this year by Don Landon, a former varsity oarsman for Washington.

Chuck Moriarty, Washington's newest addition to the crew coaching staff, takes over as lightweight coach this year, filling the vacancy left by Don Landon.

Shown at right are Washington's representatives in the four-oared lightweight Kelowna International Regatta, which Washington won for the tenth straight year. It was held on Lake Okanogan, B.C., and was rowed over the Henley mile. The oarsmen are stroke Bob Richey, "Dad" Dibble, Frank Hampson, and Tom Ables.

Washington's Frosh crew is shown defeating California's yearlings last year on the Oakland Estuary. Coached by Stan Pocock, they finished their season undefeated.

FROSH CREW

Washington's Frosh crew, headed by Stan Pocock, proceeded to go through another undefeated season. Giving a good indication of future prospects, some good varsity material should come from this turnout.

The yearlings started out their season by taking on California down on the Oakland Estuary. Rowing under perfect conditions, both crews got off to a good start with California taking about half a length lead, which they held on to for about $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile. Then the Washington Frosh began to move, upping their stroke a beat, they gradually pulled away leaving the California eight two lengths behind as they crossed the finish line.

Using the same line-up back east, the Pocock coached crew took all comers on the Ohio River. Rowing $1\frac{5}{8}$ miles, due to the flood conditions on the river, the Frosh took an early lead and were never seriously threatened for the rest of the race. They finished a good two lengths ahead of second place Princeton.

The line-up of the first Frosh boat had Fil Leanderson as stroke, backed up by Eric Fonkalsrud, Dave Nielsen, Carl Strandin, Bill Cameron, Dick Walstrom, Erv Johnson, Jim Callaghan, and Tom Winter as coxswain.

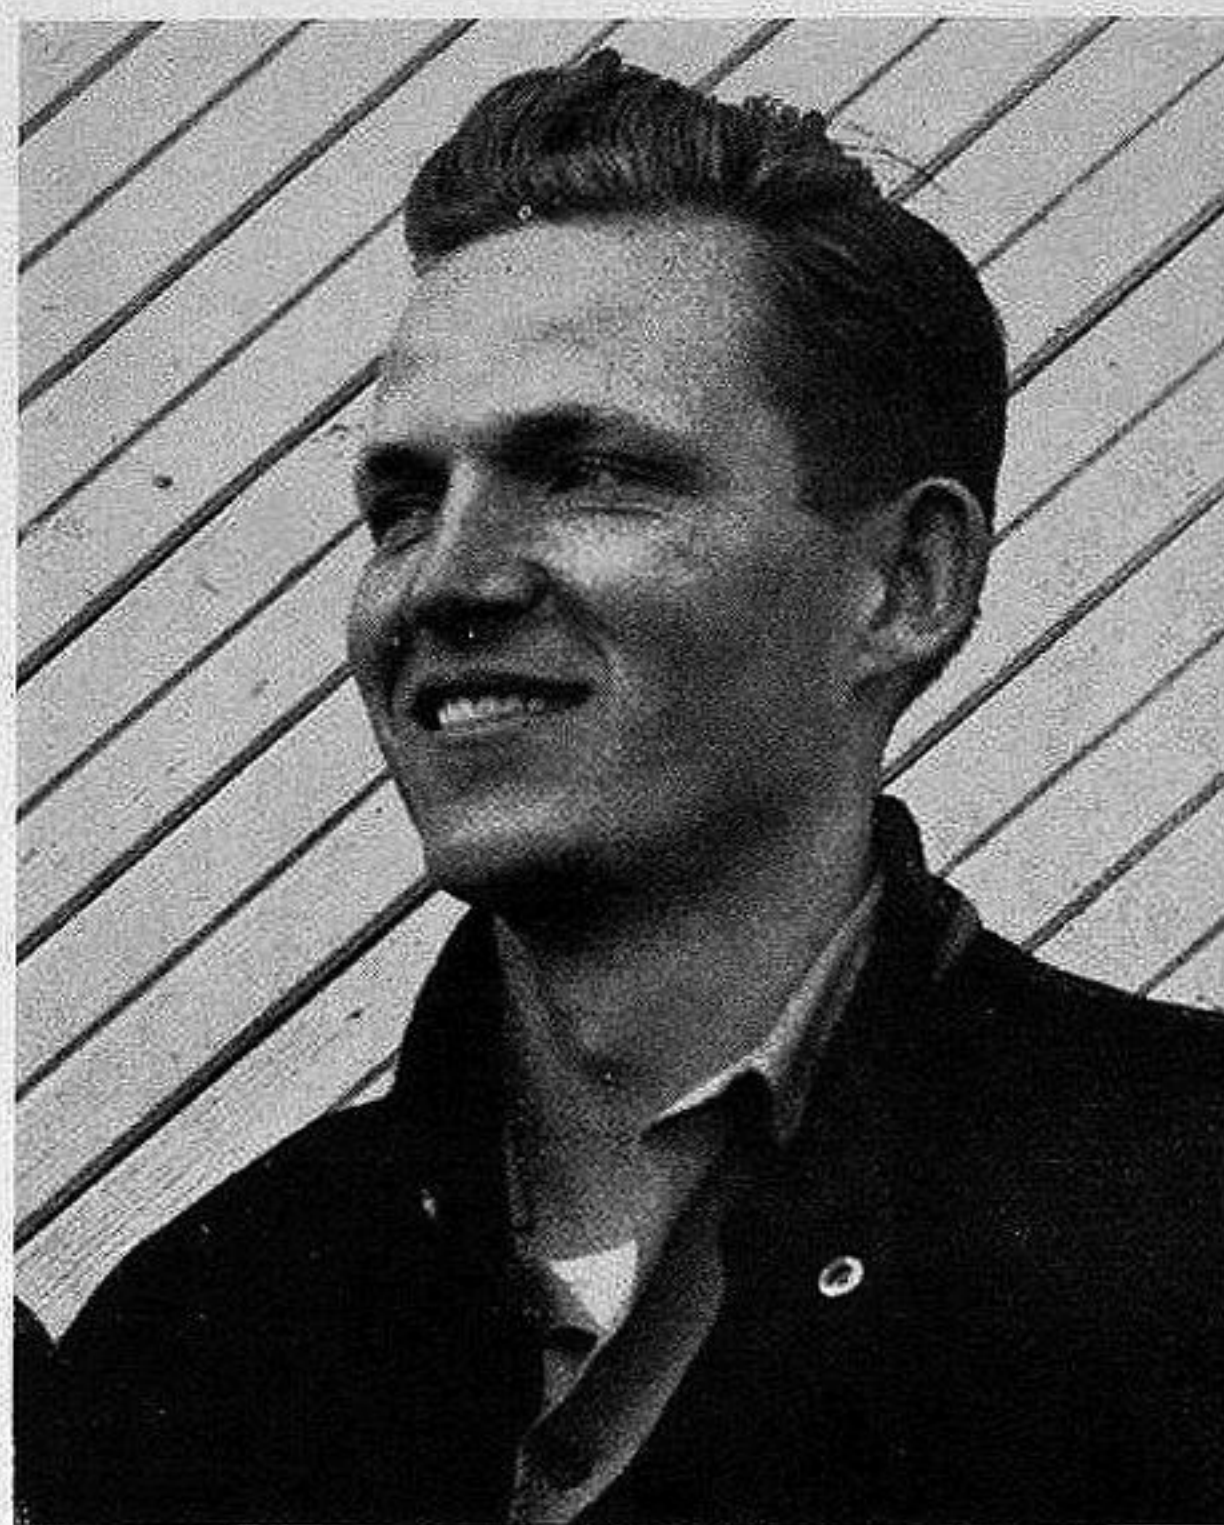

Washington's second Frosh got their opportunity to win their numerals when they rowed up UBC varsity and the UW lightweights over the Laurelhurst 2000-meter course. They were victorious by about half a length. Winning their numerals in this race were Stuart Barker, Lars Englund, Murray Heminger, Bill Haskins, Raymond Houchen, James Lehde, Bob Smith, Alfred Stocker, and coxswain Albert "Peanuts" Rossi.

Making his first appearance as Freshman coach last year, Stan Pocock, son of Washington's world famous shell builder, George Pocock, and former varsity oarsman, led his crew to an undefeated season. Stan is out to maintain this record by developing another bunch of green Freshmen this year into champion oarsmen.

FALL TURNOUTS

Al Ulbrickson, varsity crew coach, welcomed back about 75 oarsmen at the beginning of this year's fall turnout. Shown above are seven of the boats as they pulled away from the dock, beginning another season of rugged conditioning in preparation for future races. The turnout was hampered by lack of docking space, due to the sinking of one of the floating docks. Al still maintains that it is the result of some of the oarsmen trying to get out of fall turnouts.

The turnouts were called off in the last part of November due to poor weather, and early darkness. During the last few turnouts the oarsmen had only the lights of the football field and shellhouse by which to guide the shells into the docks. However, the turnouts served their purpose.

Shown below is a typical scene found around the shellhouse prior to each night's turnout. Despite the loss of so many good oarsmen last year through graduation, Washington should again have a fine crew to represent them in the spring's regattas.

MANAGERS

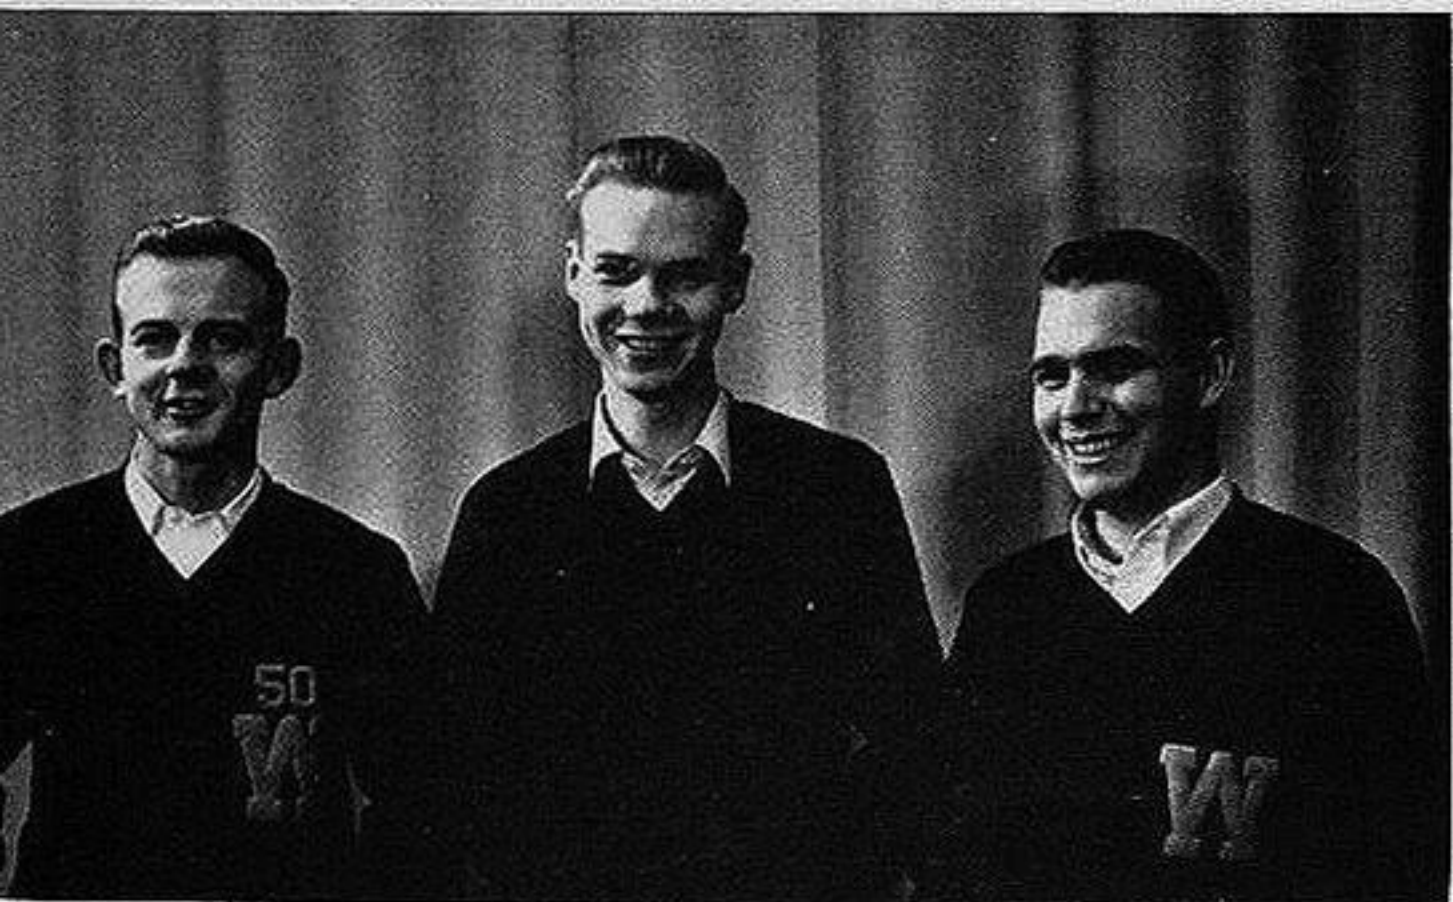

Crew, like every other sport on the campus, has a group of unpublished, overworked individuals called managers. After four years of piling wet towels, handing out dry towels, landing shells, polishing shells, etc., one senior manager gets to accompany the crews on their trips. With the benefits so small and the work so great, these "boys" (you're not a man down at the shell house until you've rowed a three-miler) really deserve a little credit. So they get as little credit as possible in this short paragraph.

WALLY HUBLU, two-year broad jump letterman.

Sophomore KEN MORGAN starred for the Purple and Gold in the 440. He took third in the ND quarter-mile.

FRED BUSH and KEN MORGAN, No. 2 and 3 men on Washington's crack mile relay team, complete a good pass in the ND meet. The Husky quartet was edged out of a first by a WSC foursome.

Inspirational Award winner, JACK HENSEY, was the leading Husky 880 man for four years—took a 2nd in the Northern Division and PCC.

Copping a 4th in the ND Mile Run was EARL LESLEY, up from the previous year's frosh squad.

Second year man, PETE STEWARD, showed well in the ND meet with 2nds in both hurdle events.

One of the "big three" in Washington's hurdle races, JACK DONALDSON shared 2nd place in the ND lows.

A sophomore-studded Washington cinder squad displayed a late season improvement which netted them a second place in the annual Northern Division Track Meet and a 6th in the big PCC Meet held at Berkeley. Coach Edmundson's thinclads, led by Captain Jack Burke, lost only two of their regular season's dual meets and won over OSC and Idaho, along with a tie with WSC.

Brilliant performances in the Northern Division Meet by team captain Jack Burke and Craig Weisman, sophomore sprint sensation, were highlights for the Huskies. Burke turned in a double win for the Purple and Gold by copping both the high and low hurdles, while Weisman won the 220-yard dash and took second in the 100.

In winning the high hurdles for the Huskies, Burke broke the 1930 mark held by former Husky, Steve Anderson, with a time of 14.3 seconds. As a matter of coincidence, the starter who set Burke off on his record-making performance was the same Steve Anderson.

A week later, Washington traveled to California for the Pacific Coast Conference Meet. Weisman took thirds in both sprint events while Hensey won a 2nd in the half mile. Jack Burke competed against the class of the nation in the hurdles and managed to win a 4th place in the highs.

On June 20th Weisman and Burke participated in the PCC-Big Ten Meet as members of the Coast team. Weisman took a third in the 100 and 2nd in the 220 and was also a member of the winning 440 relay team. Burke ran on the winning 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay team. The PCC team won the meet by a score of 69 to 63.

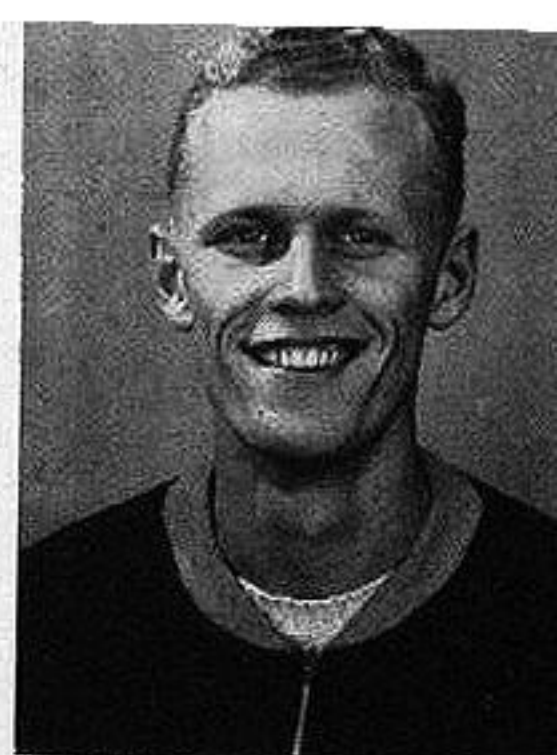

LOU UMSTED was Washington's leading contender in the javelin event as a junior.

One of the nation's top sprinters and the Huskies' ace dash man was sophomore CRAIG WEISMAN who copped the ND 220, came second in the 100 and also placed 3rd in the PCC century and 220.

A 440 man and another of the squad's outstanding sophomores was FRED BUSH.

Although he was bothered somewhat by an injured heel, PAUL McCONKEY was a valuable point-winner in the broad jump.

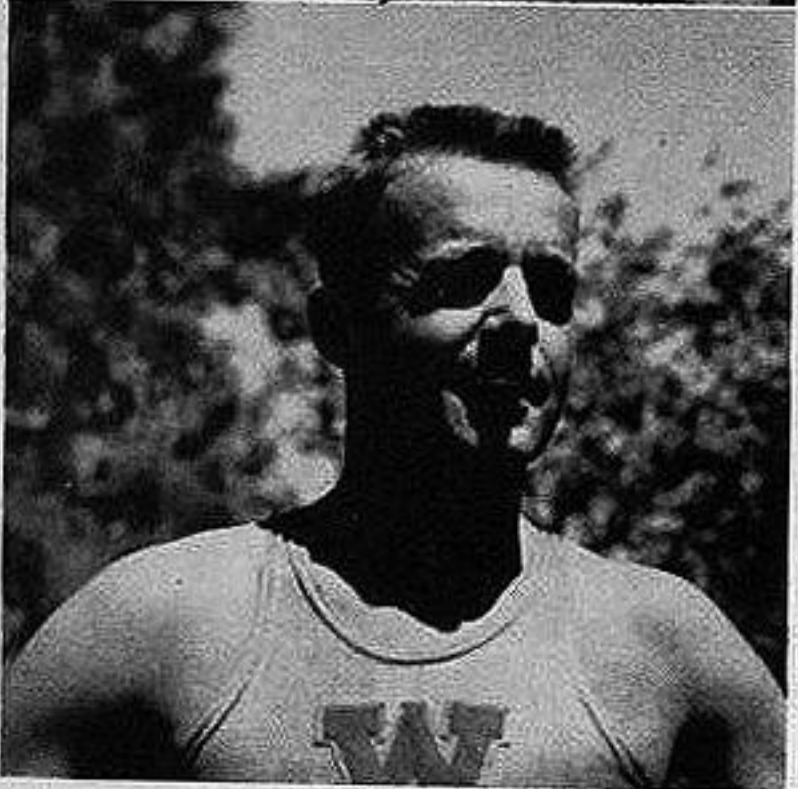

BILL OLSON carried the burden of winning points in the high jump for Washington.

In his final year at Washington, STAN SUNDQUIST competed in the javelin event.

FRED BUSH and KEN MORGAN are fighting it out in the stretch drive of a pre-season time trial in the 440 with Morgan nipping Bush at the wire. JIM JOHNSON came in third.

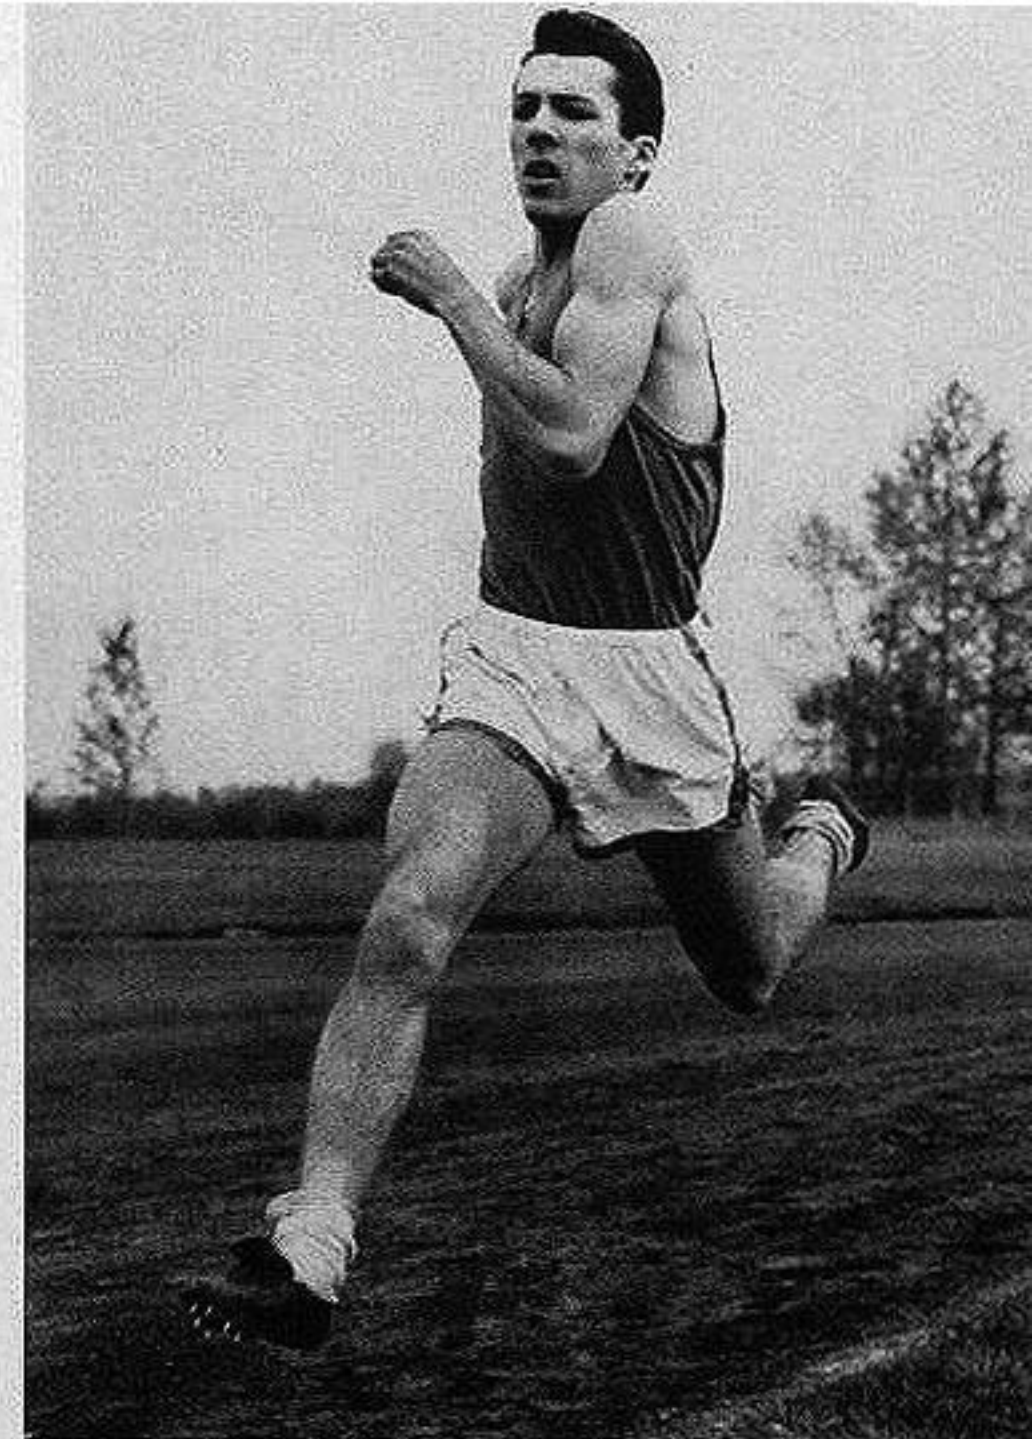

GENE TREXLER ran for Washington in both the 440 and the Relay.

Captain JACK BURKE was the standout performer on the Husky team. He won both the high and low hurdles in the ND meet and established a new mark in the highs.

Another quarter-miler and relay man for the cinder squad was JIM JOHNSON, a transfer from Everett J.C.

BILL RICHARDS established himself as a real threat in the two-mile.

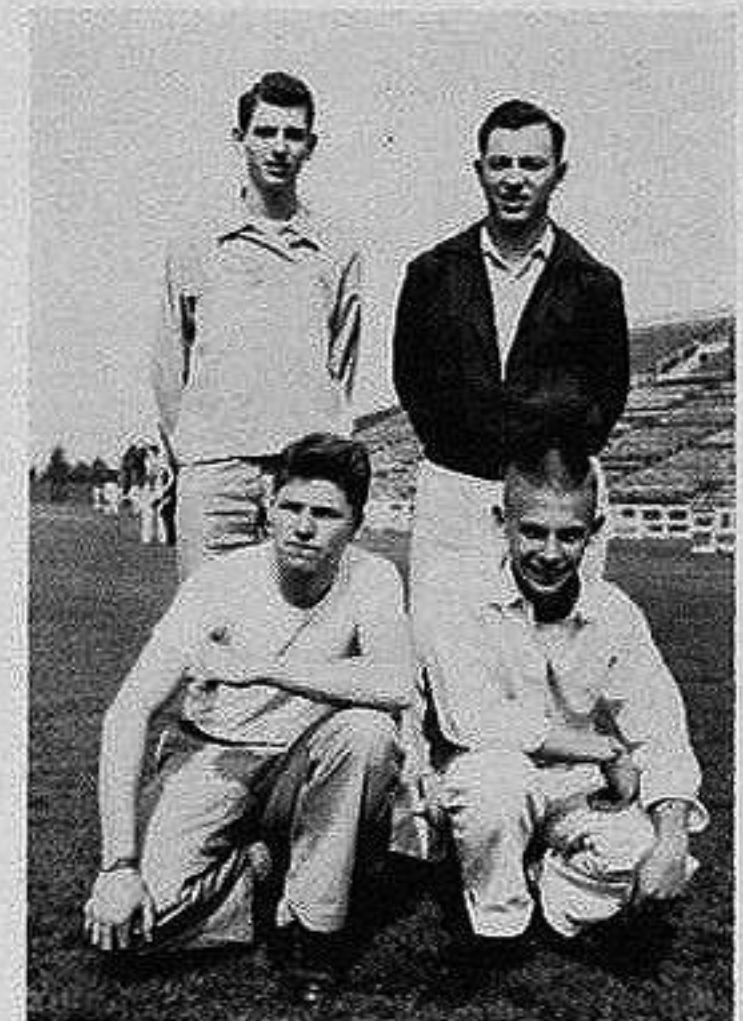

On the sick list for the big ND and PCC meets, two-miler GEORGE ABBEY was one of the best distance men on the coast.

1950 GOLF

By thoroughly trouncing W.S.C., $22\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{1}{2}$, in their first game, the Husky golf squad appeared to have a strong team. The Huskies then defeated the Seattle golf club, and Seattle University. They ran into an obstacle in C.P.S., O.S.C. and Oregon, but they filled out their season with victories over U.B.C. and Idaho.

Although the Huskies won most of their matches last year, the season was not particularly colorful. The caliber of the 1950 golf team's playing was not up to the standard of that of the individual players. With only two returning lettermen, the golf squad was plagued with inexperience. Thanks to the fine coaching of Bill Jefferson Jr., the players improved with every game.

The Frosh

The freshman golf team, comprised of Claire Bourne, James E. Hynds, Paul H. Johanson, Ian F. Kinnear, Donald G. Russell, and Laurence W. Sheriff, had an outstanding year winning all of its matches. In six games the freshmen accumulated $84\frac{1}{2}$ points to their opponents' $11\frac{1}{2}$.

Hynds, Bourne, Russell, and Johanson were outstanding for the frosh. As quoted from Coach Jefferson, "They would have given the varsity a tough battle."

A well-rounded Husky tennis team captured its 12th consecutive Northern Division title with Don Grant and Derwyn Christensen battling it out for the individual singles title.

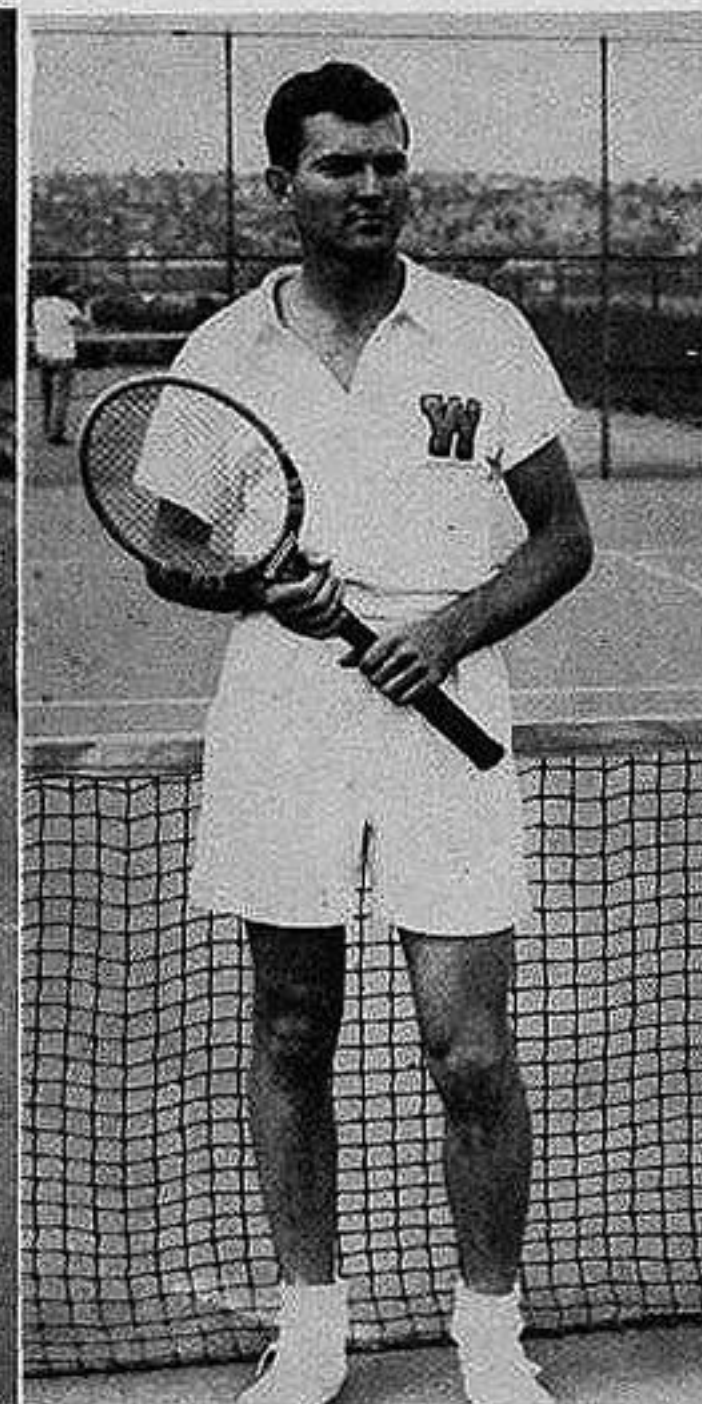

Coach Windy Langlie's squad of racketmen were minus the services of such stars as Jim Brink, Fred Fisher and Wally Bostick, but still they swept aside all opposition with ease, to establish Washington as the tennis powerhouse of the Northwest.

In their ND triumph it was the first time that the Huskies failed to win both the singles and doubles crown. As it was, Jim Witt and Dick Gilleland of Washington State teamed together to take the title. Grant and Wally Cavanaugh were the Washington duo to reach the semi-finals where they were eliminated by the Montana twosome, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.

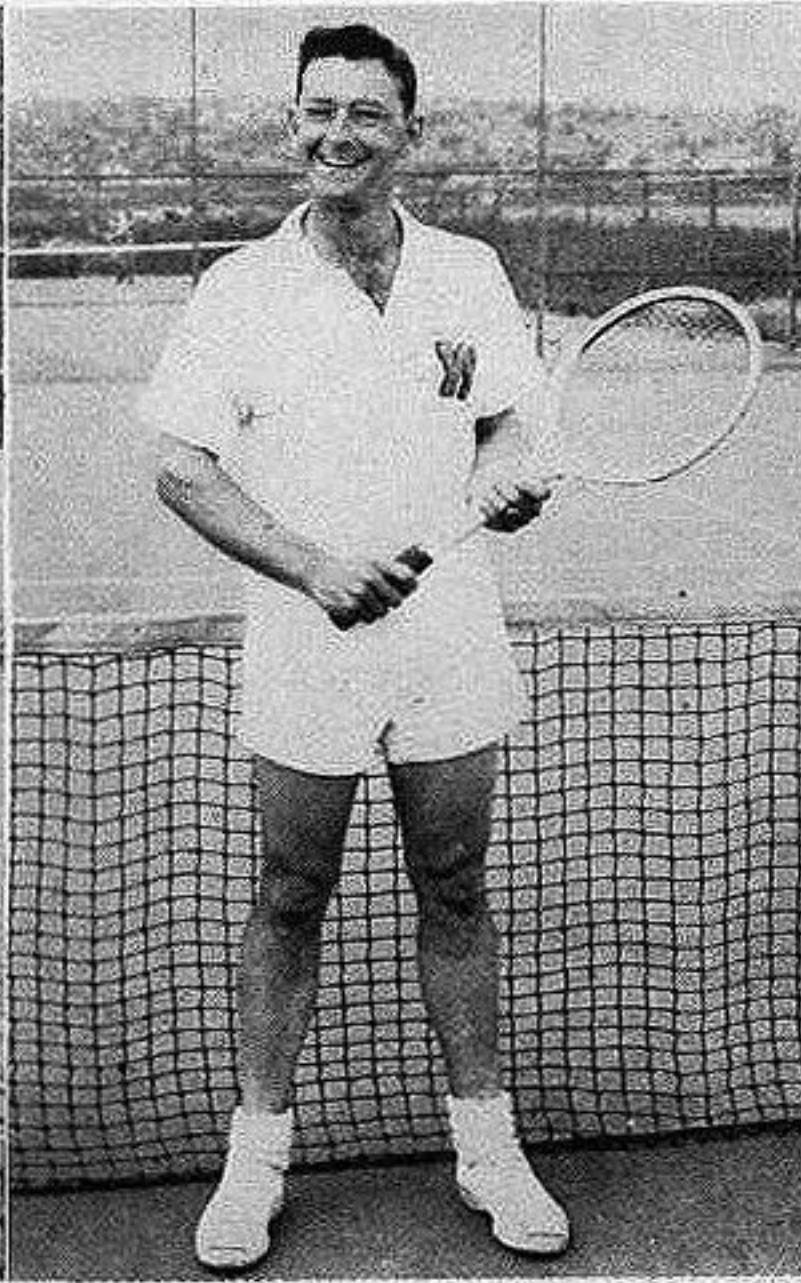

In the singles bracket of the big ND meet, Christensen defeated his teammate and the Huskies' No. 1 man, Hugh Preston, by a Runner-up in the Northern Division Singles matches, DERWYN CHRISTENSEN played in the varsity No. 4 slot as a sophomore.

A junior, HUGH PRESTON led the netmen to an undefeated season, playing in the squad's number one position.

LOU WICK, up from the previous year's frosh team, took over the varsity No. 6 spot.

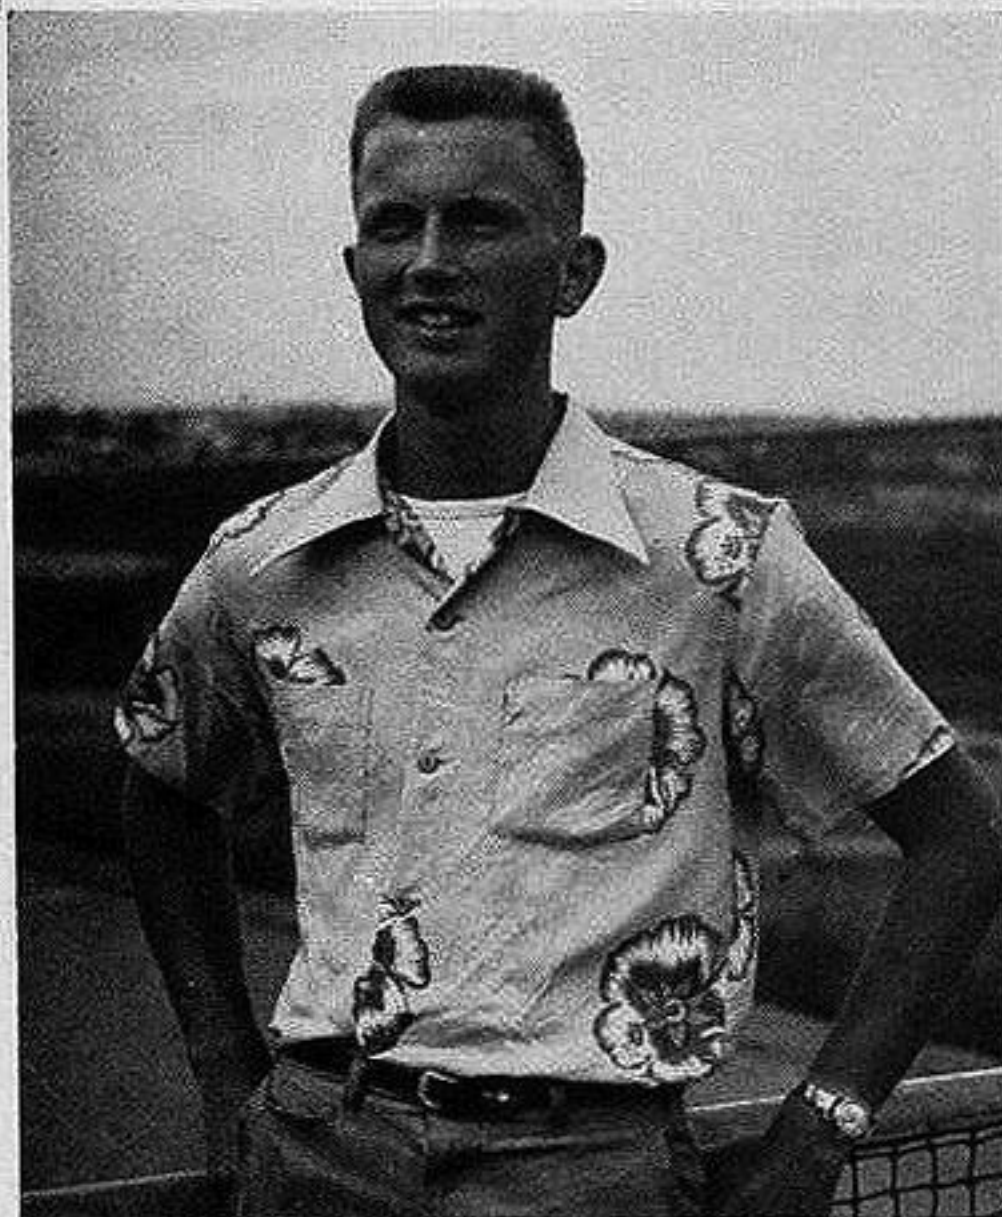

A junior, GLENN LINDEN, was the Husky number five man.

Another senior who was a standout for the team was Wally Cavanaugh, No. 2 man.

6-1, 4-6, 6-1 score, to advance to the finals to face another teammate, Don Grant. The final round was a real battle with the Huskies winning either way. Christensen took the first set by a score of 6-4, but fell before Grant's onslaught 6-3, 8-6, in the last two sets.

The team as a whole possessed no shining stars and each man on the squad could very well have substituted in place of any other without depleting the team's over-all power. Indicative of the Husky strength on the courts, Washington rolled up 13 points in the Northern Division Meet, with WSC, the nearest rival, piling up only 6.

Following the regular season, the Huskies were slated to defend their National Doubles title which Jim Brink and Fred Fisher had won for the Purple and Gold the year before. However, illness prevented Grant and Christensen, the Washington representatives, from making the trip.

JIM MANDLEY managed the Huskies through a successful court campaign.

Huskies Win Eight; Tappin Coaches Squad

Taking over the Husky baseball squad after Head Coach Art McLarney was forced to resign because of illness, Coach Warren Tappin brought his diamond men to a Northern Division second place in the 1950 PCC baseball season. Sparked by Bill Andring, Hal Arnason, and Don Lundberg, the squad won eight games out of fifteen starts, which were enough to garner the runner-up spot.

Tappin came to the University of Washington after coaching for two years at Franklin High in Seattle. Previous to that he had been a college and professional baseball star, playing for the University of Massachusetts and Cambridge, Md., of the Eastern Shore League. He led the league in stolen bases when he was playing with Duluth, Minn., in 1941.

For their season's record, the Huskies won two series, split four, and lost one. One game with Idaho was rained out, but the Huskies took the first game of that series. Two men placed high in Northern Division season batting averages. Bill Andring was second with .403, and Gordy Rodland was fourth with .385.

COACH ART McLARNEY left the University after basketball season because of illness; he is now at Ballarmino of Tacoma.

Individual Honors

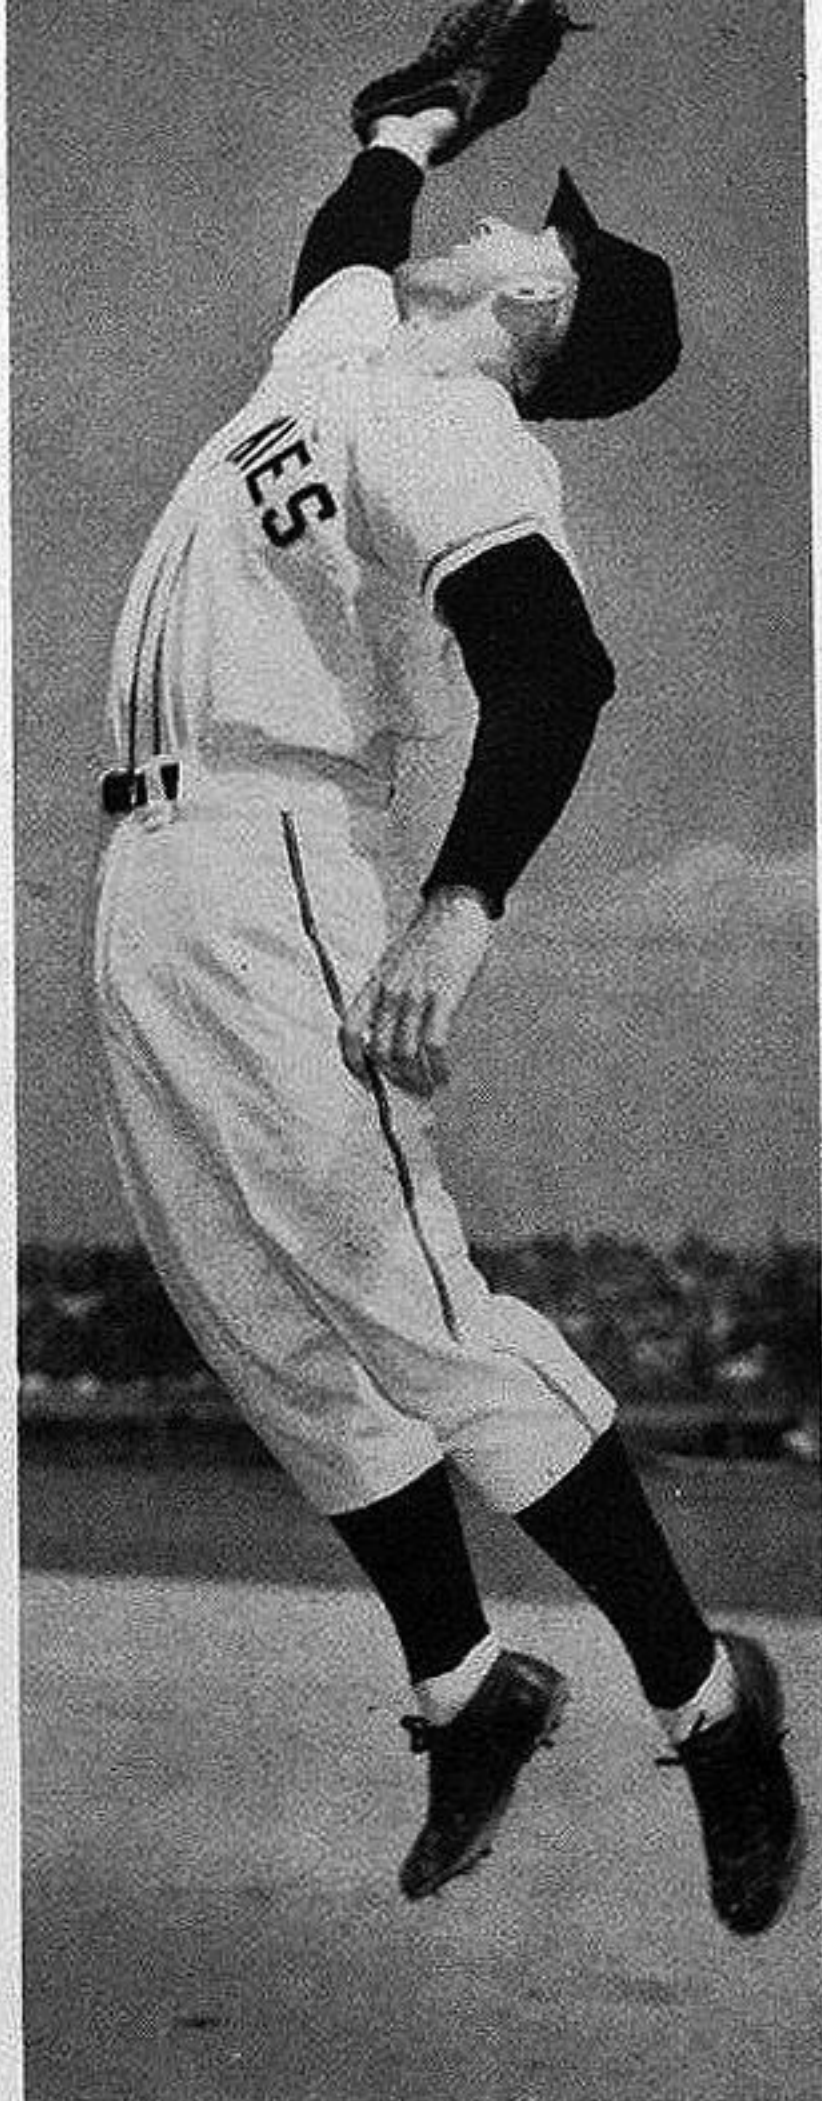

Several Huskies of the 1950 baseball squad came in for individual honors after the season had ended, one man receiving three. Husky fans can point with pride to these men.

Selections of the coaches for the All-Northern Division team found Don Lundberg at catcher, Bob Moen at pitcher, Gordy Rodland in the outfield, and Bill Andring at first base. Andring was a unanimous choice.

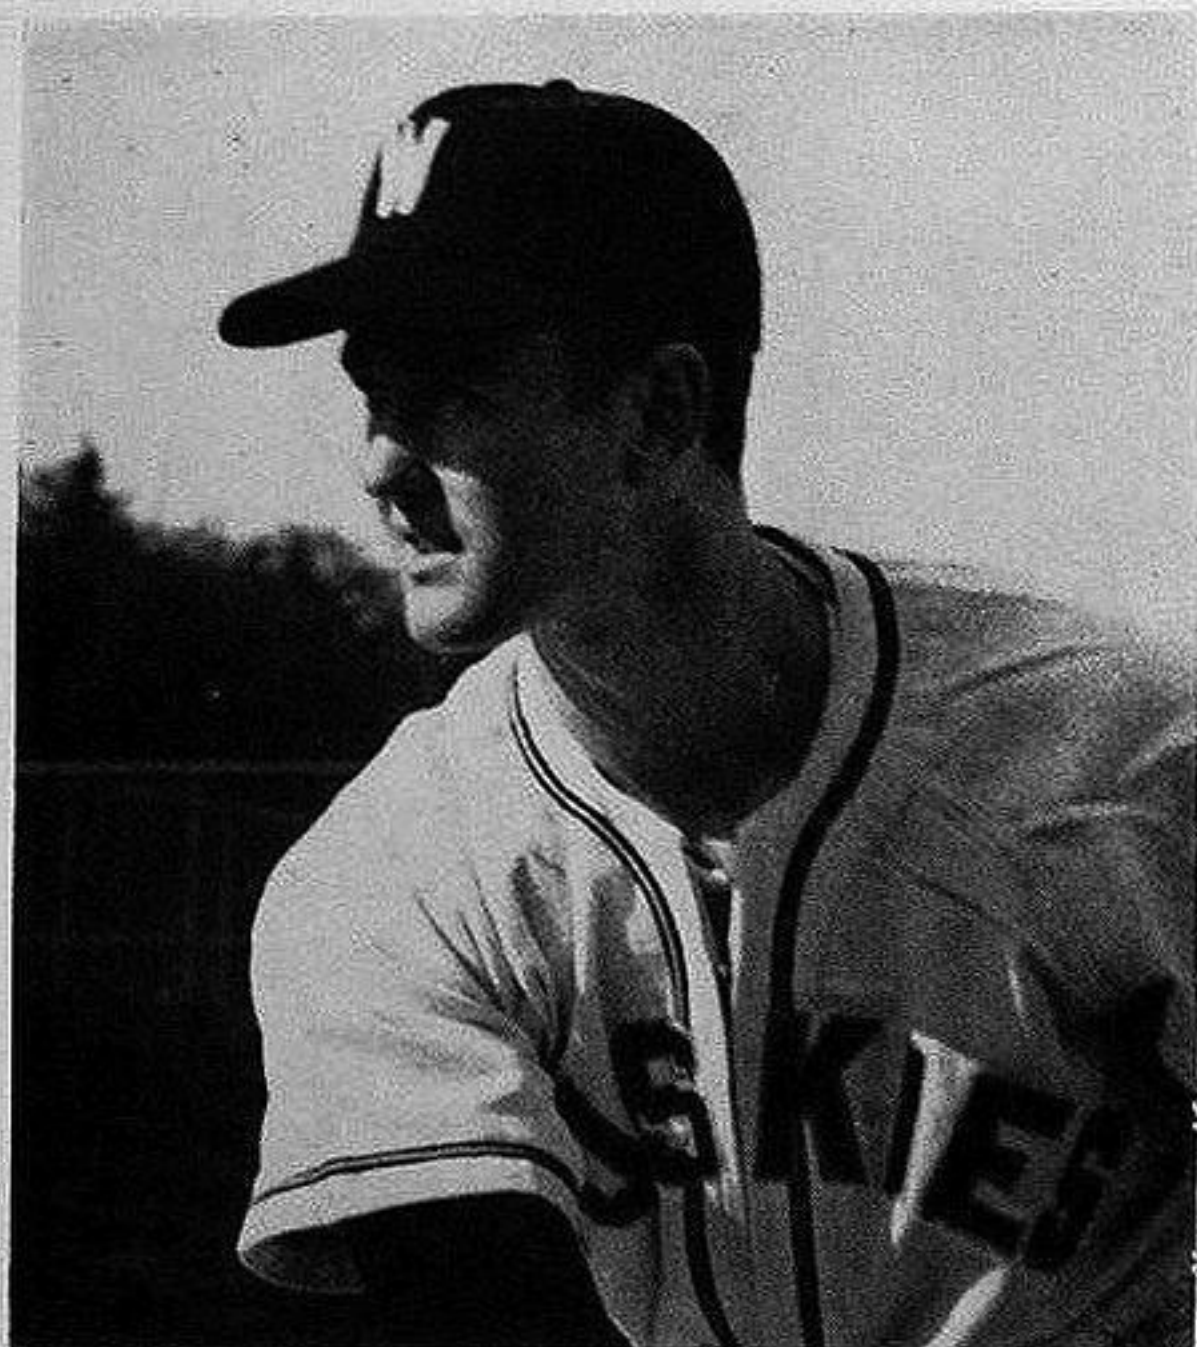

Andring also was selected for the NCAA Eighth District coaches' First Team. Lundberg was chosen for the second team, and Hal Arnason and Moen received Honorable Mention.

Mentors in the American Association of College Baseball Coaches chose Andring for their All-American second team. Andring was the only Northern Division player so honored.

1950 FOOTBALL

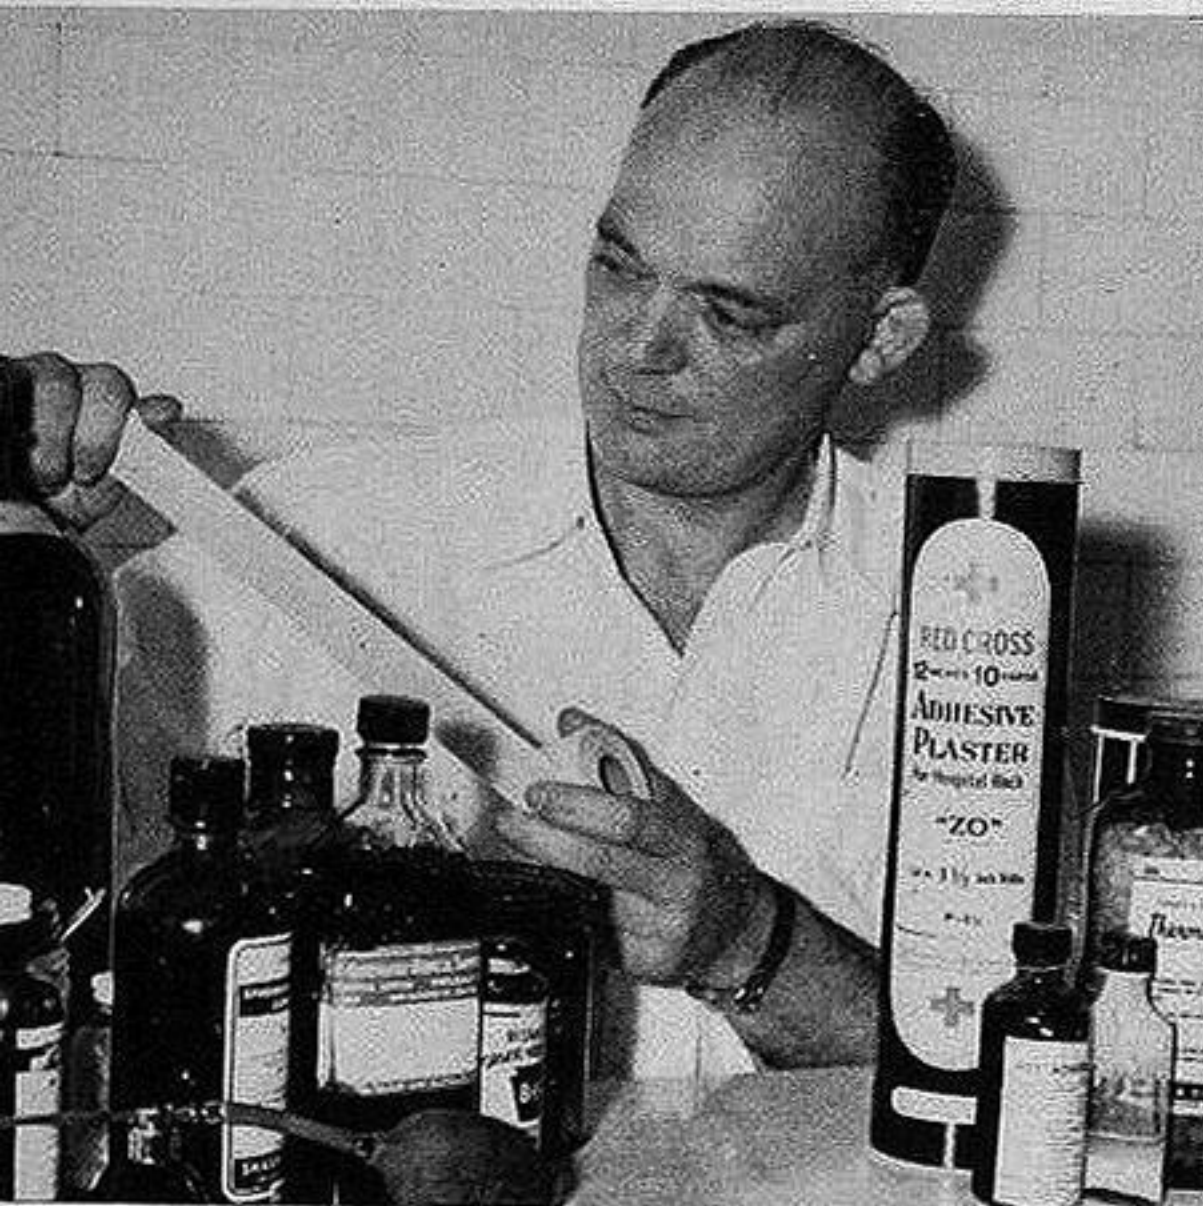

HOWIE ODELL, the popular headman of the Huskies, produced one of the finest and most colorful teams in Washington's history.

Two defeats at the hands of two of the nation's top teams are all that marred an otherwise perfect season for one of the greatest grid machines ever to perform for the purple and gold. Coach Howie Odell, along with his able assistants, molded together a team which swept over all opposition, except for losses to the mighty Illini and the California Golden Bears.

Following overwhelming victories over Minnesota and Kansas State, the Huskies were noted from coast to coast as the grid power of the Northwest and possibly the far west as a whole. The achievements of Don Heinrich and Hugh McElhenny brought many of the all-American dopsters to pay heed to the further exploits of this Washington backfield combination. But these names weren't to overshadow the sensational work of the Husky offensive and defensive lines along with the host of reserve backs who were making headlines of their own. Dick Sprague, Rollie Kirkby, Bill Early, Sam Mitchell, Jim Wiley, Jim Rosenzweig, Ted Holzknecht, Joe Cloyd, Loran Perry, Louie Yourkowski, and Mike Michael were just a few of the many noteworthy performers.

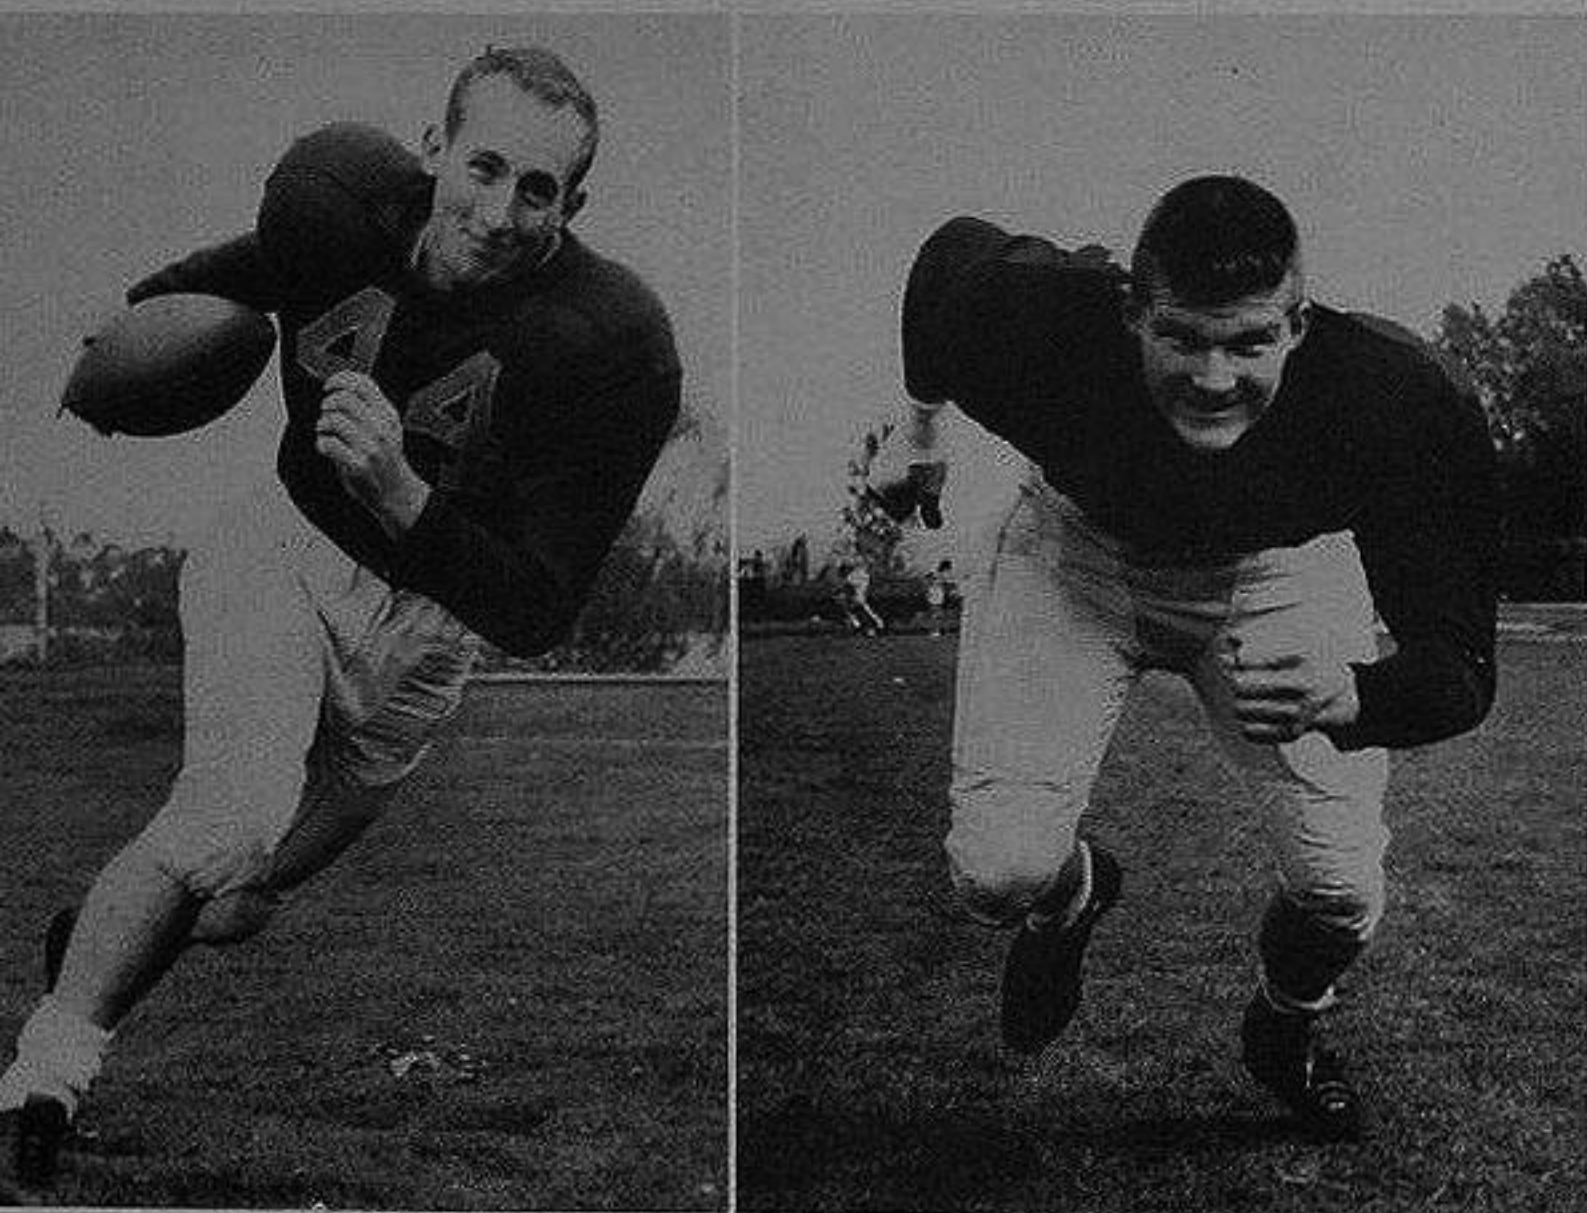

Although a fabulous Washington football team held the majority of public interest, it was not to take away any credit from the construction and inauguration of the new bleacher addition to the Husky stadium. With a seating capacity of 55,000 the "new" stadium added a bit of the colossal to the campus area, giving an impression of what to expect when a similar structure is erected on the opposite side of the field.

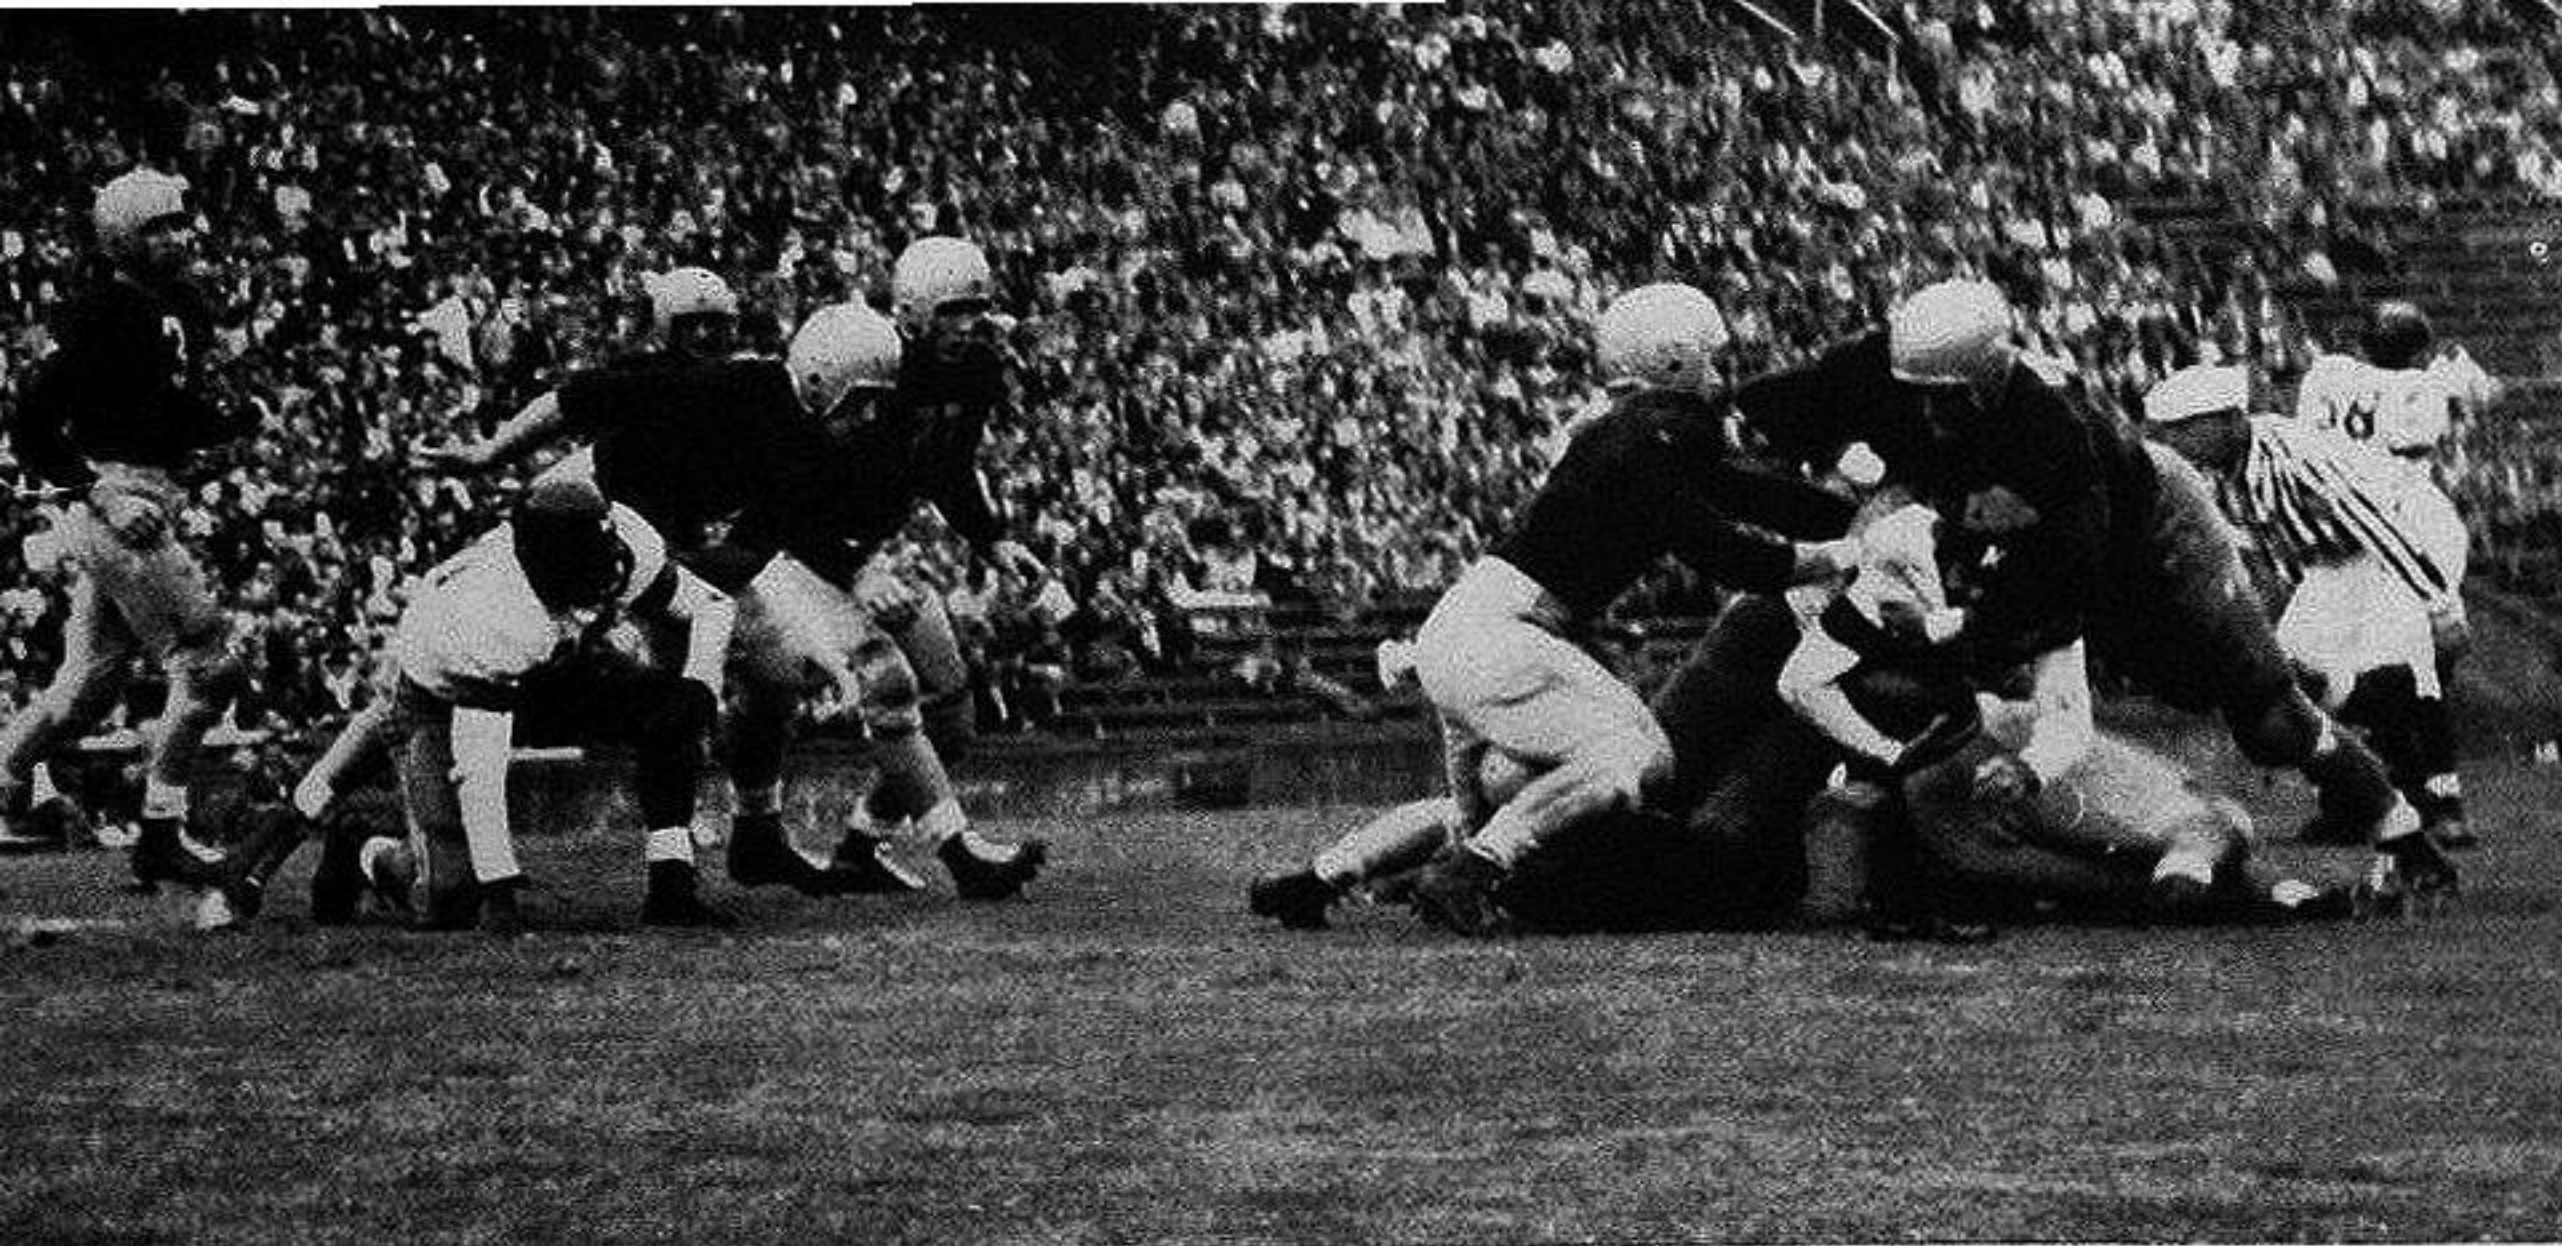

Probably the most bitterly contested and the most exciting of the Husky triumphs was a one-point win over UCLA, which enhanced Washington's chances at Rose Bowl laurels. Even the loss to Illinois kept the Huskies in the national rankings, but the Pacific Coast championship hopes began to seep down the drain following a Homecoming defeat at the hands of the unbeaten Golden Bears from Berkeley. From then on it was just a wait-and-see state of affairs, only to have California accept the Rose Bowl bid with an unblemished record.

But despite its second-place standing in the PCC, Washingtonians still claimed the Huskies as the best in the west and looked forward to the next season when the Odellmen would once again roll over all opposition.

Senior halfback, ROLLIE KIRKBY, was selected by his team mates as the winner of the Flaherty Inspirational Award.

TED HOLZKNECHT, a rugged junior guard, gained all-coast honors and was elected 1951 captain by his team mates.

UW 33-KANSAS STATE 7

On September 23, in the gigantic shadow of U. of W.'s new stadium, Odell unleashed his 1950 Huskies against the Wildcats of Kansas State. The Washingtonians emerged with a 33-7 victory, and the following week, the gridders who vowed not to shave until they won their first game, sauntered around the campus beardless.

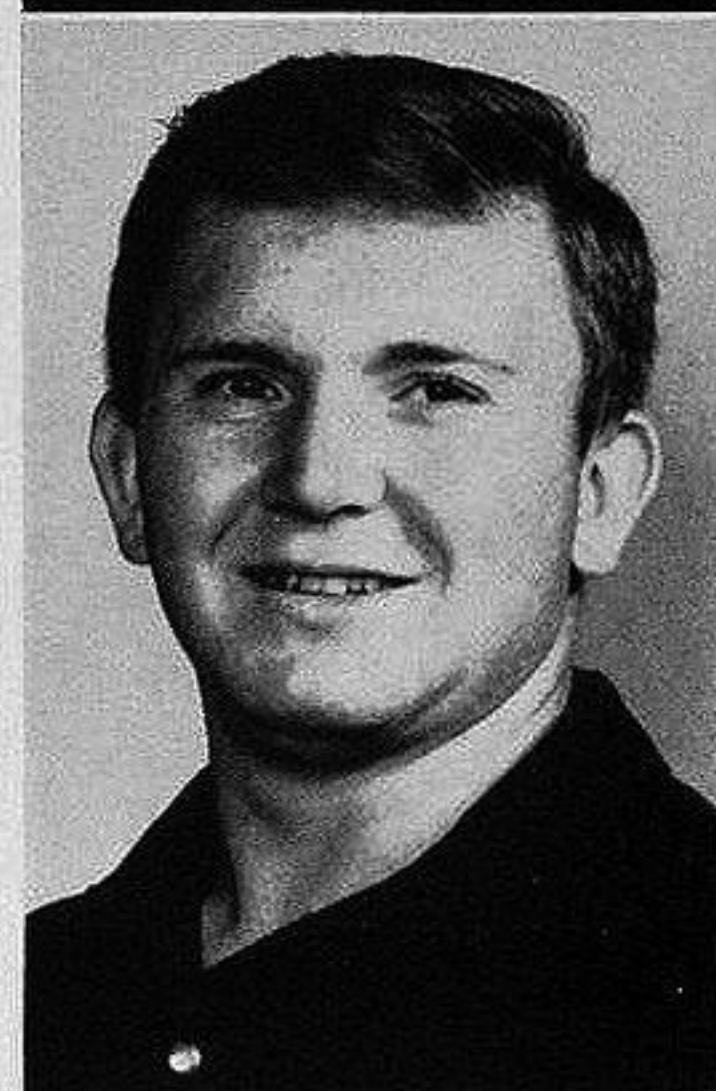

Records flew in every direction as Kirkby, McElhenny, and Heinrich tore up the stadium turf. In the first half, Kirkby nabbed three Heinrich pitches and rambled all the way. The pass plays went 27, 57, and 65 yards, the latter establishing a new record. At half time the Huskies retired to the locker room with a comfortable 20-7 lead, and a program featuring six high school bands and the presentation of the all-time Washington football team followed. In the third period Heinrich broke his previous pass record of three touchdown tosses in a single game when he spiraled the oval to Apking in the enemy end zone for his fourth straight T.D. pass of the day. In the fourth quarter McElhenny scooped up the pigskin on his own nine and swivel-hipped 91 yards for a score and another record.

The Huskies showed not only scoring punch, but proved that they were men of iron on defense. Linebacker Holzknicht, and defense men Sprague and McCullough played inspired football.

FRITZ APKING, junior end, specializes in snaring Heinrich passes.

Reserve guard RAMON BARNES is another of Odell's second-year men who'll be relied upon next season.

The greatest crowd that had ever gathered to witness a Northwest sports event turned out to see the Huskies of Washington square off against Minnesota's Golden Gophers. The series, which started in 1936, resulted in seven straight wins for the northern prairie giants. But on the eighth try, the Odellmen scored a touchdown in every quarter, and beat their rivals in every department with hard, crisp blocking, rugged line play, fast breaking runs, and Heinrich's passing, as they scored a 28-13 upset.

The purple shirts went to work early and scored the first time they got possession of the ball. Seth and Heinrich ended long touchdown marches with successful goal line plunges, and the home team led 14-0 at the half. The Gopher's plodding ground offense moved in the second half, and the Minnesotans racked up two touchdowns, but another Husky drive and an end zone lunge by McElhenny left the count 21-13 as the teams reversed fields for the final fifteen minutes. Heinrich smashed forward on a quarterback sneak for his second touchdown and for the final tally.

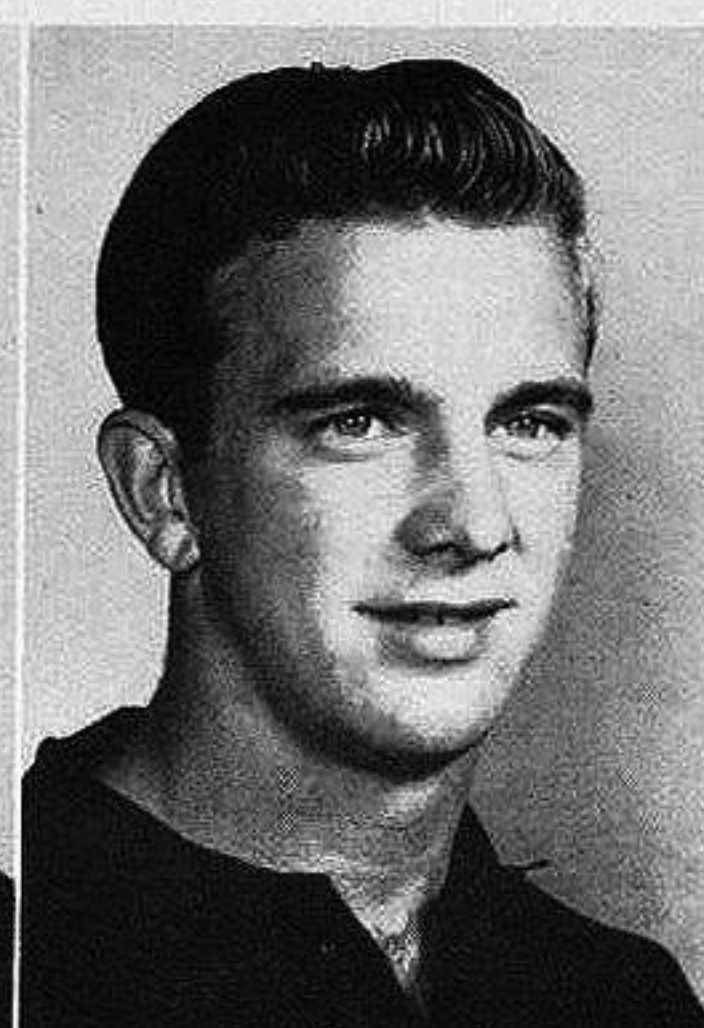

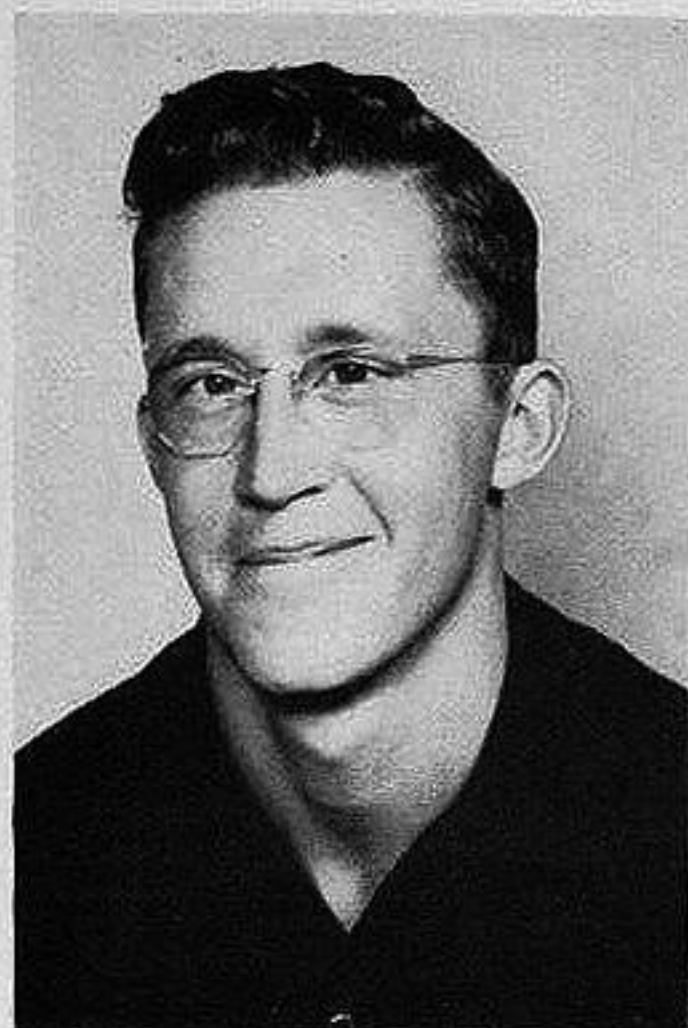

Mitchell, Earley, Seth, Apking, Cloidt, McElhenny and Heinrich were hot on offense, and Rosenzweig spiraled four conversions. Defensive stalwarts were Holzknecht, Wiley, Boyd, Lokovsek, and Mangan.

Co-captain JOE CLOIDT finished a brilliant college career by being selected to play in the annual East-West Shrine game and also receiving many mentions for All-American.

MEL "STUBBY" DAVIS, a senior halfback, picked up valuable yardage as one of Odell's top reserve backs.

BILL EARLEY, starring on both offense and defense, looms as one of the top Husky backfield prospects in years.

Another reserve back who saw plenty of action, ERNIE FURNIA, played both offense and defense.

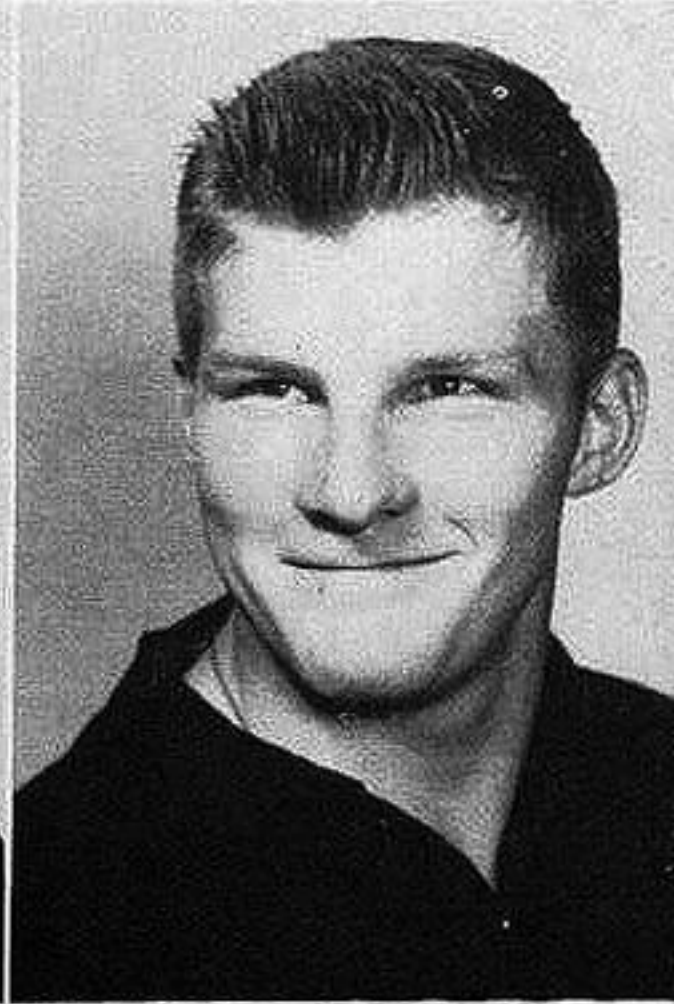

A frosh standout last season, PHIL GILLIS, sophomore wingman, fought his way to a starting berth on the offense platoon.

The "Bremerton Bombardier," DON HEINRICH, Washington's first All-American in a decade, shattered Pacific Coast and national passing records.

A junior letterman, TED HOLZKNECHT, was hailed by sportswriters as one of the best linemen on the Coast.

Following a tight 21-20 battle, Uclan guard JIM BUCHANAN extends his congrats to HUGH McELHENNY on a good game.

UW 21 - UCLA 20

After outfighting a plodding Gopher eleven, the Huskies met an undefeated, unscored upon Uclan team which featured ground speed and smooth passing. The six touchdown tilt which followed was so thrilling that one spectator died of a heart attack, and spirit ran so high that when the final gun sounded, fist fights broke out on the field.

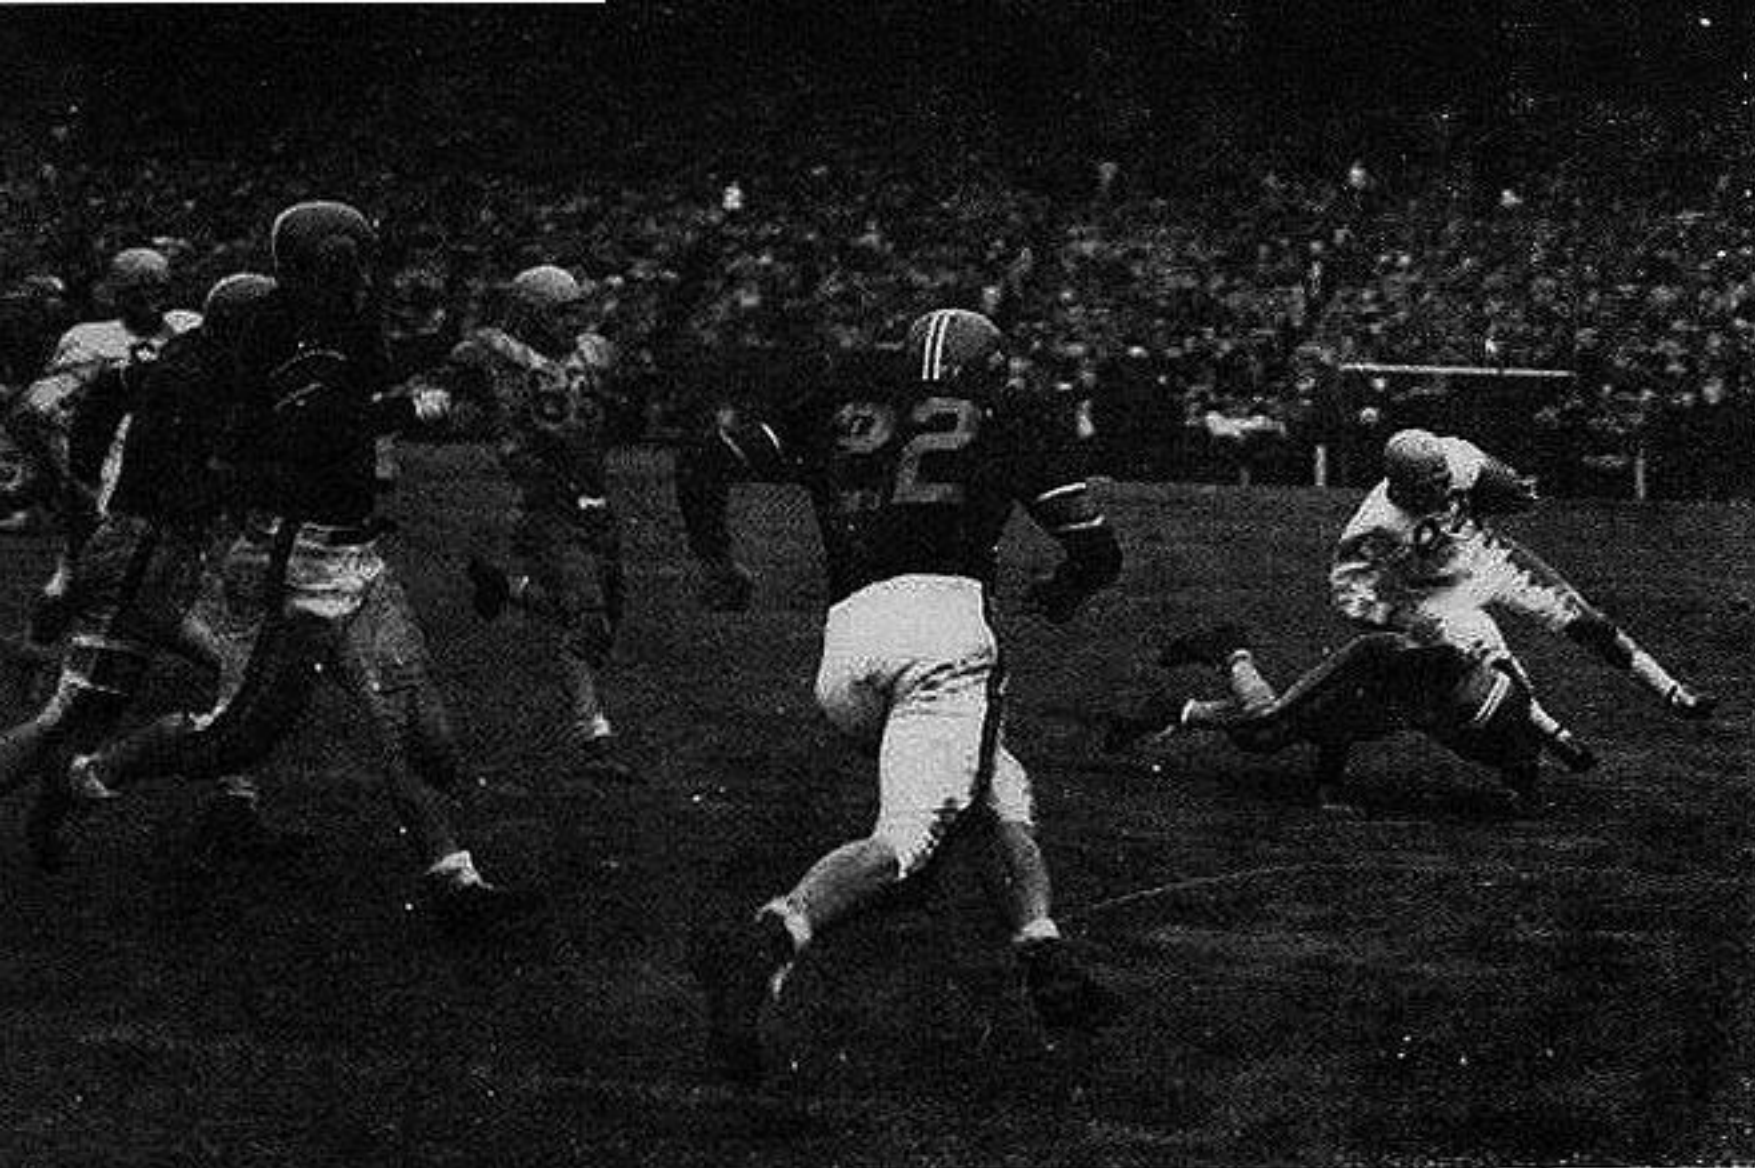

The Bruins drew first blood on a long pass play. Washington's grid machine crunched forward, Heinrich scored, and Rosenzweig converted. The half ended as Howie's Huskies staged one of the school's greatest goal line stands. Heinrich passed to Apking for a fifty yard touchdown in the third period, and Rosey again made the extra point. Then the Bruins turned a long drive and a Husky fumble into touchdowns and led 20-14.

Fifty thousand thrill-numbered spectators sat rigid as Washington's victory hopes flickered in the dusk of October. But Washington's poised confident Huskies moved downfield with spot passes, laterals, and slamming drives. McElhenny scored, and the crowd quieted as Rosenzweig swung his leg, kicked the oval between the uprights, and without looking up trotted from the field. Three perfect swings of his leg meant a 21-20 victory for Washington.

The purple and gold drove their season's winning streak to four in a row by massacring Oregon on Portland's drizzling, soggy field. Nearly as many Husky fans as Oregonians sat shivering in the stands as the northerners broke a Beaver jinx existing since 1945.

The first stanza was marked by fumbles, and Washington led the department 3 to 2. O.S.C. later became so practiced that the Beavers fumbled their way to a first down. Deep in the first period the Washington rivals pieced together their best offense of the day, and led 6-0 as the gun sounded. On the opening of the second quarter McElhenny broke loose on the mushy turf, splashed 59 yards for his first of three touchdowns, and the Huskies were never headed. Dashing Don Heinrich sparked the next Husky attack with pin-point pitches, and McElhenny ended the drive with another score. McElhenny, Davis, and Seth all scored on explosive drives in the second half, and Rosenzweig had his third perfect Saturday with five conversions.

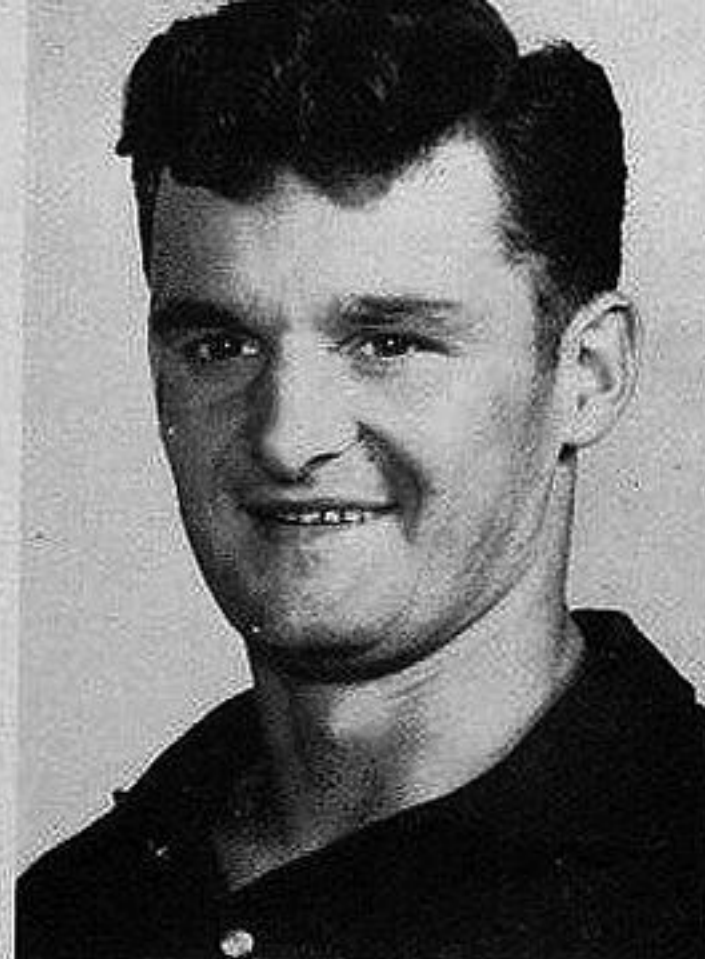

When the Huskies left the field, the dripping scoreboard showed 35-6, and the Odellmen proved they had an explosive offensive, a grinding forward wall, a successfully stubborn defensive eleven, and a real team spirit.

Halfback ROLLIE KIRKBY ended his college football by starring in the annual East-West Shrine game and was further honored by having his jersey "44" retired.

One of the top defensive players on the Coast was halfback LEO LOKOVSEK.

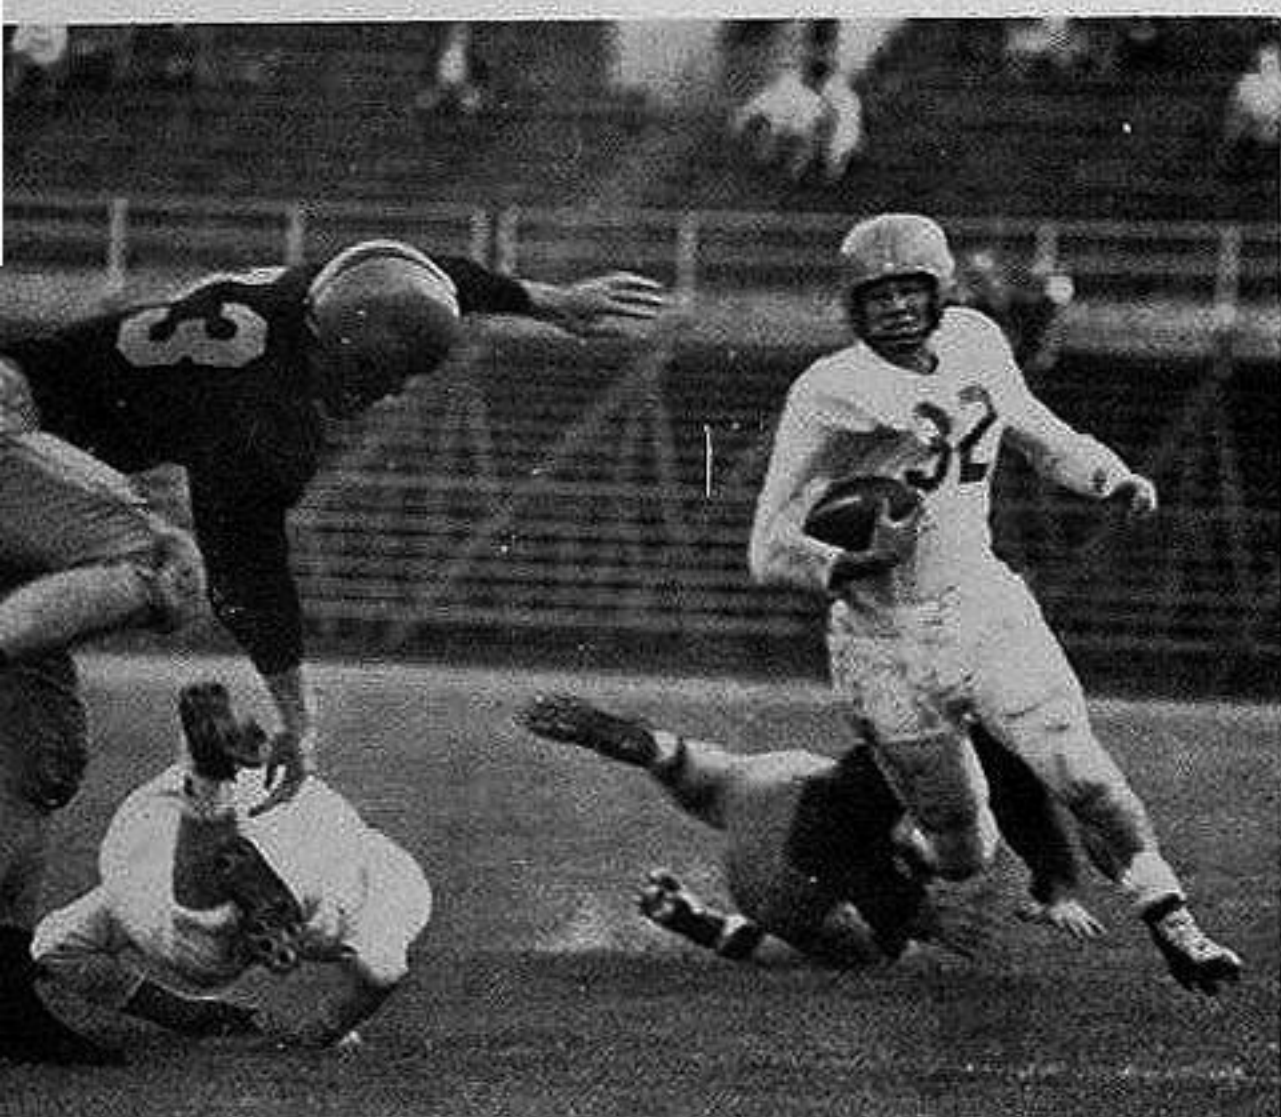

A unanimous choice for all-coast honors and an All-American mention, HUGH McELHENNY broke the Pacific Coast Conference rushing record.

UW 13 - ILLINOIS 20

HUGH McELHENNY (32) avoids an Illinois tackler and heads upfield for a nice chunk of yardage against the Illini.

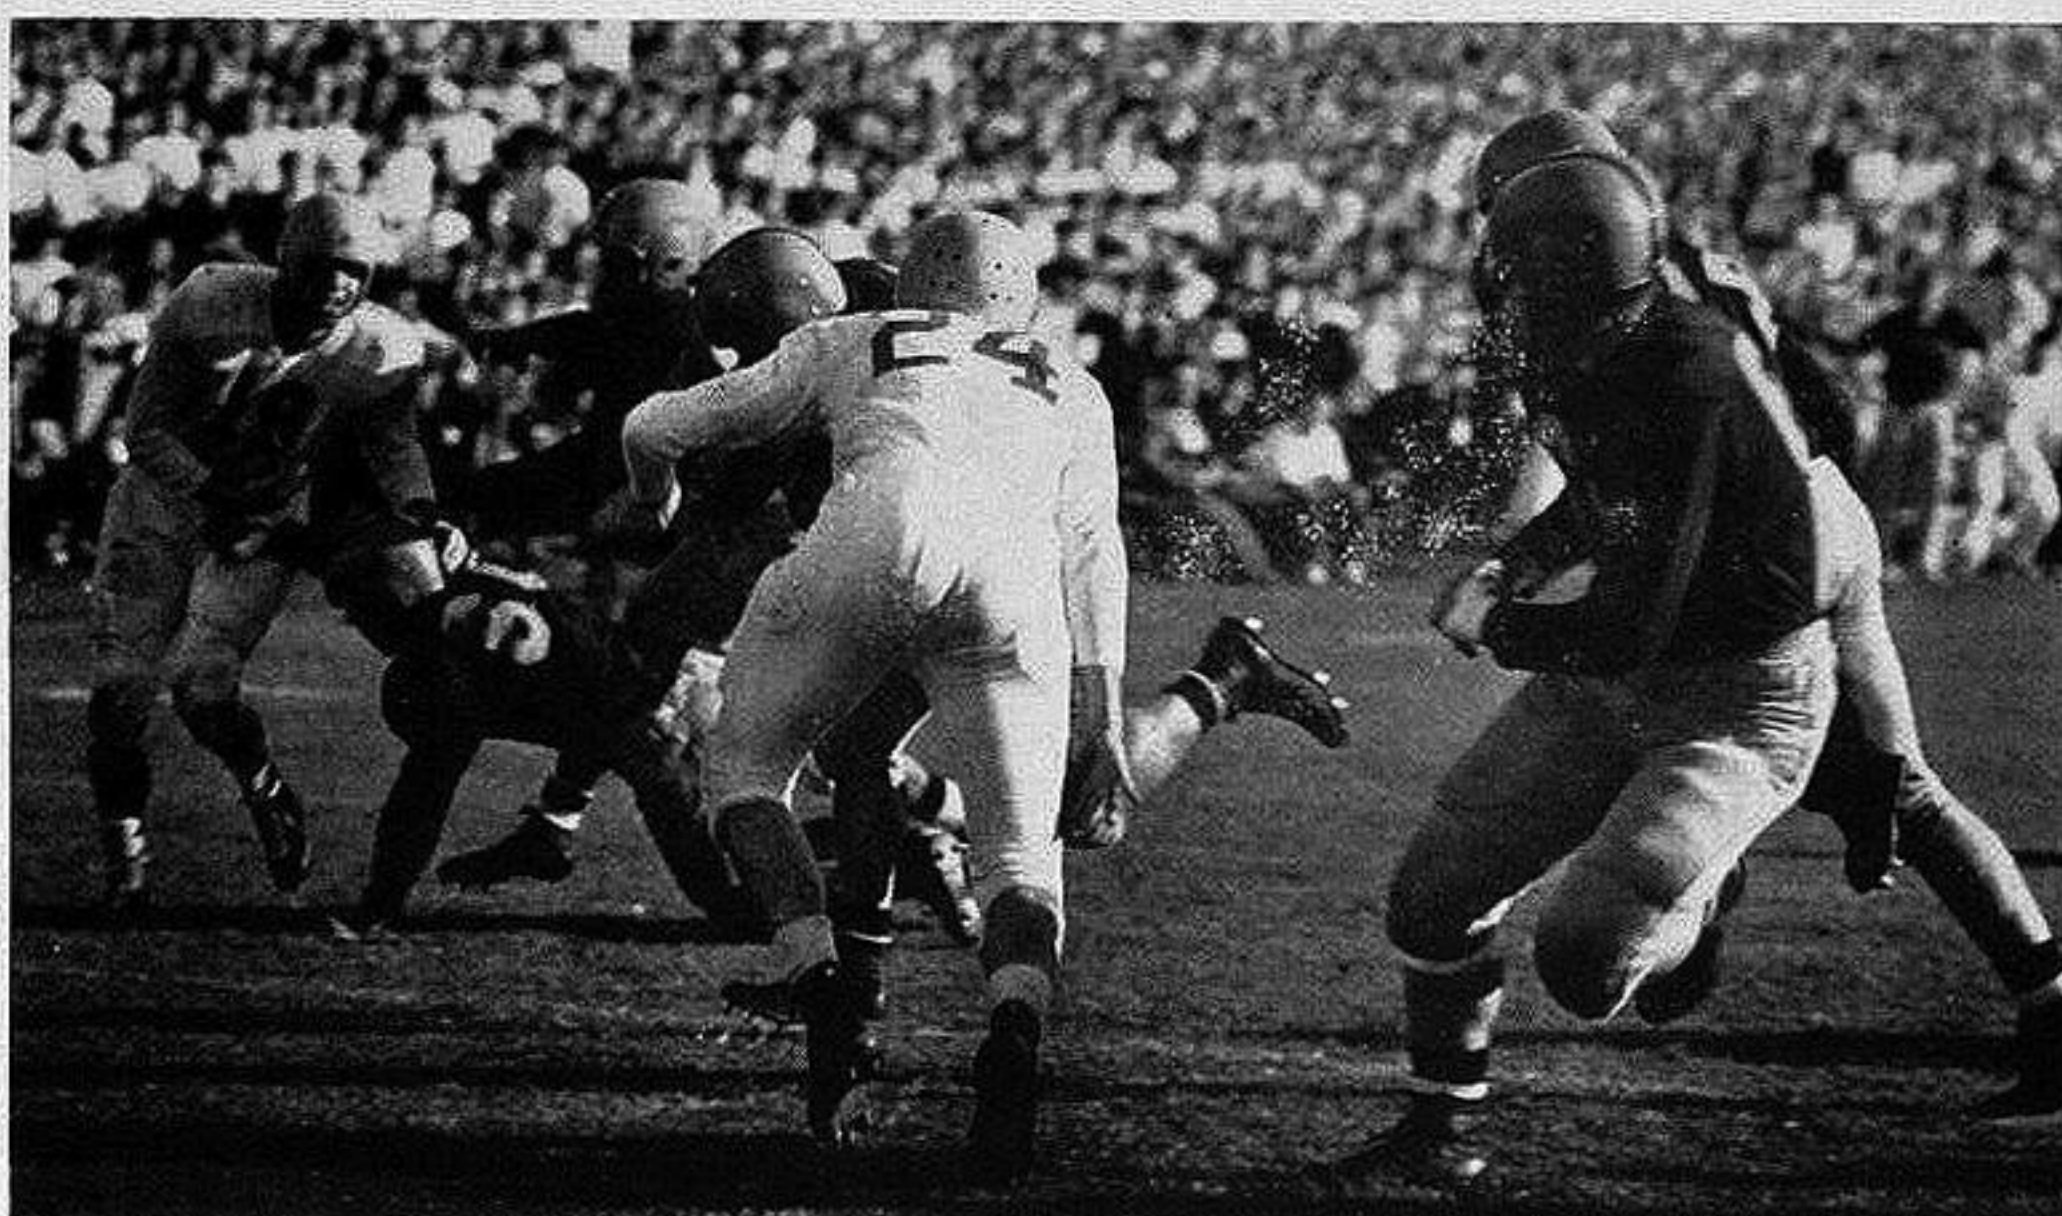

The Huskies attempted to stretch their victories into the longest Washington winning streak in years when they traveled to Illinois, but they were smashed down 20-13 in the final quarter by the fighting Illini.

The Washington defense rose to full strength in the first quarter and halted the vaunted enemy attack several times. The Husky offensive eleven smashed into Illinois territory in the second quarter, but momentarily lost steam on the 25-yard line. On fourth down Heinrich tossed a perfect strike to Earley for a touchdown. Despite a crushing attack from the Midwesterners, the Purple and Golds led 7-6 at halftime.

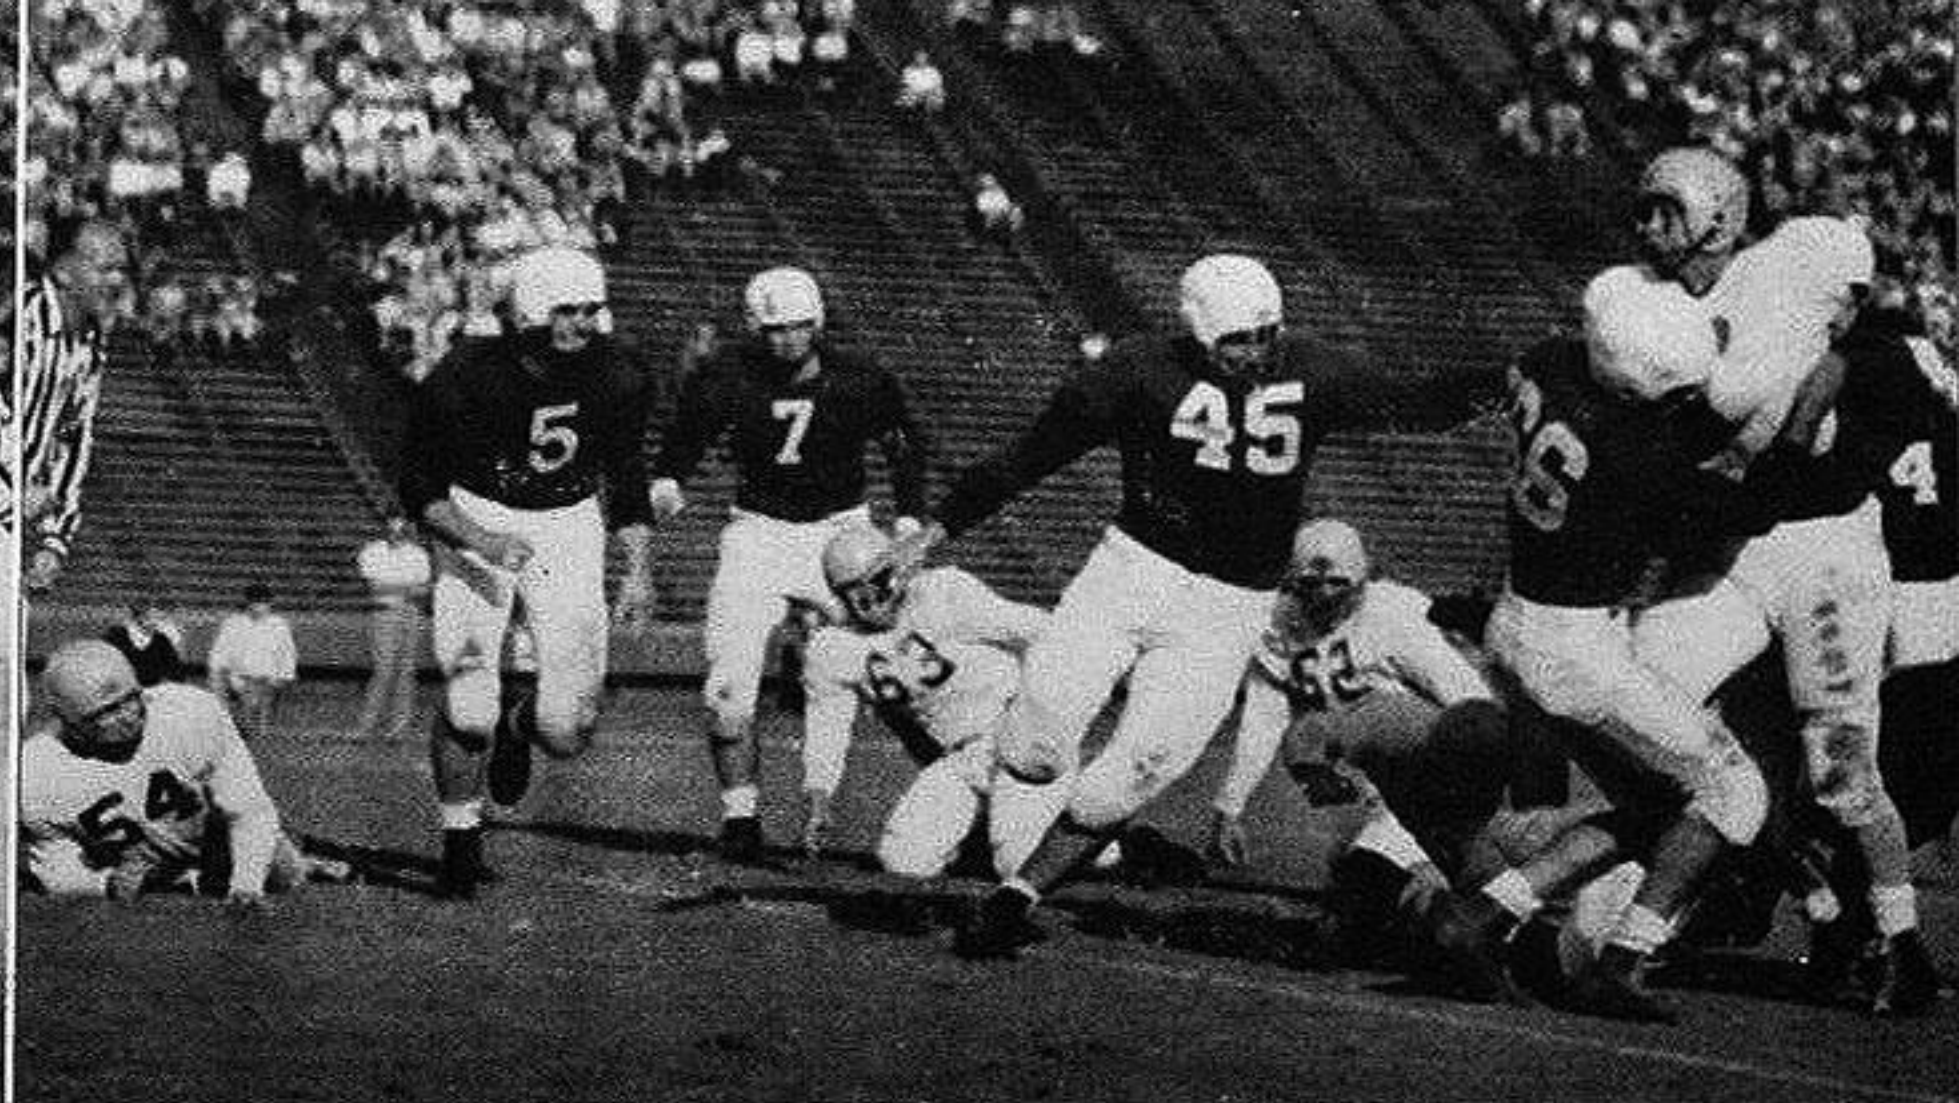

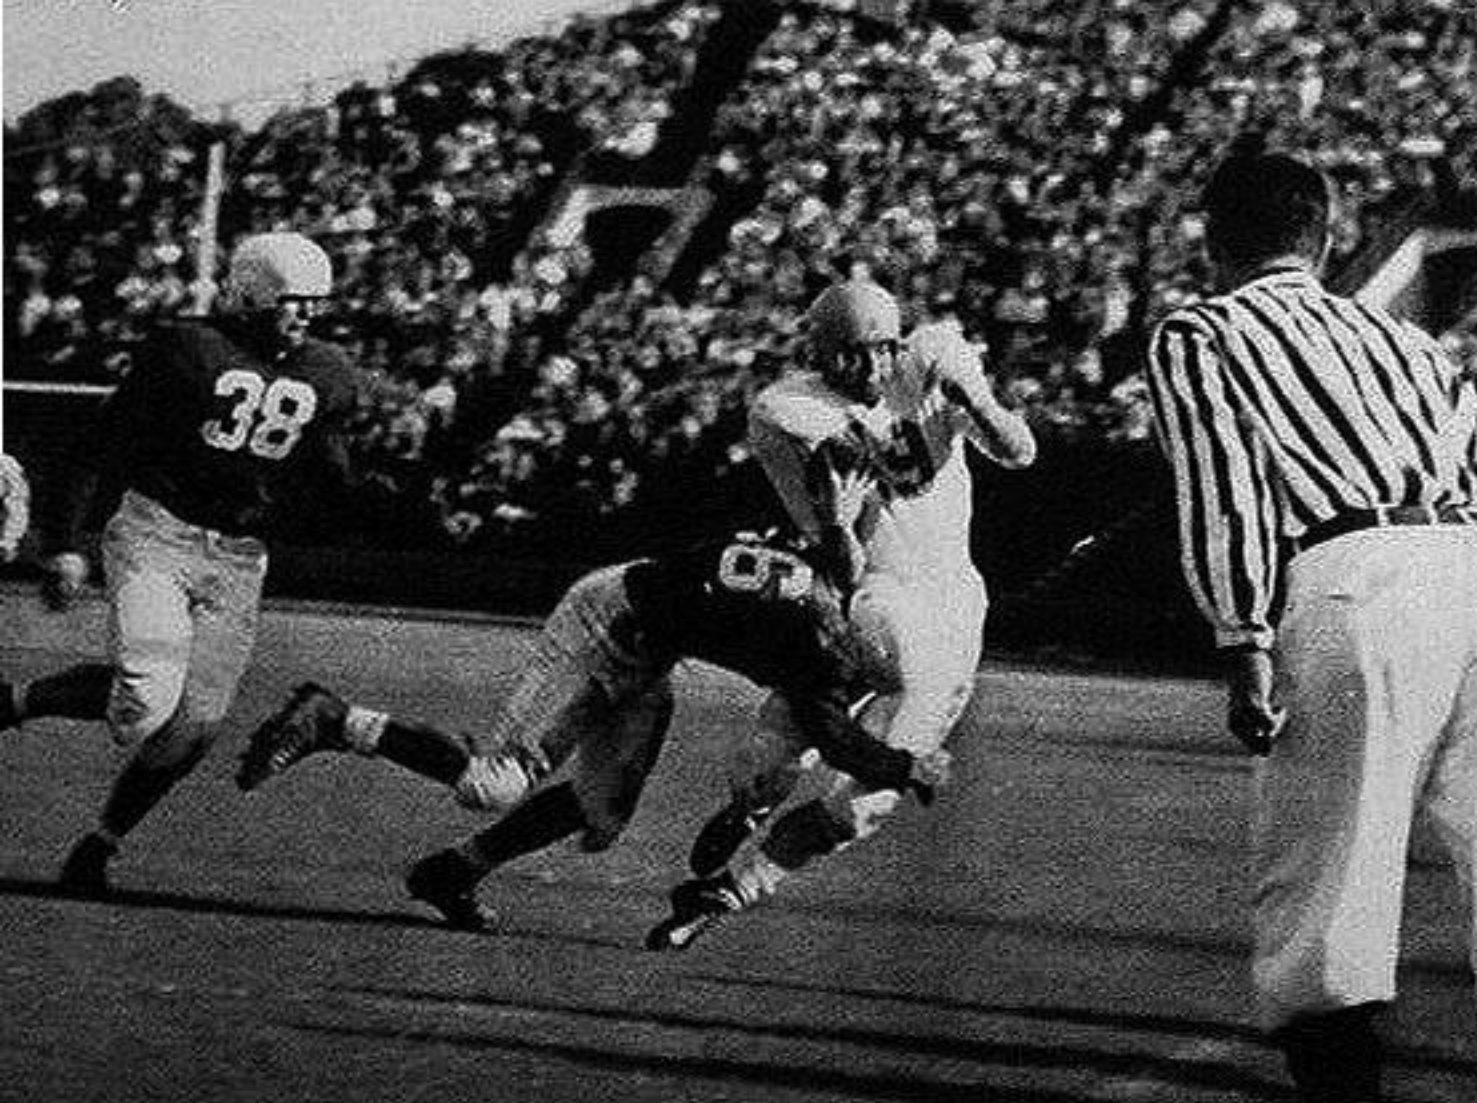

In the third period the Huskies seemed to be well on the way to victory. Heinrich pitched to McElhenny on the goal line, and Washington led 13-6. But the Huskies' joy was short lived, for the Illini showed strength on both offense and defense and scored two more touchdowns to win.

Dame Fortune seemed to frown upon the Odellmen. At the end of the first half Heinrich passed 30 yards to Earley, who was chopped down on the last chalk mark as the gun sounded. An off side against Illinois wasn't called when Washington missed the second conversion. And probably most important, the Huskies ran out of reserve strength due to previous injuries. The presence of Perry, Sprague and Mangan might have made the difference.

UW 21 - STANFORD 7

For the tenth straight game the Huskies showed their power to score more than two touchdowns, and for the first time in several years they were able to grind under a Stanford eleven. Errors that made spectators from the Northern campus wring their hands injured the Washington cause, but the grenading arm of Don Heinrich proved to be too much for the Indians.

At the end of a hard fought but sloppy first half the scoreboard lights burned a depressing 0-0. But the Odellmen returned from their lockerroom a new club. On the opening kickoff in the third period McElhenny slashed 62 yards for a first down deep within the enemy camp. Two plays later Heinrich faded and pitched 31 yards to Captain Joe Cloidt who spun into the end zone. Seth scored on the second play in the final period, and with two minutes to go Kirkby snatched a pass from Heinrich for 21 yards and a third Washington t. d. Rosenzweig converted successfully after each score.

Heinrich played his usual brilliant ball, completing 19 passes out of 25, and breaking three all-time Washington records. Kirkby impressed the Californians further by stealing the pass receiving show from Bill McColl, Stanford's candidate for All-American. The Husky defense men managed to hold the Indian offense, which later almost struck California from the Rose Bowl, to seven points.

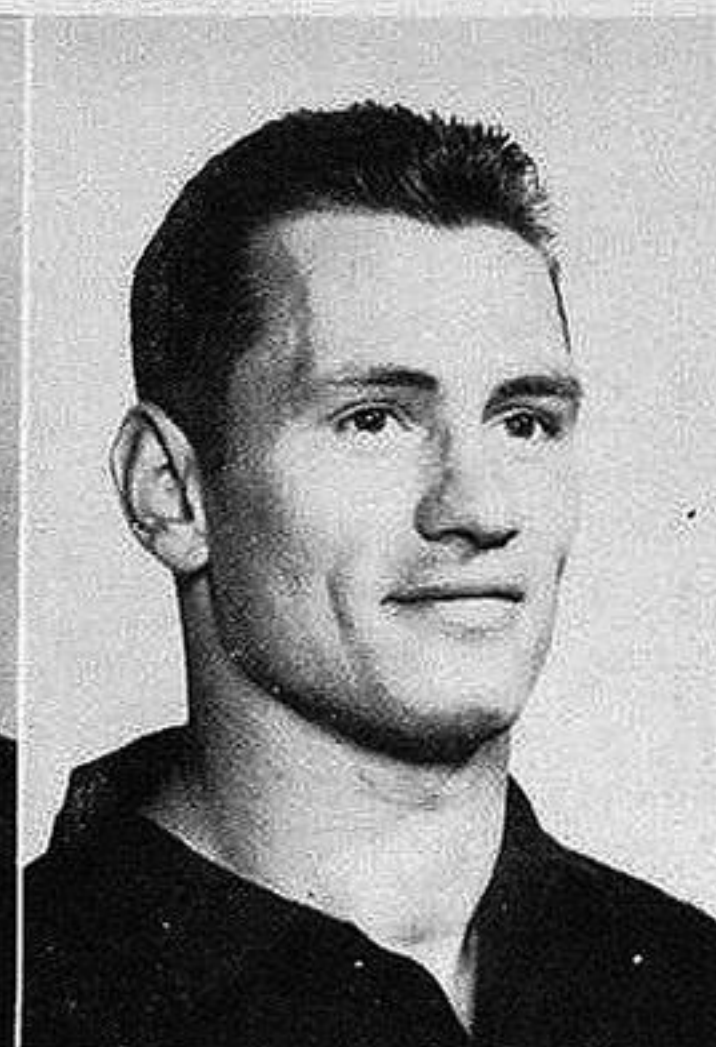

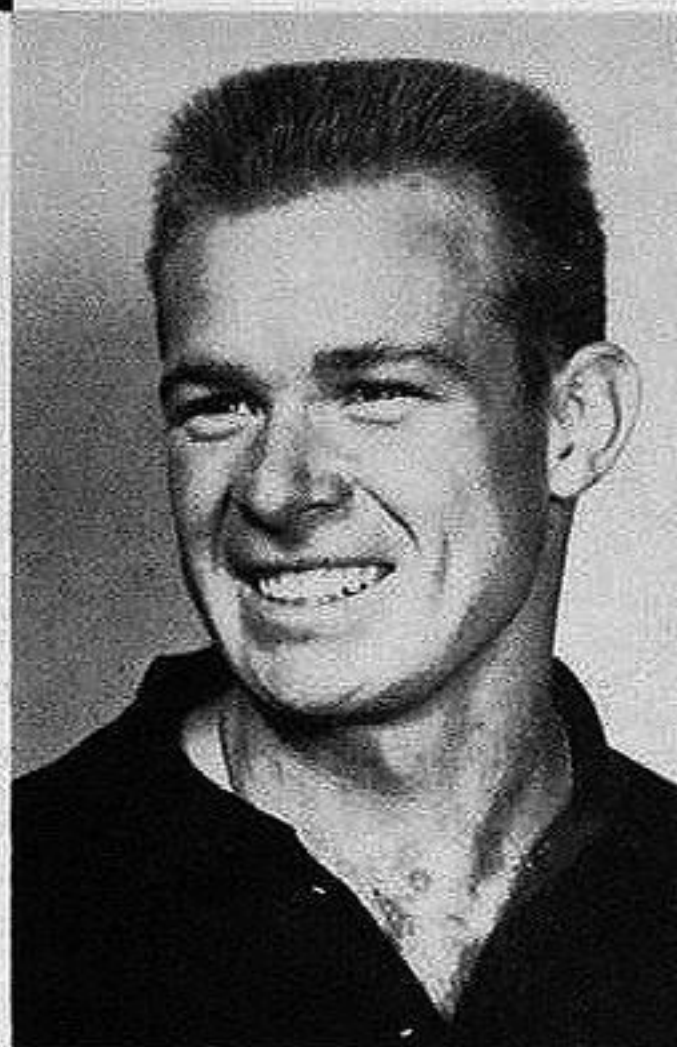

An all-around good tackle, DICK McINTYRE played on offense and defense.

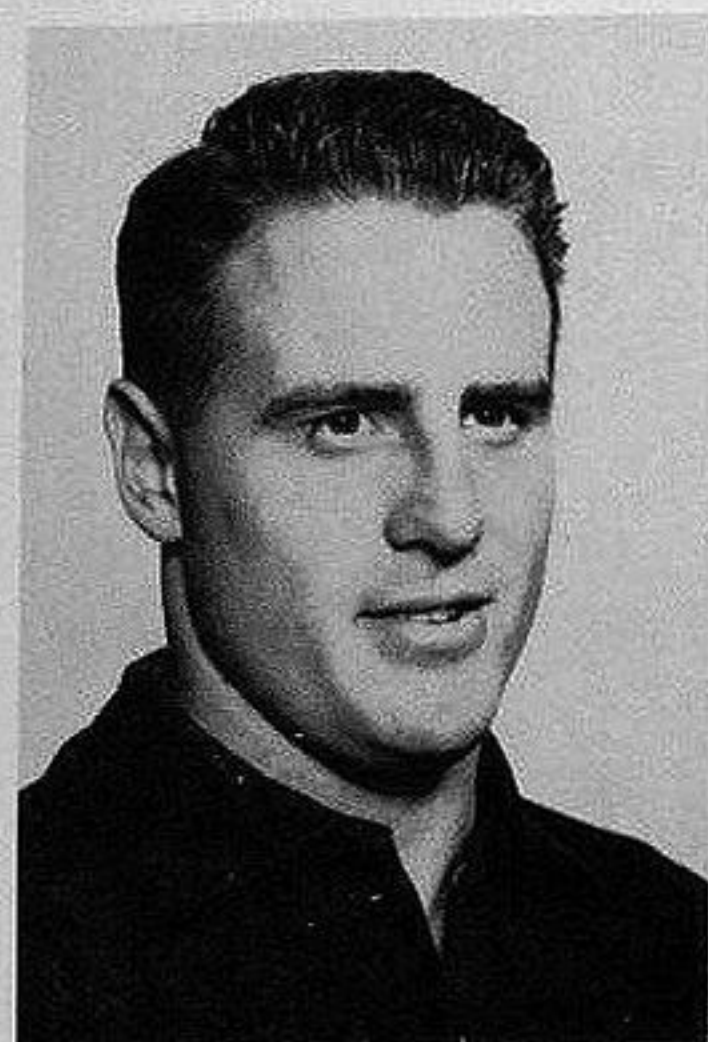

A knee injury hampered sophomore tackle JIM MANGAN'S fine defensive play.

Co-Captain MIKE MICHAEL handled the offensive center duties and was an outstanding blocker.

A general handyman in the Husky backfield was SAM MITCHELL, sophomore fullback, who alternated at quarterback and saw much action on the offensive and defensive platoons.

UW 7 - CALIFORNIA 14

A converted lineman, GENE NORTON adapted himself well as a starting offensive tackle.

A starting halfback on the frosh, JACK NUGENT saw action as an offensive and defensive reserve back.

One of the reasons for Washington's depth at the tackle positions was junior letterman JIM O'BRIEN.

Despite a raw, lead grey sky, over 55,000 anxious spectators filled the stadium by the lake to watch one of Washington's greatest Homecoming marathons. But the Bears from California were able to do what no other team had done in ten previous Washington starts; they held the Odells to a single touchdown. The Golden Bears massed an eight-man line, shifted the tackles effectively, smashed the Husky ends, and combined split second timing with alert football to stop Heinrich and Company.

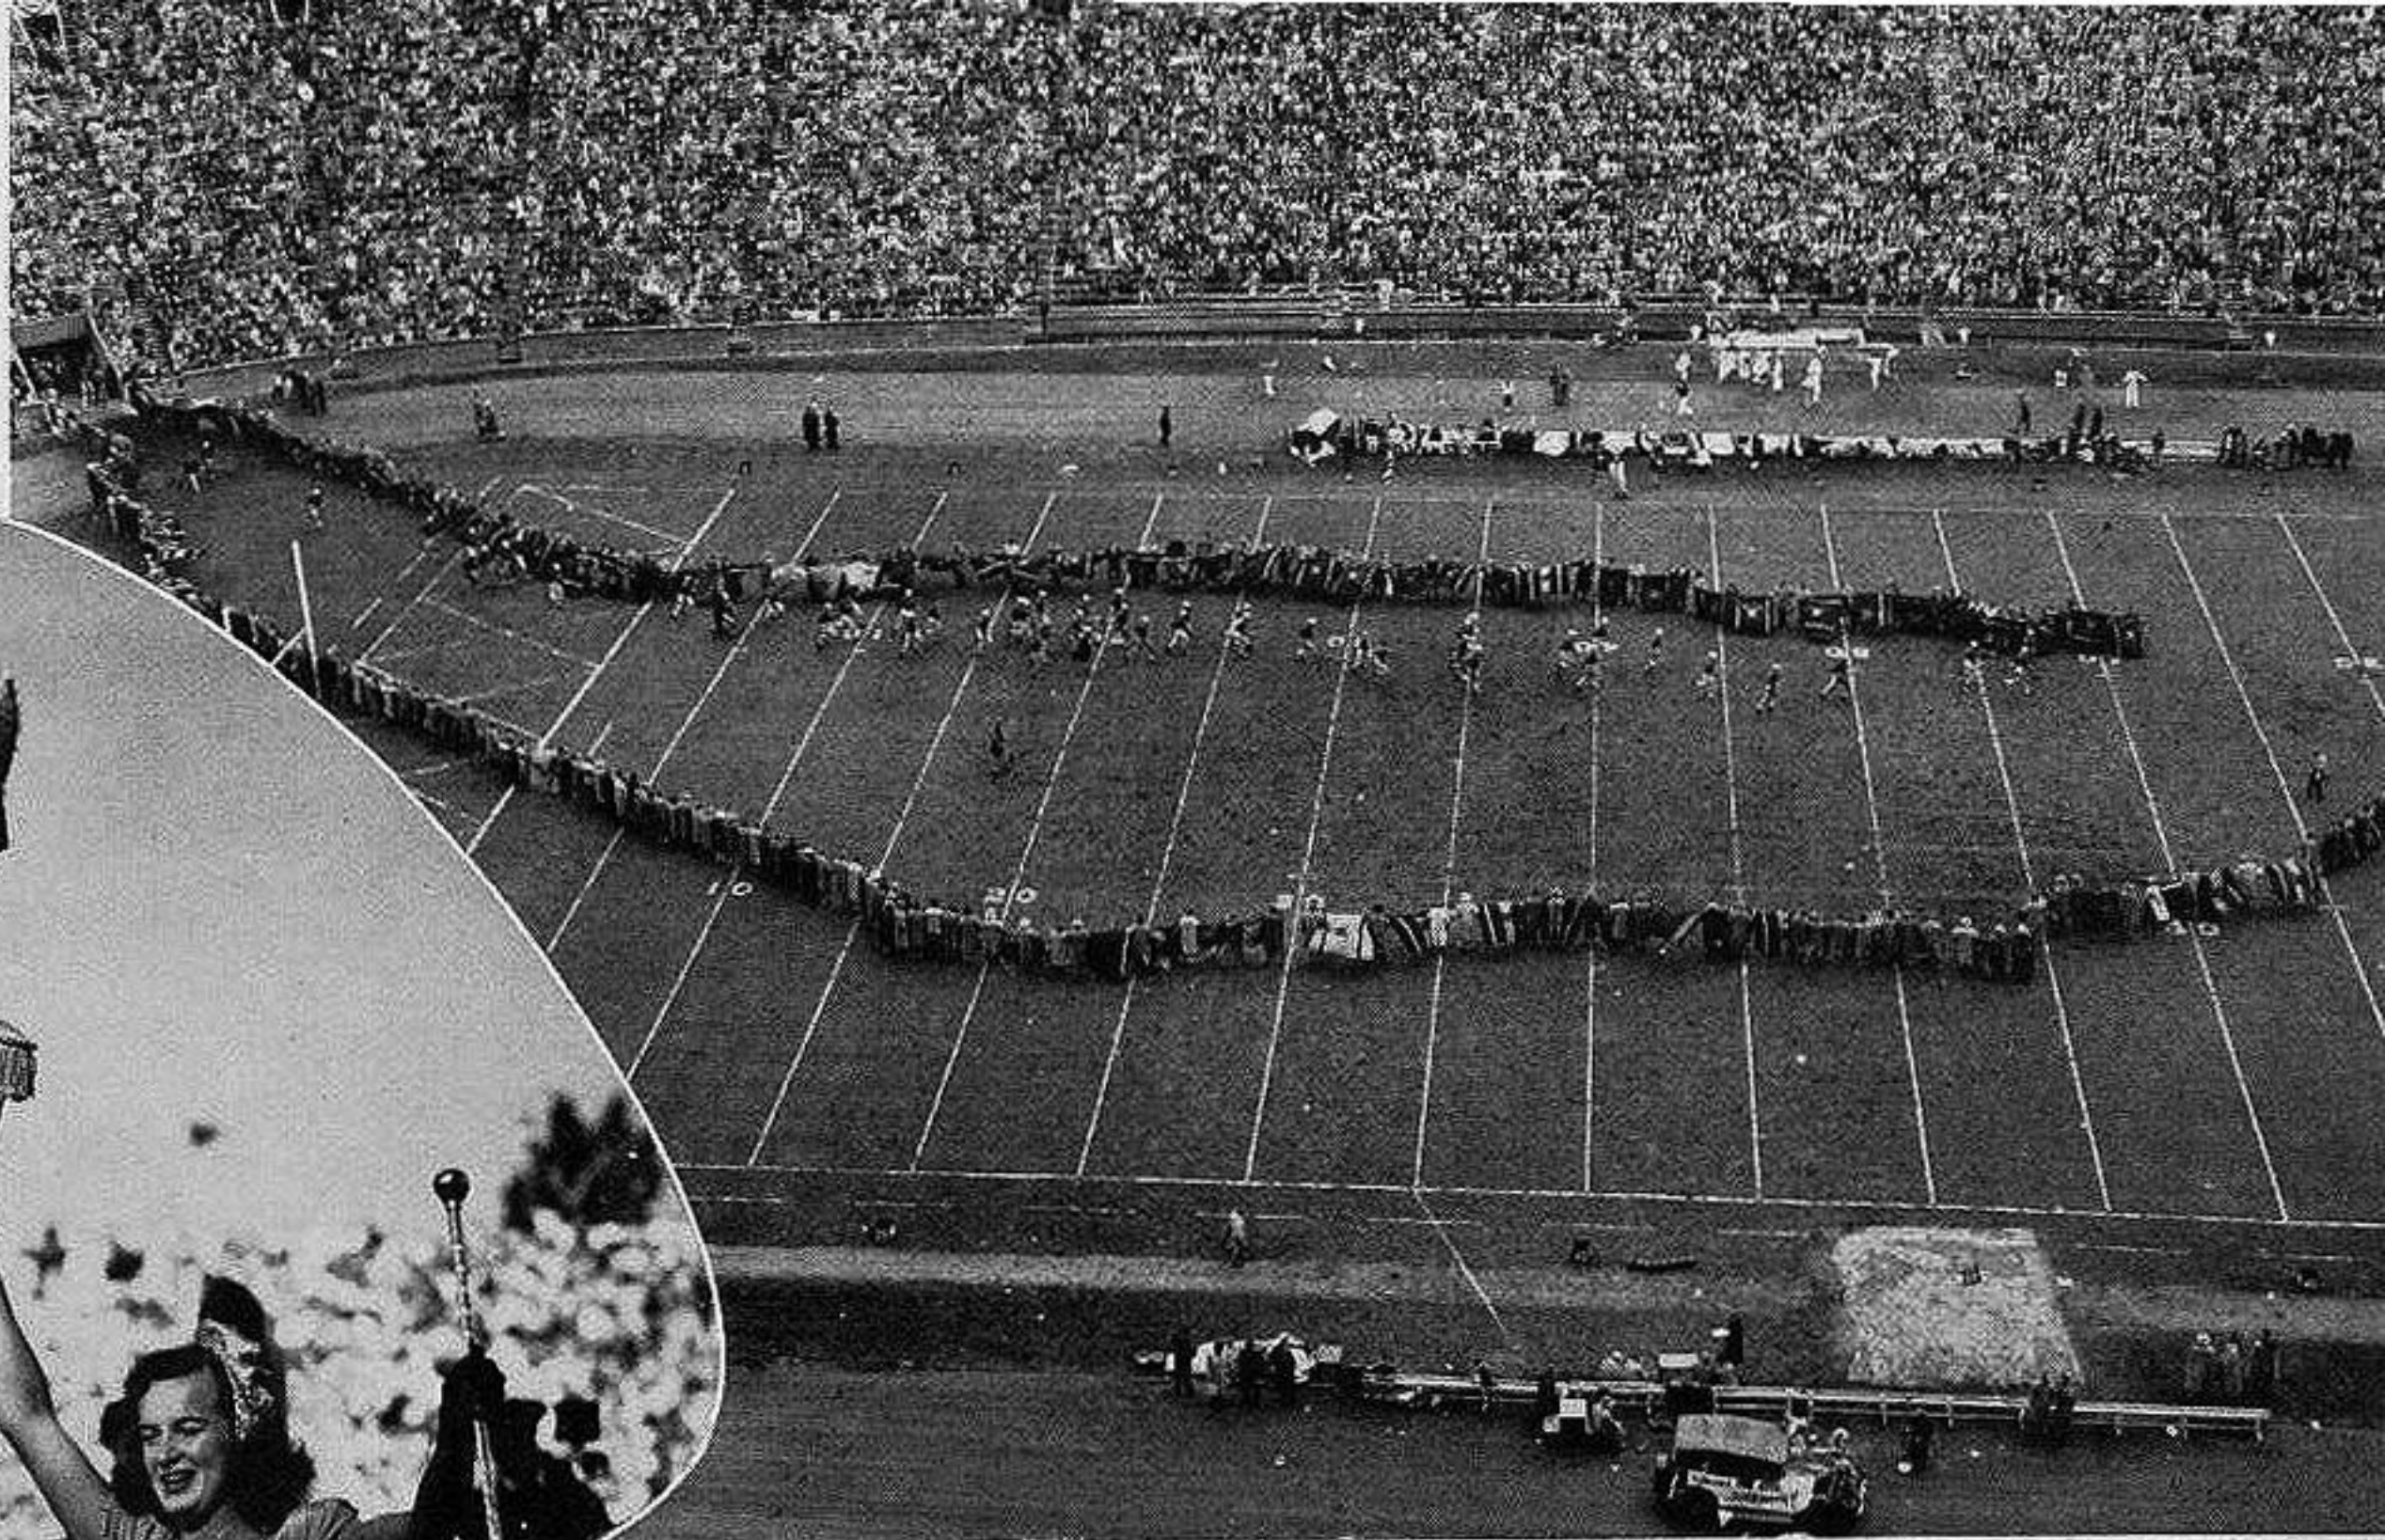

The opening quarter showed just the opposite of the sports writers predictions, for the air minded Odellmen chewed up yardage on the ground, while the hard running Californians turned forward pitches into first downs. Then Washington's Dick Sprague speared a Cal pass and returned the leather oval to the Bear 41. A perfect toss to Earley, and a slashing run by Kirkby, brought the Husky Pack deep within the Golden Gaters' territory. On the second play in the next quarter, Heinrich raised his hand and pleaded for silence from the throbbing stands, then handed the ball to Earley who spun across the final chalk stripe for the score. Rosenzweig converted and the locals lead 7-0.

California took the kickoff and smashed forward over the choppy turf to a touchdown and a tied halftime score. In the third quarter the Bears moved the ball from their own 35 to the Washington 26 in a sustained drive. Marinos, the underrated Bear Q.B., faded and heaved the pigskin into the arms of Schabarum for his second touchdown of the afternoon.

The Purple Shirts were drained of luck during the remainder of the day. Although they fought their way to the Bear 10, and three plays later broke from the huddle on the two-yard line, the panting Huskies were unable to crash the six remaining feet to the championship. A second touchdown chance slipped through the sweating palms of the men from Washington when they snatched a first down on the Golden Bear nine, but were unable to score. Minutes later the scent of roses turned to the sour odor of defeat as the damp eyed, but great Husky squad trudged from the darkening field to the lockerroom.

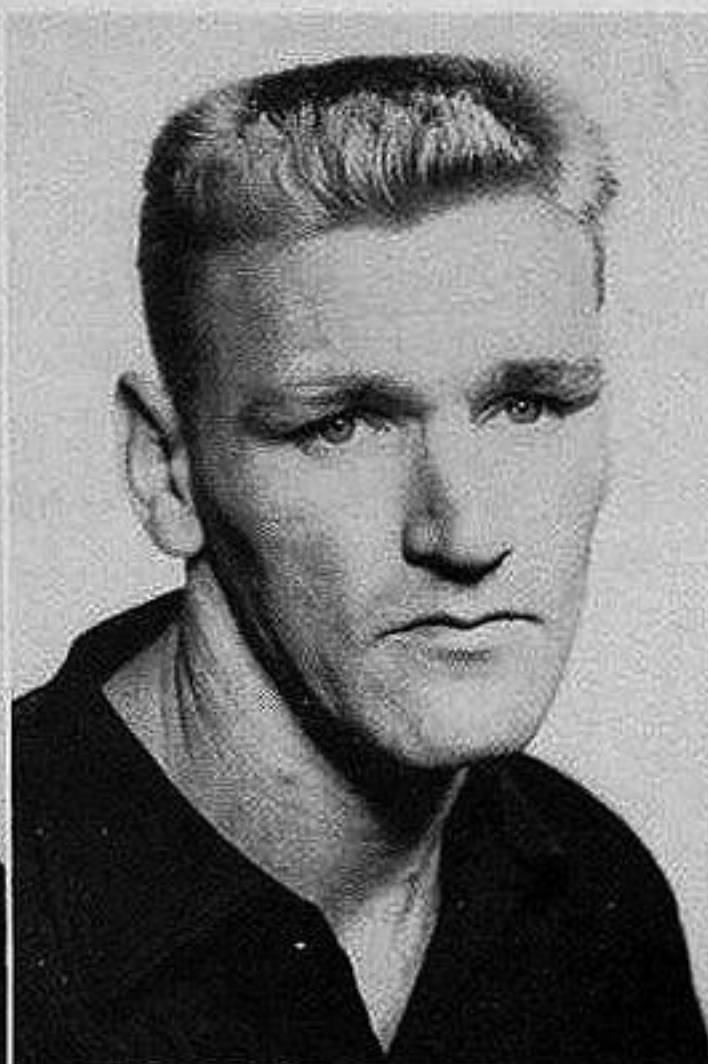

John Olszewski, Cal's fullback sensation, is brought down by an unidentified Husky defender while NEIL BOYD (3) dives for his ankles to assist. Other identified Huskies are LEO LOKOVSEK (16) and TED HOLZKNECHT (66). Number 23 of the Bears is sparkplug quarterback Jim Marinos.

GLORIA ELLEXSON and LLOYD STANSBURY were prominent features of the University marching band which performed during the halftime festivities of the Homecoming game as well as the other games throughout the season. The annual event which always occurs at Homecoming is the huge "Blanket Parade," greeting the Huskies as they emerge from the tunnel prior to the start of the second half of the game.

A senior letterman, quarterback DON O'LEARY strengthened the Huskies' vaunted aerial attack.

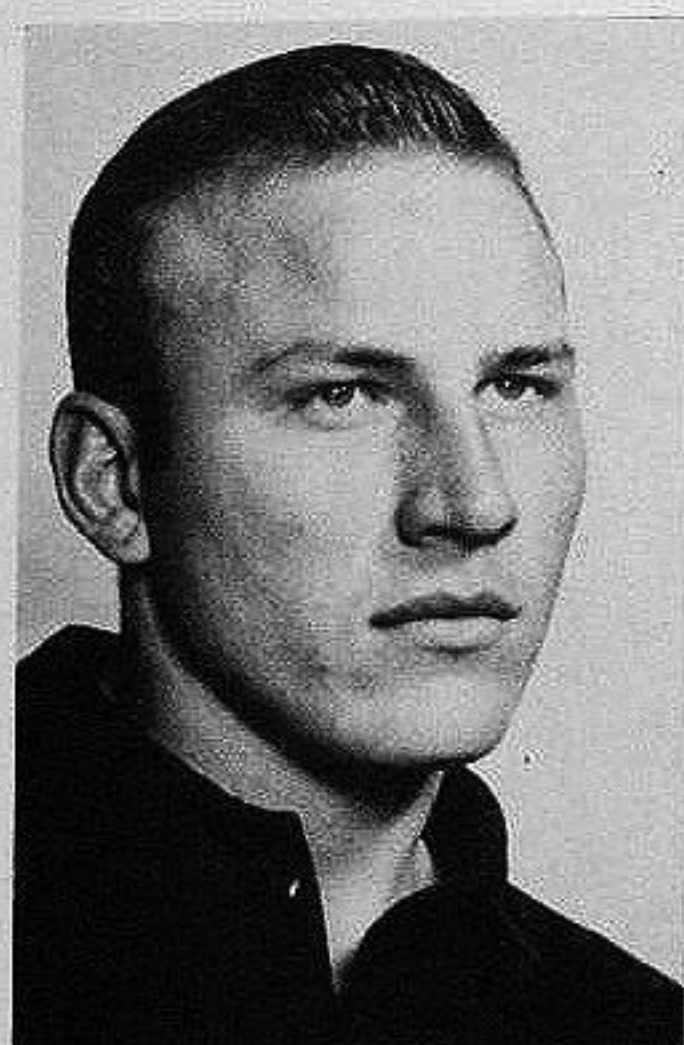

A broken ankle interrupted the fine defensive play of junior end BUD OLSEN.

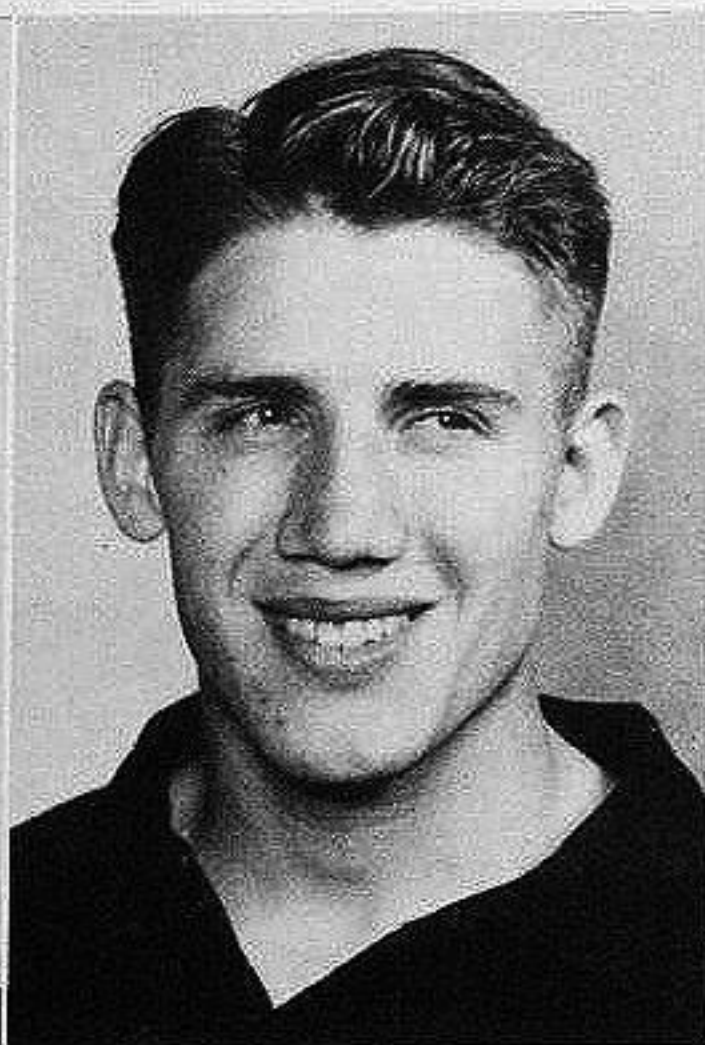

Former Seattle all-prep star DICK PANGALLO saw action as a reserve guard.

A fractured ankle prevented letterman tackle LORAN PERRY from continuing his bruising type of line play.

A two-year letterman, senior BRUCE REHN played bang-up ball as a defensive center in his final season with the Huskies.

UW 27 - OREGON 12

WASKY is introduced to the Oregon Duck by the Oregon pep staff as members of the Malamutes look on.

Thirty-five thousand faithful but shivering fans watched the Odellmen overpower the University of Oregon 27-12 in the final home stand of the season. Oregon threatened early in the first quarter when the Webfoots forced the Huskies back on their haunches defensively, but an end zone interception and a 25-yard return by Kirkby started Washington's first successful attack. The Husky pack fought downfield, and Earley scored on a 27-yard toss from Heinrich. But the Ducks again marched, and left the field at half-time trailing 7-6.

The purple shirts broke loose in the second half and bit off large chunks of yardage before Kirkby went over. Ernie Stein recovered an Oregon fumble, and a few plays later Kirkby drove across the striped chalk marks from 12 yards out for his second touchdown of the quarter. Dick Sprague kept the next drive alive, and broke loose from the Oregon 12 to score. Rosenzweig, who had another perfect day, swapped places with his ball holding teammate for the conversion, but Sprinkle's kick was wide.

Heinrich shattered the Pacific Coast records for passing when he primed his arm and surpassed the previous high for total completions, and for total yards passing. Kirkby averaged 6 yards per carry, played well defensively, and scored twice in his final home appearance.

The cool footed place kicking of senior JIM ROSENZWEIG spelled the difference in the UCLA game.

UW 28 - USC 13

Despite foul weather, 23,000 fans turned out to see Heinrich and Company keep their aerial circus alive and smash the Trojan horse to splinters in the Los Angeles Coliseum. Terrific football by the Husky front line, and a brilliant Husky drive coupled with a pass interception by Kirkby in the final quarter, burned the defeat deep into the U.S.C. gridders.

The California school broke loose first, and jumped to a 7-0 lead. Before the quarter closed Heinrich flipped to Clodt who fumbled in the end zone, but McElhenny recovered for the score. Rosenzweig booted his first of four conversions. Seth ended another Washington drive in the second quarter and went over from the one-yard line. U.S.C. bounced right back and threw the game wide open in the second half with another tally, but the Trojans failed to make the conversion.

Then the Huskies dominated the field, and Washington's poise and mature style of football showed. McElhenny scored, and minutes later Kirkby intercepted a desperation pass on Washington's 31-yard line and spurred all the way to cinch the victory.

One of the starting offensive guards, J. R. SAVAGE was a consistently outstanding performer.

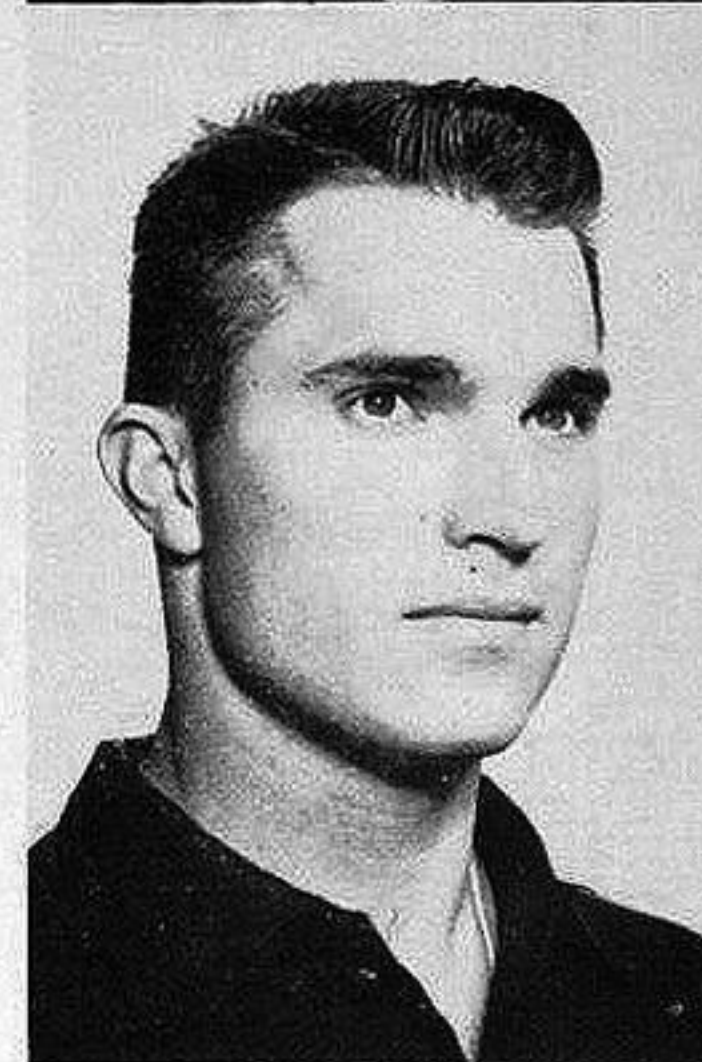

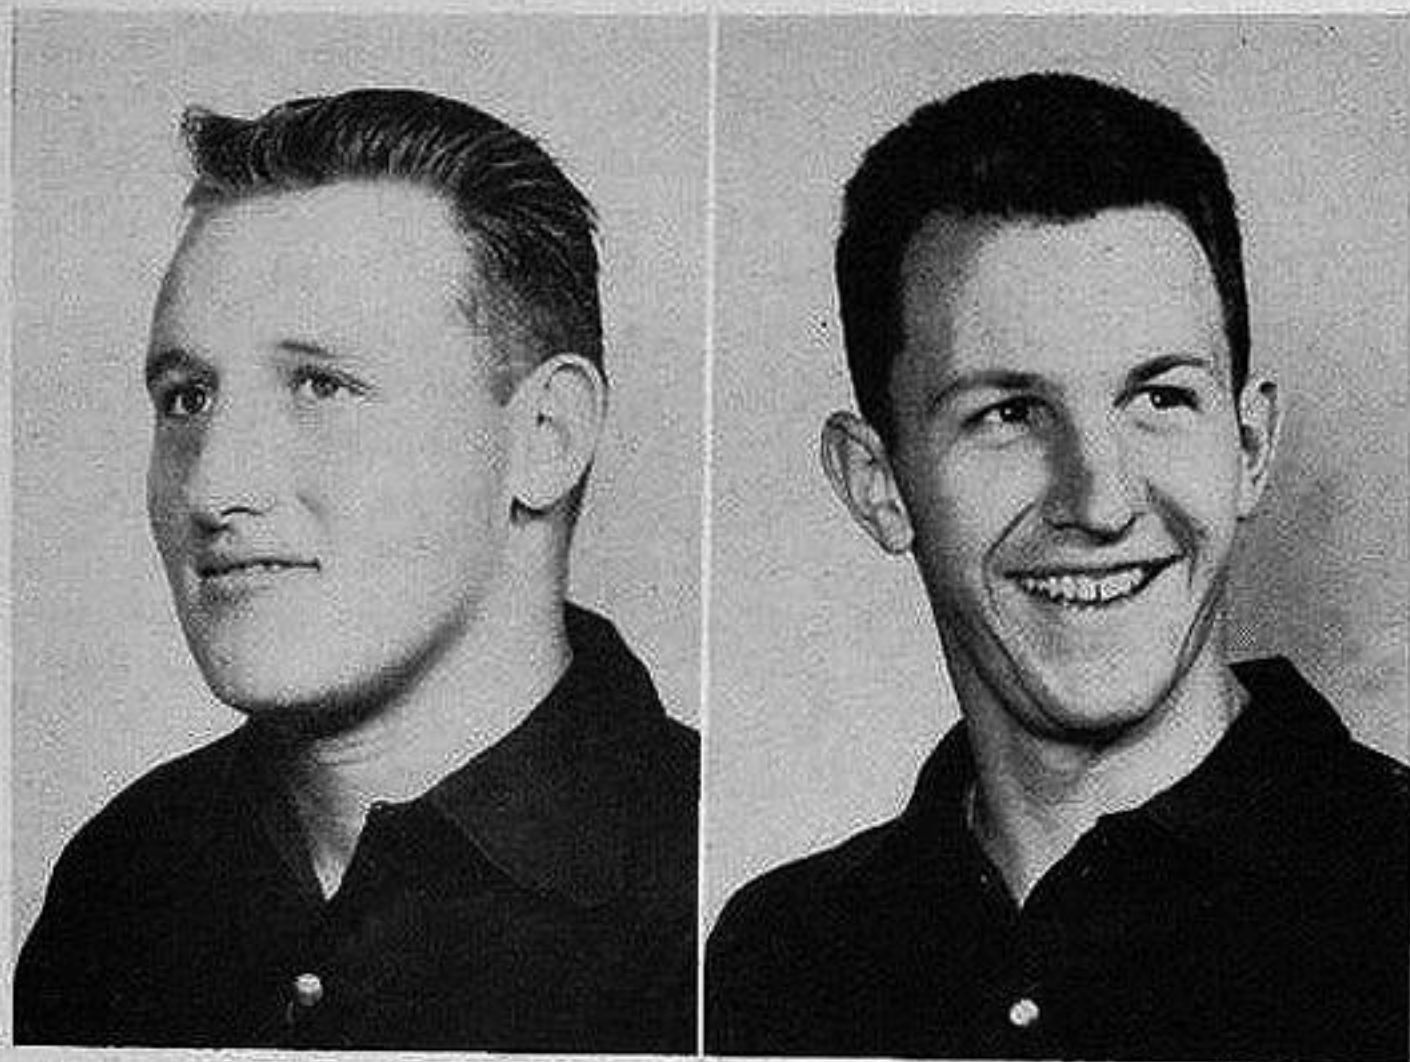

Sophomore CLYDE SEILER was a reserve tackle who saw considerable action.

Another specialist in the "stop 'em" department, LARRY SMITH made things tough for opposing backs.

Selected to the Grantland Rice All-American defensive platoon, DICK SPRAGUE was a stand-out back for the Purple and Gold on both offense and defense.

A three-year letterman half-back, JACK SETH was the line cracker of the Husky backfield.

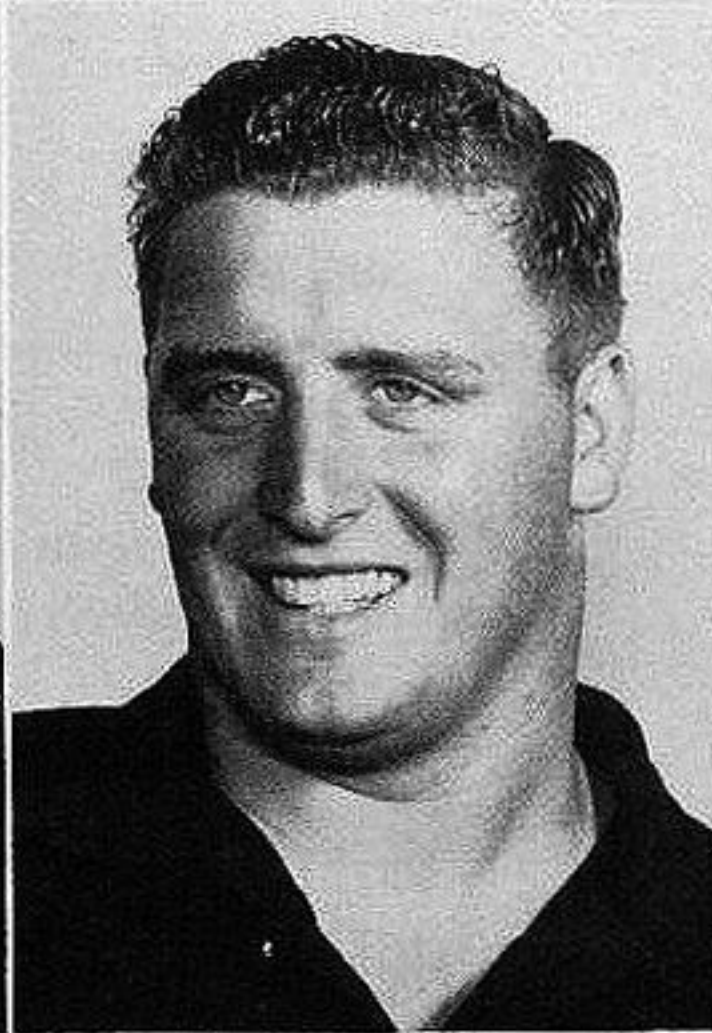

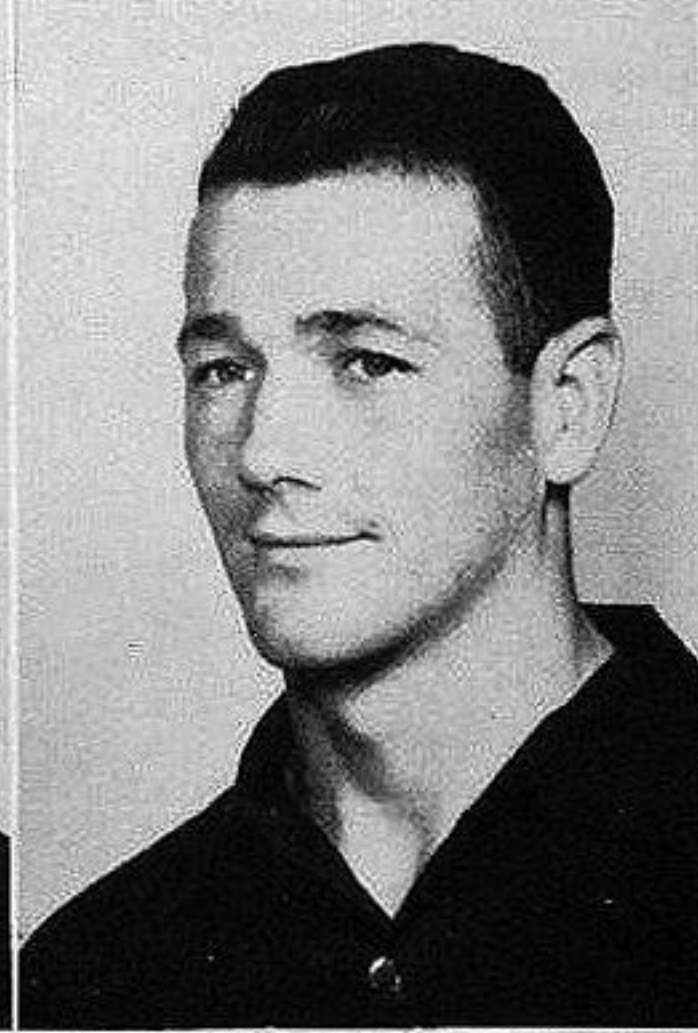

Nicknamed the "Hands," DICK SPRINKLE teamed with Rosenzweig on extra points.

A demon on defense "DOC" TALLEY held down end spot on the defensive platoon.

Another rugged senior line-man who will be missed next season is HOWIE WERSTLUK.

Rated as one of the best line-backers on the Coast, JIM WILEY has another season left with the Purple and Gold.

One of the few four-year lettermen in Washington's history, ERNIE STEIN was outstanding as a converted defensive tackle.

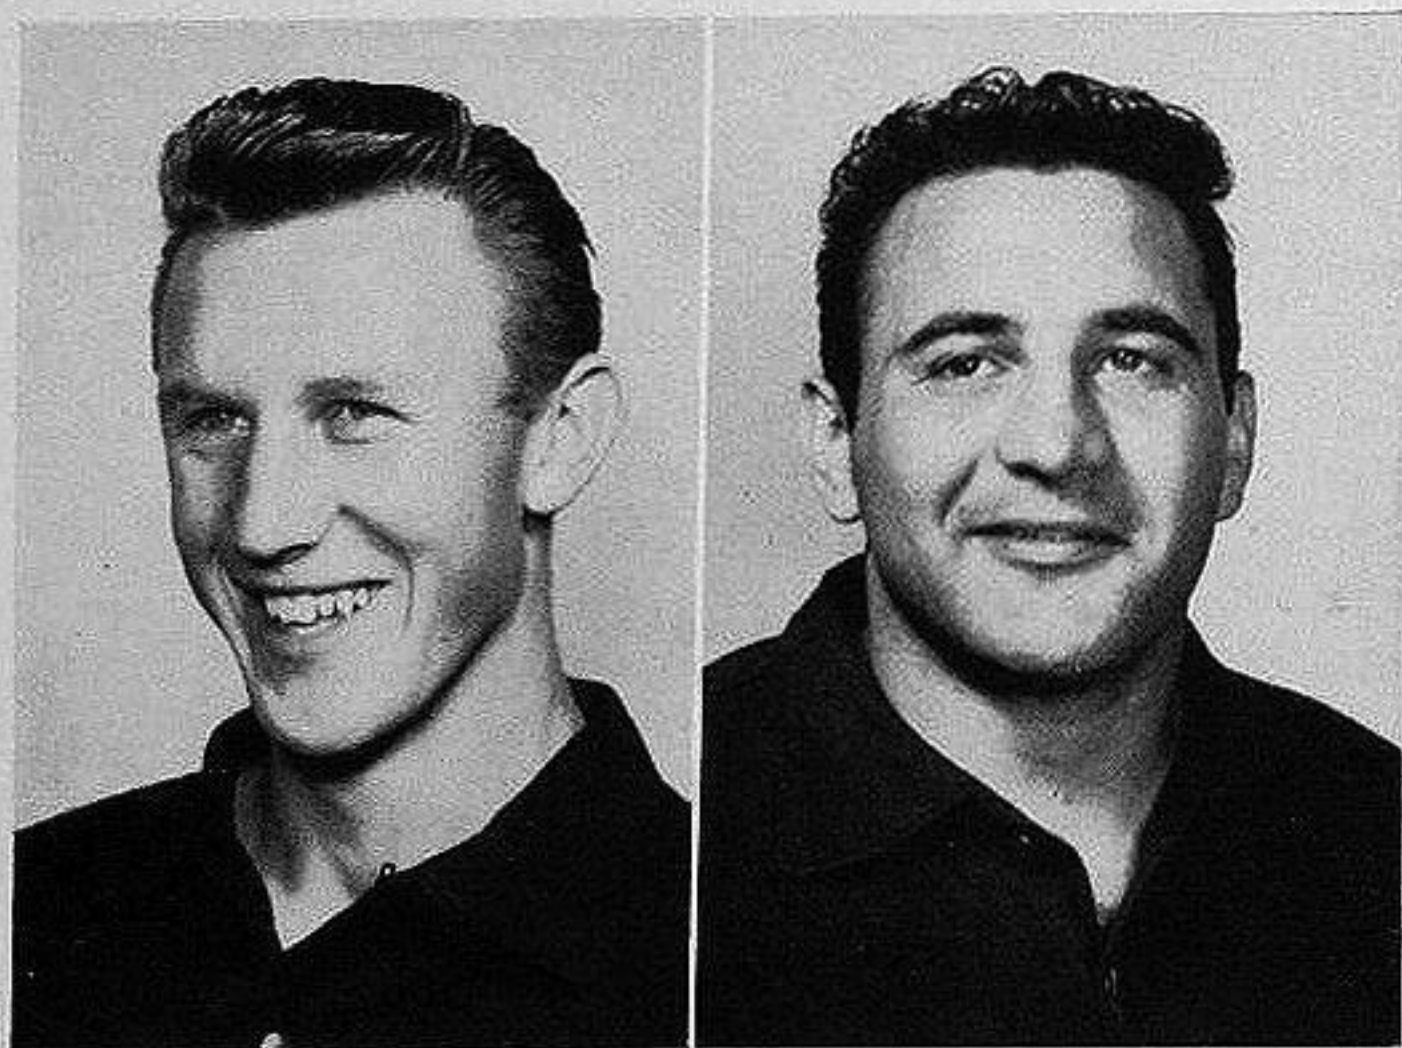

Husky end PHIL GILLIS (10) is about to be spilled by an unidentified Washington State defender after taking a short pass from Don Heinrich. Rollie Kirkby (44) is shown across the field just to the right of Gillis.

In the chill of late November, the city boys ended a torrid grid season by smashing their country cousins 52-21 in Spokane's sunken stadium. Thirty thousand spectators stood screaming when McElhenny went the distance the second time Washington had the ball. The fans were no more than comfortably seated when Heinrich pitched to Earley and the Huskies doubled their lead. By halftime a dizzying 33-0 was posted on the scoreboard.

The Cougars dominated the third period and scored twice. Then came one of the most fantastic quarters in college football history. Heinrich, believing that he had broken the national passing record for completions, concentrated on a ground attack. With minutes left in the darkening stadium, and with W.S.C. in complete possession of the ball, the error was discovered and announced over the public address system. In order to gain possession of the ball Washington gave the Cougars a gift touchdown by offering no defense. The Huskies received and Heinrich lobbed the ball to Kirkby for the record.

Only seconds remained when McElhenny charged the line, swerved, then sputtered through the entire team for another tally. Mac scored five times, averaged 14.8 yards per try, and broke the Pacific Coast Conference rushing mark with a total of 1107 yards for the season.

A sophomore tackle who came into his own, LOUIE YOURKOWSKI fought his way to a starting position.

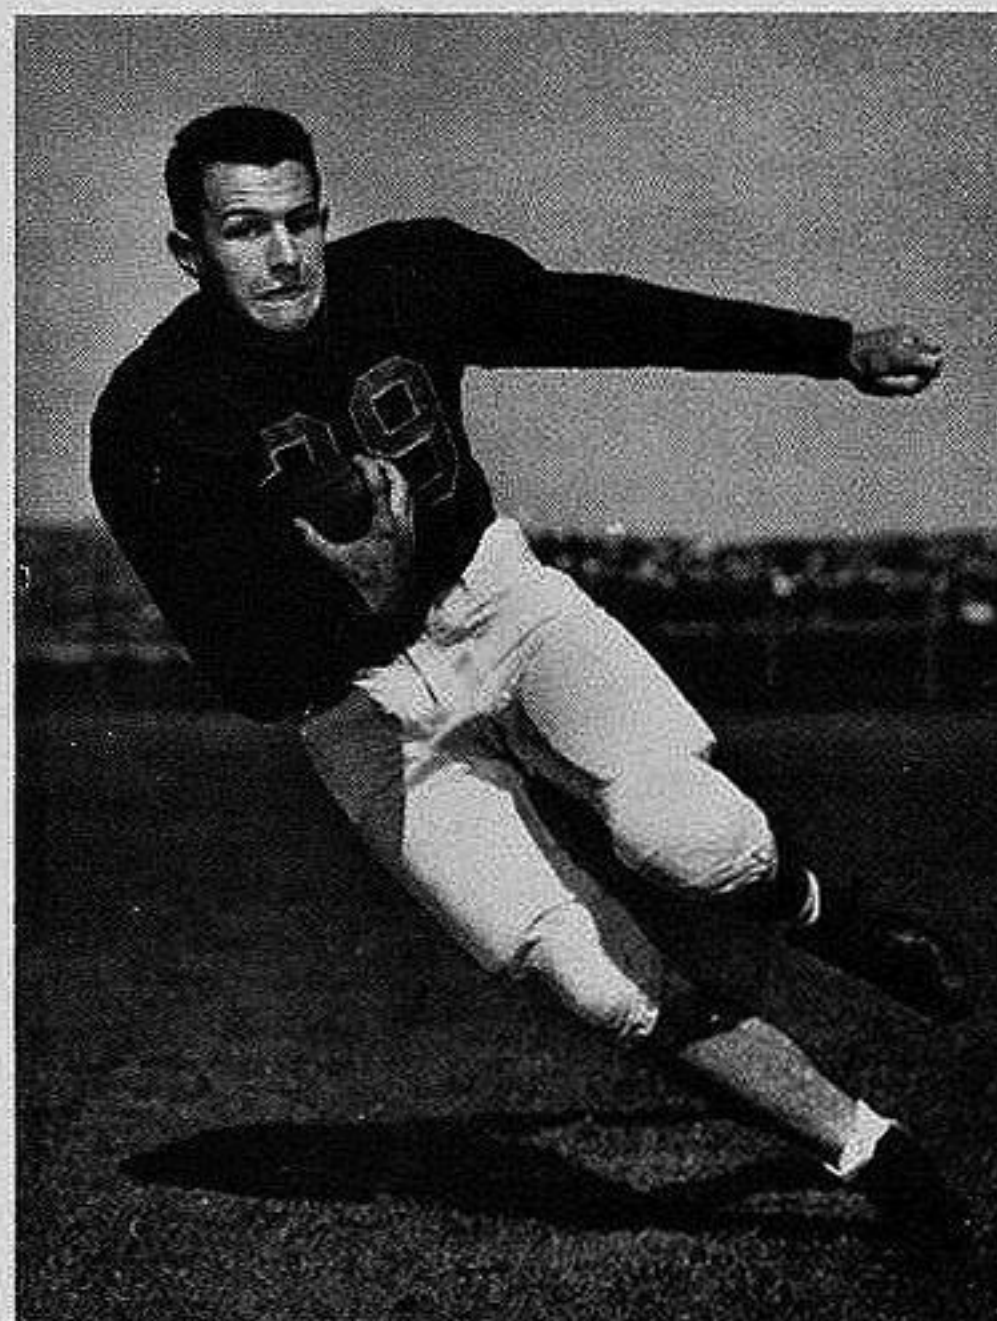

A junior letterman, BRYAN ZUREK teamed with Savage to secure the offensive guard positions.

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL HONORS

Rated by many observers as the greatest passer in Washington football history, junior quarterback DON HEINRICH was named to the Associated Press All-American team after he had shattered every Pacific Coast passing record plus the national mark for total completions in one season.

A former three sport star at Gonzaga High School in Spokane, DICK SPRAGUE starred on both offense and defense for the Huskies as a sophomore fullback. Named to the Grantland Rice All-American defensive platoon, he became the first sophomore All-American in Washington history.

With All-Americans Don Heinrich and Dick Sprague leading the way, numerous members of the Husky squad received mention on various all-star teams. Joe Cloidt, Ted Holzknecht, Mike Michael, Jim Wiley, Roland Kirkby and Hugh McElhenny won honorable mention on the Associated Press All-American.

McElhenny and Heinrich, the record shattering Husky backfield combination, won positions on the Associated Press all-coast offensive eleven along with teammate Holzknecht. Sprague won AP all-coast defensive honors. Cloidt and Kirkby were named on the AP all-coast second team.

Heinrich and McElhenny were named on the International News Service first eleven. Cloidt, Holzknecht and Kirkby were picked on the second team and sophomore halfback Bill Earley won third team honors. Quarterback Heinrich rewrote one national and every Pacific Coast Conference and Washington passing record in his rise to All-American fame. The cool-headed Husky field general's national record for the most passes completed in one season—134—and his new PCC total offense mark of 1807 yards in one year stand as the outstanding accomplishments in coast football in the 1950 season.

Hugh McElhenny rewrote the Coast conference net yards from rushing record with 1107 yards. The Washington fullback scored 14 touchdowns for 84 points and an all-time Husky scoring record.

HUSKY PUPS

Under the capable leadership of Johnny Cherberg, the 1950 frosh aggregation rolled through a second straight undefeated season and extended their winning streak to 13 games in a row. Since this year's squad had top men at all positions, September '51 should find the Husky varsity group extremely deep in talent.

Cherberg's eleven broke away from the Idaho frosh in every department in the season's opener. A rugged Washington line and fast offense combined to trample the men from the Pan-handle state into the turf. Before the tired Idaho frosh could retire to the shower room, a 61-7 count was posted on the scoreboard. In the season's second contest, the Baby Beavers from Oregon held the Pups on nearly even terms for three sweating quarters. But the Pups rolled in the last period and won, 33-18.

The frosh met their third test in the crisp chilled air of the wheat country when they met the undefeated Kittens of WSC. Although the cross-state rivals scored first on a 42-yard pass play, the Washington lads pounded out four tallies and a 26-6 win.

The season's thriller against Oregon brought blood pounding to the temples of the Washington fans. The Pups trailed, 21-20, at the end of the third quarter, then spurted forward with a 73-yard drive for the final touchdown, a 26-21 victory, and the Northern Division championship.

Frosh football coach, JOHNNY CHERBERG, once again directed an unbeaten yearling team to decisive victories over all opponents.

This year's swim squad was the strongest in the Huskies history. Great reserve strength and great stars lifted this Husky team to top honors among Northwest teams and in the national rankings. Records were broken in every meet, and most of the races were a rout. In the Northern Division Meet, Washington captured most of the championships, and had reserves equivalent to several separate teams. They gathered almost as many points as all the other teams combined. This year will stand long among the better seasons, and may never be equaled.

Instead of swimming his traditional record breaking breaststroke, PETE SALMON decided to try the crawl stroke. He turned in a 51.2 in the 100, scared the whole swimming world with a torrid 22.4 in the 50 freestyle, and had the fastest medley time with 1:31.9. Pete topped his season with the National Championship in the Individual Medley.

MERRILL HODGES captured sixth place in diving in the National Collegiate Meet at Austin, Texas. Way out from Omaha, Nebraska, Merrill has never been defeated in Northwest competition. Merrill is really a spectacle to watch, whether he is doing a forward double twisting one and one half somersault, switching to a relay, or providing comedy for the spectators.

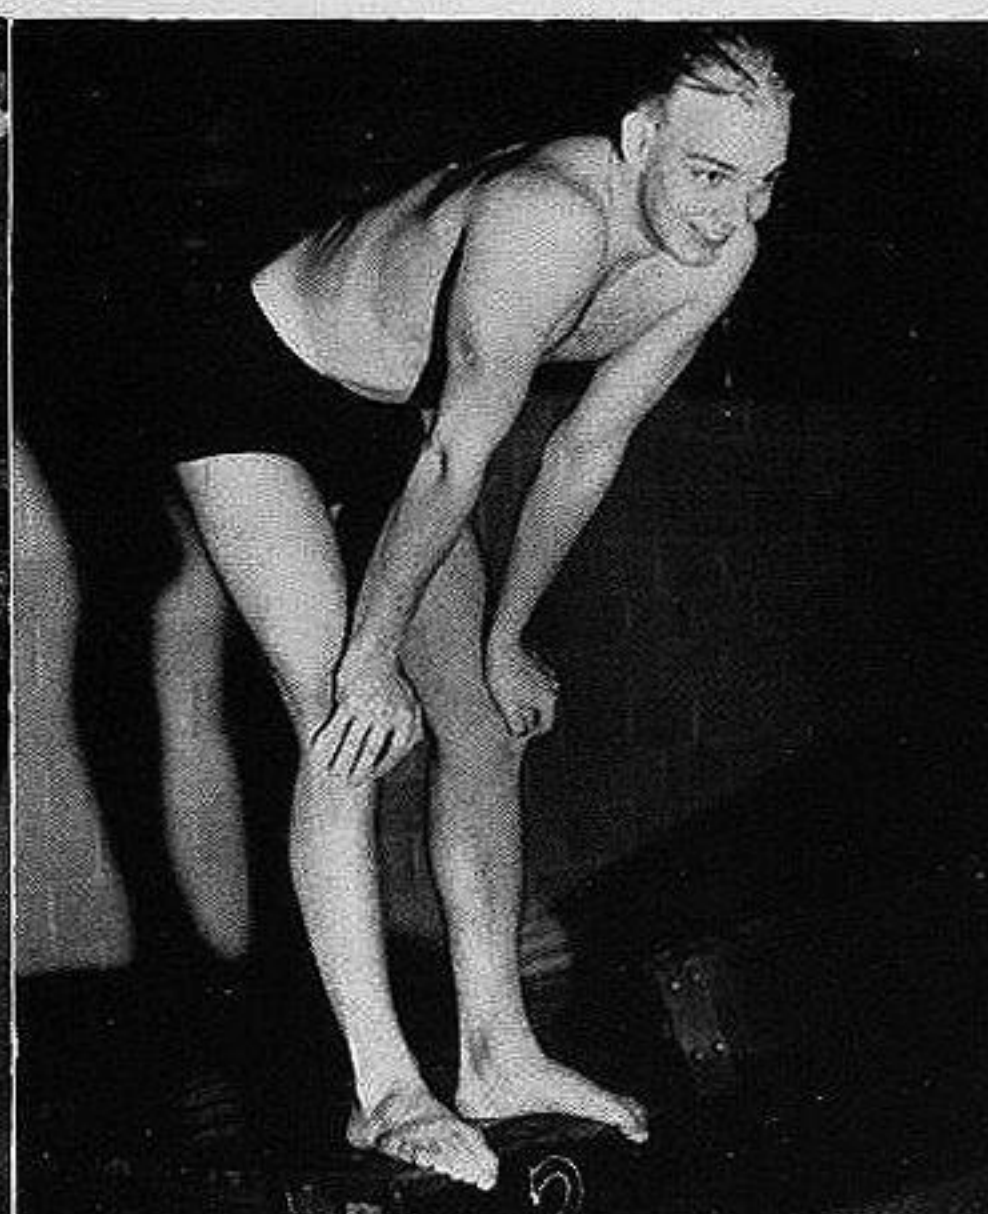

Captain of this year's varsity, BOB MILLER had his best and final season for the Huskies. Establishing meet records almost every time he swam, Bob established an all-time Championship meet record of 1:01.5 in the 100 yard backstroke, led the Washington squad in the national collegiate meet on March 29th, 30th and 31st.

PETE LEE, the old married man of the swim squad. Pete got going against Oregon State to win the fifty. Now graduating, he leaves with titles of All-American Honorable Mention, Northern Division Relay Champion and All-time Northern Division All-Star team.

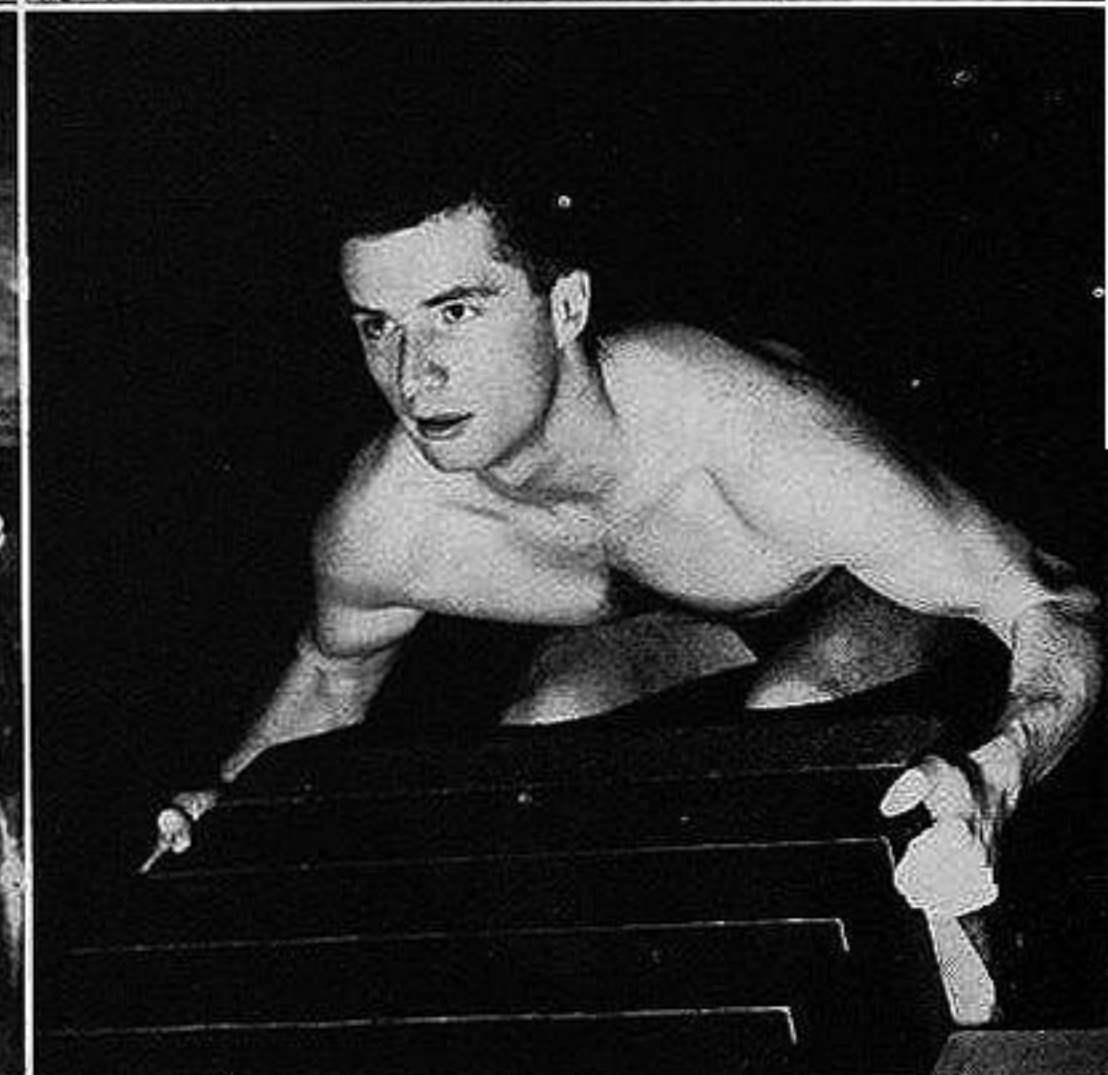

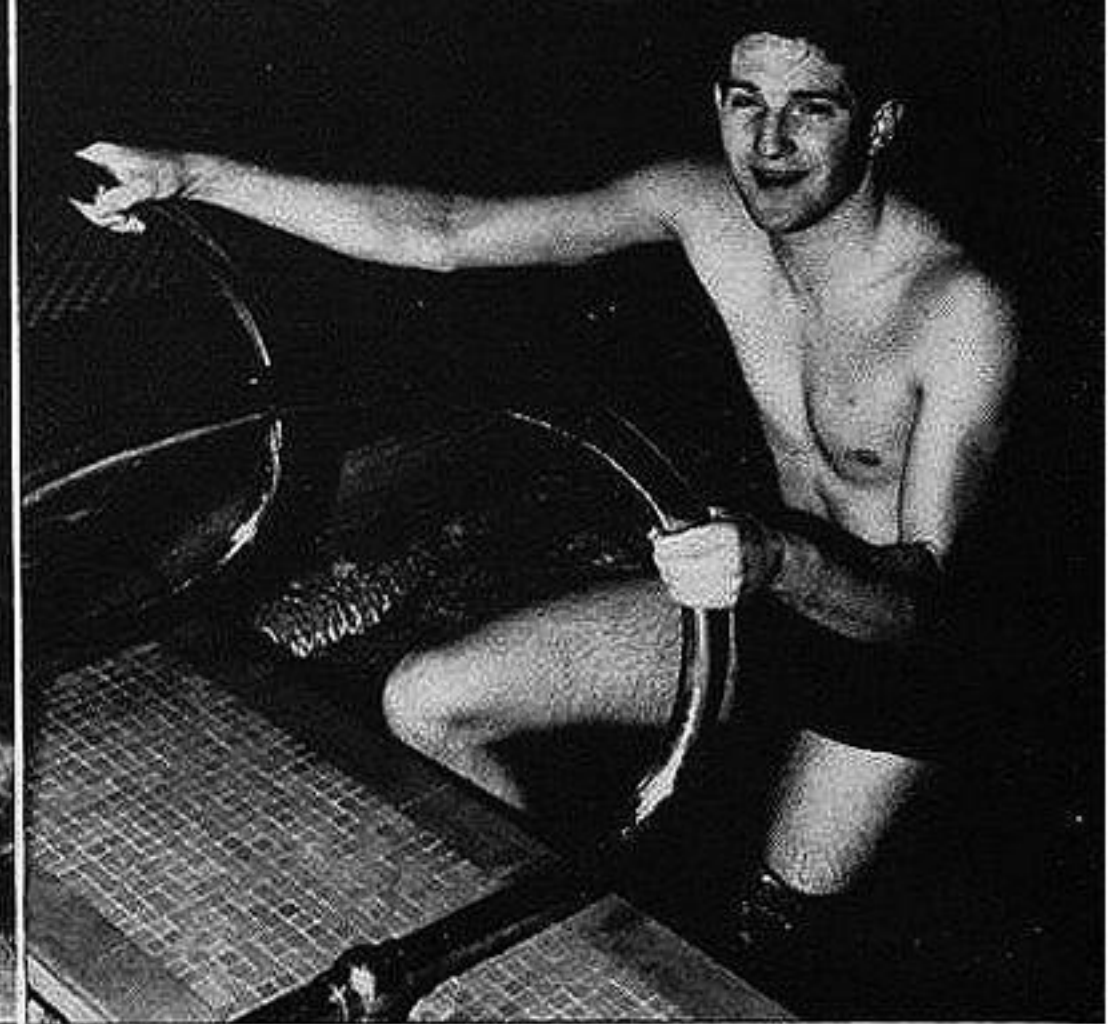

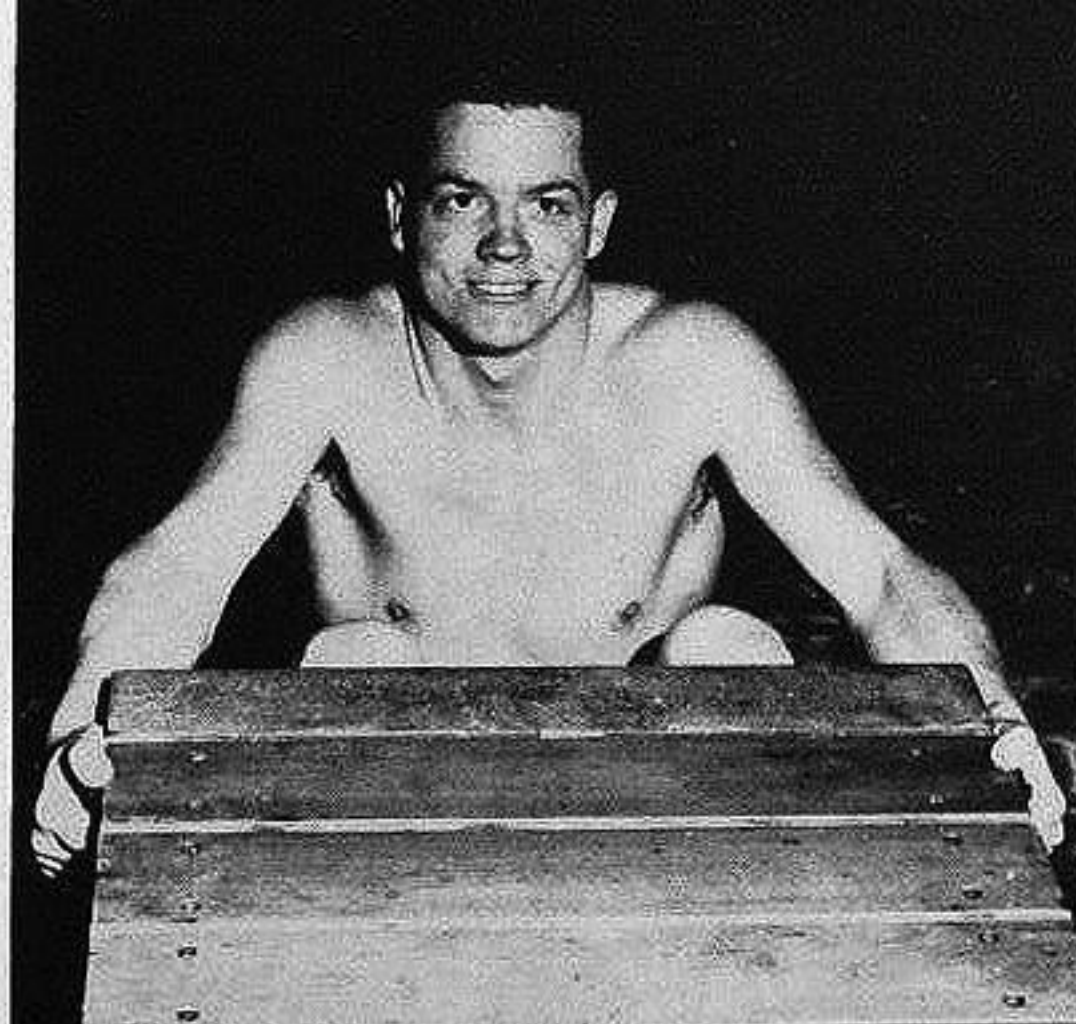

Just edged out by experience from the 100 yard national breaststroke championship, DICK MAGNUSON led world's record holders for the first 75 yards. Able to win easily in Northwest competition, Dick set a mark of 1:01.5 in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Nicknamed "Moving Van Smith," VAN SMITH carried Husky hopes in the 100 and 220 yard freestyle. With fast sprint start, this member of the national squad anchored the Washington medley relay.

Pictured here is TERRY MULLIN ready for a backstroke start. Your 1951 Tyee Swimming editor spent three years on the varsity squad, and swam in the Northern Divisions.

TED CARPENTER, two year letterman in swimming, though a full minute faster, couldn't quite break through for his award this year. Though better than letter earners from four other Northern Division schools, several varsity members like Ted have only memories for this season.

A dark horse of the 1951 season, TURE ANDERSON gained two fourths in the Northern Divisions here at Seattle. He has great potential, and may develop into a great collegiate star.

Lanky JACK CREEDON down from Canada, gathered many points for the Huskies. This is the second year Jack earned a letter, and his efforts in the 440 against Bob Clayton livened up an otherwise rather monotonous race.

Chunky CHUCK SHELDON gave strong competition in the backstroke for number two position amidst a host of varsity swimmers. When the season ended, Chuck found that he was number three in the whole Northern Division in the backstroke.

DON THORNHILL was only a reserve last year, but came through to add many points in the diving. Don was second or close to second throughout the season, and gave smooth exhibitions at all times.

"PINKIE" WILLSON, the beet red white haired performer from Vancouver, Canada. Ted is very inspiring to watch, as he always seems to be the underdog, and would finish ahead of swimmers three times his size.

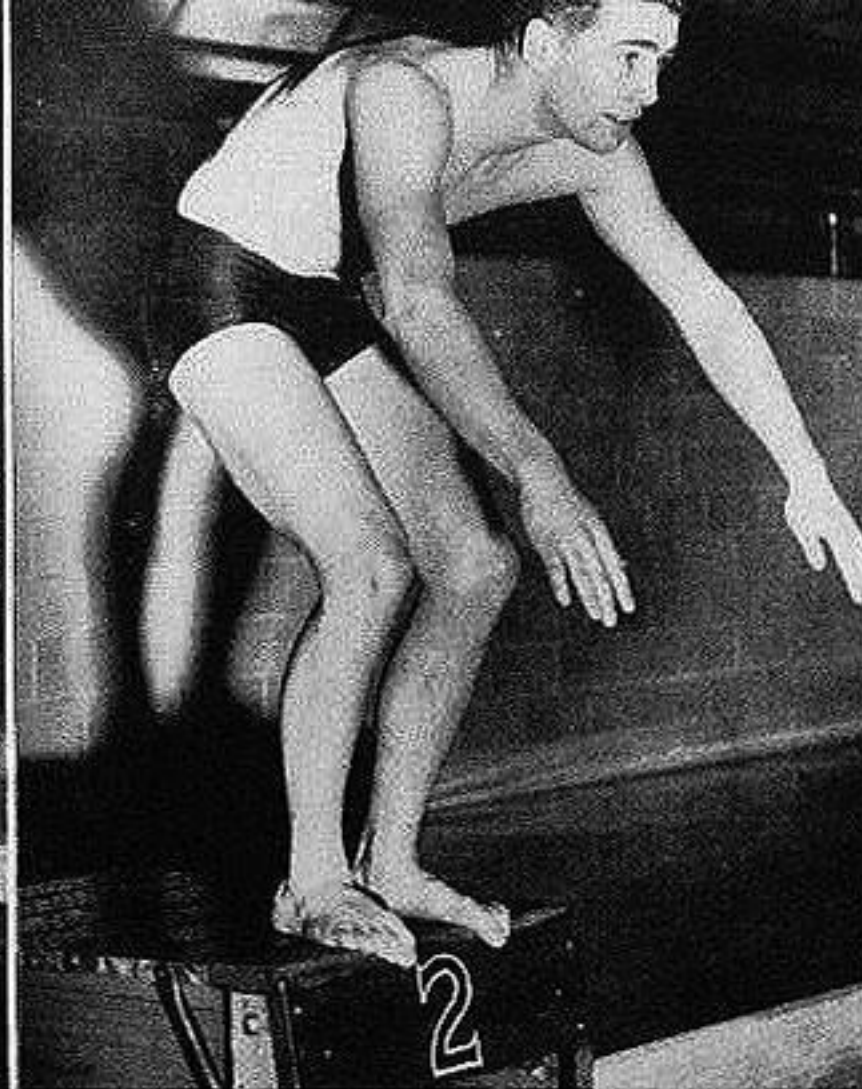

A transfer from Fullerton Junior College is PETE BRINKMAN. With potential in the sprints, next year he should be a regular competitor.

Little DOUG STEWART down from Canada, showed suprising results in his breaststroke races with hard work and utmost determination. Captured second place in the Northern Divisions.

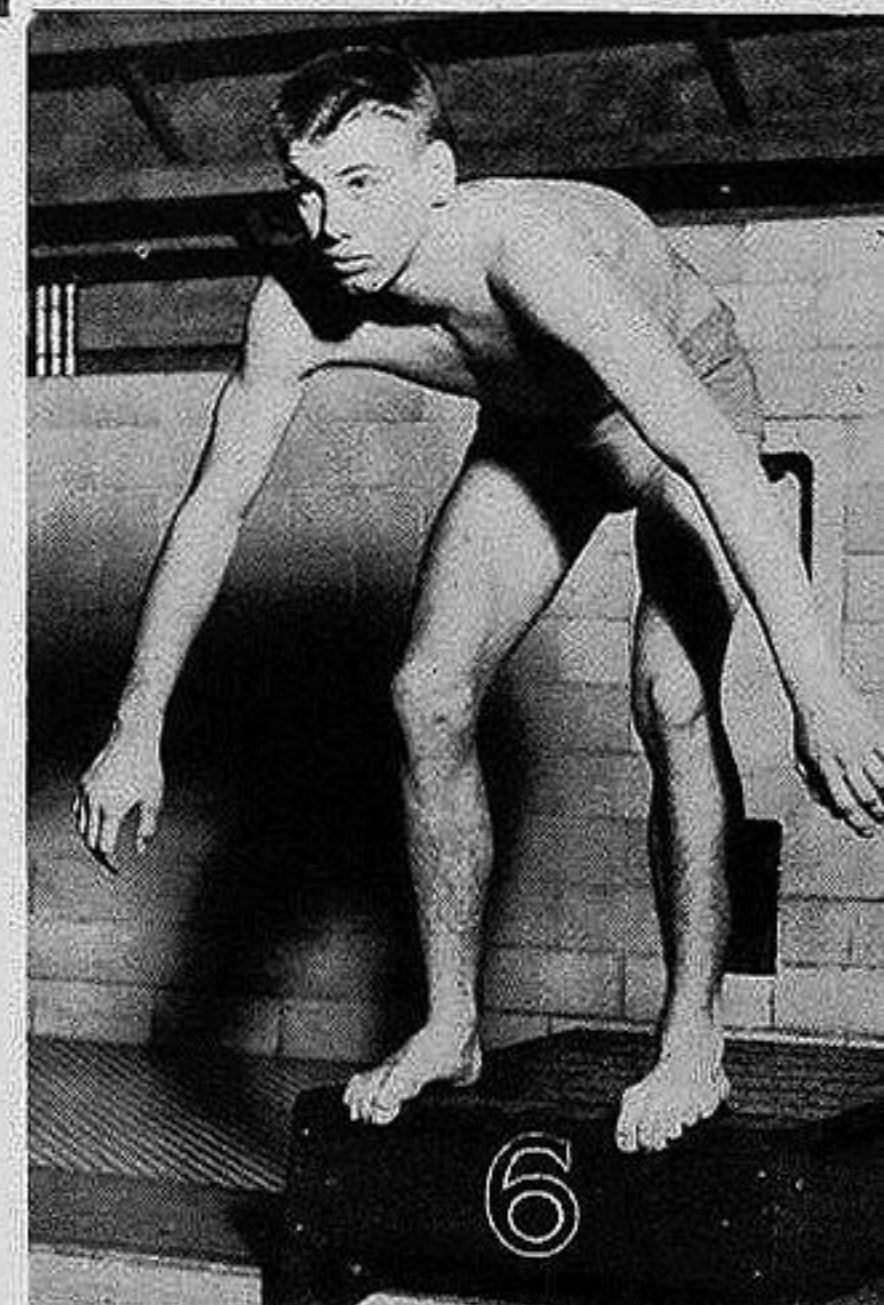

TOAD TALLMAN, not the fastest competitor at the beginning of a race, once he got ahead, nobody could catch him again. Toad amazed everyone by ending his varsity career with the Northern Division Individual Medely Championship.

Washington's steady distance ace, BOB CLAYTON, averaged near 2:16 in the 220, 5:00 in the 440. Bob was heartbreakingly nosed out by one tenth of a second in the long, tough 1500 meters in the Northern Divisions for first place.

Senior Manager HOWIE STRAND, flanked by RON NERLAND and DALLAS ZEIGER, helped show how its done to his assistants. All concerned with swimming at Washington in the last season concede Howie the best swimming manager in a decade.

Another strong Freshman team was evidenced this year. With two great stars in Bob Hamblin and Jim Portelance, and much other potential varsity material, the Frosh won every meet by large margins. The Frosh competed against high schools, other college freshmen, and even beat the UBC varsity. The accomplishments of Jim Portelance are apt to be overlooked amidst Washington's other victories. Out here in the West, far from any real freshman competition, Jim set national records of 19:25.9 for 20 yard pools and 19:22.3 for 25 yard pools in the 1500 meters.

Coach Buster Campbell's Varsity Skiers finished the 1951 season in the same spot they ended their 1950 program, still one of the top teams in the nation, but against heavy odds. The loss of three top jumpers and two top downhill slalom men just before the Nationals at Mount Hood appeared to be a fatal blow for the Huskies. Washington, who was predicted to have the top ski team in the country earlier in the season, was put completely out of the running by sports predictors when the loss of a number of the top men was known.

In spite of the hardship, Coach Campbell and Assistant Coach Bill Dunaway moved J.V. men Wayne Maxwell and Phil Gillis to varsity spots and staged a surprising upset by turning in consistent team results and taking third place in the National 4-way combined.

Prospects for next years Skiing Huskies look very bright with the return of "Old Reliable" Gene Brady, Jan Kaier, Per Pederson, Ole Lie, and Phil Gillis. Strong support coming up from the J.V. will include: Ross McLaughlin, Osborne Lundteigen, John Groby, and Jim Cutler.

Huskies bring home the hardware

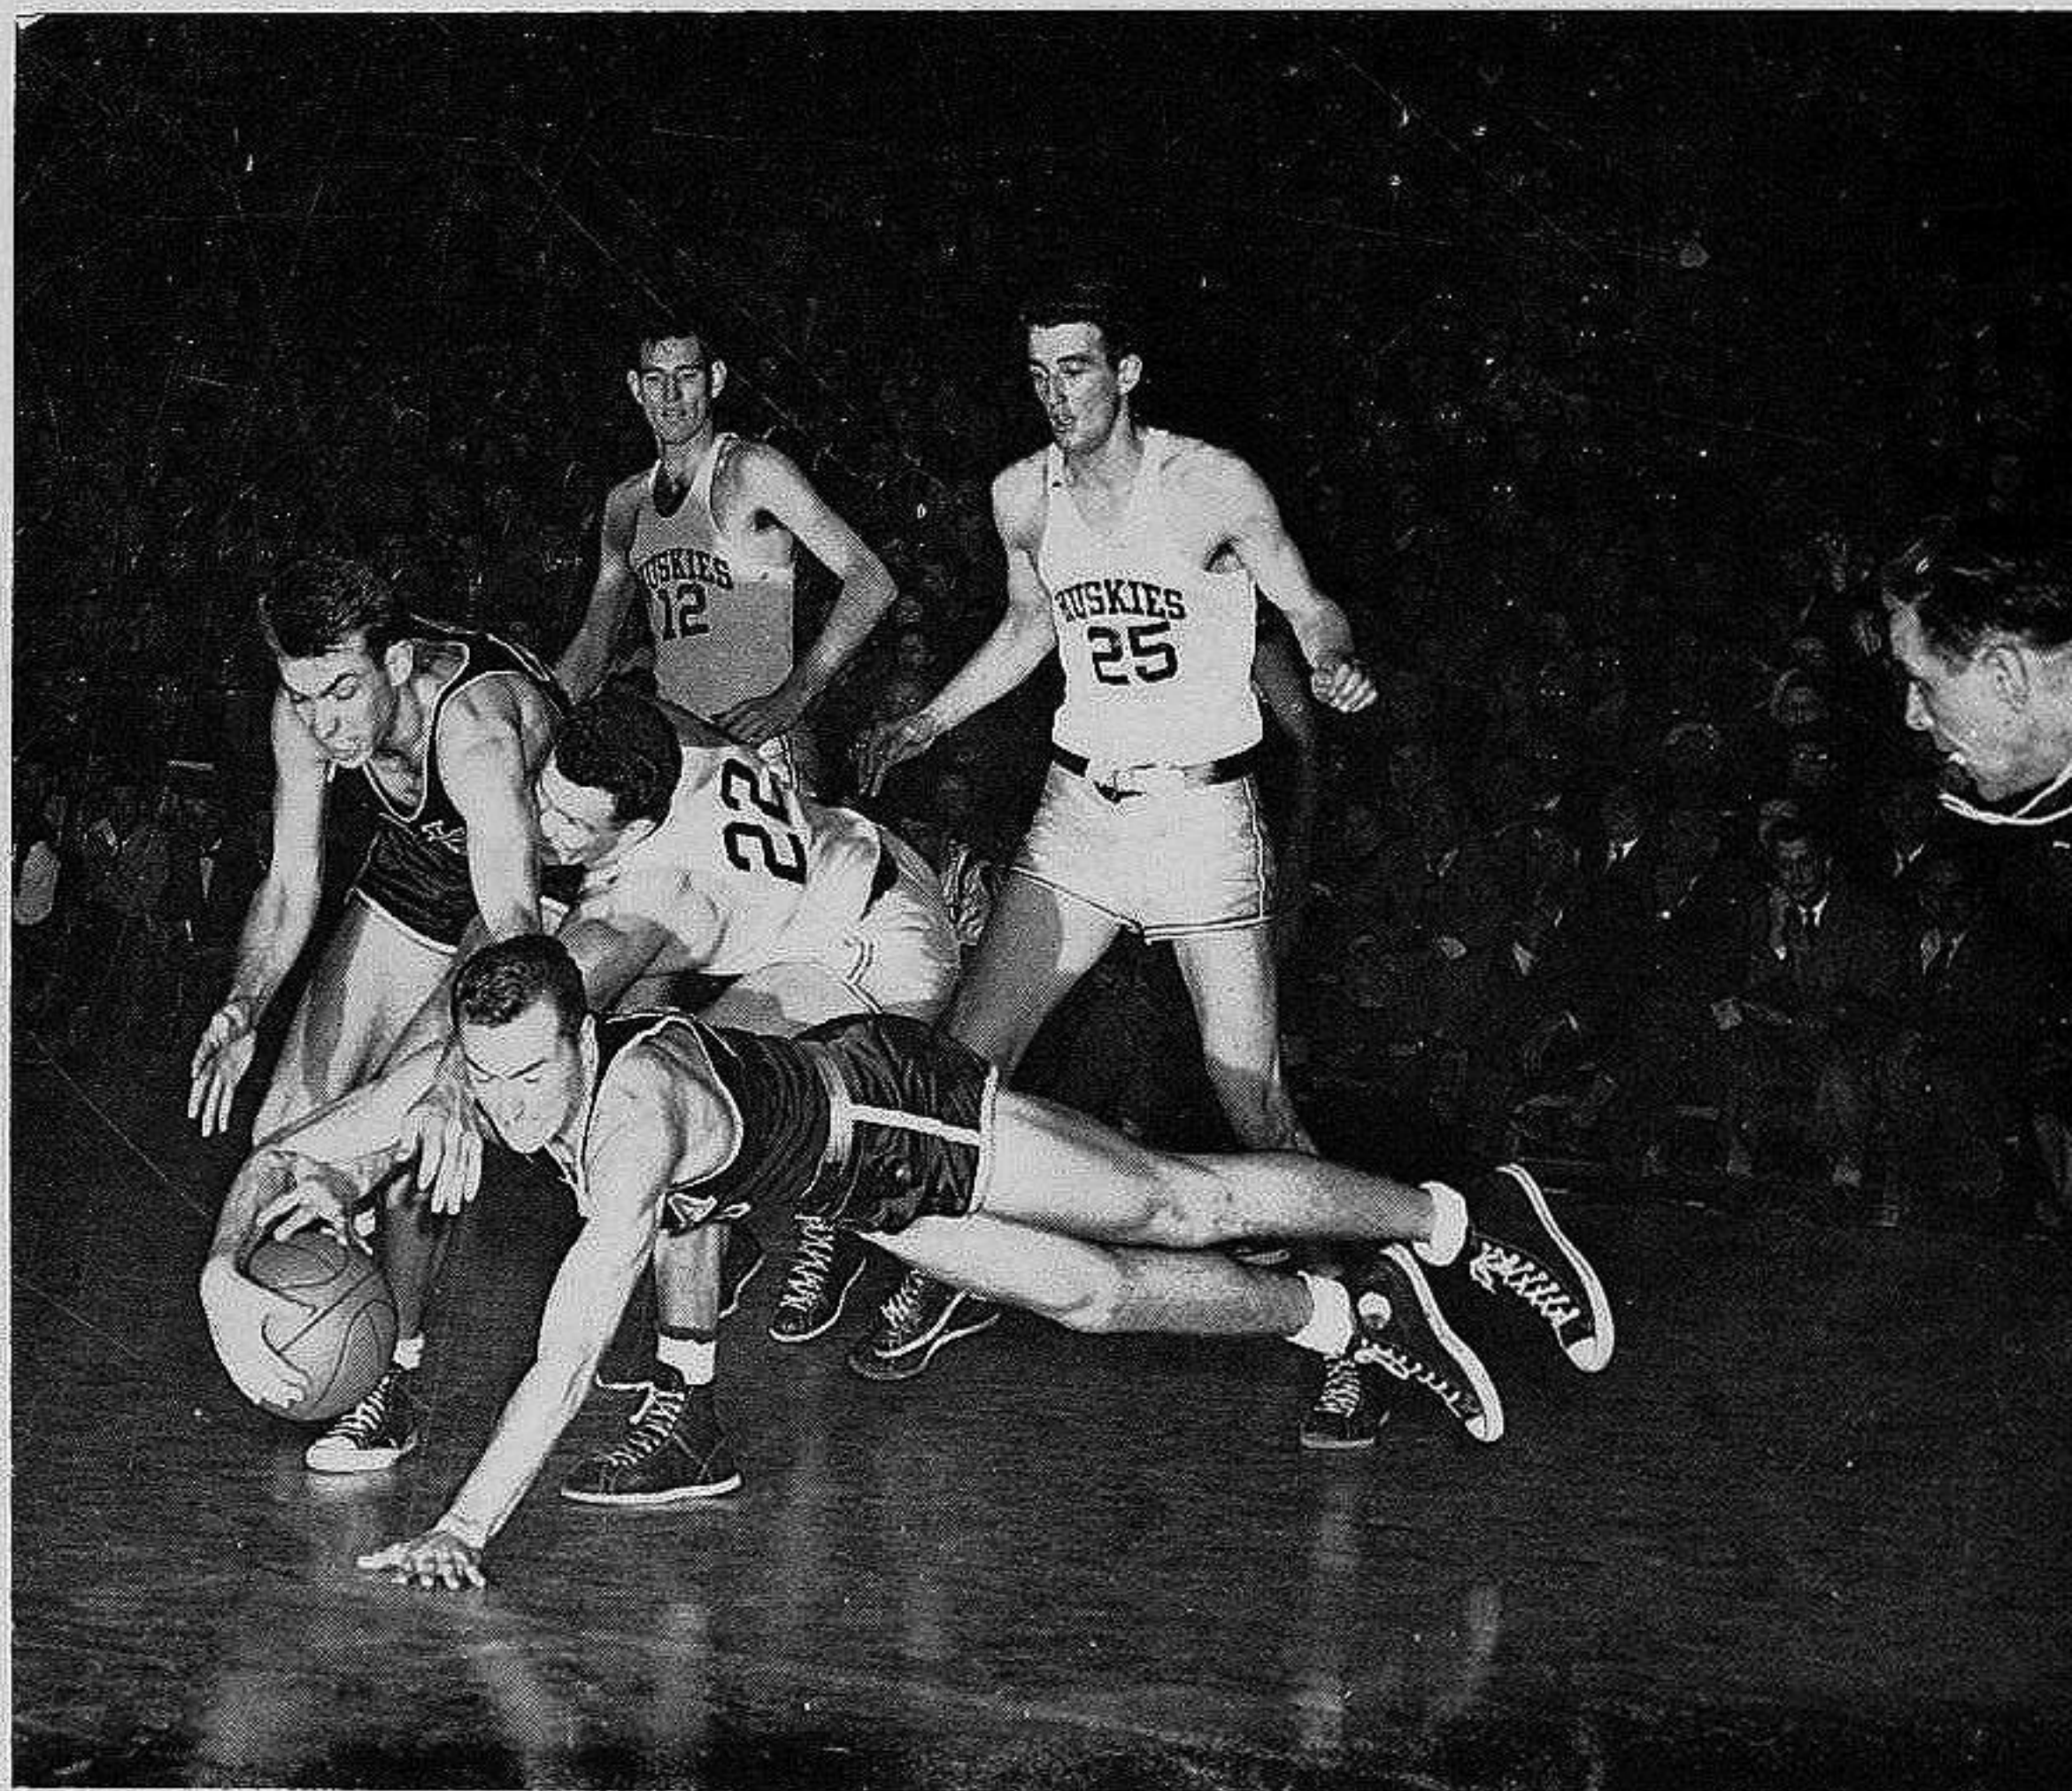

Pre-season conditioning

Head man "TIPPY" DYE coached the 50-51 version of the Huskies to the highest position ever reached by a Washington basketball team, third place in the N.C.A.A. western regional playoffs.

BASKETBALL

PCC CHAMPIONS

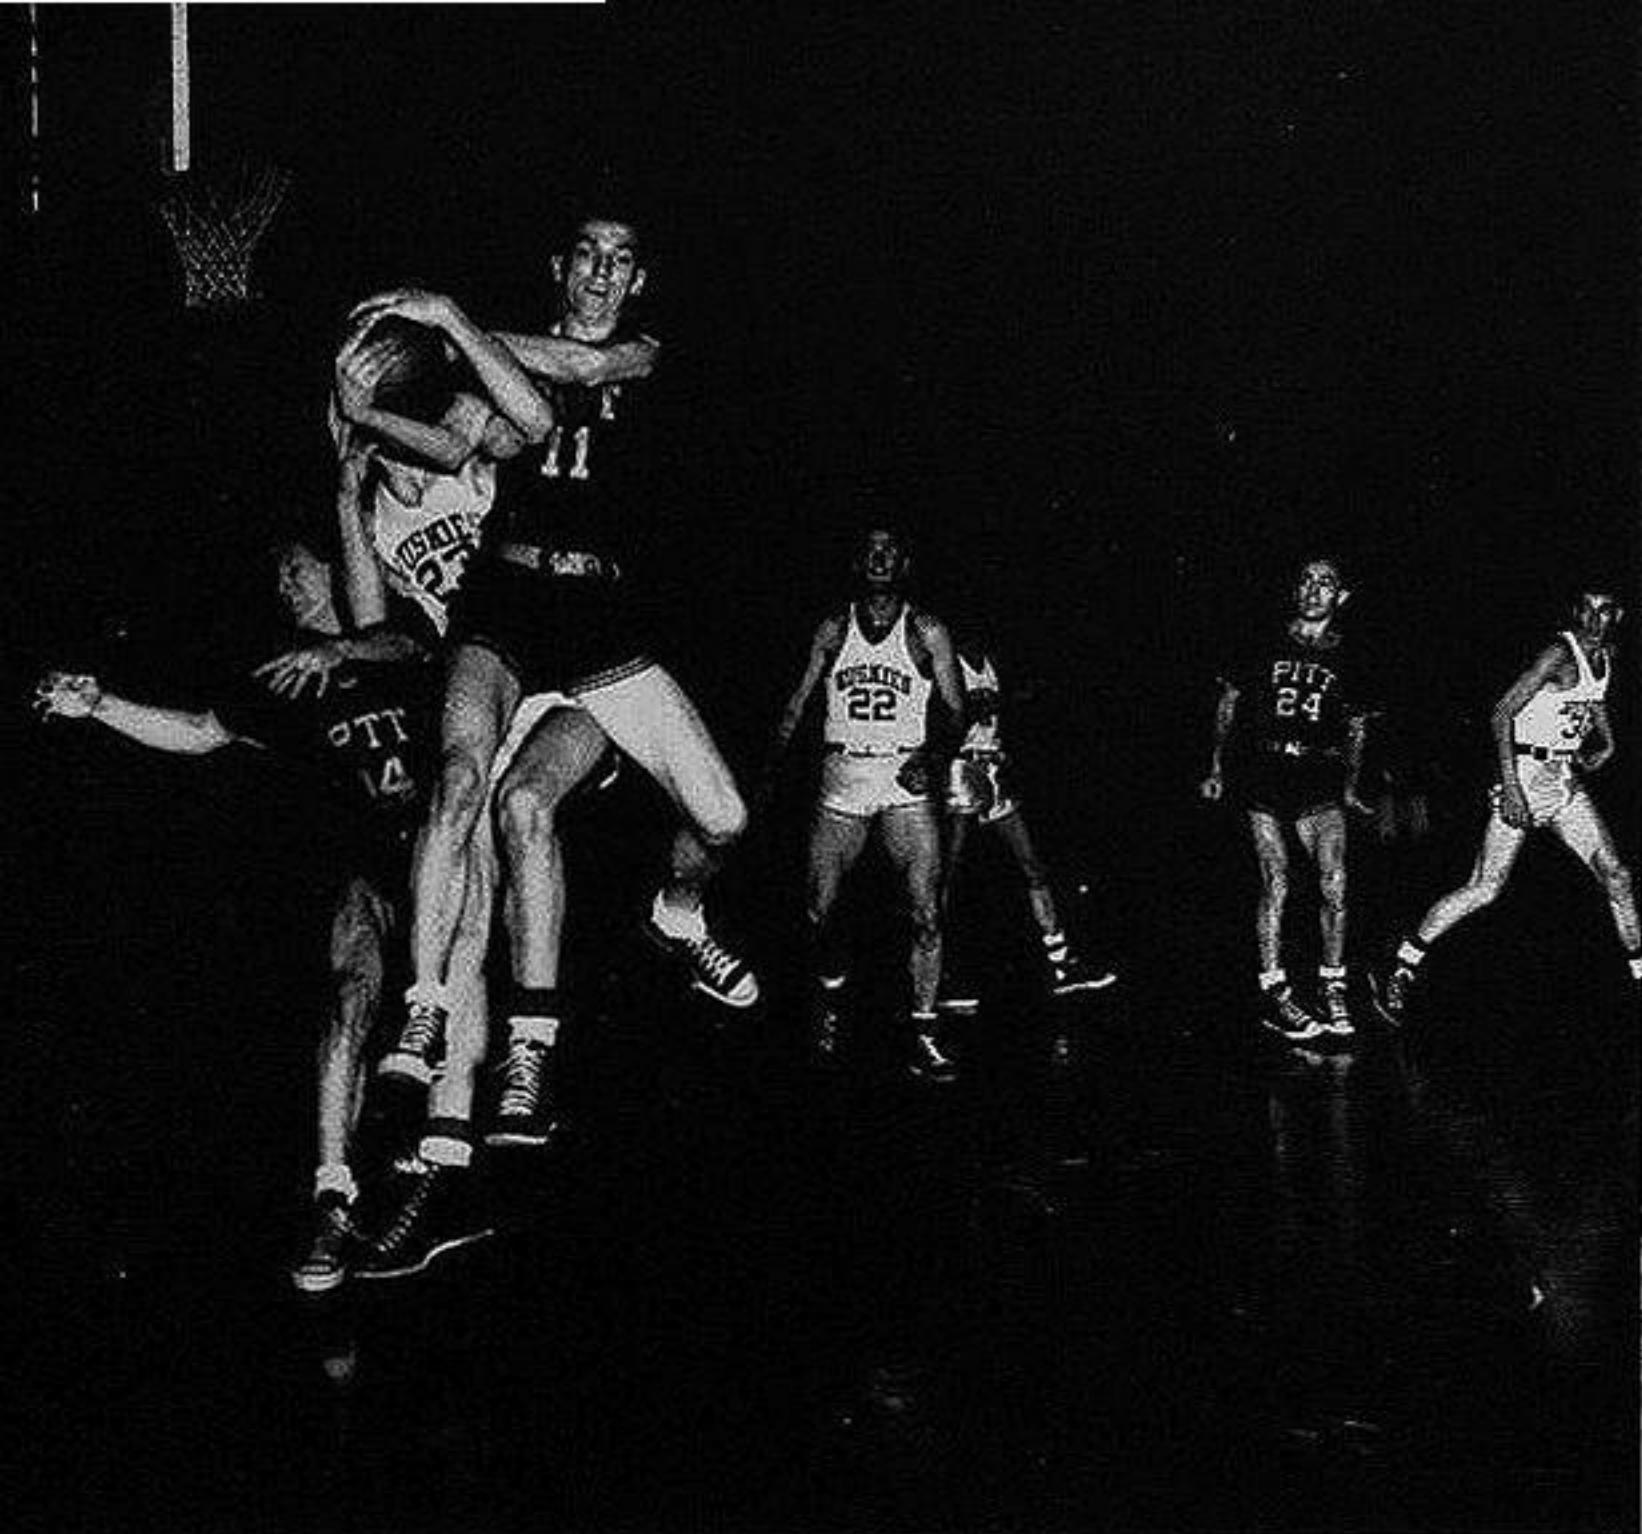

It's a rough and tumble scramble with MIKE McCUTCHEON of the Huskies and two UCLA men struggling for possession of the ball during the PCC play-off series. Watching the free-for-all are DUANE ENOCHS (12) and BOB HOUBREGS (25).

For once the pre-season "experts" were right when they picked the Huskies to finish on top of the Northern Division basketball race, but the Huskies didn't stop there. They beat the Southern Division champs, UCLA, in two games to win the Pacific Coast title, and a bid to the Western Regional playoffs at Kansas City. At the western playoffs the Huskies won 2 and lost 1, good enough for a third place finish. Washington lost their only game of the Kansas City games to the number two team in the final AP rating, Oklahoma A & M.

Coach Dye, in his first year at Washington, inherited a team which lost only one letterman by graduation and had personnel up from one of the best of Washington frosh teams. Under his expert coaching the Huskies finished as the 5th best team in the nation.

Looking forward to next year, Husky fans should be pleased, for with men like Frank Guisness, Bob Houbregs, Doug McClary, Duane Enoch, Mike McCutcheon, and Joe Cipriano returning, Dye has the nucleus for a top rate team. Lost by graduation are: LaDon Henson, Russ Parthermer, Louie Soriano, Keith Jefferson, Jack Ward, Don Stewart, and Lee Wade.

DOUG McCLARY (23) of the Huskies tussles for the ball with a Pittsburgh player practically in his lap. In the background are MIKE McCUTCHEON (22), FRANK GUISSNESS and JOE CIPRIANO (30).

NON-CONFERENCE GAMES

JOE CIPRIANO was a reserve for much of the season but Coach Dye has hinted he has plans for "Cip" next year.

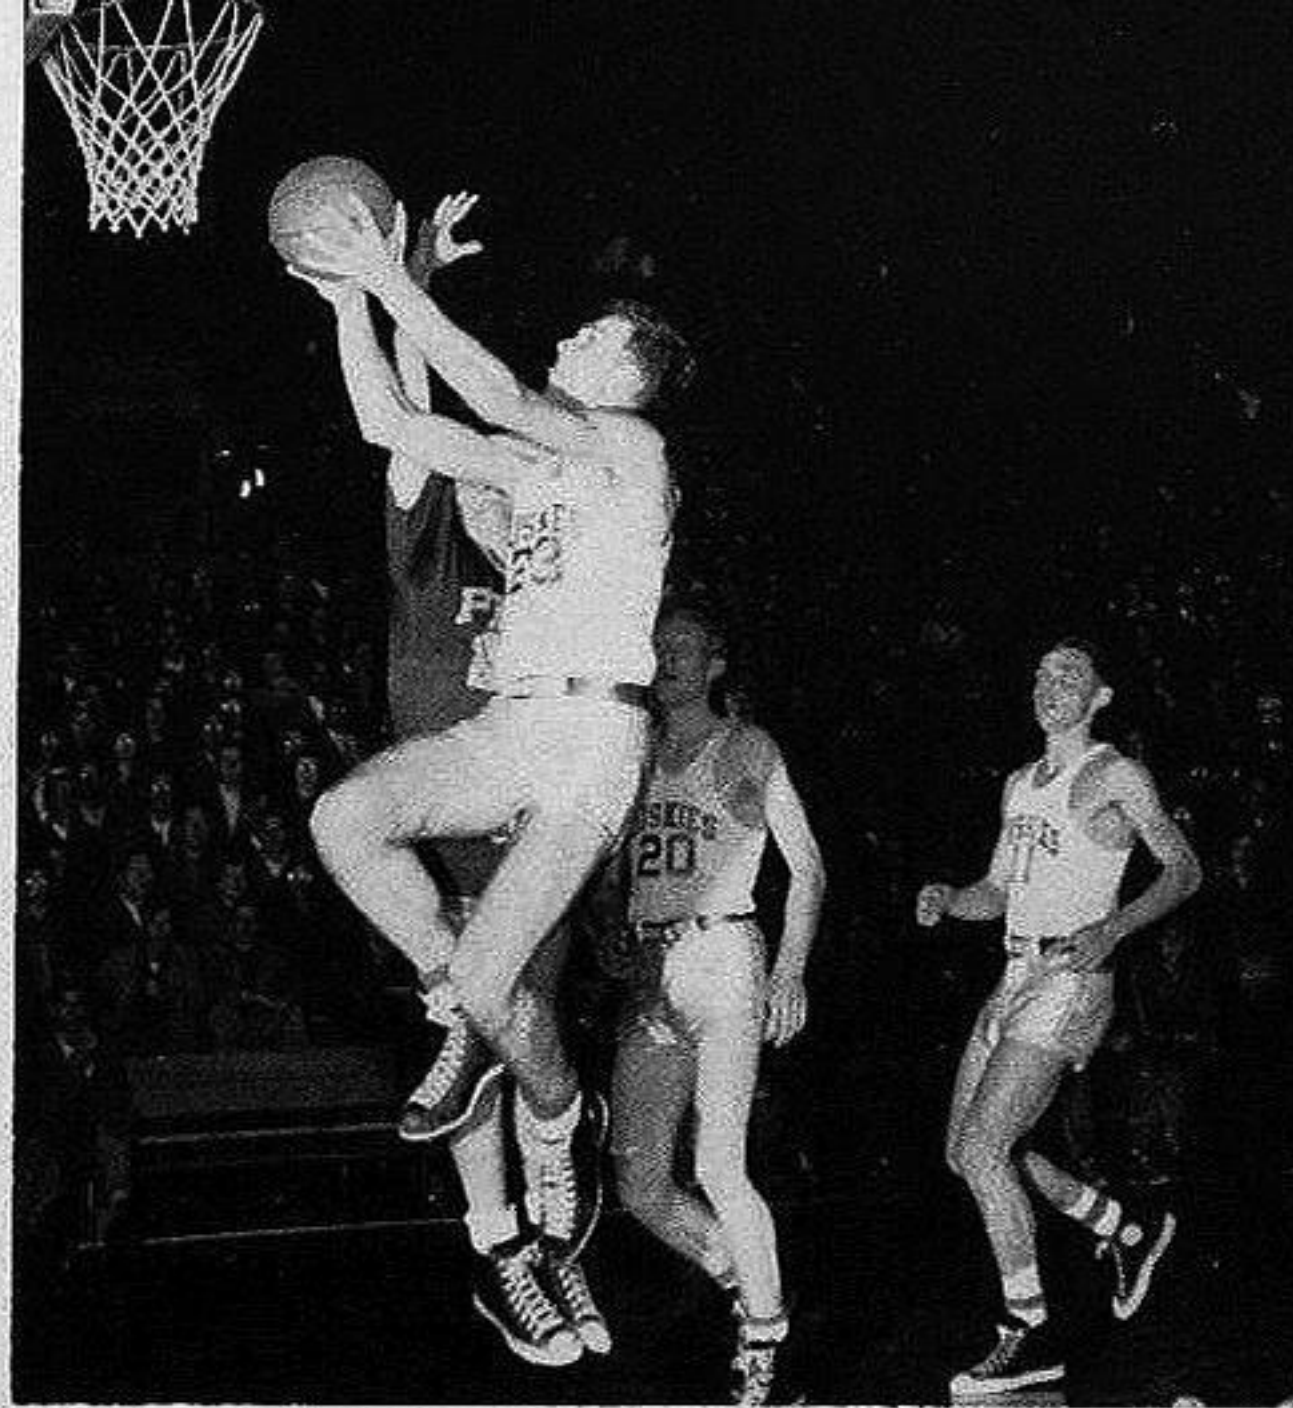

LOUIE SORIANO was the team's outstanding hustler this year. Wherever one of the other players had trouble holding an opponent in check, Louie could be counted on to help out.

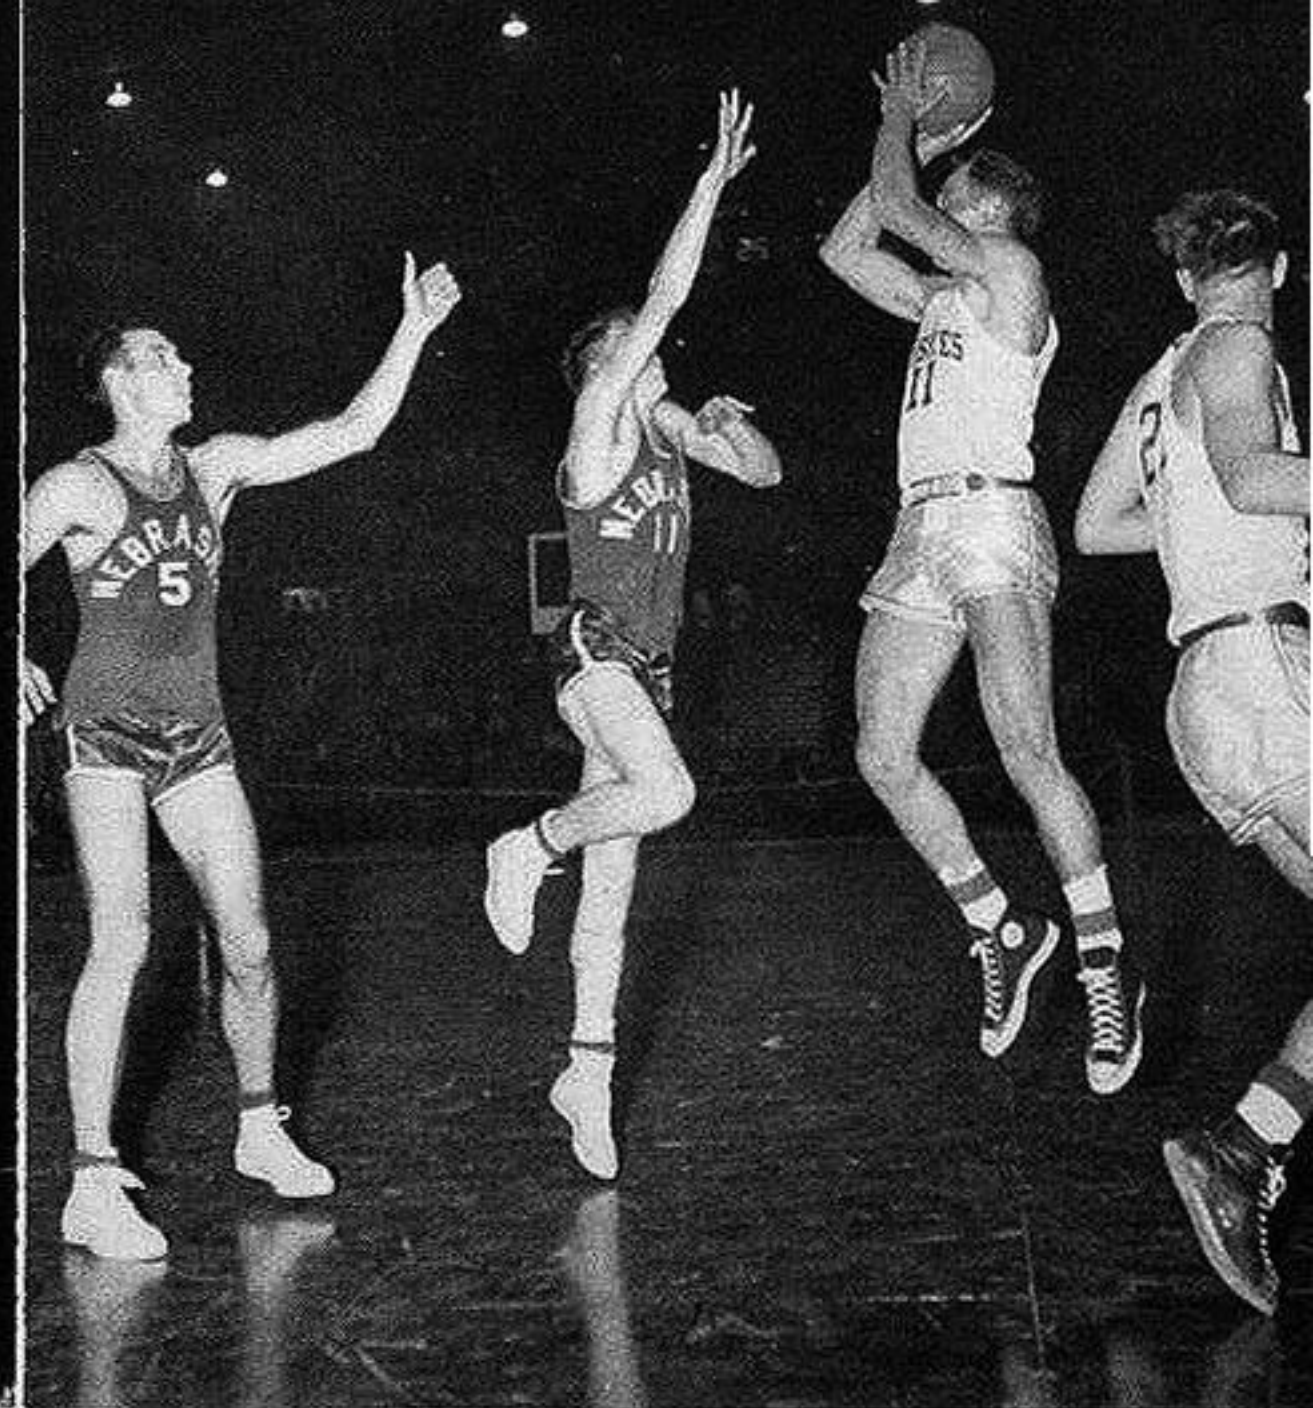

Washington played nine non-conference games during the 1950-1951 season without a loss, averaging 61.2 points per game while holding the opposition to a per game total of 48.4 points.

The Wyoming Cowboys, proving to be Washington's toughest non-conference foe, tried to run with the Huskies but were no match as the Huskies won 74-49. The second game was nearly the same until Wyoming caught fire and almost caught the locals, the final score reading 53-51.

Whipping through the Nebraska defense, "Slippery" JOE CIPRIANO flips in another basket as the Huskies walked away from the Cornhusker quintet.

One of the Husky stalwarts on the backboards for Washington shows his stuff on the offensive too. DOUG McCLARY goes up for a lay-in against the visitors from the University of Pittsburgh.

A deadly shot from the side, FRANK GUISSNESS displays his jump-shot form against the Cornhuskers from Nebraska.

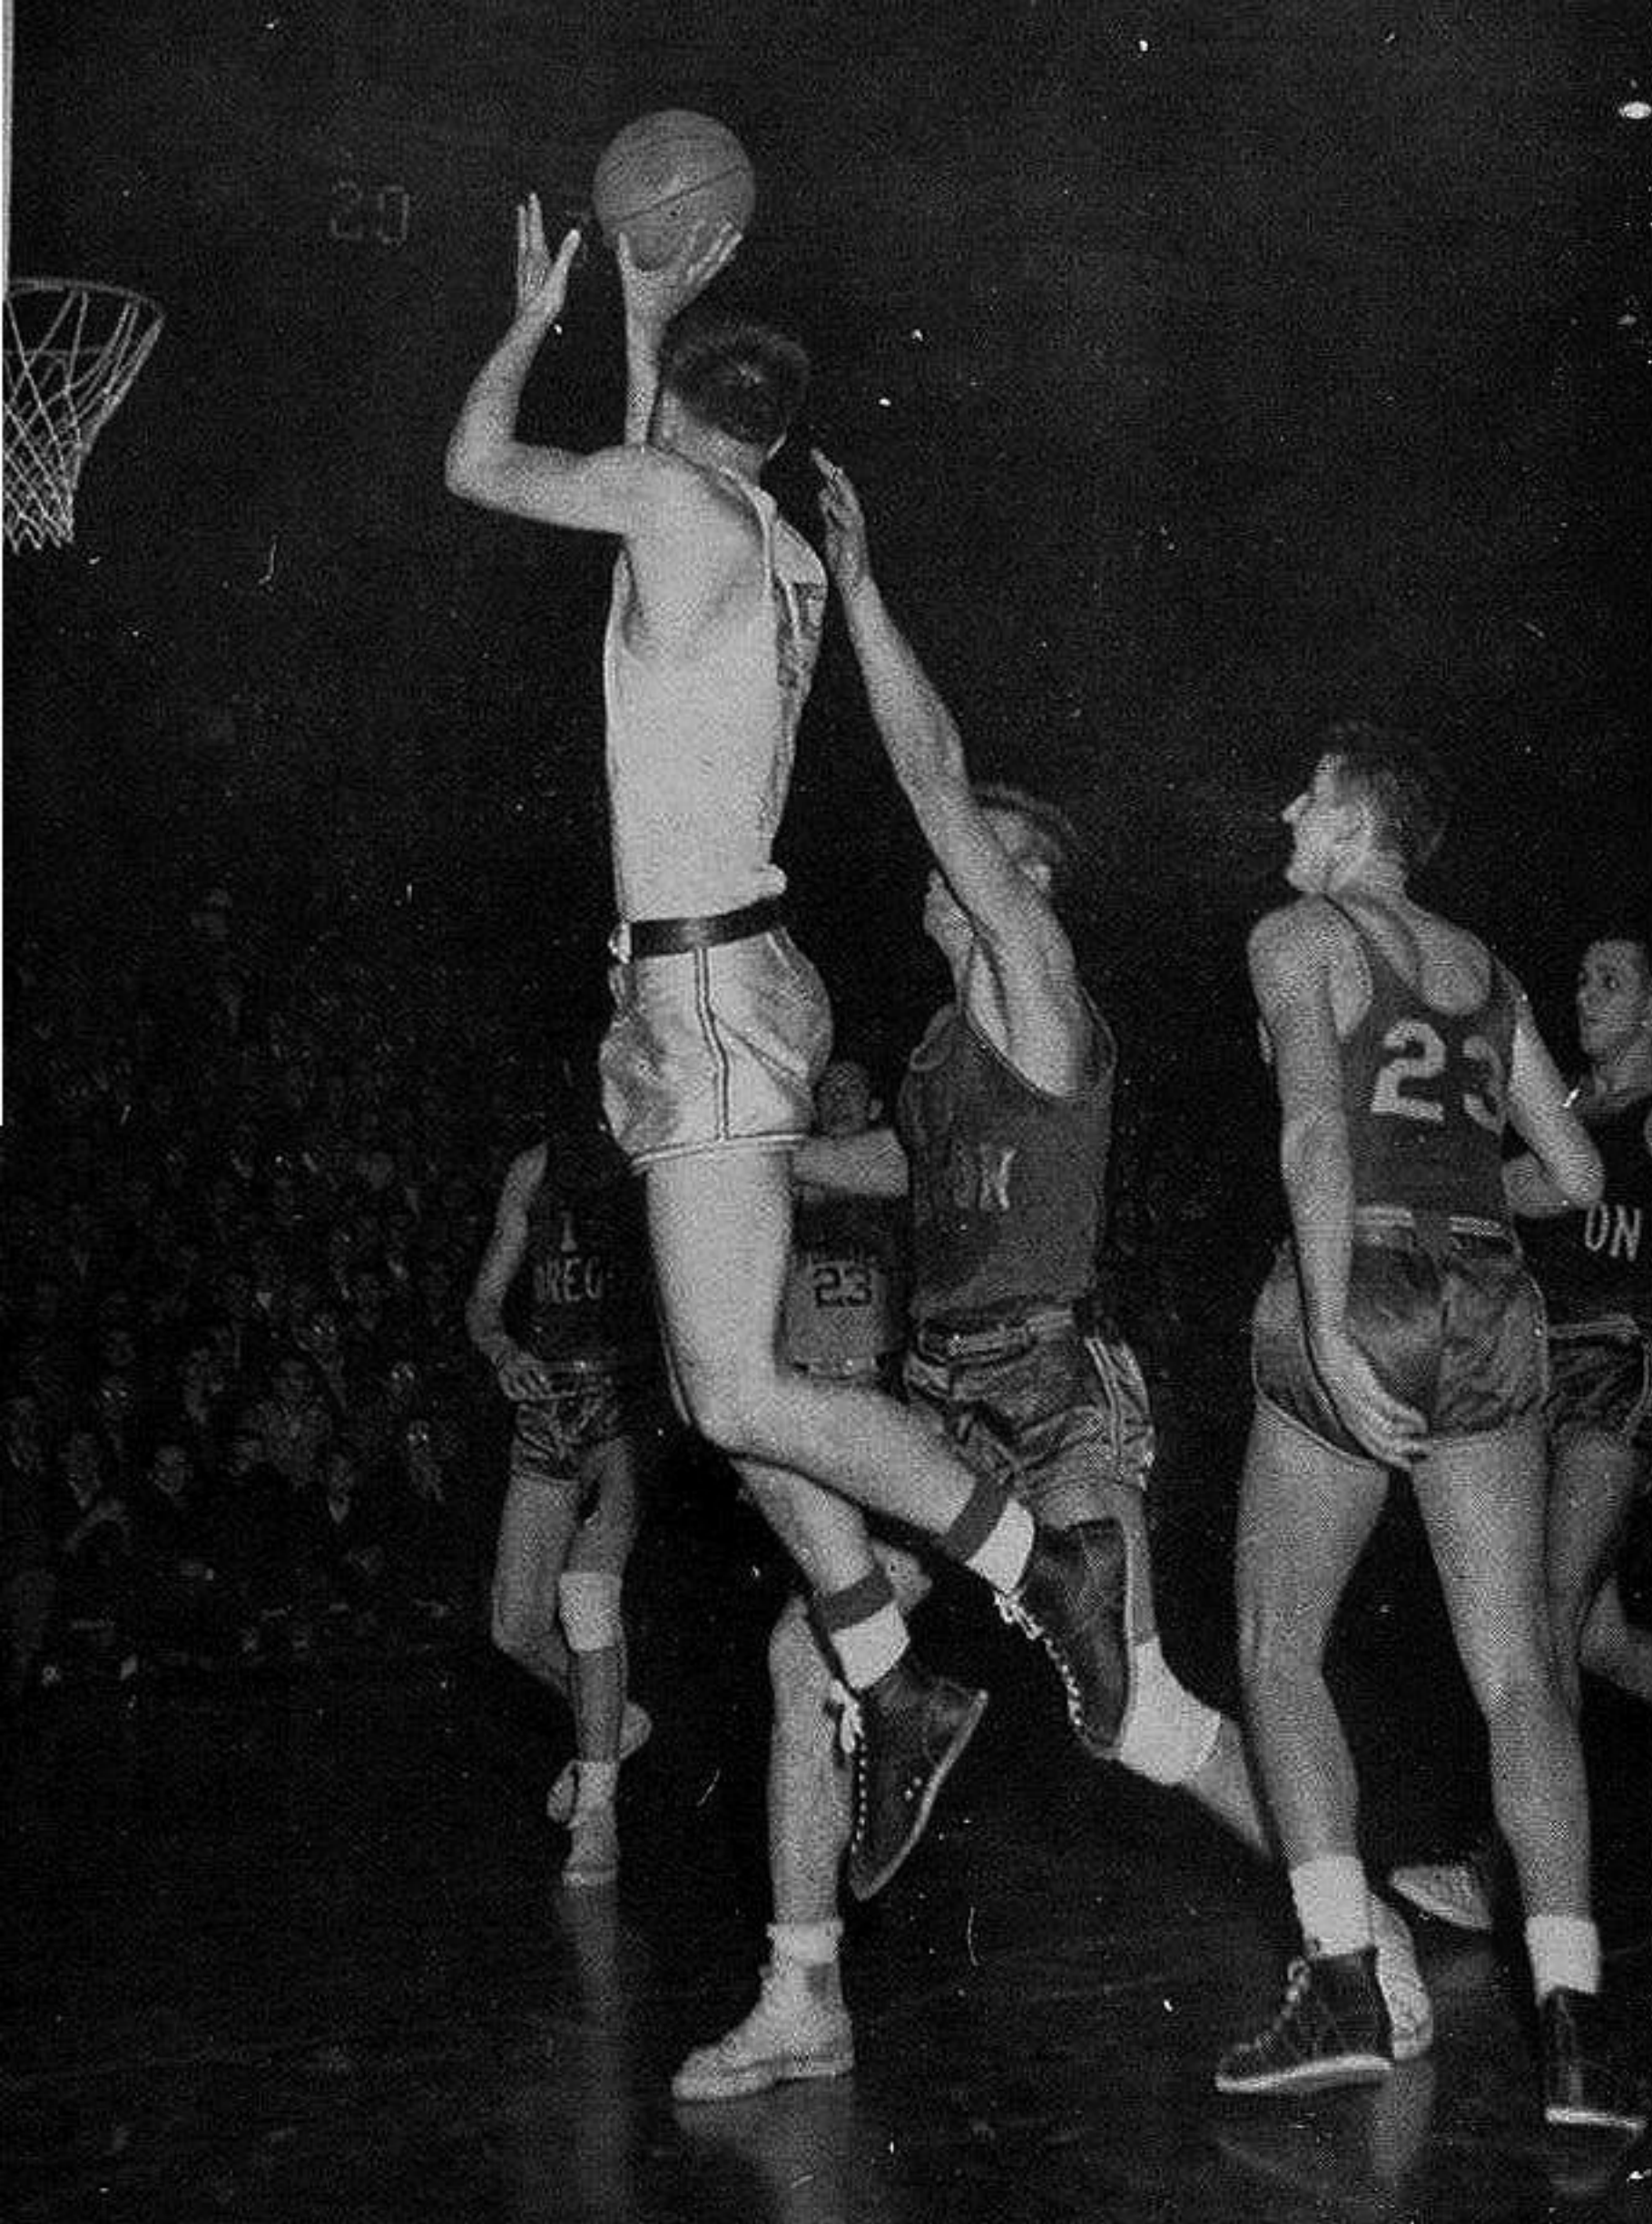

LEE WADE not only helped control the backboards for the Huskies, but he had a fade-away hook shot that made him a potential scoring threat each time he played.

BASKETBALL MANAGERS were: George Zarkades, Jim Johnston, Glen Nutter, Tom Gowman, Don Johnson, Harry Yamada, Laoron Lindstrom, Bob Smith, Bob Patrick, Lloyd Olson and Craig Lightner.

It's up in the air for another two-pointer for the Husky's pace-setting center, BOB HOUBREGS. A deadly push shot and a fabulous "hook" aided "Houby" in hitting for 25 points in the first two meetings with the Ducks.

Opening the season with a bang, the Huskies started their bid for the Northern Division Basketball crown by whipping the University of Oregon Ducks 73-49. Washington played excellent ball in their first conference game, building up an early 20-7 lead. This lead was extended to 39-23 by half-time, and at no time after that could the Ducks get closer than 15 points.

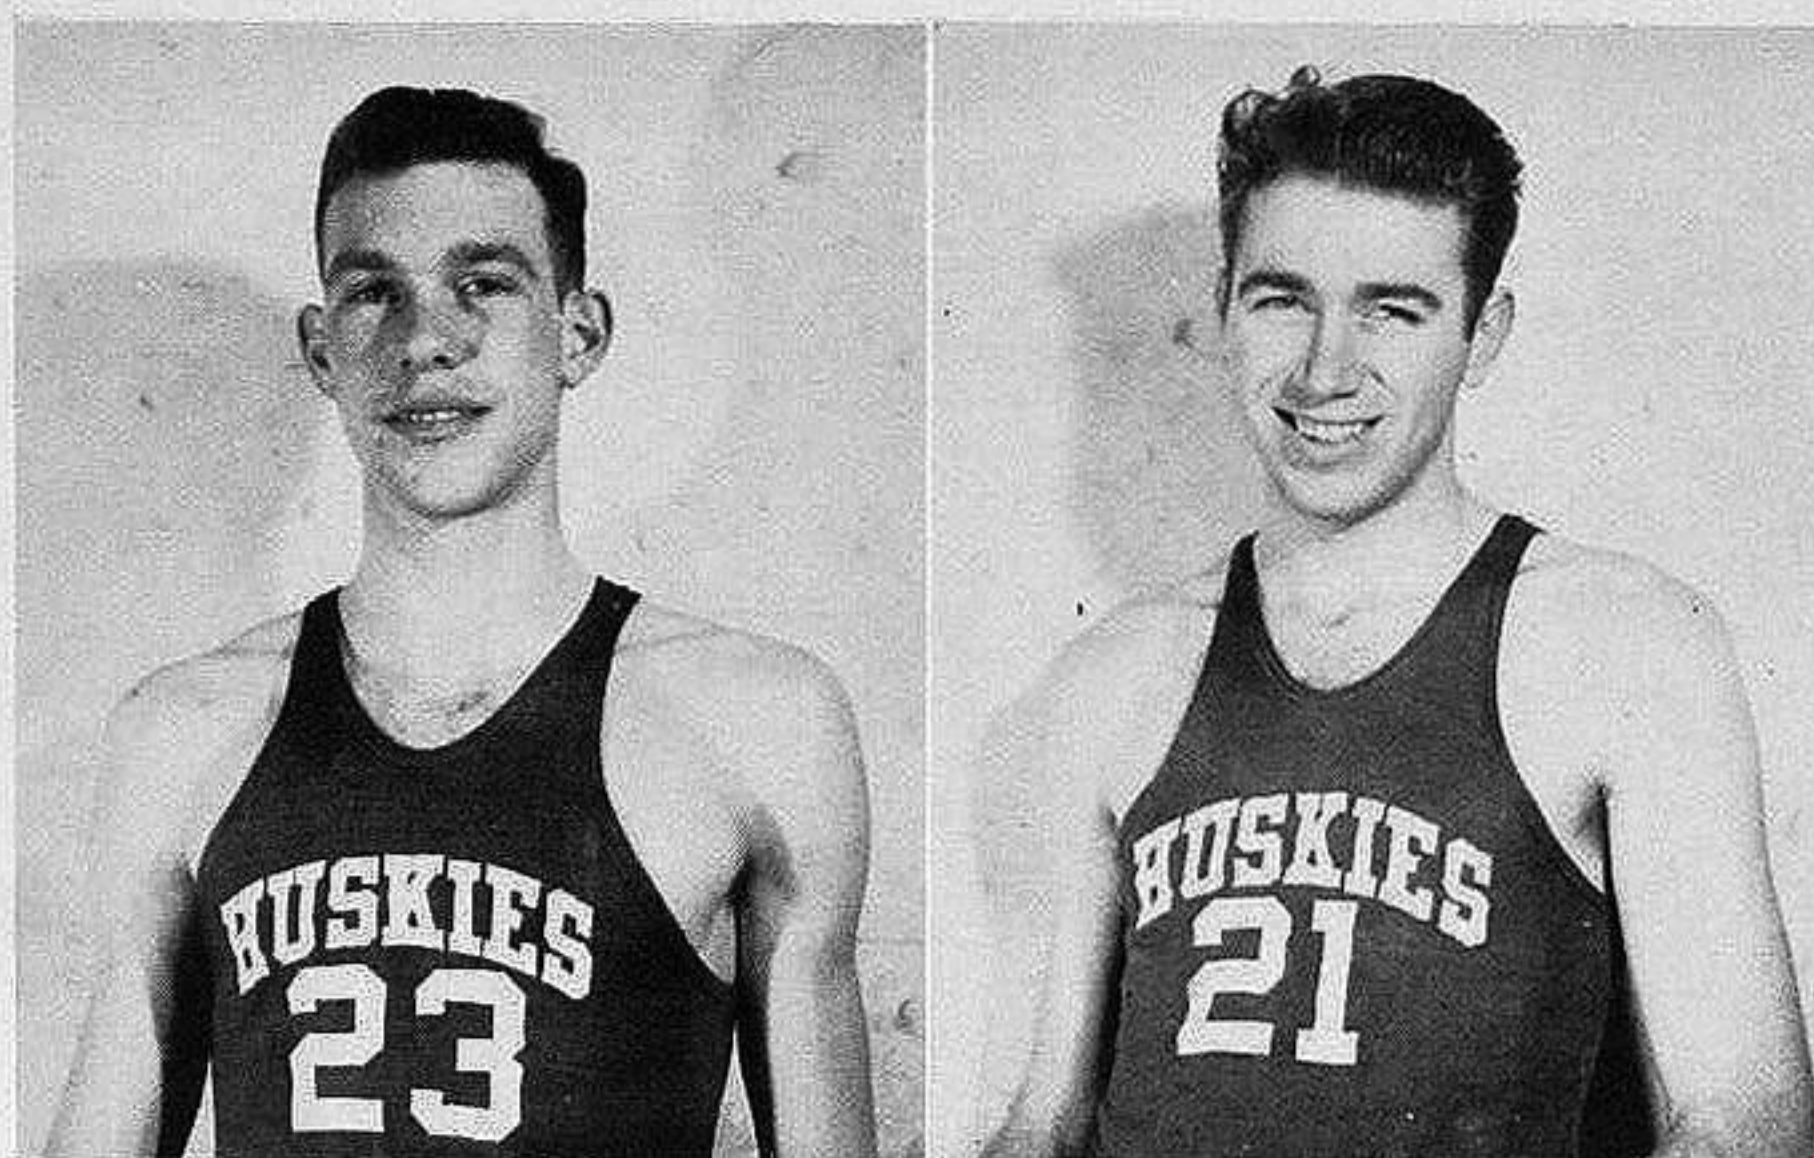

Washington started Saturday night's game as if they were going to turn the series into a rout. The Huskies got away fast in the opening minutes and kept up the pace to lead at intermission, 36-23. With seven minutes left in the game the score read 60-47, in favor of Washington. From then on Washington scored only one point, a free throw by Louie Soriano. The final score was 61-60 in favor of the Huskies.

Oregon played its two best games of the season in the return match with the Huskies at Eugene, but could only come up with a split, losing the first game, 77-68, and winning the second, 82-75. Duane Enochs and Doug McClary spearheaded the Washington upsurge in the second half of the first game. Jack Ward took the defensive spotlight during this same period, controlling the ball off both backboards.

Oregon's Webfoots put on a record-breaking performance in the fourth meeting between Oregon and Washington, winning 82-75. Several records were broken at the expense of Washington; the Duck's 82 points was the highest score ever made in the series between the schools, the total of 157 points was the highest scored in any series between these two; the 52 points which Oregon tallied in the first half was a series high.

DOUG McCLARY, sophomore forward, finished fifth among Husky scorers. He pulled in 288 rebounds during the season, 33 more than any other member of the squad. His outstanding play this year marked him as a man to watch in the future.

DON STEWART'S ability to grab the ball off the backboards was just one of the reasons why he was a top flight reserve forward.

Washington won a close game at Corvallis from the hard-fighting OSC hoopsters, 41-40. Behind six points at half time, Oregon State made a bid as the second half opened, but the Huskies stunned the crowd by moving to an 11-point lead at 36-25. The game looked to be safely in the bag, but Washington's offense slowed down to a walk and OSC got busy to pull up to a one-point difference.

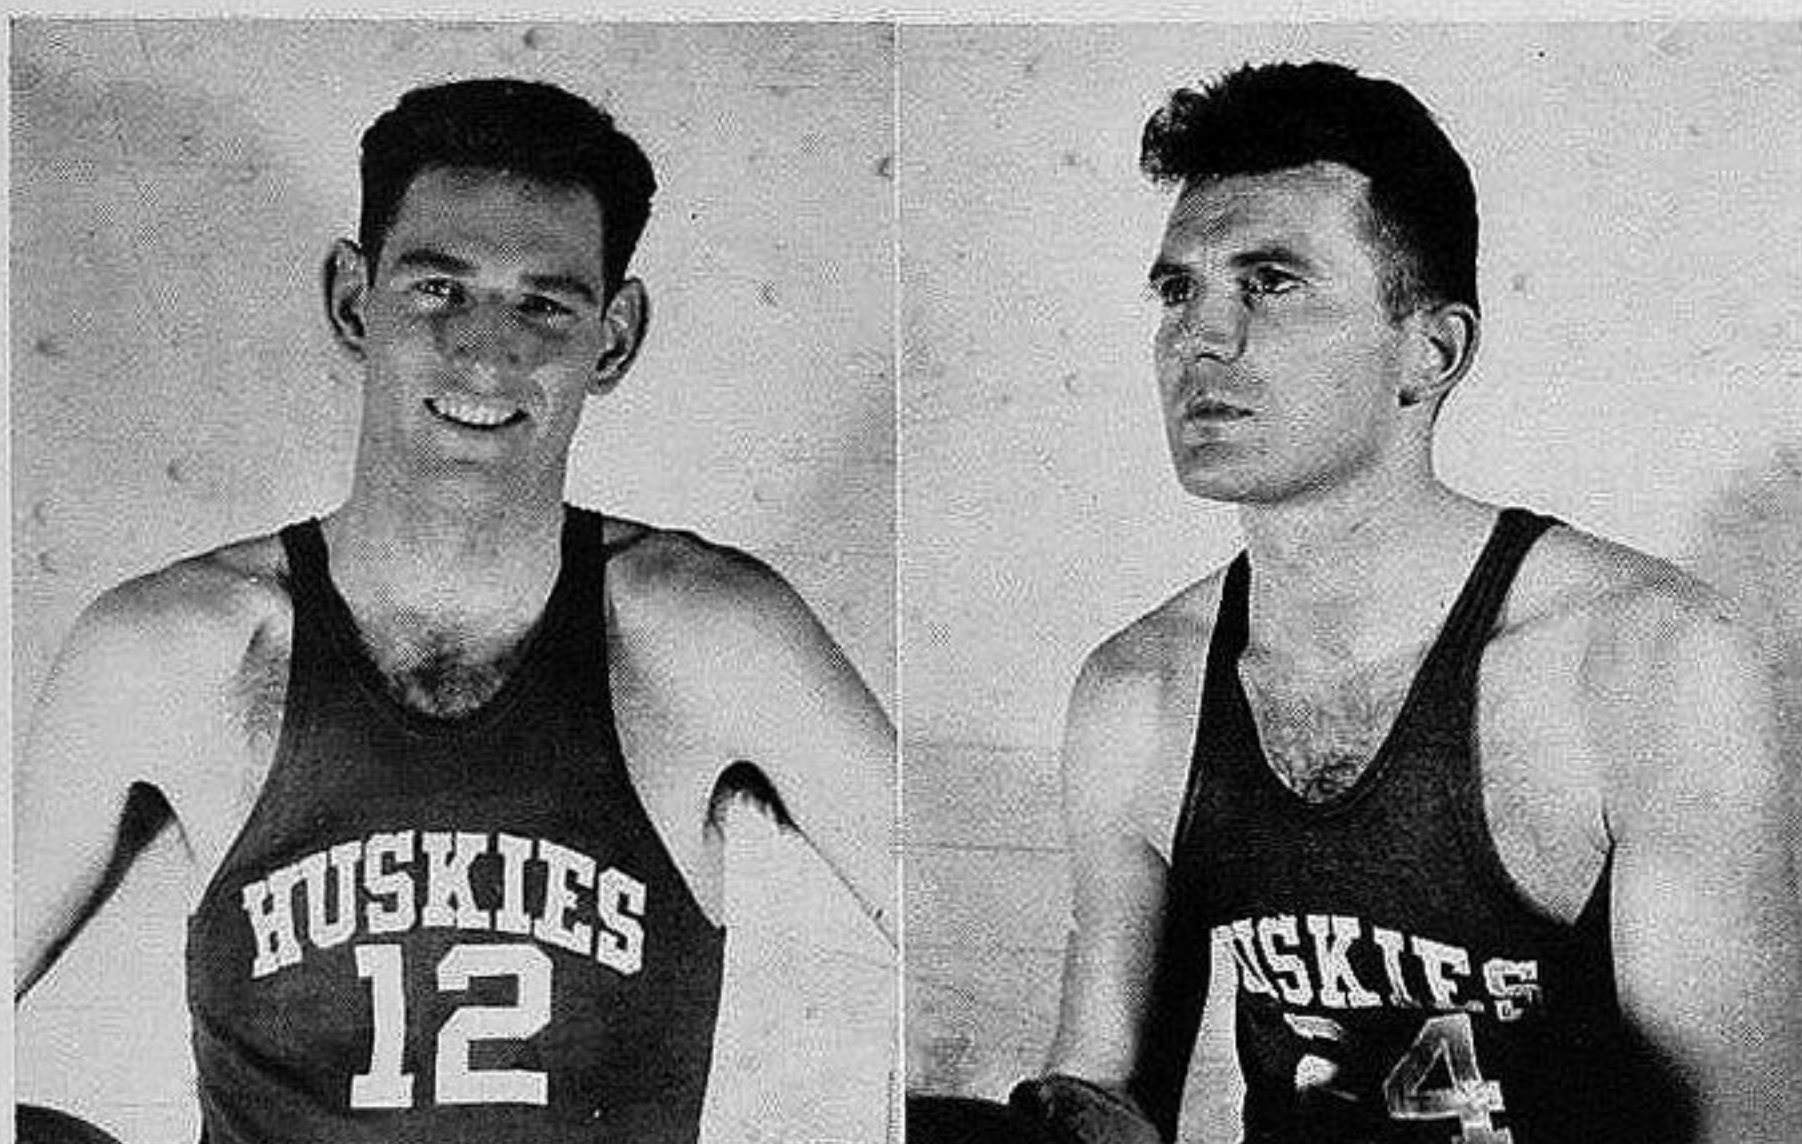

Washington's parade of basketball victories came to a halt, cut short by the Oregon State Beavers in the second meeting of the two teams. The Beavers defeated Washington 46-41, holding off a rally that brought the Huskies from a 17-point deficit to a one-point difference, 42-41, in the closing minutes. The let-down came in the first half; Oregon State built up a commanding lead, and added to it at the start of the second half.

Washington played one of its best games of the season when defeating the Beavers from Oregon State, 74-38, in their third game. The win set an Edmundson Pavilion scoring record against OSC teams. The first half ended, 41-20, in Washington's favor. Leading 61-30, with nine minutes left in the game, the reserves got into action and the end of the game saw all the regulars on the bench.

The OSC locker room was silent after the Huskies had virtually eliminated the championship hopes of the Beavers. The scoreboard read 40-36, and the men from Oregon State had just been beaten for the second straight time by Washington. The half-time score saw the Huskies out in front, 23-18. Each team scored 14 field goals but Washington scored 12 points on free throws, while OSC got only 8 from the charity line.

"Jumping" JACK WARD goes up for a shot under the OSC backboard while Washington's DUANE ENOCHS moves in for a potential rebound.

DUANE ENOCHS, the casanova of the Husky squad, used his back board strength and one-handed push shot to score many points for the Dye machine.

RUSS PARTHEMER, another of Bremerton's gifts to Husky basketball, spent most of the year in a reserve slot, and in one game scoring 8 points in less than a minute of play.

UW 50 . . 55 IDAHO

Washington not only won a ball game from Idaho by the score of 50-44, but also broke a jinx in the first meeting of the year between these teams. The victory was the first win for the Huskies on the Vandal floor since February 1948. Captain LaDon Henson and Duane Enochs sparked the Washington victory in a thrill-packed game. Washington's largest lead was 9 points while the Vandal's greatest margin was 5 points.

Idaho's Vandals poured on the heat during the closing minutes of the second game to defeat the Husky basketball team 55-50. The Vandals took an early lead and kept it during the first stanza, holding a 30-26 advantage at intermission. Washington came back strong in the last half to take the lead but the hard checking Idaho team had enough steam left to keep up and pass the Huskies, winning going away.

The Huskies proved, for the first time in many weeks, that they could deliver a solid second half attack, when Washington beat Idaho 63-40, in their third meeting of the year. In the first half, Washington hit for a gloomy .264 percentage from the floor. Luckily for the Huskies, the Vandals were just as ineffective. But the second half was an entirely different story. Washington controlled the boards while hitting at a fast .457 pace.

For the first time in conference play, the Huskies came back strong on a Saturday night. The result was a 76-59 win over the Idaho Vandals. Washington started off fast but Idaho soon caught the Huskies and from then until intermission play was even. The Huskies started things off with a rush as the second half started. The Vandals closed the gap to 2 points, but the Huskies were up for the Idaho rally and slowly pulled away.

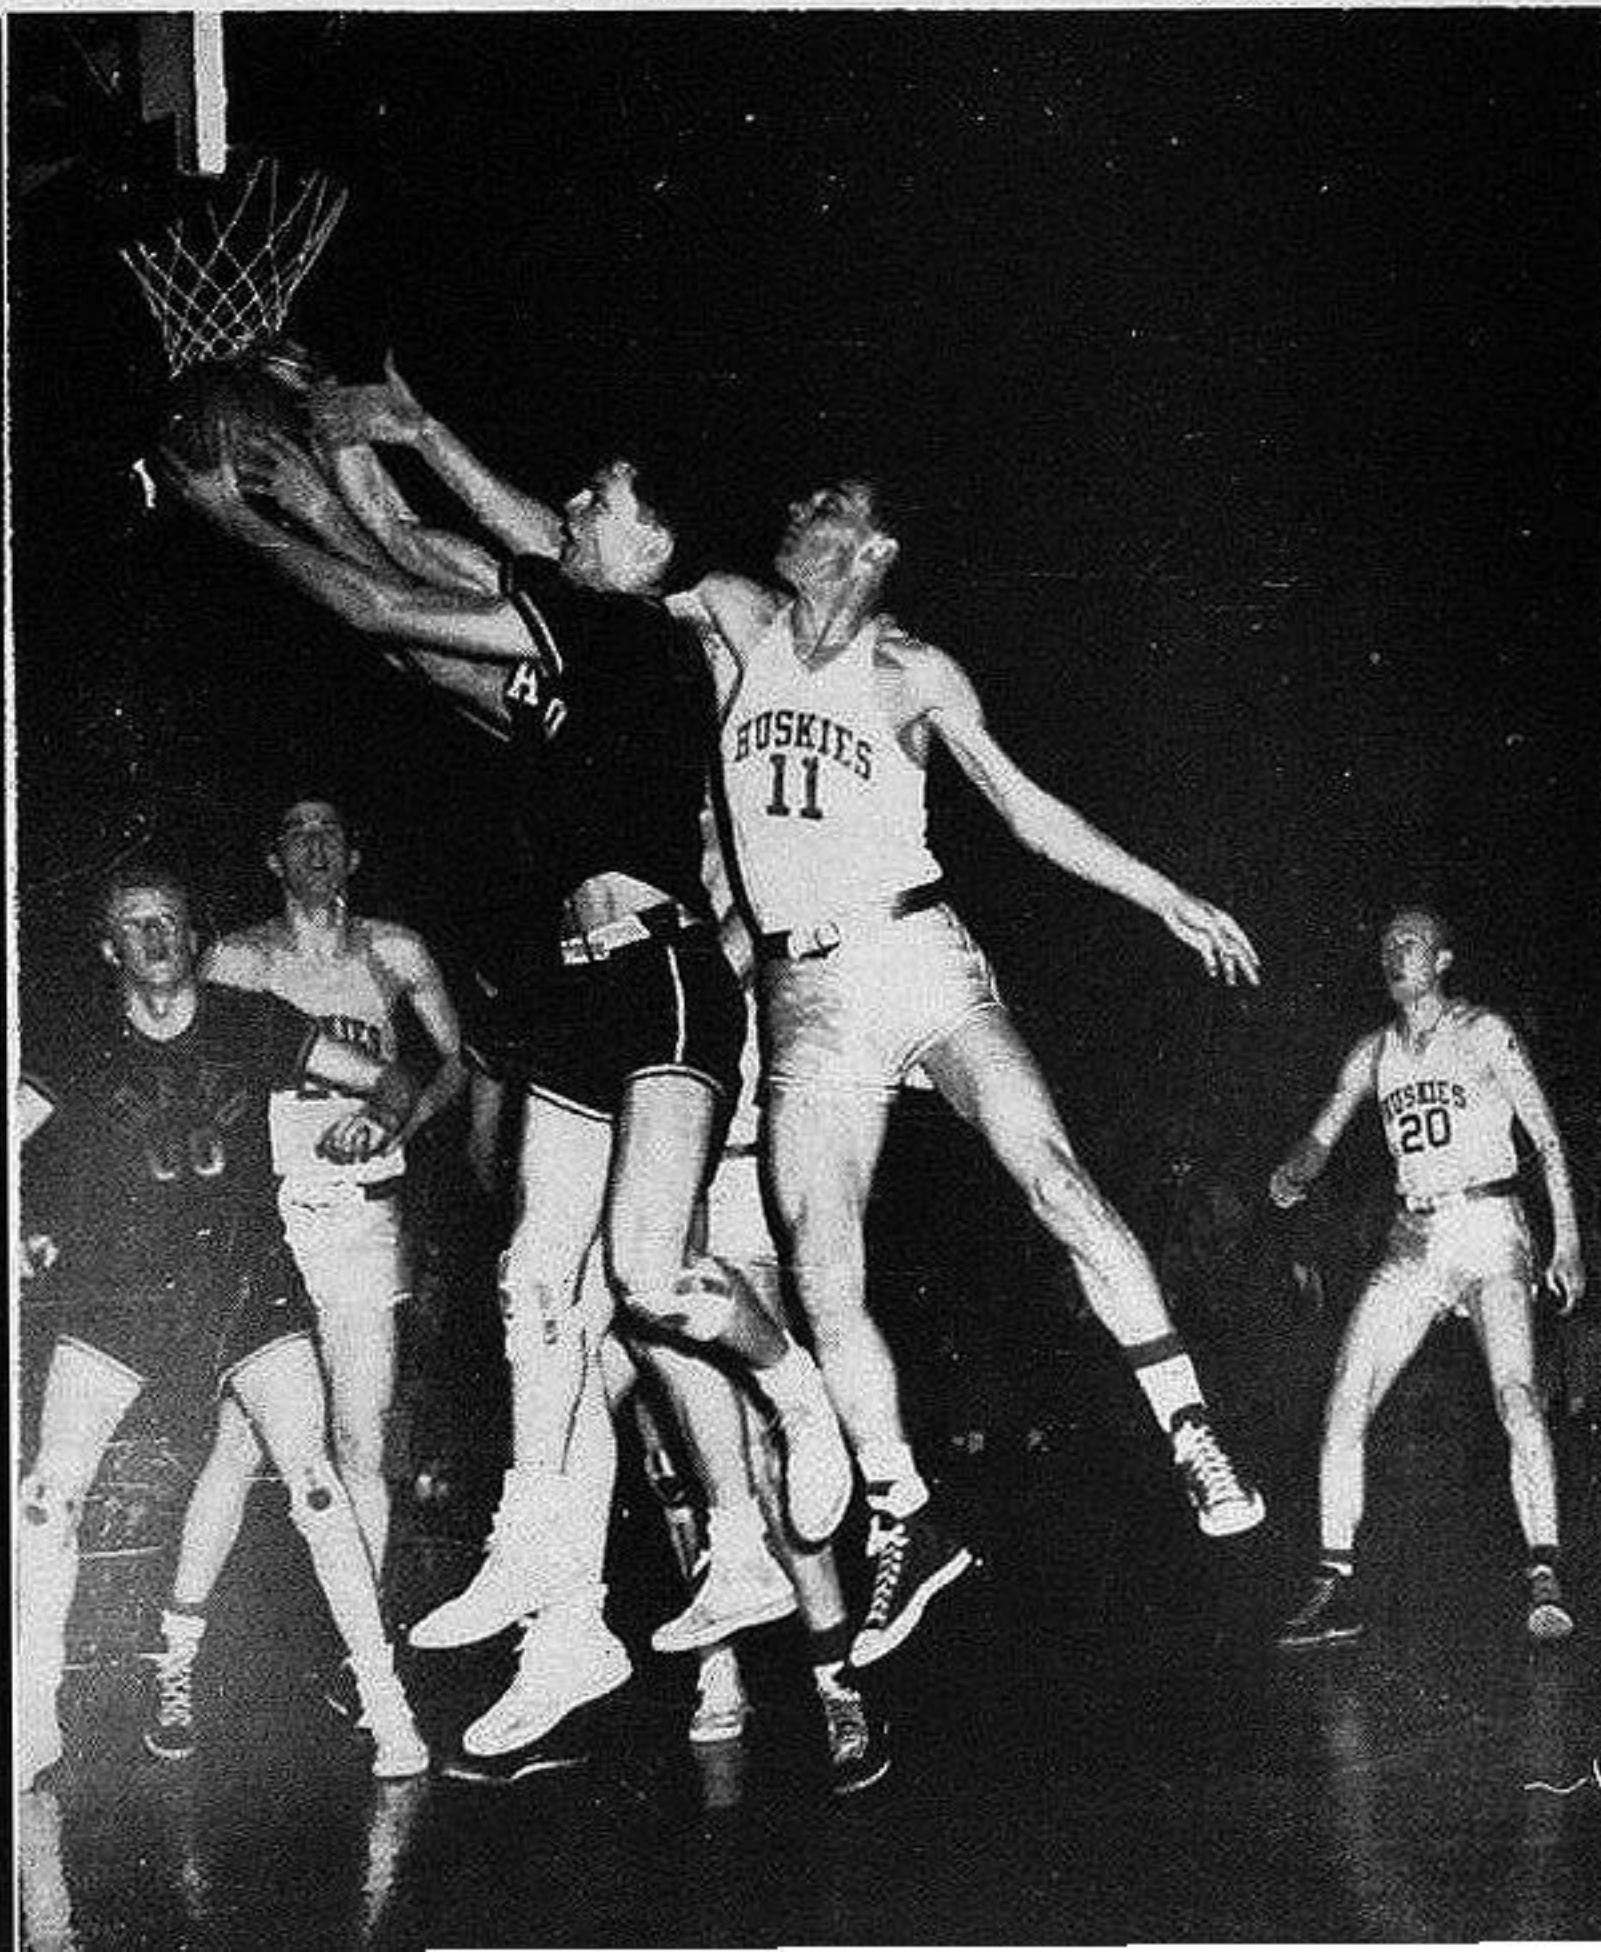

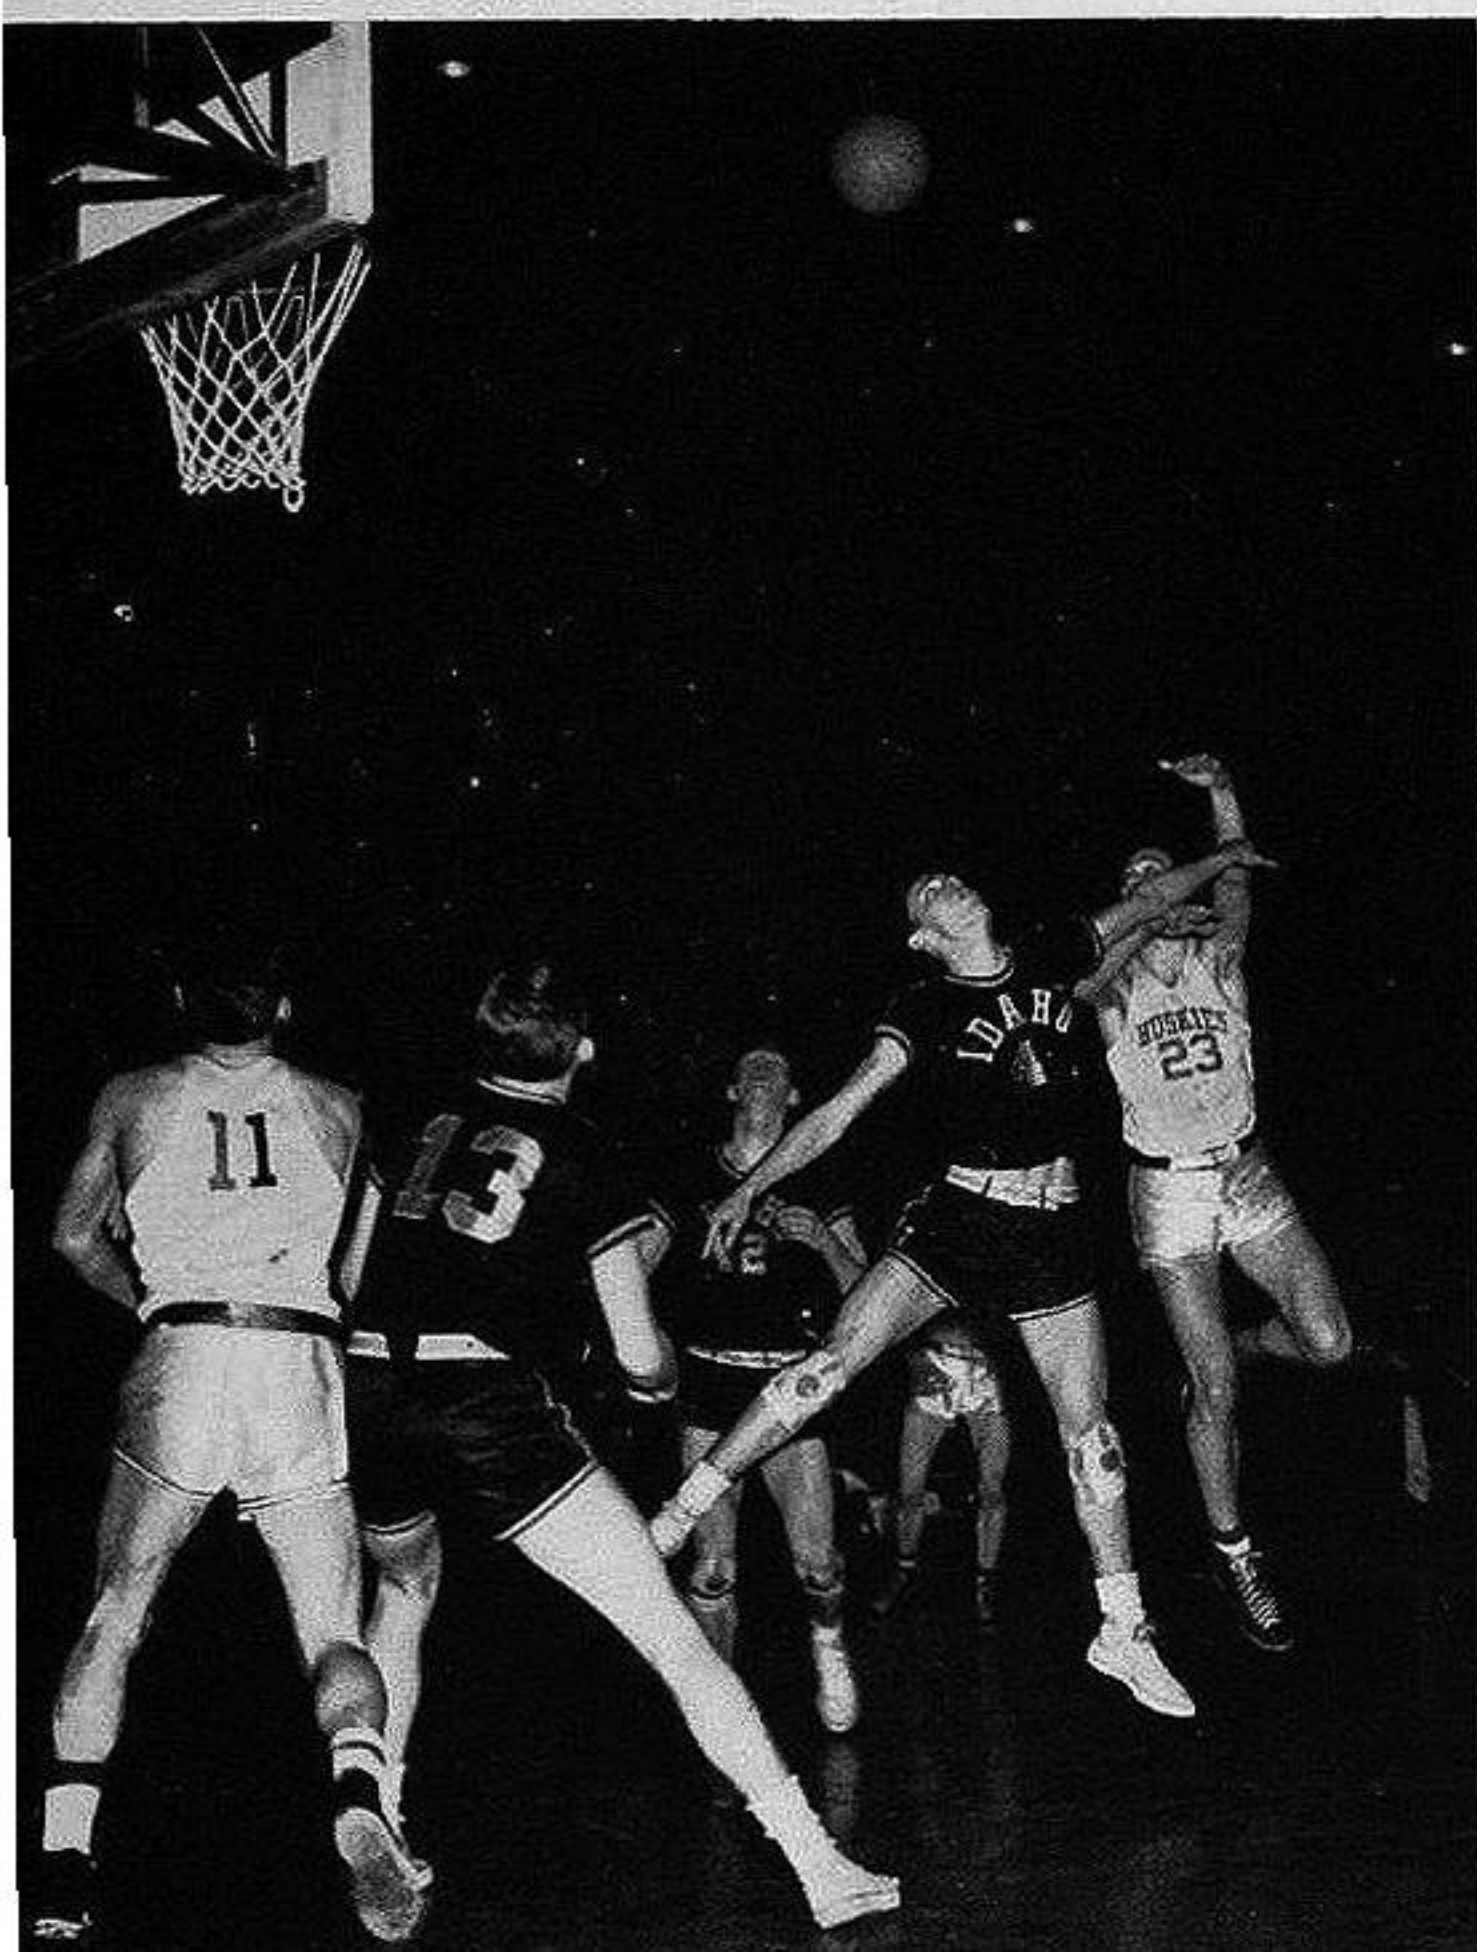

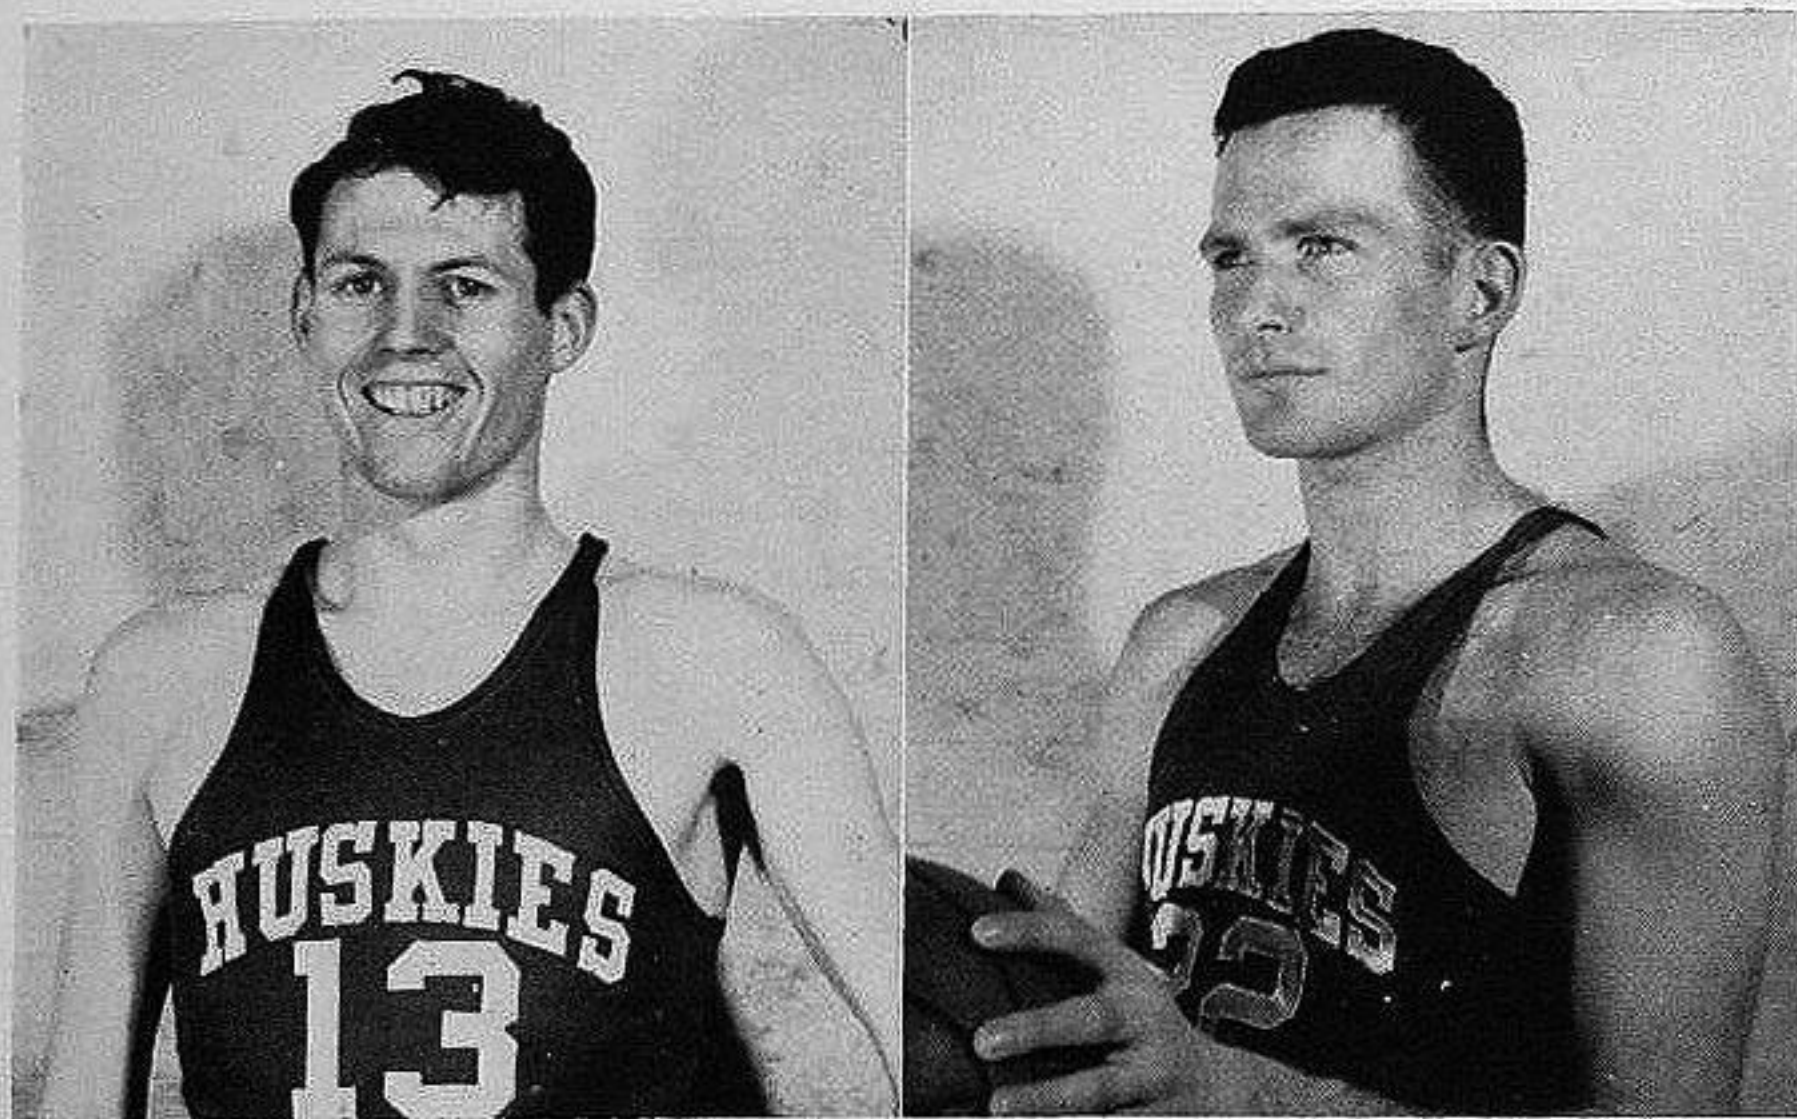

Being elected Captain for two straight years, was the honor bestowed on LaDON HENSON, four-year letterman for the Huskies. In his four years of varsity play he was always among the top ten in northern division scoring.

JACK WARD contributed much to Husky basketball in his senior year with his steady backboard work and filling in at forward and guard.

Washington's DOUG McCLARY (23) casts off with a left-handed hook shot from the key as an Idaho defender tries desperately to block the shot (left). Both Vandal and Husky are up in the air in an attempt to come down with the ball on a rebound (right). Identified are BOB HOUBREGS, FRANK GUINNESS (11), and LaDON HENSON (20).

KEITH JEFFERSON'S cat-like defensive work and offensive speed netted him lots of playing time for the Champs.

MIKE McCUTCHEON top guard reserve, really came into his own during the P.C.C. play-off games. His defensive work and all around hustle were big factors in the Husky win.

The Huskies got away to a quick 4-0 lead, in the first WSC game, and maintained their advantage until half-time, although the Cougars almost closed the gap several times. The scoring in the second half was far off for both teams, as the second half total for both clubs was 35 points as against 63 for the first half of play, but the final count was a 50-48 Cougar victory.

The Huskies turned in a second half floparoo during their second meeting with WSC. Washington led at one time by 17 points but the Cougars proved to be too much for the Huskies as they won 63-60, the winning point scored with 8 seconds remaining in the game. Washington played good ball in the first half to lead at half time 37-25. During the first four minutes of the last half, the Huskies increased their lead to 45-28. Then the Cougars started to hit.

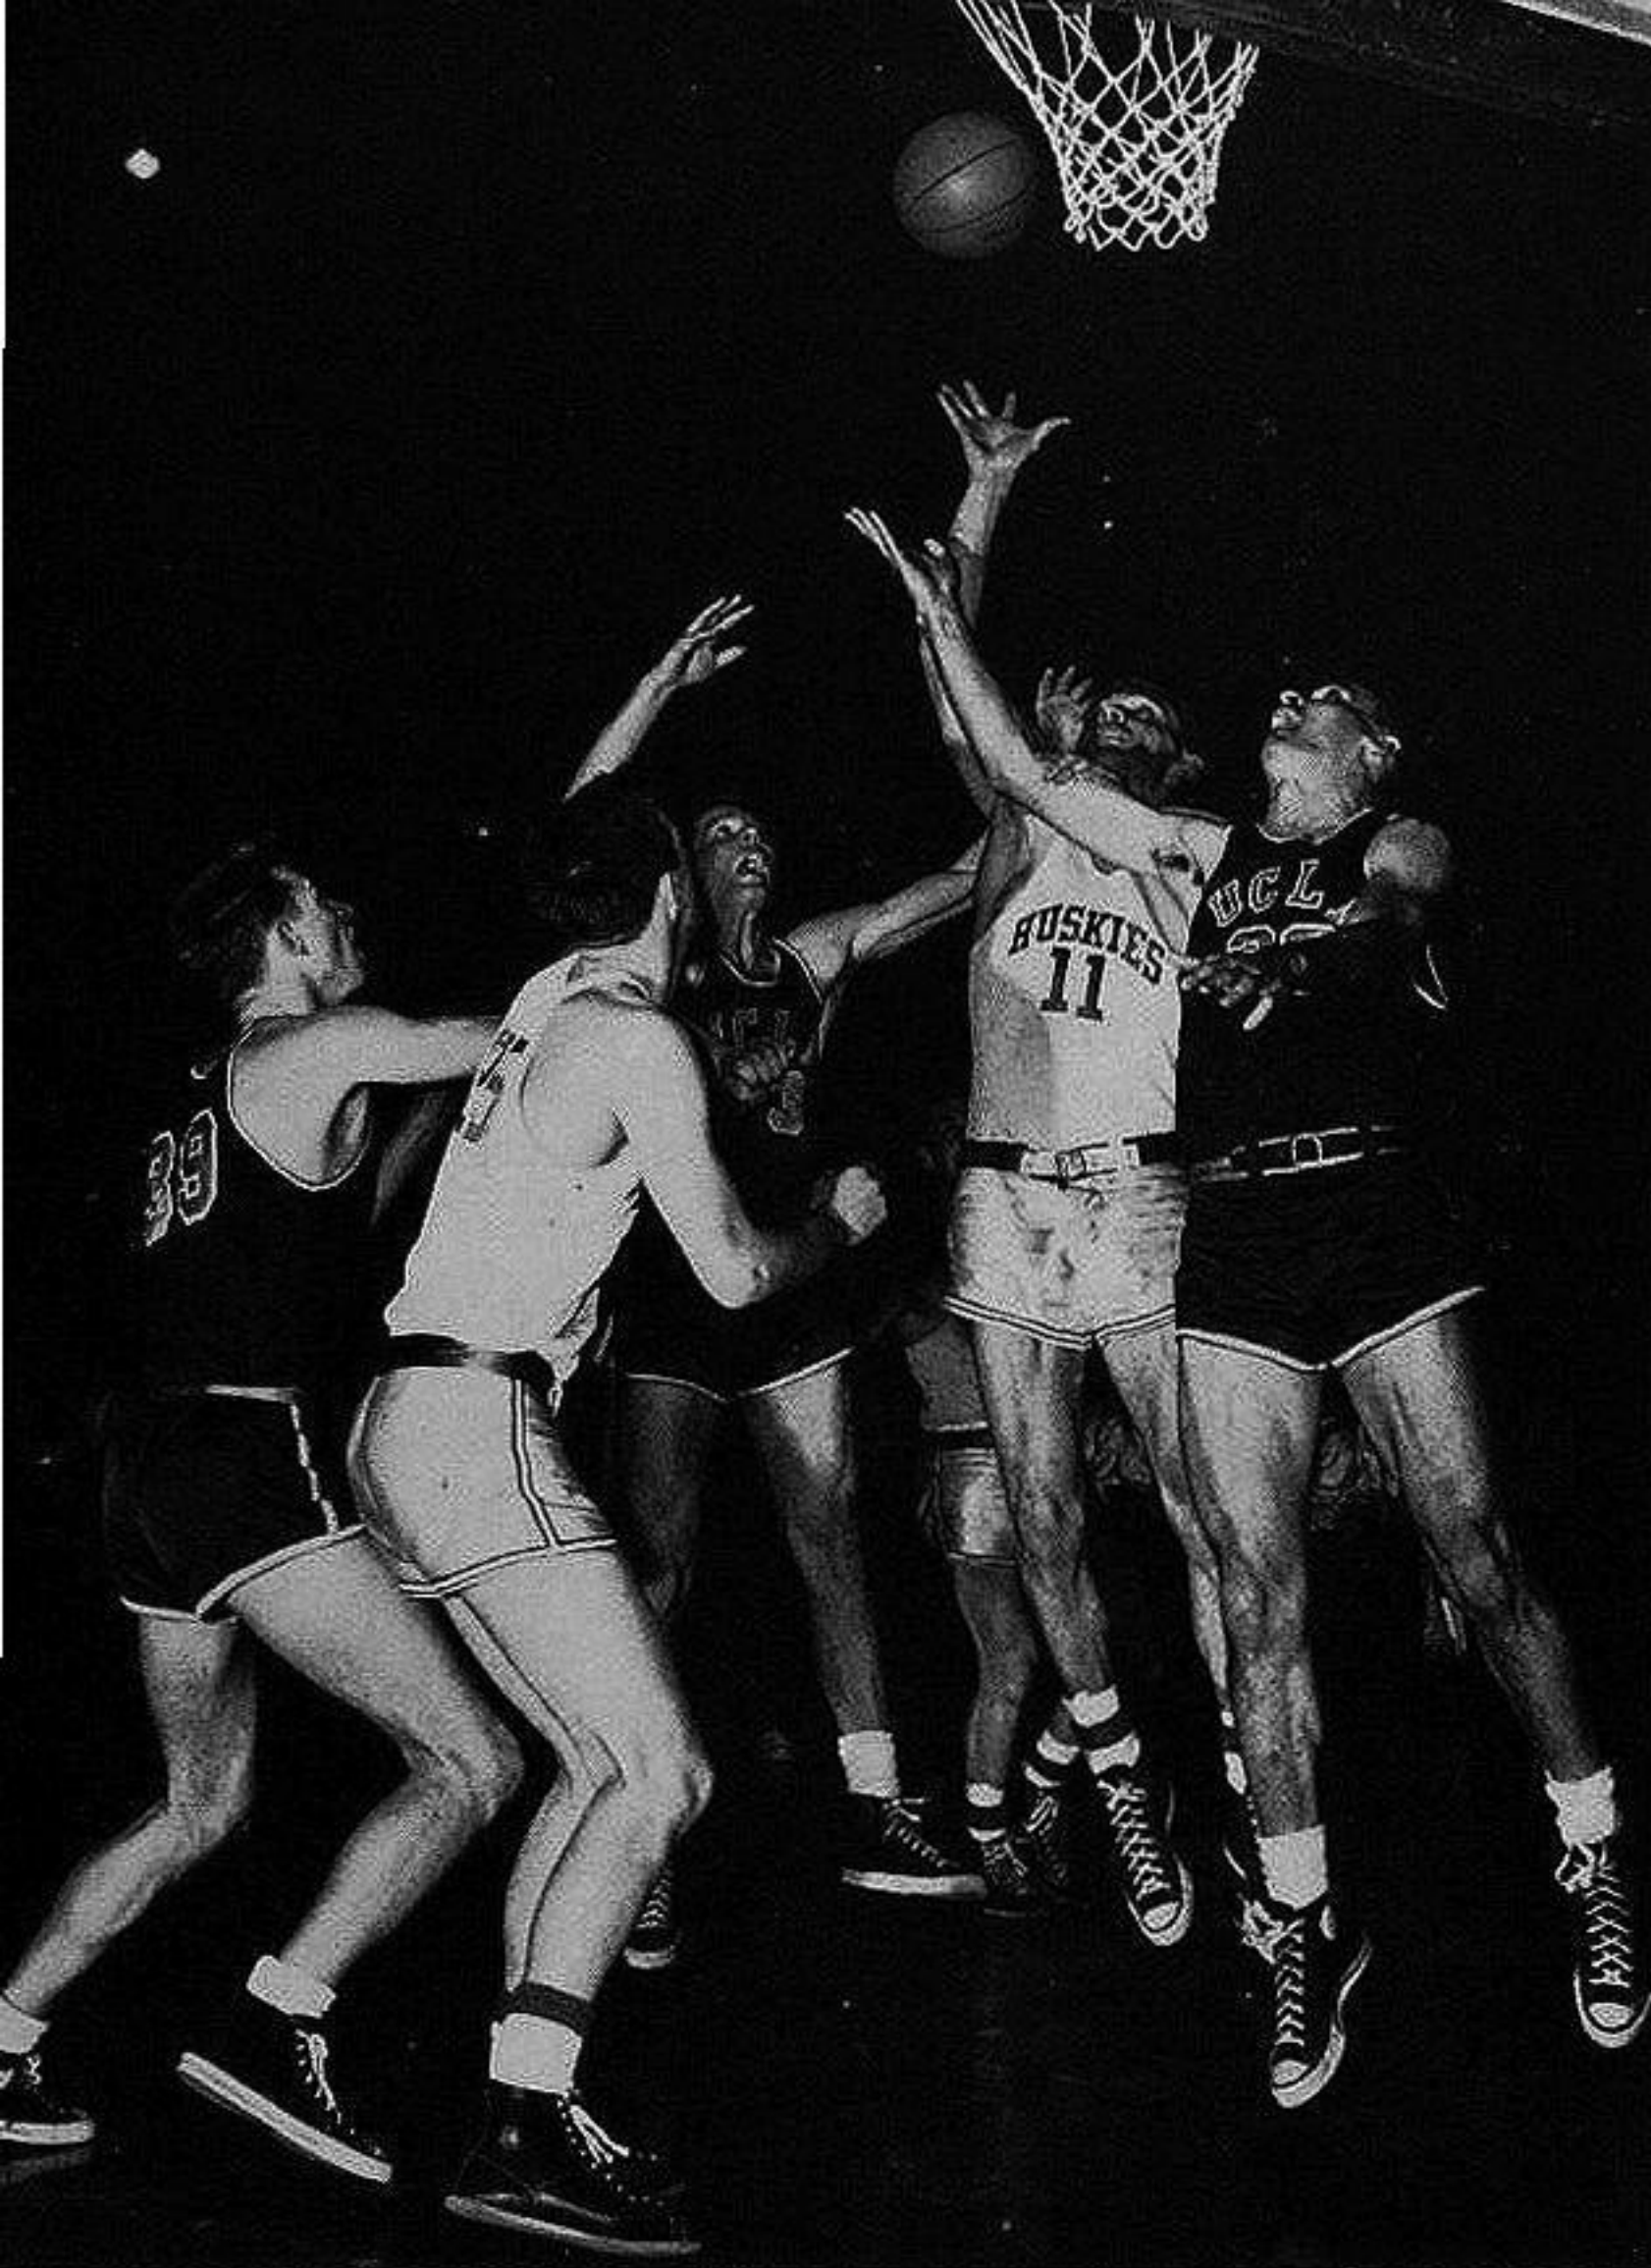

Turning in one of their best defensive games of the season, Washington whipped WSC 53-44. The largest spread of points between the two teams in the first half was six points, the score being 29-23 in favor of Washington. After four minutes of play had passed in the second half, Washington went on a scoring spree that ended with the score 48-31. WSC tried in vain to close the gap, but the Huskies coasted home to win.

Giving the Cougars a lesson in basketball, the Huskies blasted WSC off the floor in their last meeting, to win by 45 points, 86-41. Over 12,500 spectators saw Washington run up the largest winning score in division history. At the half the Huskies were ahead 42-17. Every player wearing the purple and gold got into the game and the reserves kept the Washington attack rolling, just as if the starters were still playing.

PLAYOFFS

Action under the boards not only shows a group of arms reaching for the ball, but also FRANK GUISSNESS' left hand resting upon the arm of a Bruin player. Tsk! Tsk!

"From rags to riches" best describes the first game of the north-south play-offs as far as the Huskies were concerned. Behind 11-1 during the opening minutes of play, the Huskies started to click, closing the gap to 33-30 by half time, and going on to win handily, 70-51.

Displaying true championship form, the University of Washington won the Pacific Coast conference basketball crown, defeating UCLA 71-54 in the second, and what proved to be the last, game of the series. The defensive play of Henson, Soriano, and McCutchen, were the highlights of the game, which saw the Huskies roll up a commanding 32-30 half-time lead, and win going away. This overwhelming Husky triumph sent the Huskies back to the Western Regional playoffs for the NCAA title in Kansas City where the PCC champs were seeded fourth out of a field of eight.

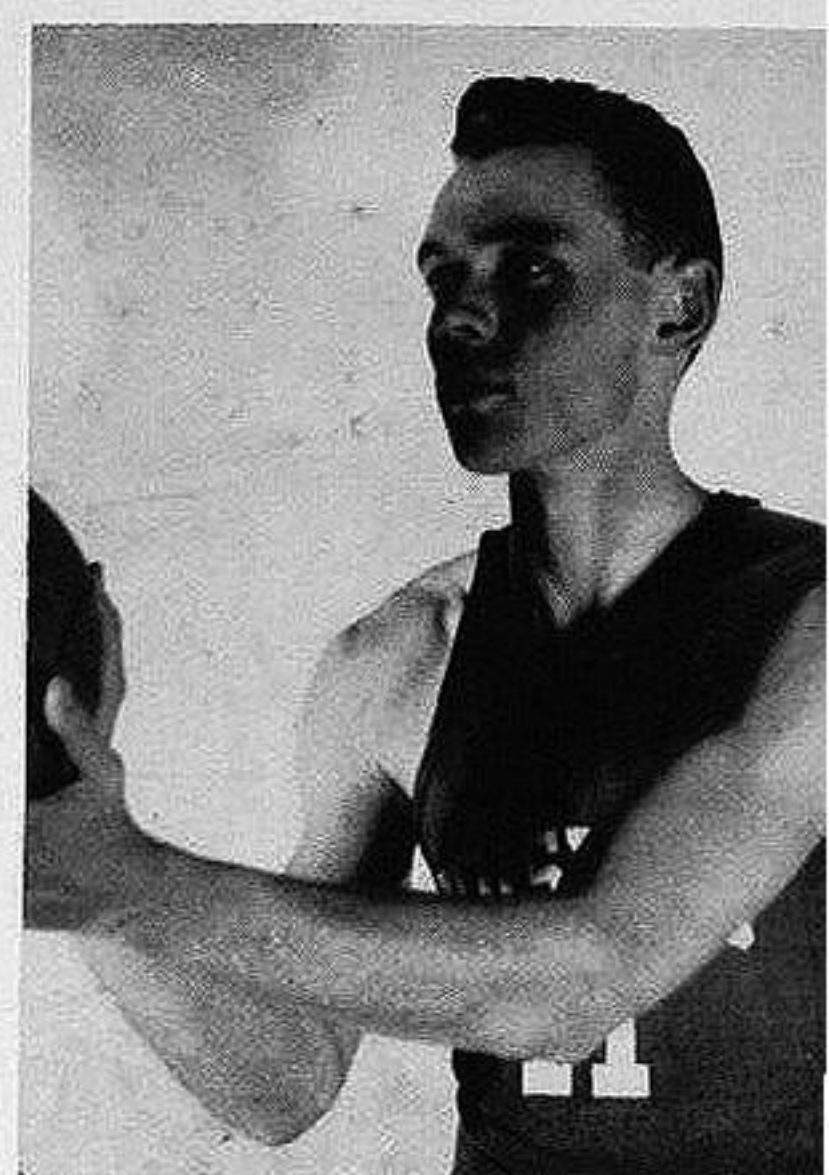

The first game for the Dyemen stood the Huskies up against the class of the Southwest conference, Texas A & M. The Texans used a ball-control type of offense, trying to shake a man loose for a score, but Washington's defensive strategy kept the Cadets off balance the whole game. Although the Huskies were ahead at half time 27-15, they didn't hit their stride until only six minutes were remaining in the game. With the score 48-40 in their favor the Huskies suddenly started to hit, getting 14 points in the last six minutes while holding the Texans scoreless. Washington took on Oklahoma A & M in the semi-finals of the Kansas City games, losing by 4 points, 61-57. Washington was 13 points down at half time, 36-23, shooting 25 times but making only six baskets. As the second half opened the Huskies started to drive, coming within one point of the victors, 50-49. At that point, a debatable call by the officials upset the Huskies and slowed down their drive. Bob Houbregs was high point man for Washington with 19 markers.

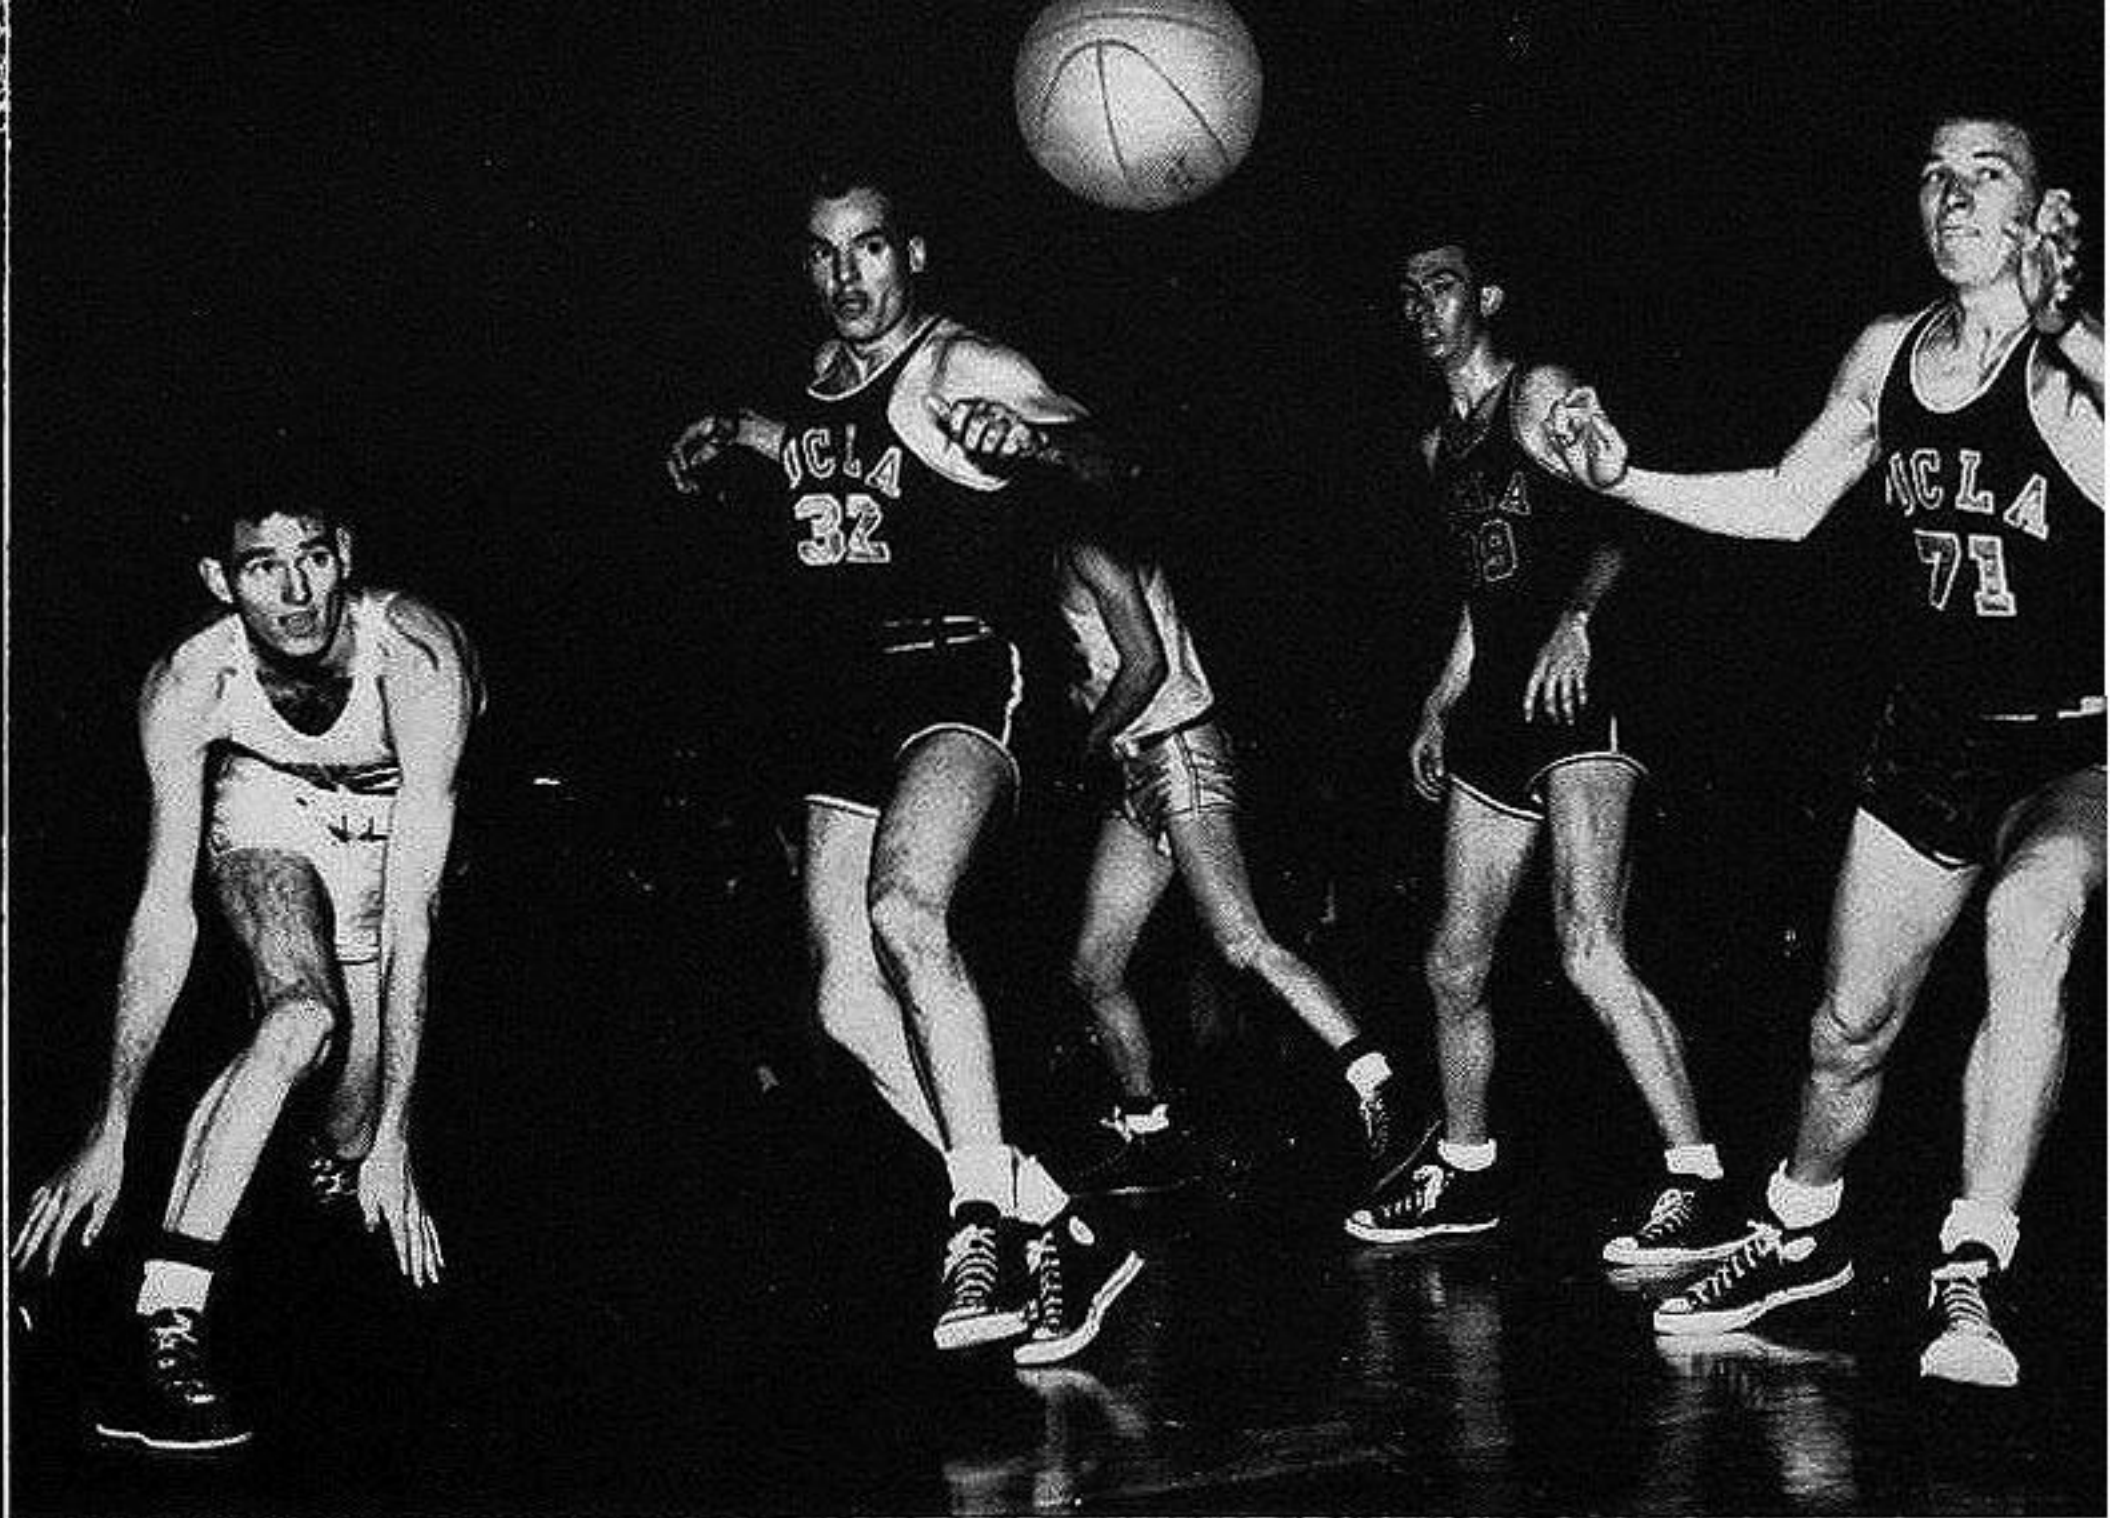

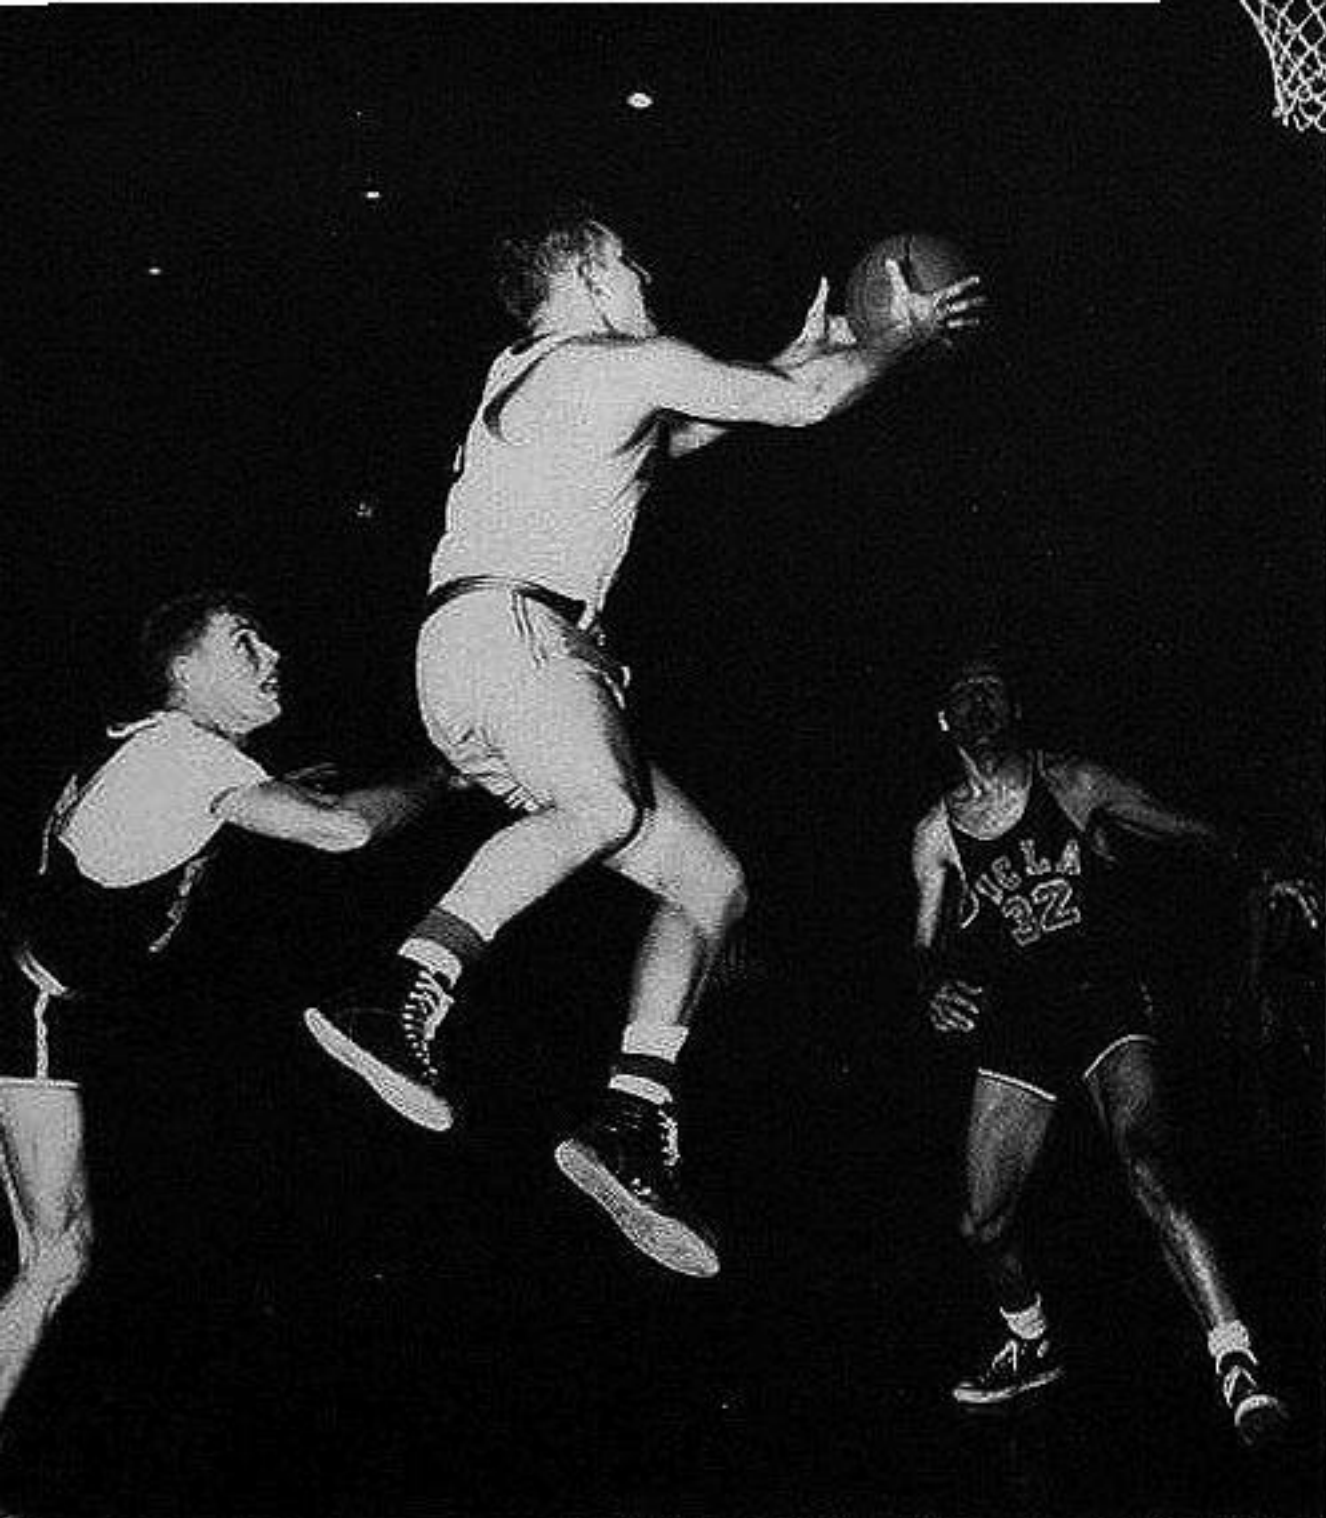

Washington was never better as they defeated BYU in their final game of the Western Regional playoffs, 80-67. With Bob Houbregs and Mike McCutchen leading the way, with 23 and 14 points respectively, the Huskies completely dominated play throughout the entire game. The Cougars from Brigham Young rallied only once, as the second half opened, but when that rally fell short it was only a question of how high the Washington score would climb.

Washington's 80 points, high for the tournament, was also only three short of the all-time high, set in last year's games by BYU. Bob Houbregs, averaging 17.6 points per game, chalked up 53 points in the tourney, the individual high. This performance earned him a spot on the tournament's all-star first team.

BOB HOUBREGS ended his first year on the varsity in the enviable position of being the leading scorer in conference play. Coach Dye plans great things for him in his junior year.

FRANK GUISSNESS won a berth on the District Eight, Pacific Coast, and Northern Division all-star teams. He will be back next year to cause trouble for Husky foes.

Even the Husky mascot wears a worried look during the tense PCC championship series.

It's time for a change as Coach "Tippy" Dye gives Don Stewart some last-minute instructions before sending the big senior into action.

HAL ARNASON did a bang-up job his first year as J.V. coach. The J.V.'s finished the season with a 10-2 record.

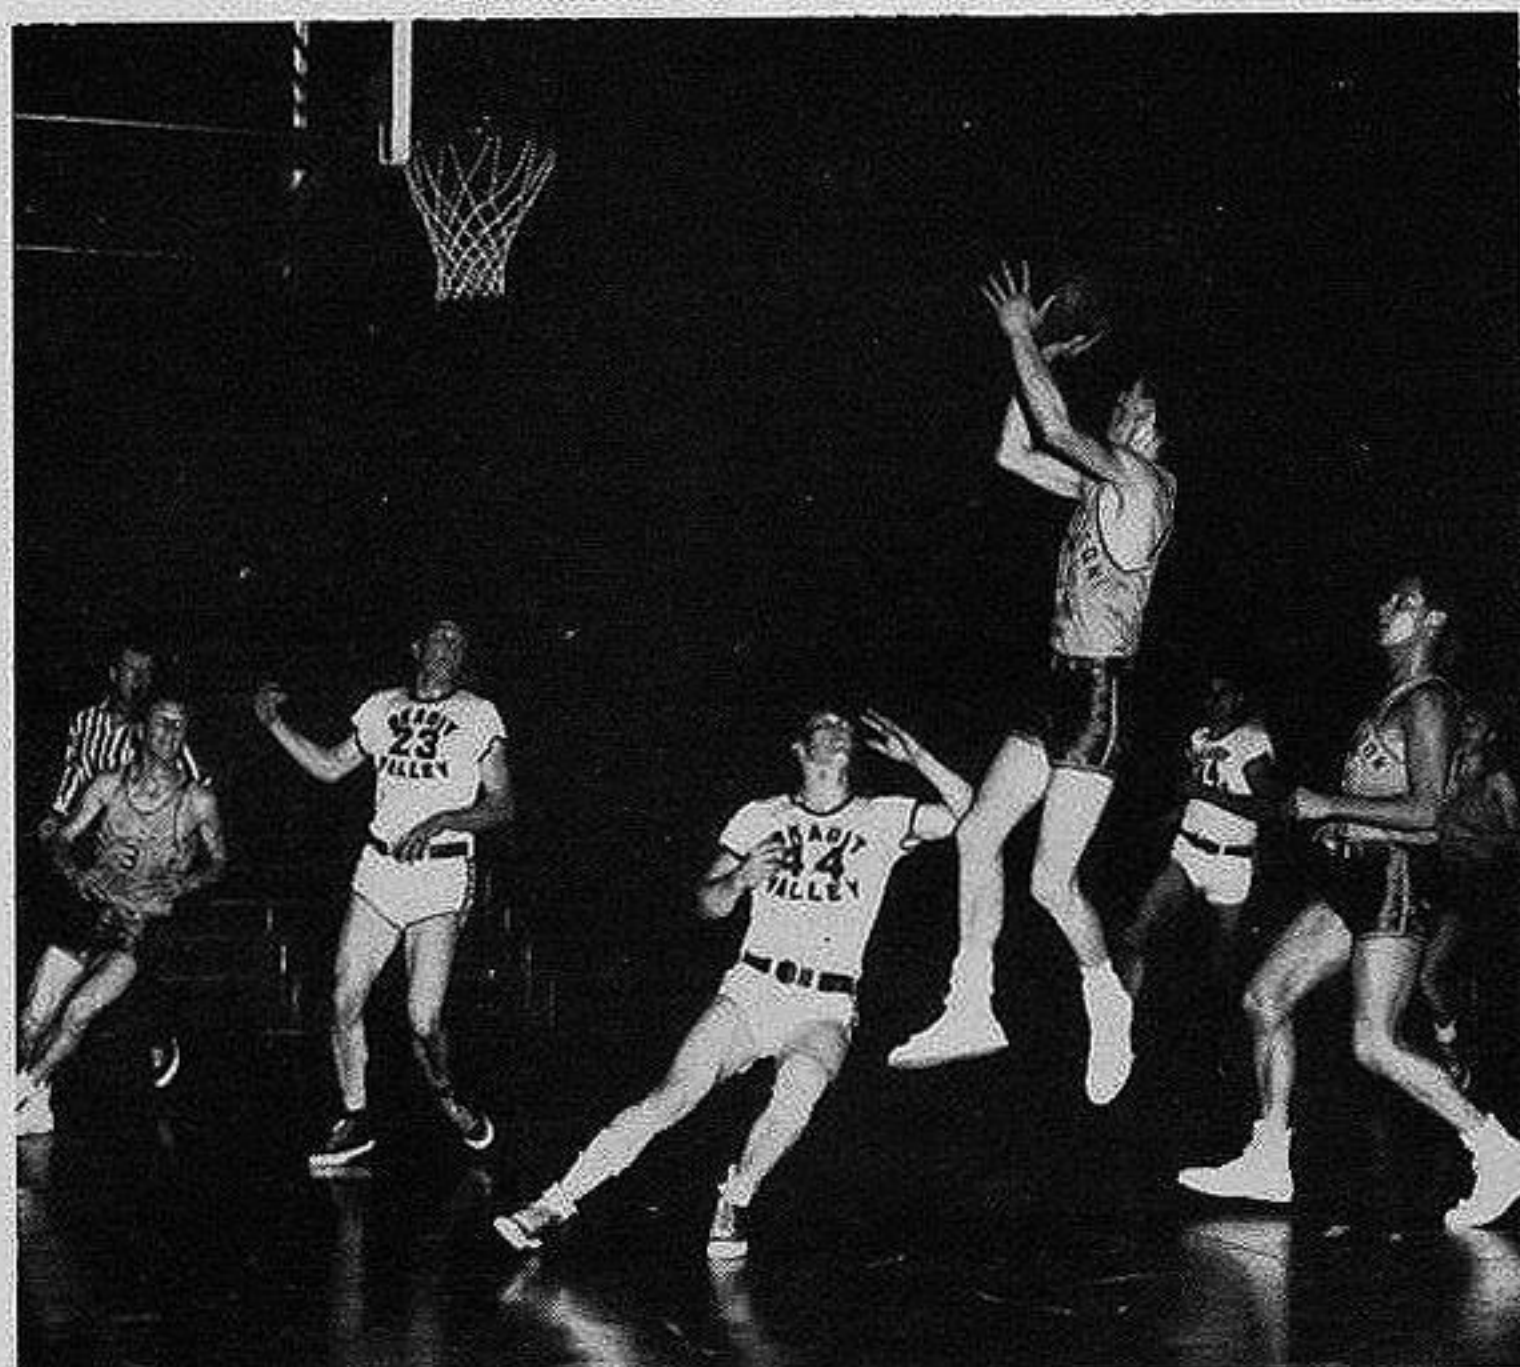

Winners of ten games in twelve starts, Coach Hal Arnason's University of Washington Junior Varsity basketball team averaged 62 points a game during the 1950-51 season.

Will Elliott, a pint-sized guard from Klamath Falls, Oregon, dropped in the most points for the Jayvees, garnering 131, but seven of the ten squad members averaged better than seven points per game.

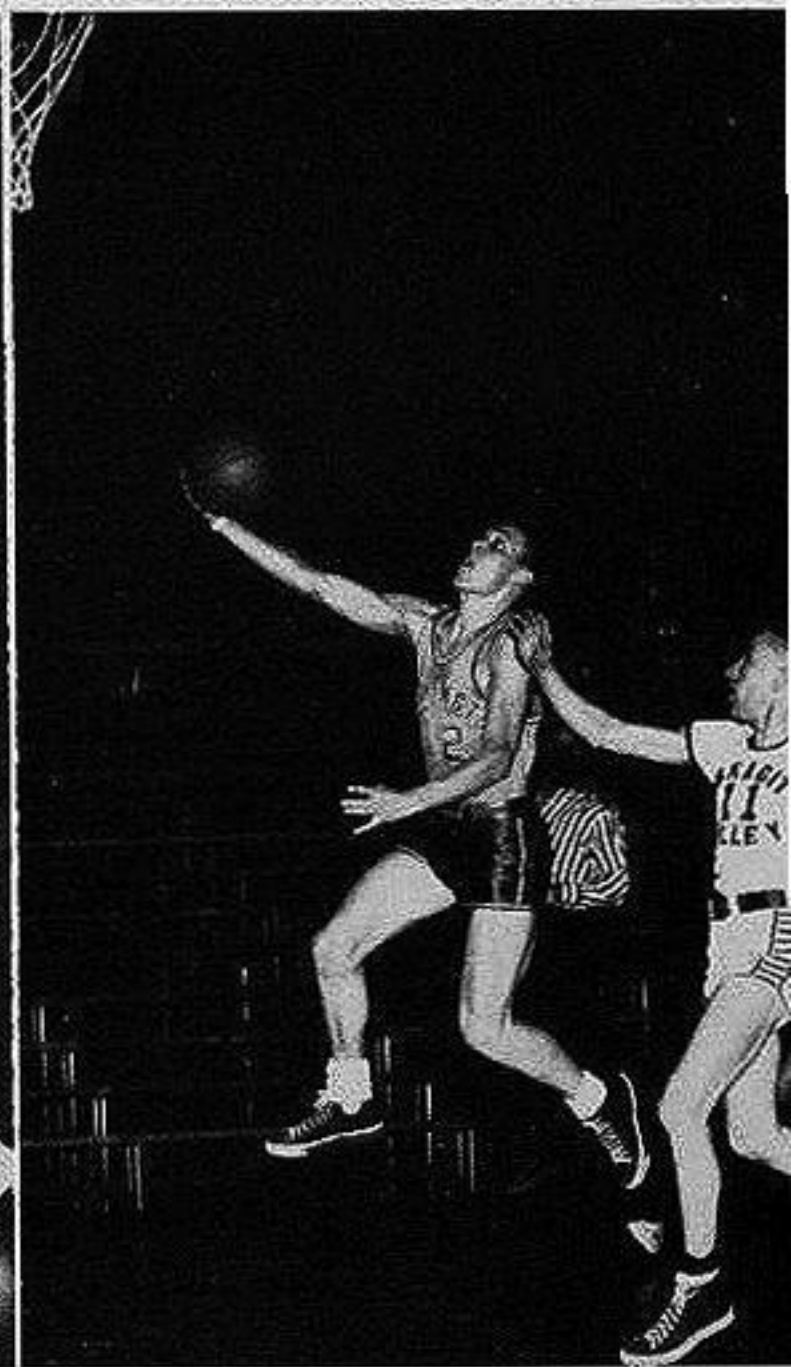

The Jayvees' high point of the season was the 112 to 21 win over Naval Transport.

The Wyoming National Guard team from Fort Lewis and Bill Morris' Washington frosh handed the Jayvees their only setbacks, and Arnason's squad evened up the score with the latter by beating the yearlings, 53 to 44, in the season finale.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Leading scorer for the J.V. squad was sophomore WILBUR ELLIOTT who totaled 131 points for the season and a per game average of 10.9.

BILL MORRIS completed another successful season as frosh basketball coach, climaxing the season with wins over the Washington State Frosh and Washington's J.V. squad.

BOB CARR was assistant frosh coach during the 1950-51 season, taking over the top job whenever Head Coach Morris was called out of town on scouting missions.

University of Washington's freshmen basketball team wound up their 1951 season with a record of 11 wins, 5 losses and 1 tie by splitting with the Husky Jayvees in preliminary games to the PCC playoff.

The Pups won the Friday opener, 62 to 52, but lost the finals, 44 to 53. Dick Bird, former Lincoln high school of Seattle star, led Bill Morris' entry in season scoring, final figures revealed. Bird dropped in 79 field goals and 23 charity tosses for a total of 181 points in 17 games.

Not far behind Bird was the starting Pup guard, Don Tripp, formerly of Mount Vernon high school, with 160 points. Tripp counted his on 63 field goals and 34 free throws.

These two were primarily responsible for the 55.9 points-per-game average the frosh racked up. Bird was especially productive in the game against Fort Lawton in Seattle, picking up 30 points that night.

HAS and RALPH WELCH.

VARSITY RIFLE TEAM

The 1950-1951 version of the Varsity Rifle Team enjoyed its most successful season in the history of the school. Under the direction of Sgt. Raymond Strojny of the ROTC staff, the team won 54 of the 58 matches fired. All matches were fired by proxy with the opposing teams mailing their results to each other.

The squad fired against such schools as West Point, Minnesota, Maryland, Maine, and Annapolis. Team Captain Dwain Colby holds the Washington State Championship, two national records, and the Pacific Northwest Regional Intercollegiate Championship.

At the time this article was written, the team was favored to win the National Intercollegiate Championship and expected to set a new record for team score. The members of the squad were: Dwain Colby, Guy Belleman, Richard Tyler, Robert White, Ryle Radke, Lee Monteith, Richard Robinson, Richard Andrus, Raymond Graham, Tren Williamson, Gary Smoot, and Dale Riveland.

VARSITY HANDBALL

Coach "Augie" Aurenheimer's handball team, for want of more evenly matched collegiate competition, engaged teams from the Tacoma Elks, the Seattle YMCA, and the Washington Athletic Club. Of the 18 games played, the wearers of the Purple and Gold won five and lost 13.

Many of the opponents were former Washington players and others who were far more experienced. There is still strong hope for a collegiate schedule in the future.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

The Husky Volleyball team enjoyed a very successful season, defending its title at the Northwest Intercollegiate Invitational Tournament, held at Portland, Oregon; by winning all eight games of a home-and-home series with the University of British Columbia; and by defeating all Seattle competition for the first time.

Boasting a healthy win-loss record, the Purple and Gold were invited to the National Intercollegiate. This invitation was declined on the grounds that the late date of the tournament would necessitate an inconvenient extension of the season. This invitation, however, was a fine tribute to Washington's squad, rated eighteenth nationally.

Those who were awarded circled W's were Roger Loschen, Len Tucker, George Kubota, Don Jensen, Carl Bode, Stan Ellexson, John Dimmer, and Harry Guay.

VARSITY BOXING

The crowd on hand to witness the 1951 Fistfest was even larger than in previous years. The annual event, under the sponsorship of AMS, saw three new champions emerge.

Bill Drysdale retained his crown in the 125-pound division over Joe Sasaki; Harry Poll, last year's champ, was dethroned by George Benson in the 130-pound division; Chuck Horn outfought Bill Lee for the 135-pound nod; "Cinderella Man" Don Roos upset confident Tom Everett for the 145-pound championship; Golden Gloves winner Arnie Klinkenberg successfully defended his title against "Smilin'" Joe Hansford in the 155-pound class; Wally Ruthruff outfought Ben Hayes to retain his 165-pound championship; Archie McLean defeated Ed Redkey for the 175-pound nod; and Stan Burke retained his crown in the unlimited class by a knockout over Bill Dixon. The winners were awarded minor W's, as usual.

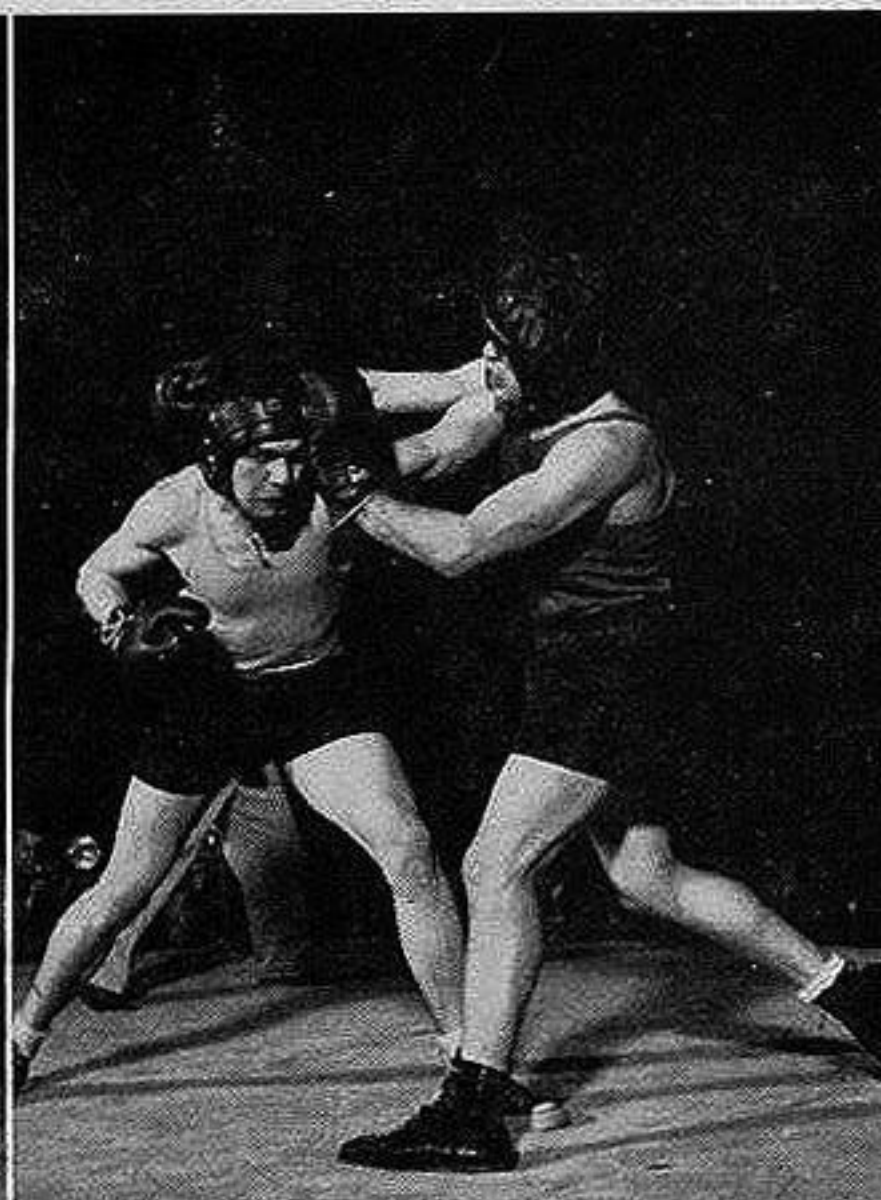

Recognized as the outstanding performer of the intramural boxing program, DON ROOS, right, gallantly fought his way through a talent-laden schedule to the Fistfest, and there he defeated the highly touted TOM EVERETT.

CROSS COUNTRY

For the first time in several years minor W awards were given for Cross-country participation. The lone meet in which the Huskies participated with the University of British Columbia and Western Washington College of Education found Washington in third place in a field of five. The brightest prospect for the future is Denny Myer, stalwart freshman distance-runner. Letter winners were Capt. Rockne Johnson, Bill Richards, Rod Vanderhoof, and Denny Myer.

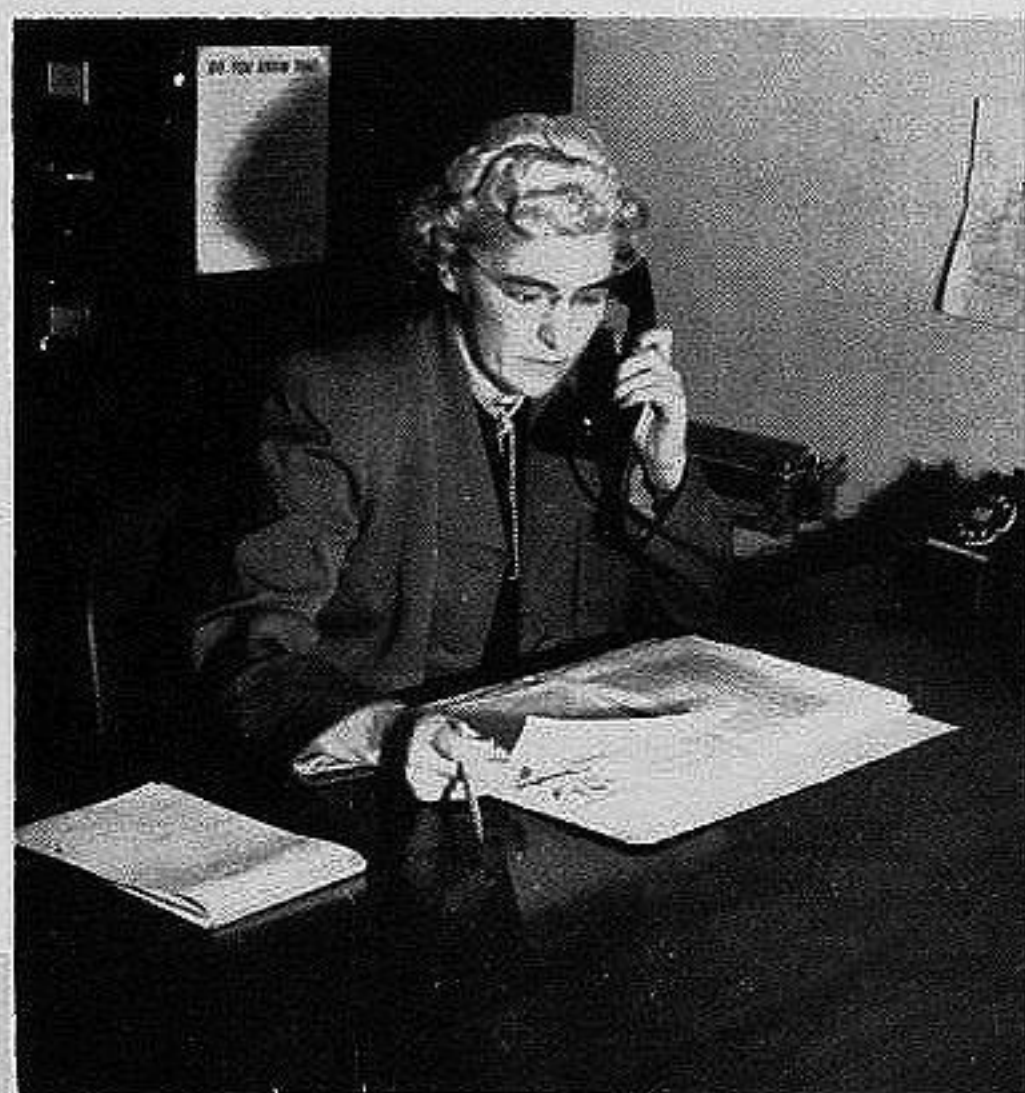

The head man in charge of Washington's vast athletic program is HARVEY CASSILL, Director Intercollegiate Athletics.

The information branch of the ASUW athletic program may be found in the office of BERT E. ROSE, Manager, Athletic News Service.

DAYLE HOAGLAND serves as the director's good right arm as Administrative Assistant.

ROBERT A. STEINER, Auditor, is the key man in the facts, figures and keep-em-rollin' department.

Working with Harvey Cassill in directing ASUW athletics, CHARLES R. BECHTOL serves as Assistant Director of Intercollegiate Athletics.

ASUW ATHLETIC OFFICIALS

Membership in the Big "W" Club is open to all men who have won a varsity award in a major sport. It holds meetings twice a month and has as its objectives the furthering of interest in athletics at Washington and strives towards a closer bond between athletes of various sports. The Club has an annual picnic and dance. It also sponsors a basketball half-time show which is always well received by the public and students alike.

Joining with the Silver Fishes, the Husky Swim Club presented a successful swim show, with advance publicity in a tank at the west side of the Quad.

Creating enthusiasm for swimming and associated sports is the aim of the Husky Swim Club at the University of Washington. Membership in this club is by unanimous election of all members present at membership meetings. One of the main projects undertaken by the club is the annual State-Wide Coaches' Swim Clinic. Another project gaining prominence is the staging of an annual swim show, or Aqua Follies, which gives the members an excellent chance to exhibit their creative ability. In order to further sportsmanship and effort among its members, the club awards an inspirational medal to its outstanding freshman and senior members.

Behind the Washington crew tradition is the core organization—the Varsity Boat Club. When organized in the early 1900's, the club aimed to promote rowing in the Northwest, and to provide living and eating quarters for the crew. Today the club provides social activities for the men in addition to their work. Memberships in Varsity Boat Club are chosen by election. Only men who have rowed six quarters, or have varsity, junior varsity, or light-weight crew letters are eligible for initiation.

Relaxing in the new Varsity Boat Club lounge in the Connibear Shell House are several members of the club.

STUDENT MANAGERS AND THE MANAGERIAL COUNCIL

The thrill of intercollegiate athletics is something not exclusively held by varsity athletes. In a very definite way, a student manager feels the sense of pride that comes with a game well played and a victory justly won. Working with the frosh and varsity through their many arduous months of training; assisting the coaches to build a fine team through practice; helping the individual athletes in their personal problems, the manager feels that he is one of the group and in part responsible for the performance of the team.

Also, student managing offers one of the finest forms of business training available at the University. Responsibility for all athletic property, handling team finances on road trips, making decisions that concern team policy—all constitute invaluable forms of experience that provide a definite advantage when starting out in the business world.

The Managerial Council acts as a coordinating body over all managers in various sports. The council's objectives are: to promote the interests of the University of Washington, to promote interest in both athletics and managerial activities, and to assist individual managers in all problems that may arise in the performance of their duties. Duly appointed senior and senior frosh managers constitute the active members while juniors are the associate or non-voting members.

To close the school year, the Managerial Banquet is held in May. Award of the Darwin Meisnist Trophy for the inspirational senior and announcement of next year's managers are made at that time.

Thus, student managing offers an excellent means of self-improvement and at the same time provides a service to Washington. Competition is keen, and the hours expended are great, but the goal is well worth the effort. A student must begin in his freshman year; work to gain recognition by the coach, team and fellow managers; and be appointed to the positions of sophomore, junior, and finally senior manager. The Managerial Council represents students who have reached this goal.

Building school spirit is Malamutes' primary purpose. During the football season, the organization is very active. It plans and presents card stunts, sponsors the yell team, puts on the Homecoming and several other rallies, welcomes visiting teams, provides send-off rallies and receptions for the Washington team. Other activities include the selling of rooter's hats and the training of Waski, the Husky mascot. This season, the club sponsored special rooters' trains to the Oregon State and Washington State football games.

Songfest, one of Washington's most cherished traditions, is presented every spring by the Malamutes. In many of its activities, the organization works with the Women's Rally Club and several other campus organizations.

Membership is open to freshmen, who are taken in every fall as "invites." After one quarter of service, pledges are chosen. Active members are selected during the sophomore year. Officers are elected from the actives.

To round out the club's activities, it sponsors several social events each year for its members.

The yell team, with Bob Regan as Yell King and Joan Forster as Yell Queen; and the song leaders, with Ramona Smith as Song Queen, contribute much to the color and spirit of the sports season.

YELL TEAM

For the second consecutive year Gamma Phi Beta copped the Garhart Trophy. They won the volleyball tournament, tied for first-place honors in the swim meet with Zeta Tau Alpha, and placed second in the basketball tournament to amass the most points in competition for the trophy.

All organized women's houses participate in volleyball, basketball, badminton, swimming, skiing, and softball to garner points towards winning the trophy.

Winner of the intramural swim meet was the Austin Hall team. Members are Virginia May, Isabel Henley, Billie Atherton, and Anne McGovney. Zeta Tau Alpha and Kappa Delta also had high-scoring teams.

INTRAMURALS

INTRAMURALS play an important part in the activities of all organized women's houses on the campus. All groups strive to win the Garhart Trophy each year; but all of the participating girls derive something besides honors in the form of relaxation, enjoyment, and physical exercise.

INTRAMURAL WINNERS

De Fire Nisse Ski Team: Winner of the women's intramural ski meet held at Stevens Pass was the De Fire Nisse ski team. Jane Creswell took the individual honors, placing first in the giant slalom. Team members are Jane Creswell, Nancy Crawford, Pat Paton, and Barbara Erickson.

BLAINE HALL WINNERS

Blaine Hall teams decisively established their athletic superiority during the 1950-51 season by winning nearly every tournament in intramural competition. They defeated Gamma Phi Beta in both the volleyball and basketball tournaments and made it a clean sweep by capturing the baseball championship.

Silver Fishes is composed of a group of top swimmers, chosen for their aquatic skills. Early in the year the girls start practicing rhythmic swimming, in preparation for their annual spring water ballet. During this time a theme is chosen for their show—this year's theme was "Four Winds and Seven Seas." Then they pick appropriate music and start writing swim formations to the music. Land drills are then conducted to familiarize the girls with the routines. At the time they are transferred to the pool, changes have to be made to keep the movements in time with the music. While rehearsals are under way scenery and costumes have to be made. Then after seven months of hard work by all concerned the show goes on before the select few who are able to obtain tickets to the always popular show. It all looks so easy to the spectator, but these girls deserve considerable credit for the fine job they do in getting this show together.

The University of Washington women's ski team returned from Mount Hood, Oregon, scene of the Pacific Northwest Women's Inter-collegiate Ski Meet, bedecked with medals for their first place victory over four colleges. Jane Creswell took third place in the race, and Liz Lovsted followed in fourth place.

ORCHESIS

LUCILLE BADDA, graduate student, set the mood for this year's Dance Drama with the opening number.

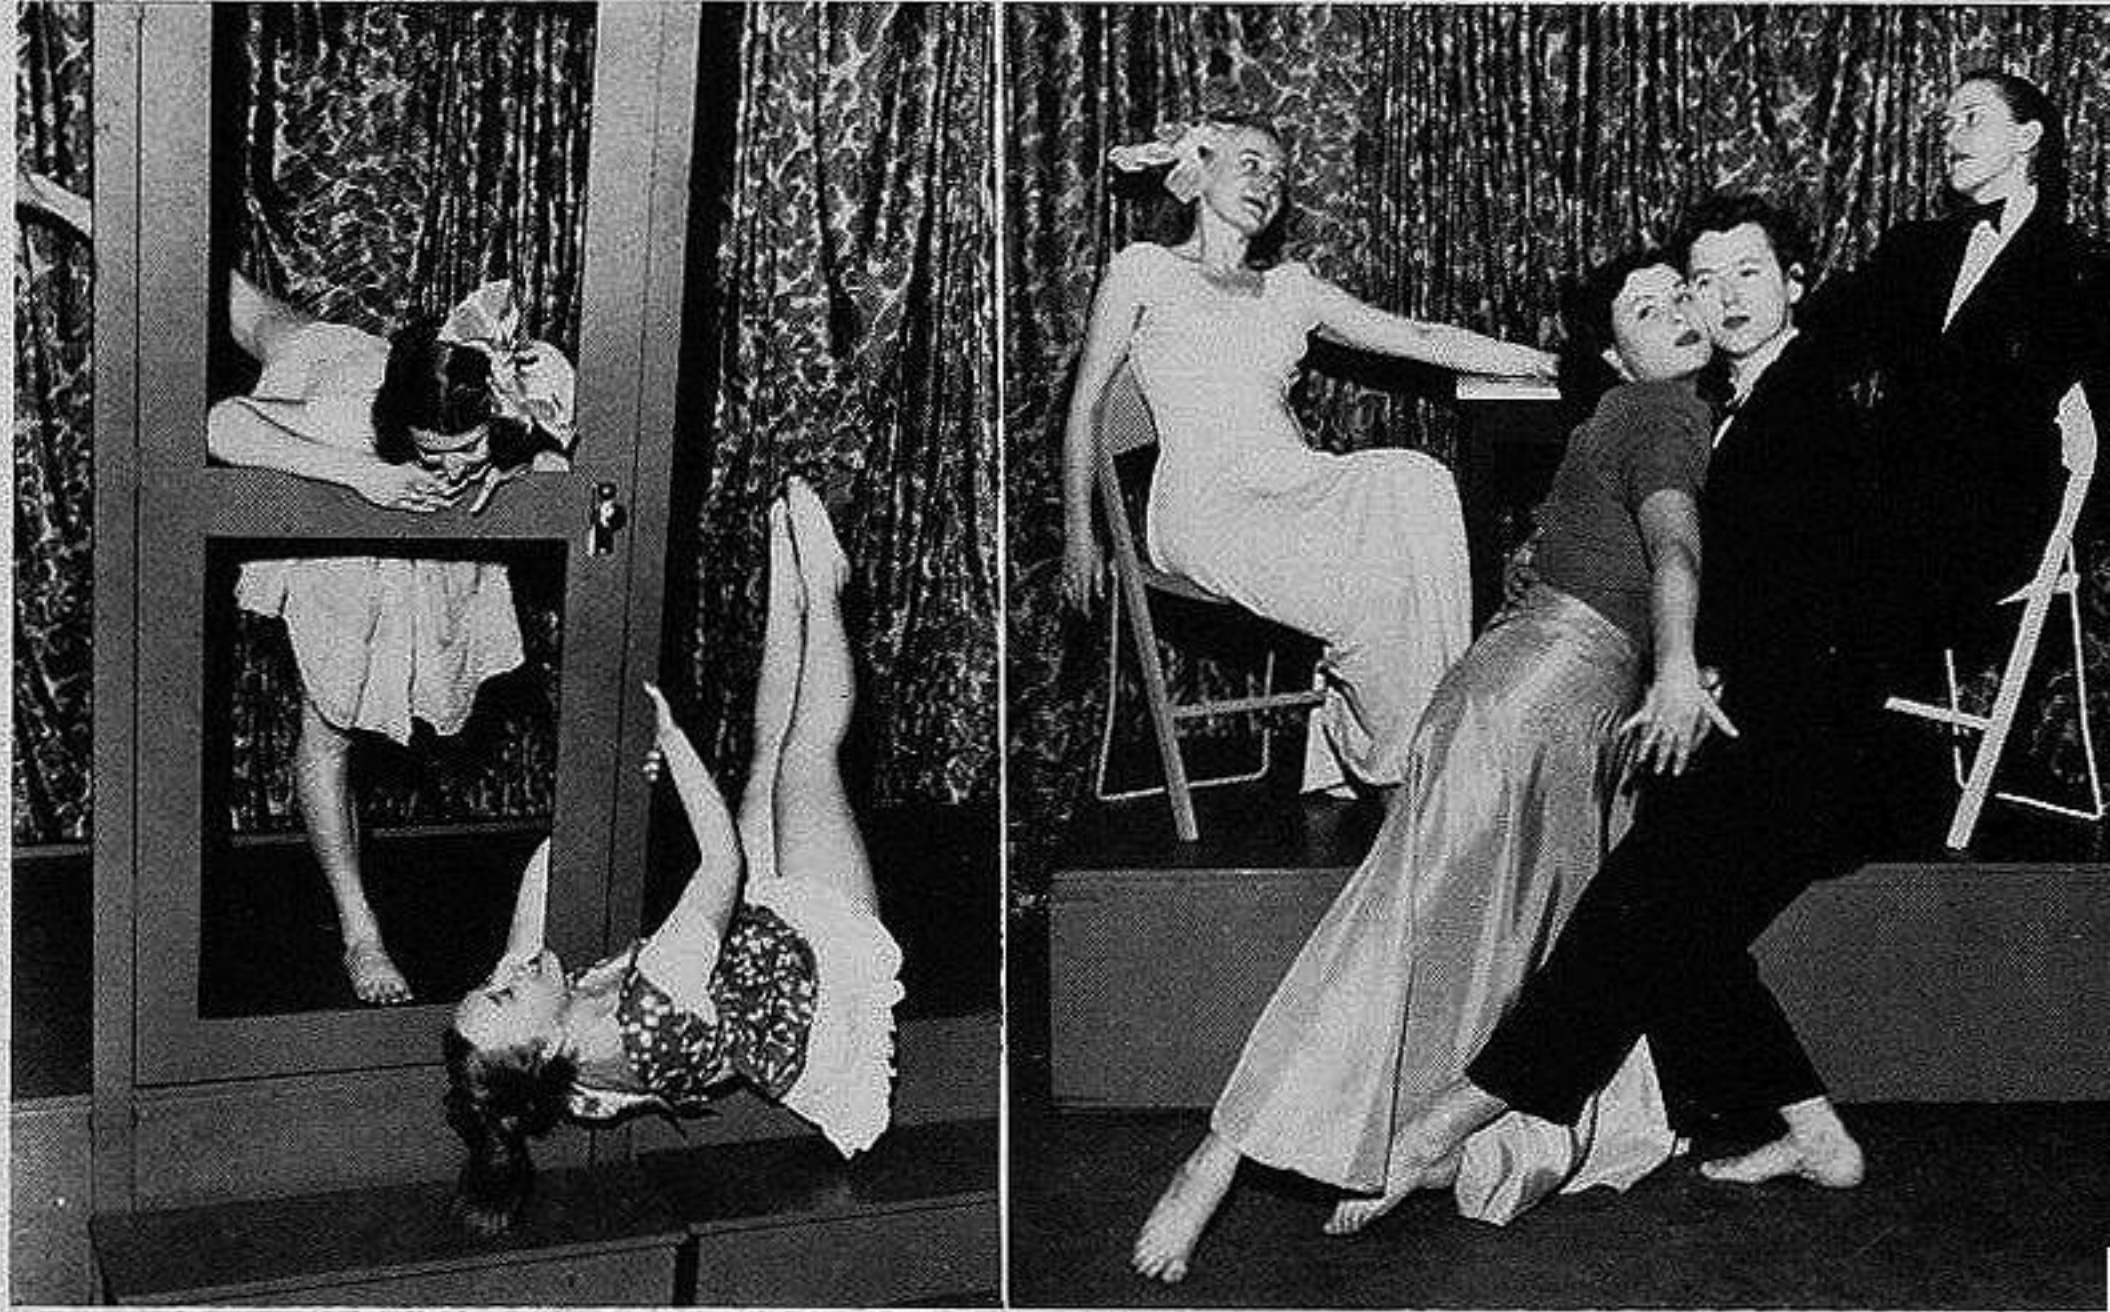

Throughout the year, the members of Orchesis, the modern dance honorary, meet twice each week to further develop their ability in dance techniques and to work on creative dance problems. The result of their efforts is displayed during Winter Quarter at the annual Dance Drama, presented in the circular Dance Theatre of Hutchinson Hall under the supervision of Mary Aid deVries.

This year's drama, "To Each His Own Confusion," concerned the growing up of three girls born around 1915. Each life pattern offers different frustrations. 1951 finds them hurried, high tensioned, and confused.

Participating in this year's Dance Drama were Lucille Badda, Gladys Boner, Ronda Barnard, Marjory Barlow, Lois Bill, Nancy Crawford, Leticia Clark, Marlene deGrasse, Marjory Grube, Mary Jane Headly, Donna Hess, Kris Kodama, Miriam Krumins, Emy Lou Leedy, Hildegard Lewis, Carol Liebe, Peggy Lawton, Nadine Putnam, JoAnne Squires, Kay West, Beverly Washington, Joan Smyth, Ann Sherwood, Geraldine Smith, and Colleen Lowe.

A special highlight of this year's show was a group of solo sketches, called "Fledglings," by guest artist Nancy Jane Bare.

LivingGroups

The housing of fourteen thousand students is no minor problem. Fraternities, sororities, and independent living organizations provide a home for a good part of the student body, while another group live in boarding houses and private homes near the campus. Still others, and a large percentage too, live at home and ride the buses or drive to school daily.

On the drawing board for the near future are modern, well-equipped dorms for the unaffiliated men students. These dorms will be built along the much discussed approach to the campus from the University Bridge to the back of Meany Hall. Also a number of organizations have plans for new houses underway.

With the ever increasing enrollment at the University, on-campus living space will become more and more important, and this need is not being neglected in the University's accelerated building program.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

DURHAM, MARY
President

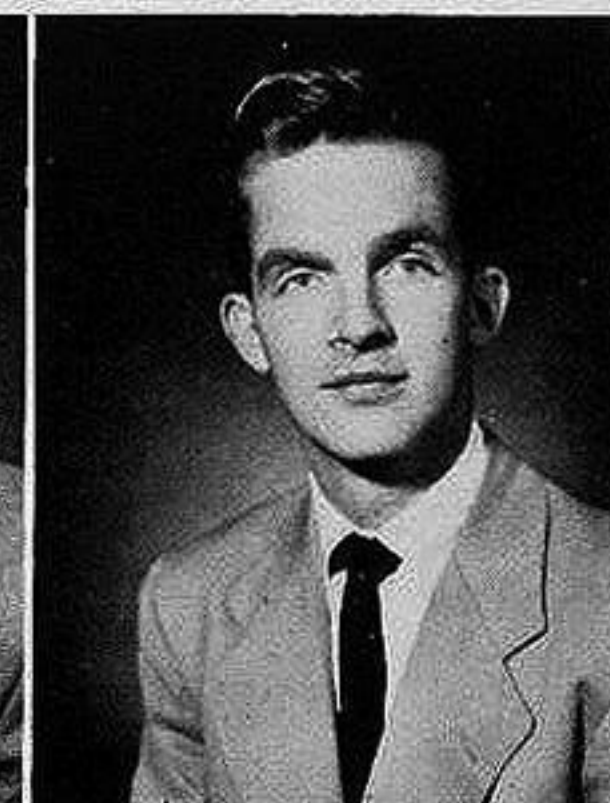

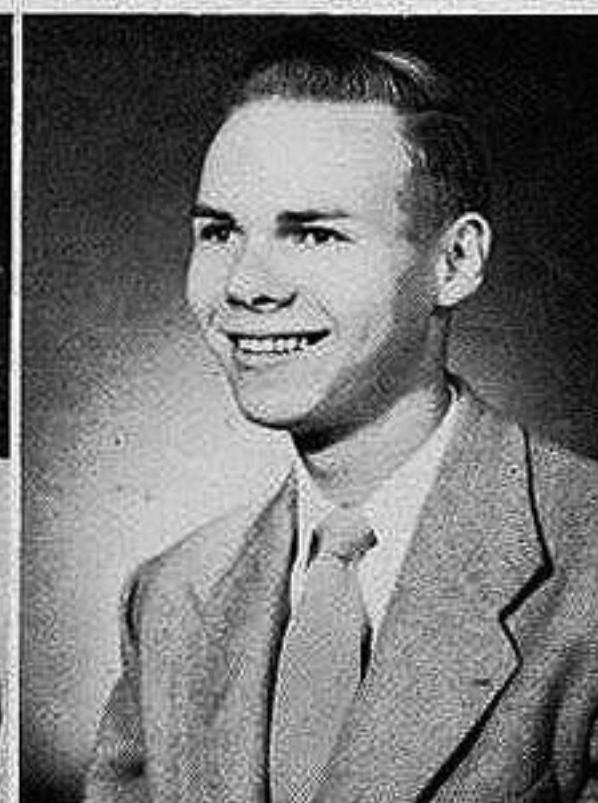

The INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL is composed of the presidents or representatives of the 39 national fraternities on campus. IFC is given the responsibility of conducting fraternity rushing, and it has made an effort to revise the rushing rules to improve the rushing system. Scholarship and conduct standards are also maintained by the IFC, which has the power to discipline offending fraternities and individuals. The IFC seeks to educate fraternity men for citizenship, for social competence and to support the University's objective of intellectual development. Ernest Sherman served as IFC President during the spring and fall quarters.

For half a century Acacia fraternity has made outstanding achievements in the major colleges throughout the United States. Acacians have been distinctive in scholastic accomplishments, campus activities, social recognition and in the field of sports.

Acacia is now a regular college fraternity, but was originally founded by a group of Masonic students at Ann Arbor, Michigan, in 1904. Acacia, like nearly all college fraternities, derives its name from the Greek; however, it goes a step further in that the combined letters have a symbolic meaning. Acacia is further symbolized by the Hellen evergreen, an emblem of the fraternity.

We believe that a well-rounded program is essential in preparing for life outside of college and have endeavored to attain this goal.

ALPHA DELTA PHI

The Alpha Delts relax with trophies and a broken record!

This year's graduating class of Alpha Delta Phi will take with them the best in memories of a well-rounded college and fraternity life. Twenty-three of our members of the class of '51 are found participating in various activities throughout the campus. Some of them are: captain of the track team, commodore of the Varsity Boat Club, president of the Managerial Council, editor of Columns, captain of the swim team, Homecoming Rally chairman, University Stunt chairman, eight big W's, four senior managers and more than a dozen members distributed among Purple Shield, Oval Club, and Phi Beta Kappa. The other classes of Alpha Delta Phi are promising to do just as well, and collectively the chapter has produced a terrific year. Not only did we win the University scholarship cup but five intramural cups as well. Socially the fraternity pulled out one of its biggest social calendars on record. Besides the annual Pledge Dance, Winter Formal, and Spring Picnic, the Alpha Delts held a Christmas Party, a New Year's Eve Dance, a Barn Dance, and an Exchange Dinner Dance with the British Columbia chapter.

4535 17th Ave. N. E.

As the curtain falls over another year of activity, members of AEPi recall all the pleasure and personal satisfaction derived from working and living together, in making their college years, years to be remembered.

The formal dinner dance in honor of the 1950 Pledge Class started the social wheel in progress. It was followed by a maze of activities, including firesides, exchanges, and a host of unique parties. The chapter ranked high scholastically too, and also participated in the intramural program, placing second in their basketball league.

In 1948, Alpha Kappa Lambda rejoined the fraternal ranks at the University. Since that time the fraternity has fielded a team in almost every intramural sport and has enjoyed many fine social functions. Among the yearly social events are the Costume Ball in the fall, the Pajama Dance during winter quarter, and the Spring Formal. Besides these, there are many customary exchanges and firesides along with several beach parties and picnics during the warmer months. Although we enjoy a full social calendar at the Alpha Kappa Lambda house, emphasis is stressed on the fraternity ideals of Christian brotherhood and scholarship, its members becoming leaders as well as participants in many worthy organizations.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI

Mu chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi has been moving right along with the tide of campus activities during the 1950-1951 school year. Twenty-seven pledges were added at the start of the fall term to aid the chapter in one of its most successful years.

Highlights included the pledge dance in October followed by the Barn Dance in November with numerous exchanges and firesides mixed in between. The Alpha Sig-Tri Delt serenade was an outstanding success of the pre-Christmas serenading. The winter formal held at the Olympic Bowl in January was very impressive. The house party in the spring completed a full social year.

The house again combined with Alpha Gamma Delta to defend its songfest mixed groups championship in the spring.

The Alpha Sigs made one of the most impressive gains in scholastic standings during the year.

In Husky sports and intramural play, Mu chapter represented itself quite well.

Up at the Alpha Tau Omega house, the feeling was "What's going to happen" after the school year 1950-51, just as it was in other houses north of the campus. But that didn't detract from the usual scholastic and social activities that ATO's enjoy every year.

Taus were active politically, athletically, and socially on the campus; they were integral in nearly every phase of activity or function.

As for the house as a group, pledges and actives alike participated in all the major intramural sports, and were always favorably represented in such events as Songfest, Sophomore Carnival, and Homecoming.

Internally, the house did well with a sizable, promising pledge class. In years to come, these freshmen will well be able to carry on the fine traditions behind them.

So with the end of the school year in sight, Alpha Tau Omega expresses the hope that is doubtless felt by all the respective fraternities around Greek row—that for everybody it will be "Doors open, business as usual" when UW begins again in fall, 1951.

BETA THETA PI

This year Beta Theta Pi celebrated the closing of its first fifty years on the Washington campus by playing host to all other Northwest Beta chapters in the annual fraternity songfest, held at the Civic Auditorium.

The Betas started the past year off by winning eight varsity football letters and four frosh football numerals, while sweeping to the all-university intramural football championship. From the fall pledge class emerged the freshman class president. Among the other campus positions filled by the Betas were president of Big-W Club, captain of the swimming team, secretary of the Associated Men Students, and vice-president of the sophomore class.

Probably the fraternity's outstanding undertaking of the year was the "Beta Cup," greater-Northwest high school invitational ski meet. Teams from a 1000-mile radius were attracted to the event, the most successful of its kind ever held in this region. This meet has now become an annual affair, and its great success reflects the over-all spirit and enthusiasm within the fraternity.

A sure-fire crowd pleaser was the Chi Phi Homecoming sign, which featured a number of pantomimes to the accompaniment of popular records of this and other years.

As a chapter of Chi Phi, the first social fraternity founded still in existence, Beta Delta is proud to carry on the tradition of a conservative national organization. With numerous social activities, the high point of the year is the annual Chi Phi Court of Honor Queen Contest which is climaxed by the coronation of the Queen at the Winter Formal. We, of Chi Phi, feel that the keynote of fraternalism is the brotherhood of man with diversified majors. Our goal is to help mold well-rounded individuals who are able to maintain themselves both socially and intellectually.

The Delta Sigs started the year in September with numerous and varied activities planned. After a very successful Rush Week we concentrated on Homecoming, directing attention to the Homecoming sign and the alumni-sponsored dance. Next came the Pledge-Active dance, where our most energetic pledge class presented the house with their pledge project. The dance was a costume affair supporting a Mardi-Gras theme. Fall Quarter came to an end with Christmas caroling with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Early in January sixteen men were initiated—an unusually high percentage of the pledge class making their grades. The new Actives got into the swing of things by taking various committee posts and offices within the house.

The highlight of Winter Quarter was our Sailors' Dance, one of the most colorful dances annually held by all the chapters of Delta Sigma Phi.

In spring the Carnation Ball, the formal dinner dance of the year, was held, and the Delta Sig Sweetheart was chosen and presented with the Sweetheart Pin. Last of the year's activities was the annual cruise which took place in May.

The members of Delta Sigma Phi look forward to returning to Washington and Alpha Omega, where the bond of friendship is close.

The uncertainty of world affairs stimulated Chi Psi to one of the best of its 29 years at Washington.

The big athletic event for the Lodge, the traditional football game with Zeta Psi for the Theta lamp, resulted in our retaining the trophy for the third consecutive year with a rousing 25-6 victory.

The annual Spring Formal at the Seattle Tennis Club climaxed a fine social calendar. Serenades, exchanges, parties and the perennial favorites, the Hunter's Frolic, the Pledge Dance and the spring extravaganza, the Roman Holiday, supplied most of the good times.

Despite the heavy social and campus activity, the brothers compiled an impressive scholastic average.

Honoring the pledges, the annual pledge dance at the "Lodge" was a colorful affair enjoyed by all.

In one of the big games of the Intramural football season, the Chi Psis meet the Zeta Psis on a muddy field.

The Washington Chapter of Delta Chi has enjoyed another well-rounded year of activities. The fraternity has fielded successful teams in all the intramural sports and has been very well represented on campus. The whole house was very proud of our Homecoming sign which took second place this year.

Delta Chi, originally founded as a law fraternity, now is made up of majors in almost every field. We have tried to give something extra in the way of living quarters, fellowship, recreation, and the advantages of a fraternity to a group of young men striving for a better education.

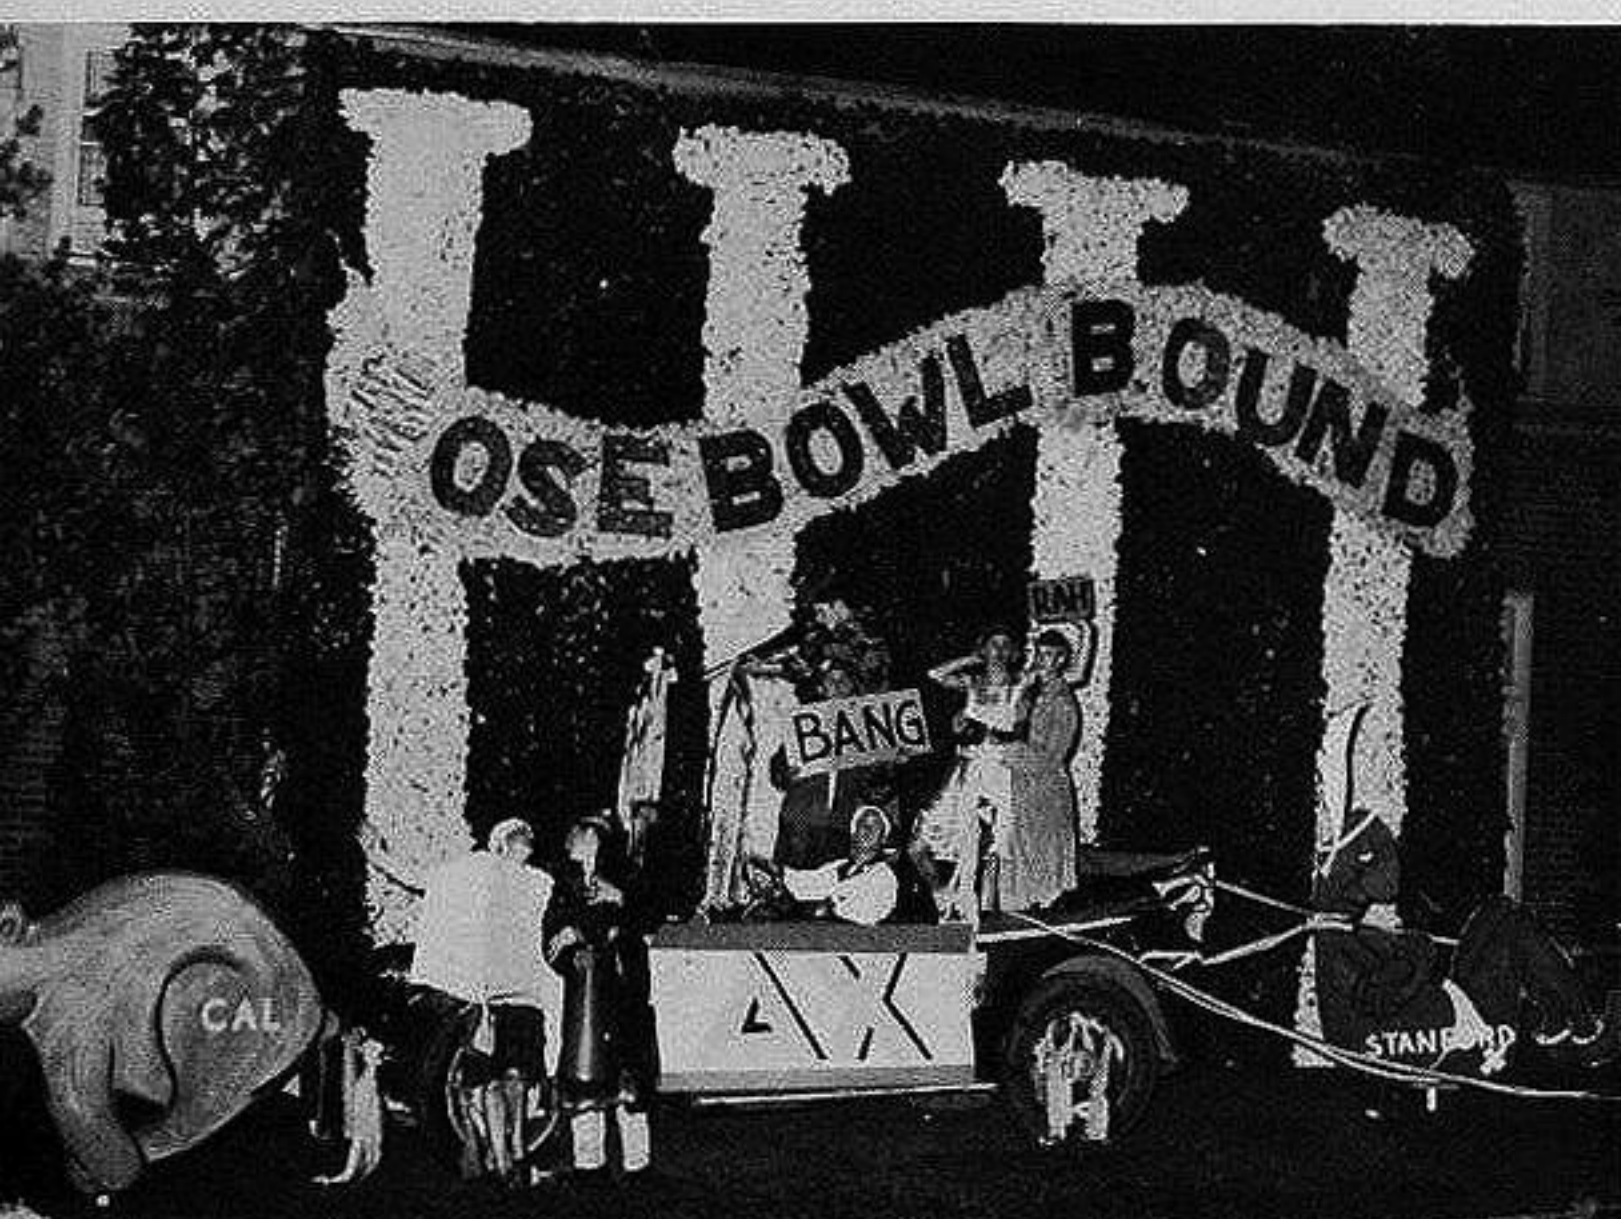

The social highlights of the year were the annual Delta Chi Winter Formal, Pledge Dance, and the weekend house party in the spring. Along with these, many enjoyable evenings were spent at firesides and exchanges. Alumni and actives gathered together at the annual Founders Day Banquet to renew old friendships and create new ones.

During those off hours Delta Chis gathered together in the warmth and genuine comfort of the Washington chapter house and discussed the happenings of the past and of the future.

Everything from milk bottles to saucepans were used to drink the "punch" at the Deke's "Hard Times" party.

Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity was founded in 1844 at Yale University. Through the succeeding 107 years, it has grown to include 50 chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

Kappa Epsilon chapter, now in its fortieth year on the Washington campus, rode the heights during the 1950-51 year to add another outstanding year to Delta Kappa Epsilon's fine record of achievements. Winner of the Scholarship Improvement Cup, Delta Kappa Epsilon's participation in campus activities during the past year has also been rewarded by members being elected to the Big "W" Club, Malamutes, Varsity Boat Club, Scabbard and Blade, Purple Shield, and I.F.C. offices.

Highlights of the social side of "Deke" life this past year were the big "Informal Dance," the Alumni Homecoming get-together, the Christmas Party given for the Seattle Children's Home, and the Spring Formal.

Since its founding nearly one hundred years ago at Bethany College, Virginia, Delta Tau Delta has grown in size, strength, and principle. Today more than eighty chapters at colleges and universities throughout North America and Canada represent Delt and what it stands for.

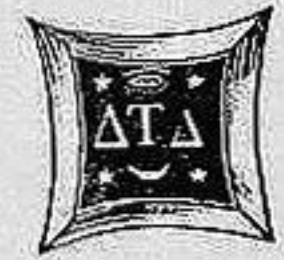

This year, as in every year, we at Washington have endeavored, with the help of our strong and progressive national, to keep up with the times. Sound principles have made Delt a stable and mature fraternity, commanding a respected position in the Greek world, both socially and academically. Delta Tau Delta has made our college year a success to be treasured the rest of our lives.

Gathered around the piano, several of the members get together in an informal "jam session."

This year has been quite an eventful one for Delta Upsilon in every respect. The winning of the homecoming sign contest, followed closely by a second place in all-University flag football competition during fall quarter were harbingers of the success enjoyed during the year in campus competition and intramural sports. D. U. was also represented in the major sports, having men on the football, basketball, baseball and track rosters.

The social calendar was well rounded and complete—featuring the annual, mildly sensational, "Brawl," and the winter formal.

The house itself on 45th Street with completely new "blond" furniture in every room and with the last old basement room converted into a streamlined game room and hall of fame for prominent D.U.'s on the campus, has the distinction of being one of the best in the nation.

KAPPA SIGMA

Spirits were high and glasses, too, as the Kappa Sigs drink a "7-up" toast.

Beta Phi Chapter of Kappa Sigma points with pride to forty-eight years of outstanding success on the University of Washington campus. The chapter has been among the top ten men's organizations in scholarship for the past ten years and last year we ranged fifth on the scholarship list. Like their brothers before, this year's Kappa Sigs did a top notch job of rushing and added to the brotherhood many pledges who immediately became active on committees at the HUB, athletics, and intramural sports. In intramural sports, the chapter has won the boxing trophy for six years in a row, and is well represented in such organizations as: Malamutes, Purple Shield, Scabbard and Blade, Varsity Boat Club, Phi Beta Kappa, and many others. Socially, novelty costume dances and weekend ski parties have lent spice to the traditional chapter social program which includes the annual pledge dance, Stardust Ball, and the Spring Informal, together with a number of sorority exchanges and numerous fireside parties.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Representing one of the nation's largest fraternities, Alpha Psi Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha finished a fine year of activities and scholastic achievement.

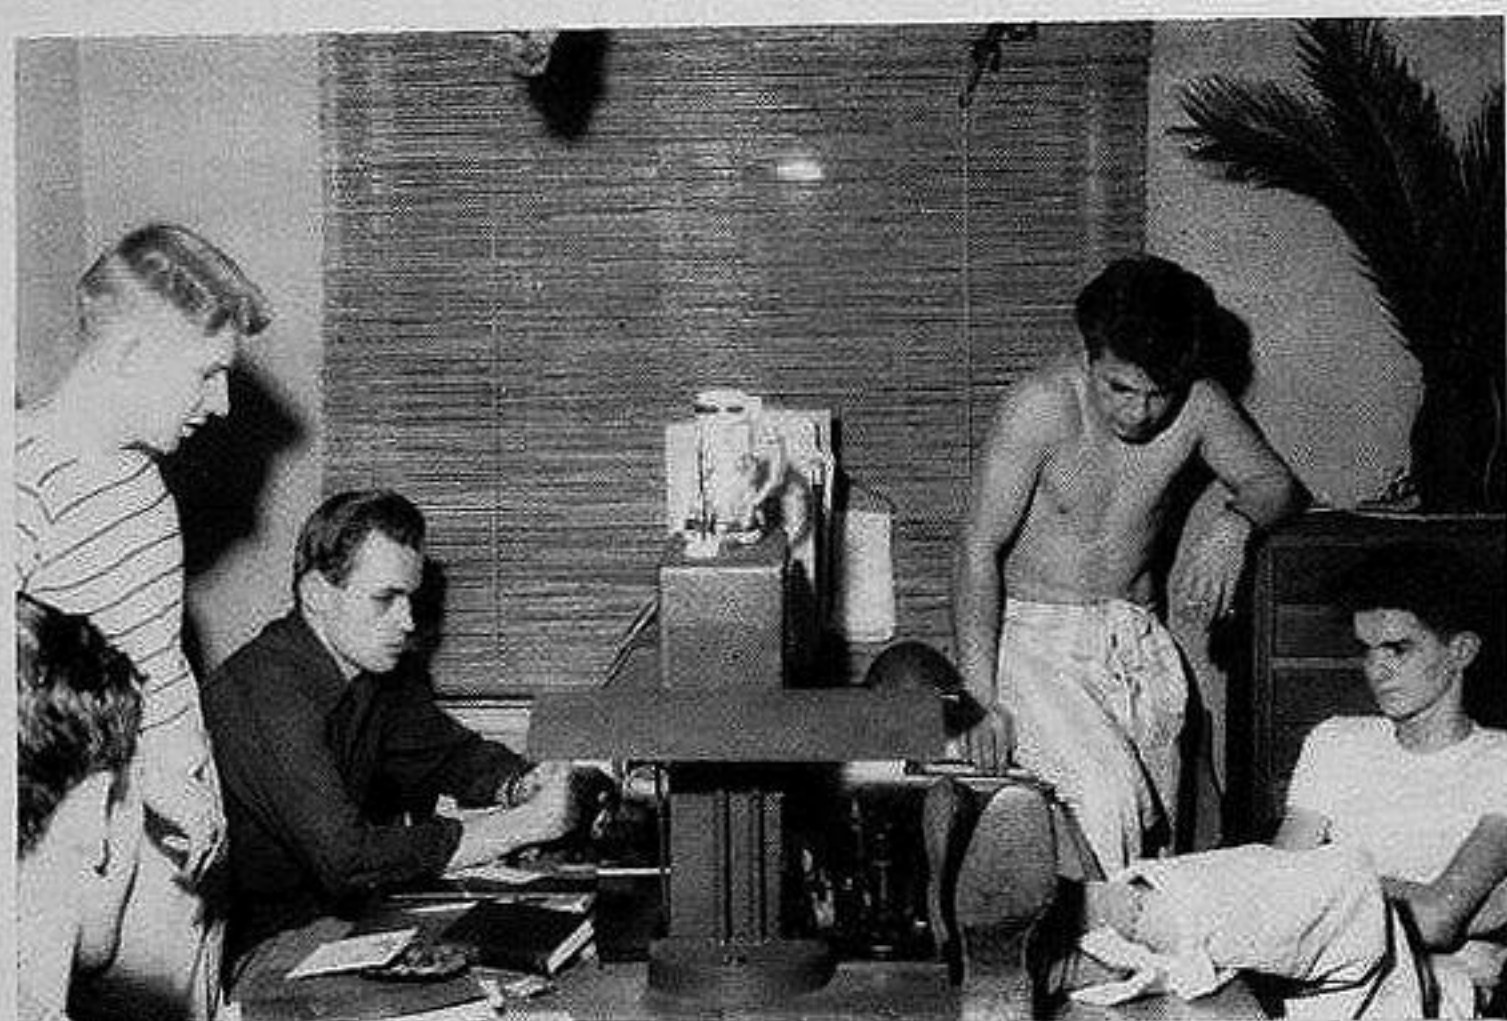

Lambda Chis boosted the house grade point to finish sixth among Washington fraternities in the academic standings. Our house members found their way into most University activities including Big-W Club, Oval Club, Purple Shield, Malemutes, and many others.

Our full social calendar included all the annual events—three outstanding dances, firesides, the weekend house party, hay ride and barn dance, and exchanges. Other house activities and intramural sports gave the active members and the twenty-four new pledges plenty to do when they weren't studying.

With all these factors working for us we will continue to create a bond of friendship within our fraternity and help maintain our chapter's record within the school and among college fraternities.

The radio and a basketball score bring a moment of silence to one of the frequent "bull sessions."

Chairman of the AMS Fist Fest, CARL LOVSTED, at right, gets a lesson in the Hula from PET DERRICOTT, during the Fist Fest intermission.

Washington Alpha of Phi Delta Theta has just completed one of the most successful years in its fifty years of existence at the University. Outstanding representation was accomplished in the fields of campus activities such as athletics, student offices, and scholarship.

Many members gained recognition in various capacities throughout the campus activities, such as junior class president, AMS secretary, and president of junior IFC.

In sports, Phi Deltas were also just as active in football, basketball, varsity and J.V. crew; and seven lettermen in track.

House activities including social functions were highlighted by the annual Christmas Party for orphans followed by a serenade. The Beta-Phi Delt Pajama Dance, Winter Formal at the Olympic Bowl, Miami Triad, and Bowery Brawl rounded out Phi Delta Theta's activity calendar.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

The Fijis show considerable fraternity spirit and ingenuity in their campaigning in the University elections.

A "good time was had by all" at the Phi Gamma Delta formal dinner-dance.

Fijis at the University mark 1951 as one of their most eventful years. Varsity and frosh athletics were well sprinkled throughout the year with men from the Sigma Tau chapter of Phi Gamma Delta. On the intramural scene, the Cannibals—in name only—surged with prowess to protect their trophies. Socially, the Fijis really scored, particularly in spring quarter. In an effort to stem complaints against their fall coldness, the Fijis held their annual Grass Skirt dance in spring this year. Uniqueness of the affair is marked by both men and women wearing grass skirts made by brothers in the fraternity. Brothers returning in fall, 1951, have already laid plans for continuing the success of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at the University of Washington.

PHI KAPPA PSI

This year has been another outstanding year for Phi Kappa Psi. Major events taken in their stride, the Phi Psi's continue to gather around the radio, fireplace, or maybe a card table and hash out the events of the day. Thus does Phi Psi boast of congeniality and sincere friendship enhanced by the appropriateness of the chapter house interior—that of warmth and genuine comfort.

In more active moments, men of Phi Psi are engaged in varsity sports, campus activities, and intramural sports to name a few. Although active participation in so many fields takes time and "all-out" effort, studying is given its due attention with a large portion of each day set aside for that purpose.

Combining seriousness with gaiety, work with play, Phi Kappa Psi embodies a well integrated group of men conscientious in their ideals.

Several of the brothers and their dates gather on the stairs in the Phi Psi house at the winter informal.

Even with the echoes of war in the background, the Skull house enjoyed a successful and well-rounded school year.

Members of Phi Kappa Sigma were prominent in all phases of campus activities, several holding offices in various organizations on campus, while others were out earning letters in varsity sports. Intramurally, the Skulls were table-tennis finalists, and they defended their basketball crown.

The pledge dance at the Seattle Tennis Club, the Winter Formal at the Seattle Golf and Country Club, the "All-Go-to-Hell" informal dance, and the spring House Party at Lake Quinalt formed the nucleus of a full social calendar.

1951 marks Lambda Deuteron's twenty-eighth year as a representative of Phi Sigma Kappa on the University of Washington campus. The Grand Chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa, founded in 1873 at Massachusetts State College, Amherst, Massachusetts, has grown to include seventy-three chapters spread from coast to coast.

Stressing Phi Sigma Kappa's Cardinal Principles, The Promotion of Brotherhood, Stimulation of Scholarship and Development of Character, Phi Sigs have taken an active part in campus life. Highlights of the Phi Sig social calendar during the past year included the annual "Moonlight Girl" formal dinner-dance, the Winter Quarter Pledge Dance, the unique Sunrise Dance held late in Spring quarter plus a number of successful exchanges, firesides and cruises. An emphasis upon scholarship has resulted in Phi Sigma Kappa consistently ranking above the all-men's average at the University.

Following the Cardinal Principles laid down by its founders, Phi Sigma Kappa will strive to meet whatever challenge the future may offer.

Beta Beta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, one of 100 chapters throughout the nation, passed through the 1950-51 season with its usual active social calendar. Our annual Dream Girl Dance this year honored Marilyn Dillon, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1950 Dream Girl. Other functions, such as the Underworld Party, Frontier Daze Dance, Shipwreck Dance and Pledge Dance have established a feeling of brotherhood among the members which is not easily shaken. Every two months the Pi Kaps hold a "party" down at the King County Blood Bank. This function, just established this year, exemplifies the type of organization which we strive to maintain. First emphasis, of course, is on scholarship, but along with this we want to establish friendly relations, not only among the members but also with all University students. The several exchanges which we held throughout the year helped a great deal in establishing this friendship. Above all, we want Pi Kappa Alpha to be a home away from home for its members, with a pleasant, congenial atmosphere prevailing at all times.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The annual "Dream Girl Dance" is a dance many on the campus look forward to for the results of the queen contest. Marilyn Dillon was the 1950 Dream Girl.

ΠΚΑ

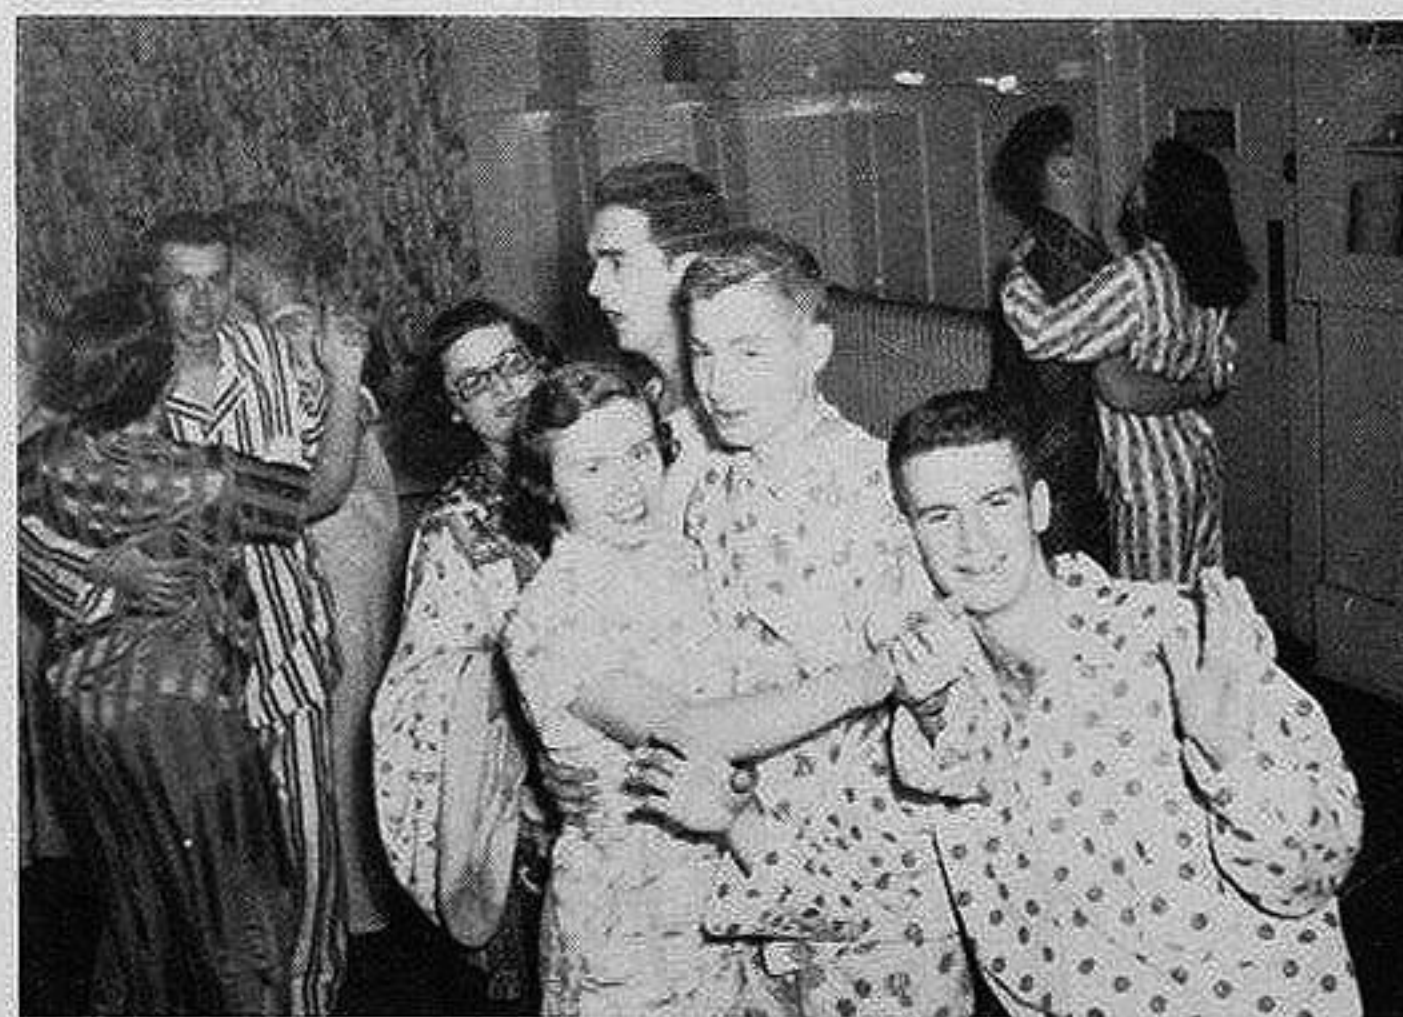

Alpha Delta of Pi Kappa Phi, established at the University of Washington in 1924, believes that a small fraternity is most conducive to a friendly, more intimate group of men.

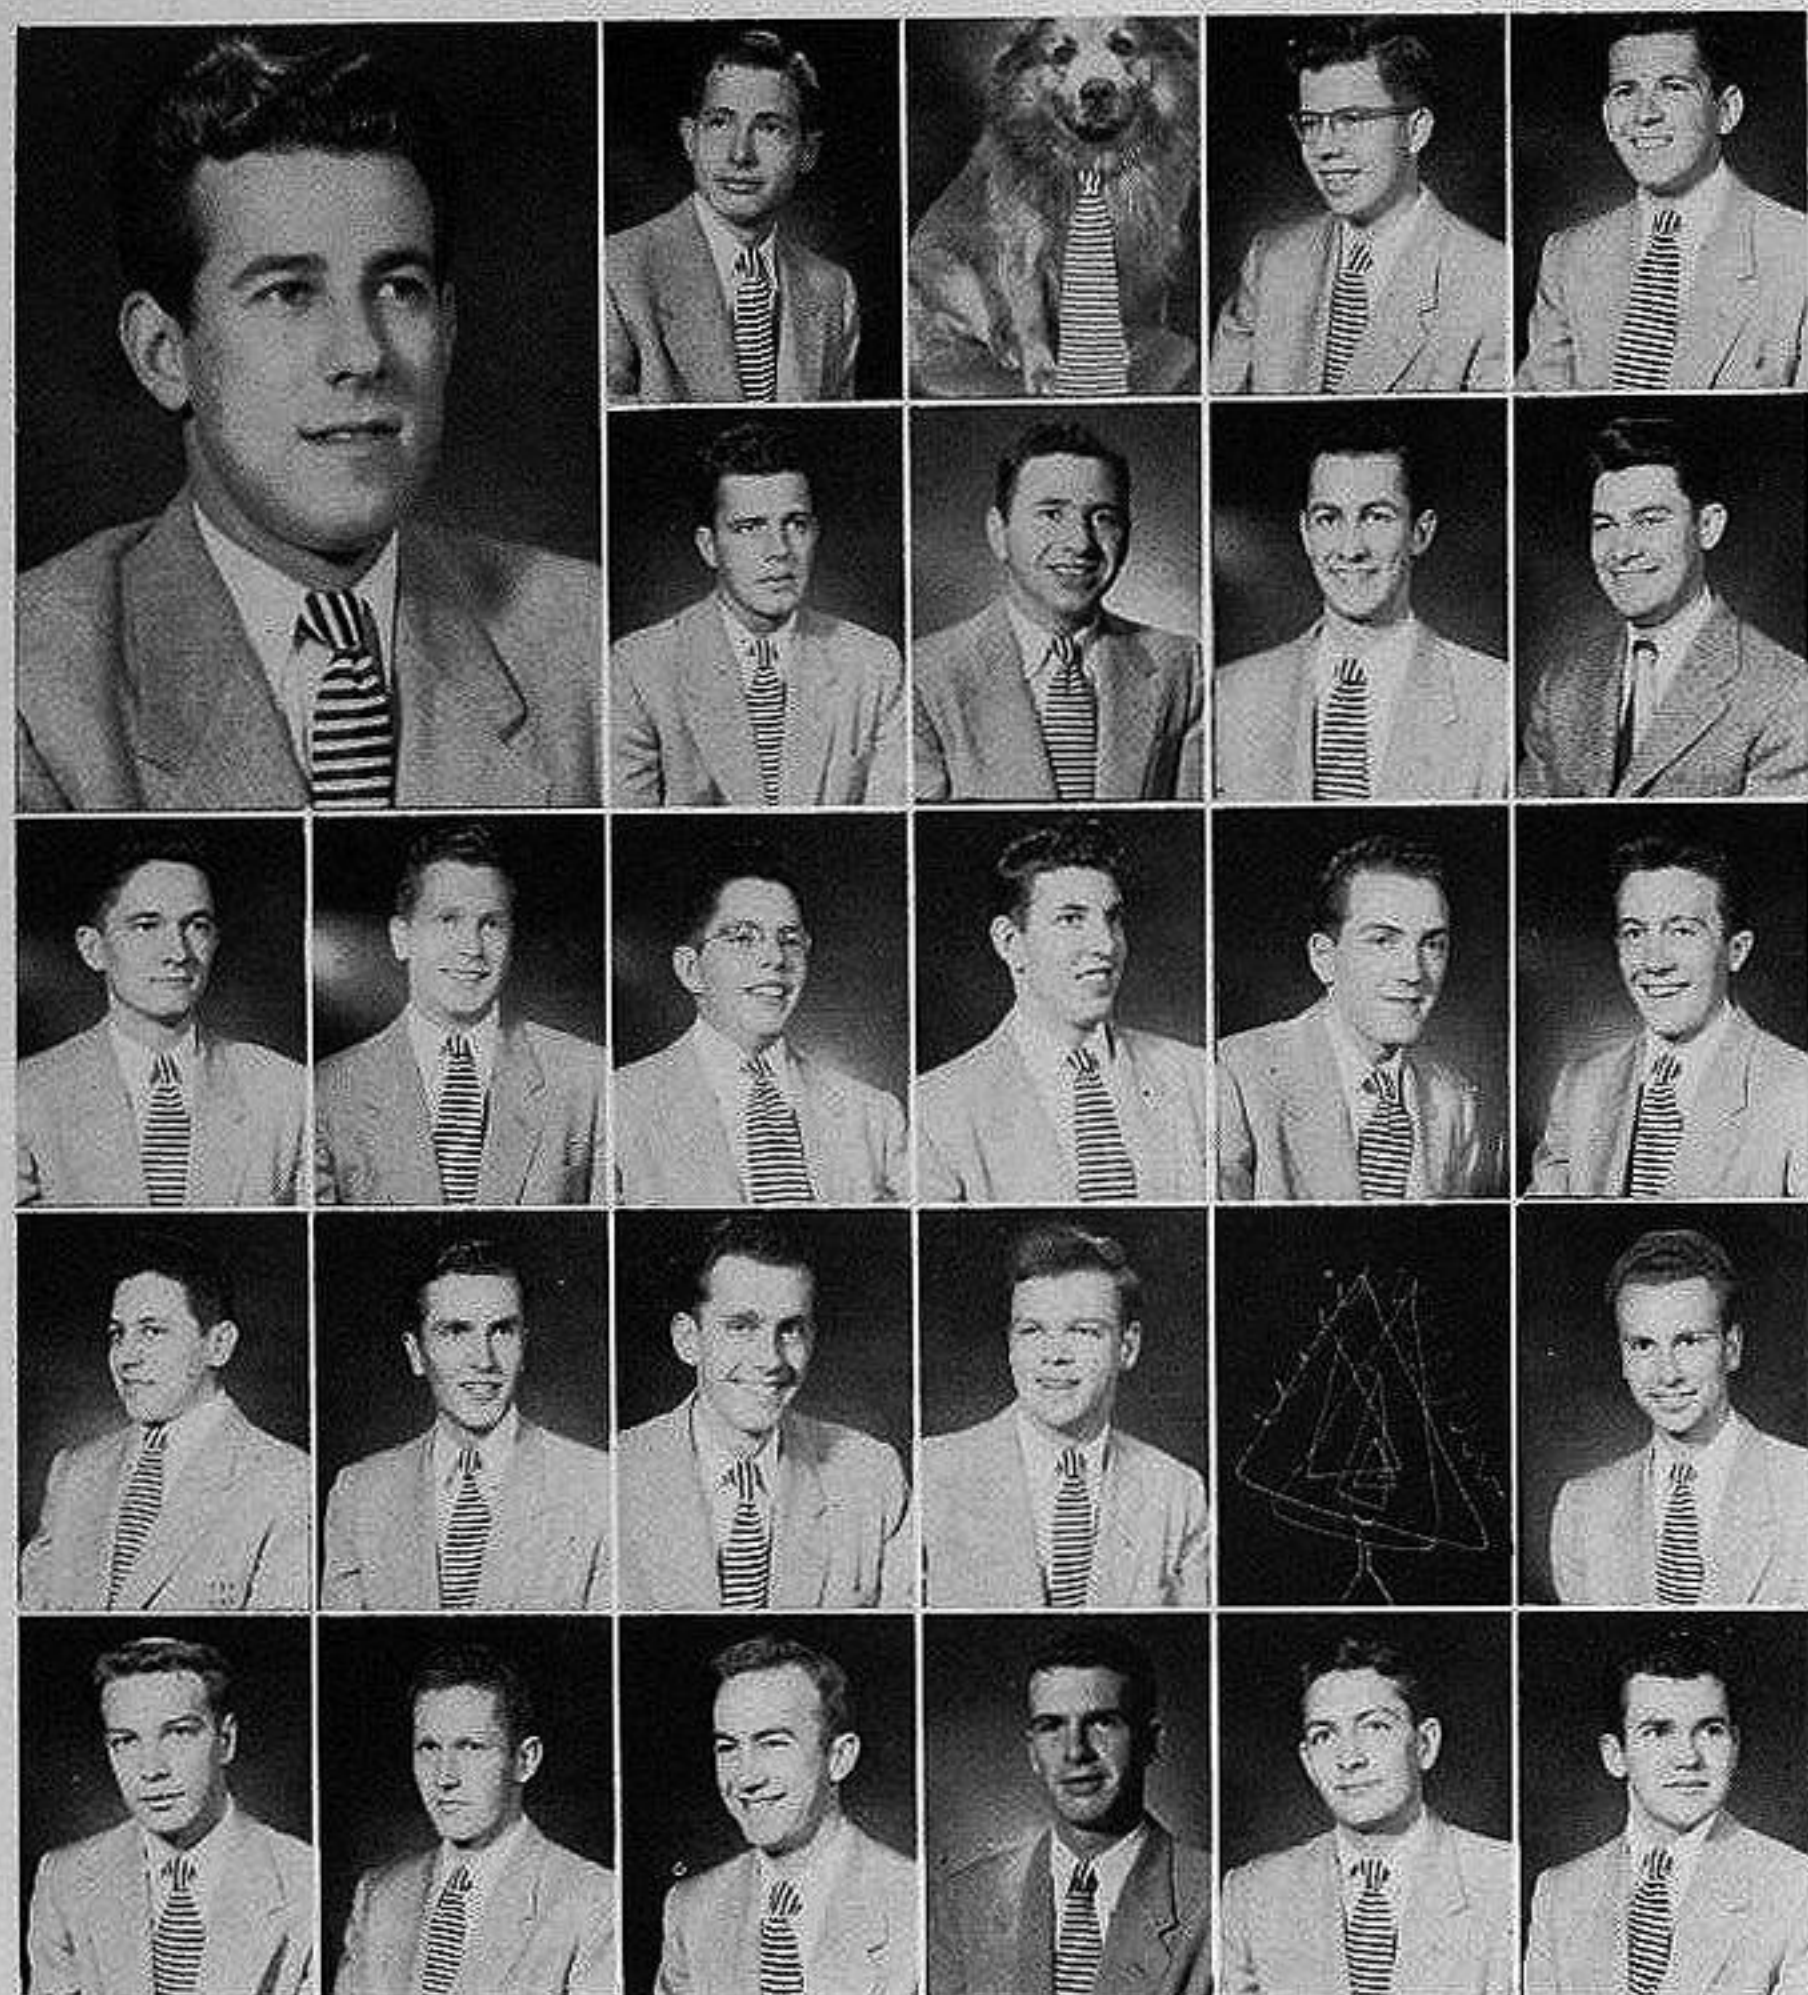

Pi Kapps maintain that the major portion of a member's time should be spent studying. We are proud to be able to say that, as a result of this, our grade point average has in the past been consistently above that of the all men's average.

The social and extra-curricular activities each year is thoroughly enjoyed by all our members. This year we began our activities with a very successful Homecoming banquet. The banquet was followed by a series of firesides, exchanges, the pledge dance and a hard times party.

The year was climaxed by the formal Rose Ball, an event to which all the members looked forward. This marked the end of another successful Pi Kapp year at the University.

Polka dots and stripes predominated at the Pi Kapp pajama party.

Sigma Alpha Mu members will long remember the 1950-51 school year. It not only marks Sigma Nu chapter's 25th year on the University of Washington campus, but also the dedication of our beautiful new modernistic chapter house, a tribute to our hard working alumni club.

Spirit has been running high this year. Under the direction of an able council composed of Ernest Sherman, Rolfe Becker, and Joe Rogel, Sigma Alpha Mu has done much to retain its high reputation on campus.

Always active in athletics, Sigma Alpha Mu fielded powerful teams in football, basketball, softball, tennis, and horseshoes. High scorer, Harley Geller, has paced the chapter's bowling to two AMS Bowling League championships.

Having participated actively in all phases of University life, Sigma Alpha Mu looks back on this past year with pride, and looks forward to future years with eagerness.

Highlights of the year at Psi U included the traditional Pledge Dance, Winter Formal, Beachcombers Brawl, and the newly initiated Spring Informal. The Yule Season brought with it another of our Christmas parties for 30 orphans of the Seattle Children's Home. Assisting with the entertainment were the girls of the Alpha Phi Sorority. The appearance of the noted singer, Burl Ives, topped the evening. This year saw nearly half of our members engaged in University activities and athletics. The Intramural Sports program received the same enthusiastic support from the fraternity. In September, Psi U was proud to announce the pledging of 24 outstanding men. By Spring we had considerably increased the number.

The SAE's are usually a friendly group, but occasionally a couple of the boys "mix it up" in their own version of the Fist Fest, for the entertainment of the brothers.

Participation in a great many campus activities has marked 1950-51 as another successful year in the "big house," at the north-east corner of 45th and "Greek Row." Washington Alpha chapter members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon have continued to rank highly in their respective fields.

SAE's placed on football, basketball, track, baseball, swimming, golf and volleyball teams. The Columns, Daily and Tyee staffs included brothers, as did Big "W" club, Oval club, Purple Shield, Malamutes, Fir Tree, Interfraternity Council, Journalism and Advertising honoraries, and many committees.

In addition to all-University activities, SAE entered wholeheartedly into intramural sports, winning the billiards trophy for the second straight year, and placing well in others; and the chapter conducted an exceptionally full social program.

SIGMA CHI

What a wonderful world this world would be if these seven finalists in the Sweetheart contest were all housemothers.

In a fraternity where spirit and achievement is traditional, Sigma Chi, at Washington, has added to its rich heritage a year of outstanding accomplishments. Top honors were garnered by the Sigs in the University's Sophomore Carnival competition.

Highlighting our social calendar was the annual Sweetheart Ball, with Miss Joan Thackston entering our hearts as Washington's Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. It is proud to note that the growth of Sigma Chi at Washington has been synonymous with the growth of the University of A Thousand Years.

The year, 1896, marked the beginning of fraternity life at Washington. In that year, Edmond S. Meany brought to the University its first national fraternity by aiding in the founding of Gamma Chi Chapter of Sigma Nu. Ever proud of its pioneer inception, Gamma Chi Chapter has remained alert to its responsibilities to Washington, to campus life, and to the men who each year are welcomed into the brotherhood of Sigma Nu.

Sigma Nu is well represented on varsity and frosh football, basketball, baseball, track, skiing, and swimming teams, while maintaining a scholarship standing well above college grade averages.

Gamma Chi Chapter is represented in every phase of campus service by men who, ever mindful of their heritage of leadership, proudly wear the White Star of Sigma Nu.

The Sig Ep's put the finishing touches on their Homecoming Display, a brightly colored float.

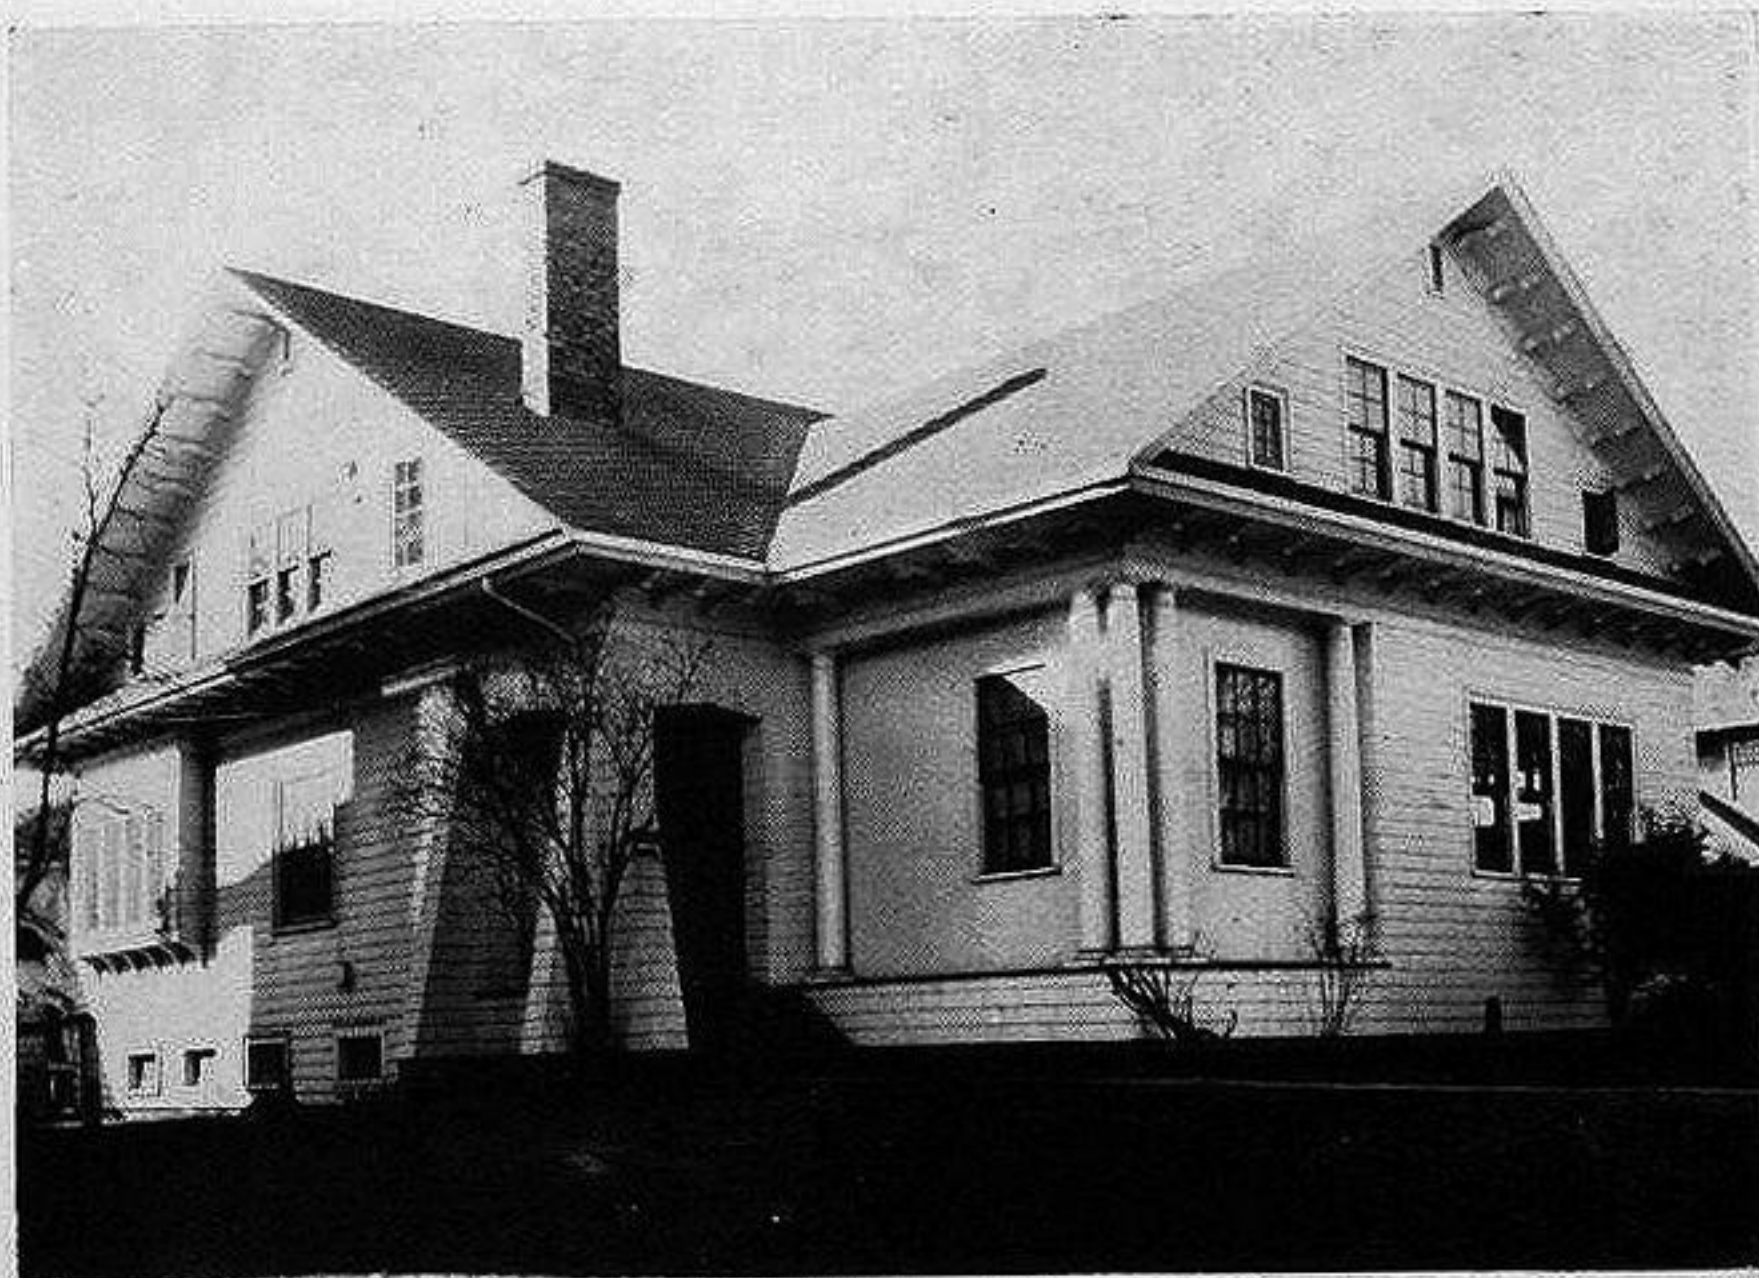

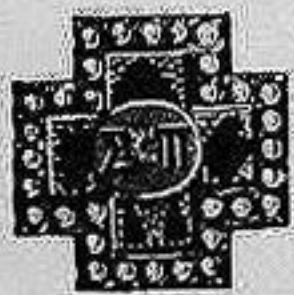

First came the Poverty Ball, next the moonlight cruise on Lake Washington, then as a climax the Spring Formal. Several firesides and exchanges plus beach parties in the Spring rounded out our social season. Of course, we must not forget to mention the Homecoming festivities, one of the biggest and most inspiring active and alumni reunions in years.

But social life is just one side of fraternity life. Throughout the nation our one hundred and eight chapters are emphasizing scholarship. As a memorial recognition of scholastic attainment, the Clifford B. Scott memorial key is presented annually to the active member achieving the highest grade point, and a scholarship plaque hangs in the chapter room inscribed each quarter with the name of the pledge excelling in scholarship.

ΣΦΕ

Sigma Pi has completed a conventional but highly-successful year on campus. We have had a nicely rounded social program, including firesides, exchanges and ski parties. We hold at least one major event per quarter and build the rest of our social program around this. In the fall our Pledge Dance, in the winter our costume dance, and in the spring our Orchid Formal usually provide the springboard around which our program is built.

We have competed in intramural sports as well as maintaining a slightly better than average grade-point. While engaged in all this, we have doubled our membership to a now comfortable margin. We are looking forward to a bigger and better program for next year. But first — ah, yes, vacation, sweet vacation.

This year Tau Kappa Epsilon celebrated the chapter's twenty-fifth anniversary by moving to a new location, 4547 19th Ave. N.E.

Some of the social highlights were the annual pledge dance at the El Cenar, the "Teke-Totalar" at the Mercer Island Clubhouse, and the Spring Formal at the Inglewood Country Club.

A number of Tekes were active in all phases of campus activities. And their intramural teams placed second in both basketball and horse-shoes. Also, they placed second in the ensembles division in Songfest. Scholarship is not neglected either, the Tekes maintaining high scholarship standing among the fraternities.

Smiling faces all around indicate an enjoyable evening for all at the Tau Phi Delta Informal.

Nearing the completion of almost a quarter-century, Tau Phi Delta takes pride in its past events and activities. The social calendar began with the annual Homecoming Dance, which was regarded by many alums to be the "best ever." Other social functions included a Christmas Party, winter formal, various exchanges, with the Spring Picnic rounding out the year.

Scholarship has always been an important matter with Tau Phi Delta, and they point with pride to their record and to the trophies which adorn their mantle.

4535 17th Ave. N.E.

Theta Chi has participated in another year of well-rounded activities on the Washington campus.

Besides playing prominent roles in student government and in varsity athletics, men of Theta Chi have carried on an active social program. The fraternity's outstanding social functions—the Bowery Brawl, the Sophomore Informal, the spring House party and the Spring Formal—were staged in traditional fashion. Theta Chi efforts won honorable mention in the annual Homecoming sign competition.

Scholarship rates equally high with the men of Theta Chi, perpetual cups being presented to the top member of each class every spring.

Theta Chi's intramural athletes won the all-fraternity volleyball championship during fall quarter after defending the all-University waterbasketball title last spring.

Prominent alumni from Alpha Rho chapter which was founded at Washington in 1925 include Senator Warren G. Magnuson and Husky frosh basketball coach Bill Morris.

Believing it takes students from all walks of University life to make a well-rounded organization, Theta Chi is constantly aiding those seeking to make their college life more complete through membership in a fraternity.

This past year has found Xi Deuteron of Theta Delta Chi in a healthy state of confusion, the reason being the construction of our new wing and the remodeling of our old house. No one minded the inconveniences and all are well pleased with the finished results.

The year's social highlights were the Pledge Formal, the annual Singapore Sling costume dance and the Spring Formal, held in the house shortly after it was completed.

Scholarship was high and again put us in the top ten on campus. Many Theta Deltas are represented in various honoraries.

Athletics found us participating in all intramural sports, with one of the few unmarred records of no forfeits. Theta Delta Chi was also represented this year in varsity crew, swimming and volleyball.

At the Theta Delta Chi costume dance, intermission found several of the couples relaxing over a cup of punch.

The men of Theta Xi had an eventful and well-rounded year. They participated in all phases of campus and fraternity life and held many enjoyable social functions at the spacious brick house on Eighteenth.

Theta Xi's were active in Malamutes, Big W Club, Columns, Tyee, and Daily, Alpha Delta Sigma, Sigma Delta Chi, Phi Beta Kappa, Compass and Chart, Scabbard and Blade, Song and Stunt Night, and intramural and intercollegiate athletics. The TX crew set a new record in bringing the intramural crew trophy to the chapter library, while Leo Lokovsek and Dick McIntyre played varsity football.

Outstanding dances included the annual Pledge Dance, the traditional Loggers' Brawl, the memorable Winter Formal, and the delightful Spring Informal. Numerous exchanges and firesides rounded out the Theta Xi social calendar.

Our fraternity's thirty-fifth year at Washington has been an eventful one. But after activities and parties are long forgotten, the past year will be remembered by Theta Xi's for the lasting friendships formed in the fraternity's congenial atmosphere. And they will think of membership in Theta Xi—with its bull sessions, its informal get-togethers, and its close friendships—as an integral part of their college days.

4626 21st Ave. N. E.

The coming of summer will bring to close one of the most successful years ever enjoyed by Zeta Beta Tau. After returning to a refurnished and repainted home the members of ZBT settled right down in their activities. Our members have won recognition on campus by participation in athletics, campus organizations, University committees and scholastic honoraries. The house placed second among the men's entries in the Sophomore Carnival with the ingenious creation of a human typewriter. Zeta Beta Tau has entered teams in all of the intramural leagues and was one of the few houses to go through the year without a forfeit.

The social season has been our finest in years. With the members enjoying at least one dance a month plus firesides and exchanges our social calendar was one of the fullest on campus.

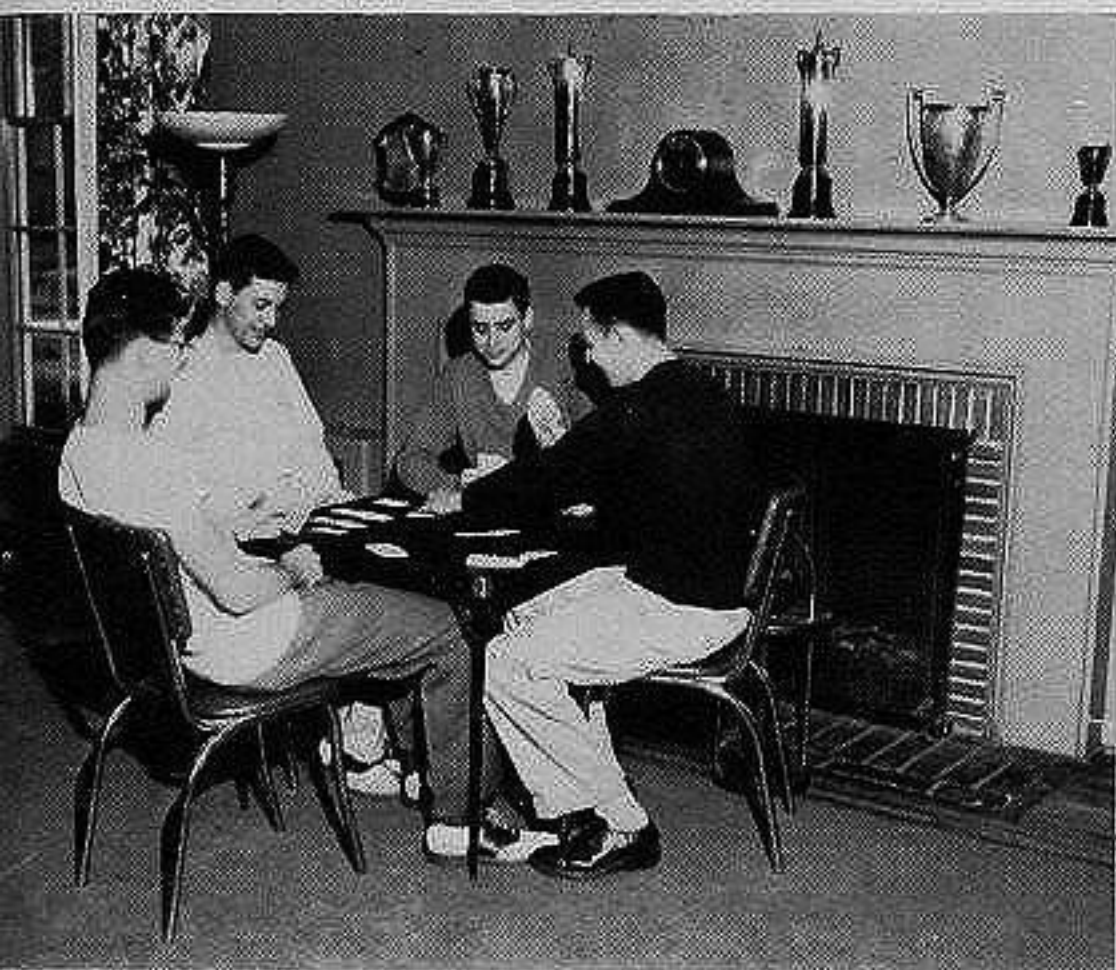

As a climax to our fine year the members celebrated the end of the quarter by our traditional Orchid Formal held at the Olympic Hotel. This event featuring the selection of our Orchid Sweetheart has received national recognition throughout our chapters for a number of years.

With one eye on next year and the eye on the world situation we of Zeta Beta Tau pray for peaceful years throughout the world, and hope for another successful year on the University of Washington campus.

ZETA BETA TAU

A large group of members and their dates turned out for the Zeta Beta Tau formal.

A game of bridge helps to kill the afternoon for a few of the boys. Displayed on the mantle are a number of the house's trophies.

The Pi Lambda chapter of Zeta Psi, the ninth national fraternity, founded at N.Y.U. in 1847, was the 24th offspring of the national founded here in 1920.

A variety of social functions throughout the year saw two costume parties, the Harum Scarum in the fall and the Mardi Gras in the spring. Other more informal functions and parties were spotted during the year. The evening of the Winter Formal held at the Olympic Bowl in the Olympic Hotel was climaxed when Brother Bill Horsfall's fiancée, flown here from her home in San Francisco, was presented to him to his complete surprise.

Christmas time saw the Zetes playing host to some twenty-five underprivileged children, entertaining them with acts, songs, movies, refreshments, and gifts of clothing for practical use. The kids really enjoyed themselves, and the Brothers had such a good time themselves that they made the rounds of sororities singing Christmas carols and adding some humorous notes of cheer with their "Brass Band."

The Zetes were active in all phases of campus life with Brothers elected to Malamutes, Purple Shield, Varsity Boat Club, Big "W" Club and Oval Club as well as having an active participation in other ASUW and campus activities. With the school year coming to a close, the Zetes are looking forward to reuniting with their Brothers after the summer vacation to begin another grand and successful year.

INDEPENDENT LIVING GROUPS

THE WOMEN'S RESIDENCE HALLS—Austin, Blaine, Leary, and McKee—afford a place of pleasant living and compatibility among 450 University women. Congeniality and camaraderie are distinctive of each hall in which girls of various nationalities and in all majors enjoy living together in a cooperative fashion.

Entering University freshmen are immediately taken in by opportunities and surroundings of the Northwest—weather, studies, and most of all, party time!

Picnic parties round the 'ole hearth fire are favorite settings to talk over weekend dates, good times, and snap courses.

An ear for good music is all that is needed when the strumming of ukuleles begins. It is the signal for study time to cease and for recess time to commence.

A wandering photographer is apt to catch such a familiar scene as this after a hearty meal, a strenuous day of study, or perhaps during the scheduled relaxation hour before bed.

THE INTER-HALL COUNCIL is composed of representatives from each of the four Women's Residence Halls. The council's purpose is two-fold in that it acts not only as a coordinating body but also as a governing body. Its program promotes coordinated campus and group activities and formulates hall policies and procedures with an endeavor to secure the greatest benefit and fullest enjoyment of group participation and group living.

THE INDEPENDENT WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION draws its membership from all independent women living groups on campus. A council acts as the central coordinating body of the IWA, planning the association's activities and endeavoring to find a place for all independent women in campus activities. All independent residence groups are coordinated by this body; non-residents who wish to affiliate are provided with associate memberships.

INDEPENDENT WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Wesley House, founded in 1935, is a living group sponsored by the Methodist Church for college girls of Methodist preference. It is affiliated with the campus through the Independent Women's Association.

This year the girls were fortunate in having girls from Germany, China, Philippines, and Canada living with them.

Although they are a separate group, they participate in Wesley Club's functions as well as having many of their own.

Swedish Hospital

SCHOOL OF NURSING SWEDISH DIVISION

I solemnly pledge myself . . . The beginning of a profession that brings to its members a combination of satisfaction and security, a profession that is a world within a world—Nursing.

Before entering a hospital division each student has completed 104 credits, which consist of both classes on campus and work at the hospital.

The Swedish Hospital is one of the divisions in which students receive clinical experience supplemented by doctors' lectures and clinics. In order to increase their knowledge of specialties, students affiliate with Children's Orthopedic Hospital, Firland Sanatorium, Northern State Hospital, and the Visiting Nurse Service.

During off-duty hours, student nurses take part in University activities, parties, formals, picnics, and spend considerable time "gabbing" with friends.

EKLIND HALL

King County Hospital

SCHOOL OF NURSING HARBORVIEW DIVISION

After two and one-half years of study on campus, the pre-nursing student chooses the hospital in which she will take her training. She may choose either Swedish or King County Hospital.

For three months she spends two days a week at the hospital, as a pre-clinical student. It is during this period that she learns the hospital routine and has the opportunity to decide if she and nursing are compatible. At the end of these three months she is capped in an unforgettable ceremony.

During the remaining two and one-half years of training she receives experience in all the fields of nursing including other University teaching units—Firland for tuberculosis, Northern State Hospital for Psychiatric experience, and the Seattle and King County Department of Public Health Nursing. The weeks and months are spent in gaining experience in all fields of nursing.

When she finishes her hospital training, she receives her pin and a Bachelor of Science degree. This marks the real beginning, for now she is eligible to accept positions in hospital and public health nursing.

The government of Harborview Hall, under ASUW jurisdiction, is a student council composed of officers elected each spring and fall. Each class sends a representative and the various committee chairmen also have a voice.

Activities are not forgotten at Harborview. Classes take turns issuing the "Chronic Complainer," a bi-weekly paper featuring hall and hospital news. An annual spring Variety Show, written, directed and produced by the students, has become an institution at Harborview. Dances, exchanges and campus activities round out the social calendar. A tea is served each Wednesday in the lounge by the residence director, Miss Hoffine.

The U. of W. is the site of one of the largest and best Student Cooperatives in the United States. The "coop" consists of four men's houses, two women's houses—a membership of some three hundred students.

They're proud of: high scholarship ratings; participation in campus activities; successful intra-coop social, educational and athletic programs.

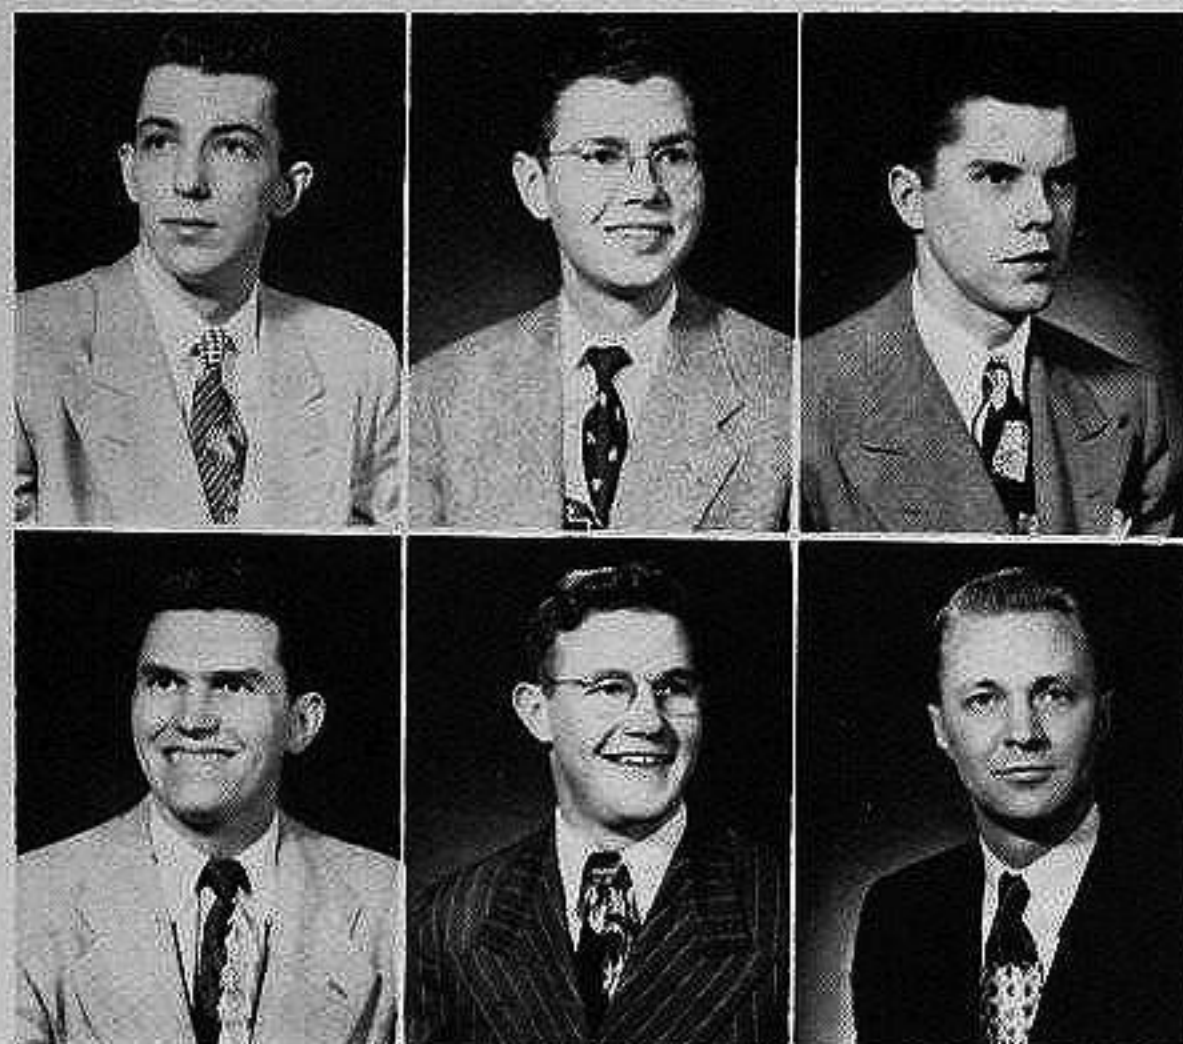

Unique features: for innumerable benefits, co-ops pay reasonable, inexpensive rates; a functional central kitchen (which serves seven houses in addition to our own); an organization completely student owned and controlled. The governing body is a representative Board of Directors under the guidance of various faculty members and businessmen who serve in an advisory capacity.

In 1943, Rofcre, men's independent living group, became a women's house because of the reduced number of male students on campus during those war years. When the fellows reclaimed their home in 1947, these girls founded McLean House.

McLean is well-known for its friendliness and hospitality. With a varied program of exchanges, mixers, dinner-parties, square dances, taffy-pulls, and "Schmoo Week," there is never a lack of social activities. Every member in the house becomes an entertainer at the "Pink Garter Inn," the outstanding event of the year.

Their interests are well rounded, varying from athletics to the fine arts and scholarship.

Under the leadership of Marie Larson, president; Bonnie Treik, secretary-treasurer; and numerous committee heads, Synadelphic House has had an active year. The basketball team took the 1950 trophy in competition with all of the other women's houses. Frances Sharp, social chairman, has planned several successful dances and other activities, such as a theatre party, a "beachcomber's brawl," a splash party, and a night club dance. These are in addition to various informal or often impromptu dances held with one or another of the boys' houses in the Co-op. The organization is based on the idea of cooperation and practical democracy, and the thirty-seven girls who live there will tell you it is a good place to live.

Rofcre was organized in 1934 when it became the second, and is now one of the largest men's Co-op Houses on the campus. During the war years Rofcre was taken over by girls, but men took over again in the fall of 1948. In the three years since then, Rofcre men have become increasingly active in campus activities. This last year they tied for first place in soliciting contributions for the Campus Chest and had members elected to Malamutes.

Rofcre is working to carry out the principles of Student Co-operatives in that it is thoroughly democratic, without racial and religious discrimination, and is instrumental in molding good citizens because it encourages voluntary participation.

MEN'S ORGANIZED HOUSE COUNCIL

The Men's Organized House Council is open to all men in independent organized houses. Its function is to act in matters which are too cumbersome, problems which are too large, for individual units to handle. Through its structure, member houses are represented on the Board of Control.

"Haircuts" the hard way.

The University Christian Union was founded on the University campus in 1935. The year following, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Peterson became the house advisors, and have continued in that capacity to the present time. In 1937 the UCU moved to its current location during a period of rapid growth. The UCU is an inter-denominational group, organized for the purpose of providing a "Christian home away from home" for University men.

An interesting and varied social calendar, highlighted by the annual membership banquet, is carried on throughout the year. The UCU is active in intramural sports, and has also maintained a high scholastic record. During the academic year of 1949-1950 the UCU men attained the highest scholarship average of the organized men's groups.

UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN UNION

Students have actively participated in the Blood Bank drive, contributing regularly. Below, four students partake of the nourishment offered to start rebuilding blood to replace that which they have just lost.

With over 500 foreign students enrolled, University students have an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the ways of other lands. Above students from Manila, Bombay, and Bremen get together for coffee between classes.

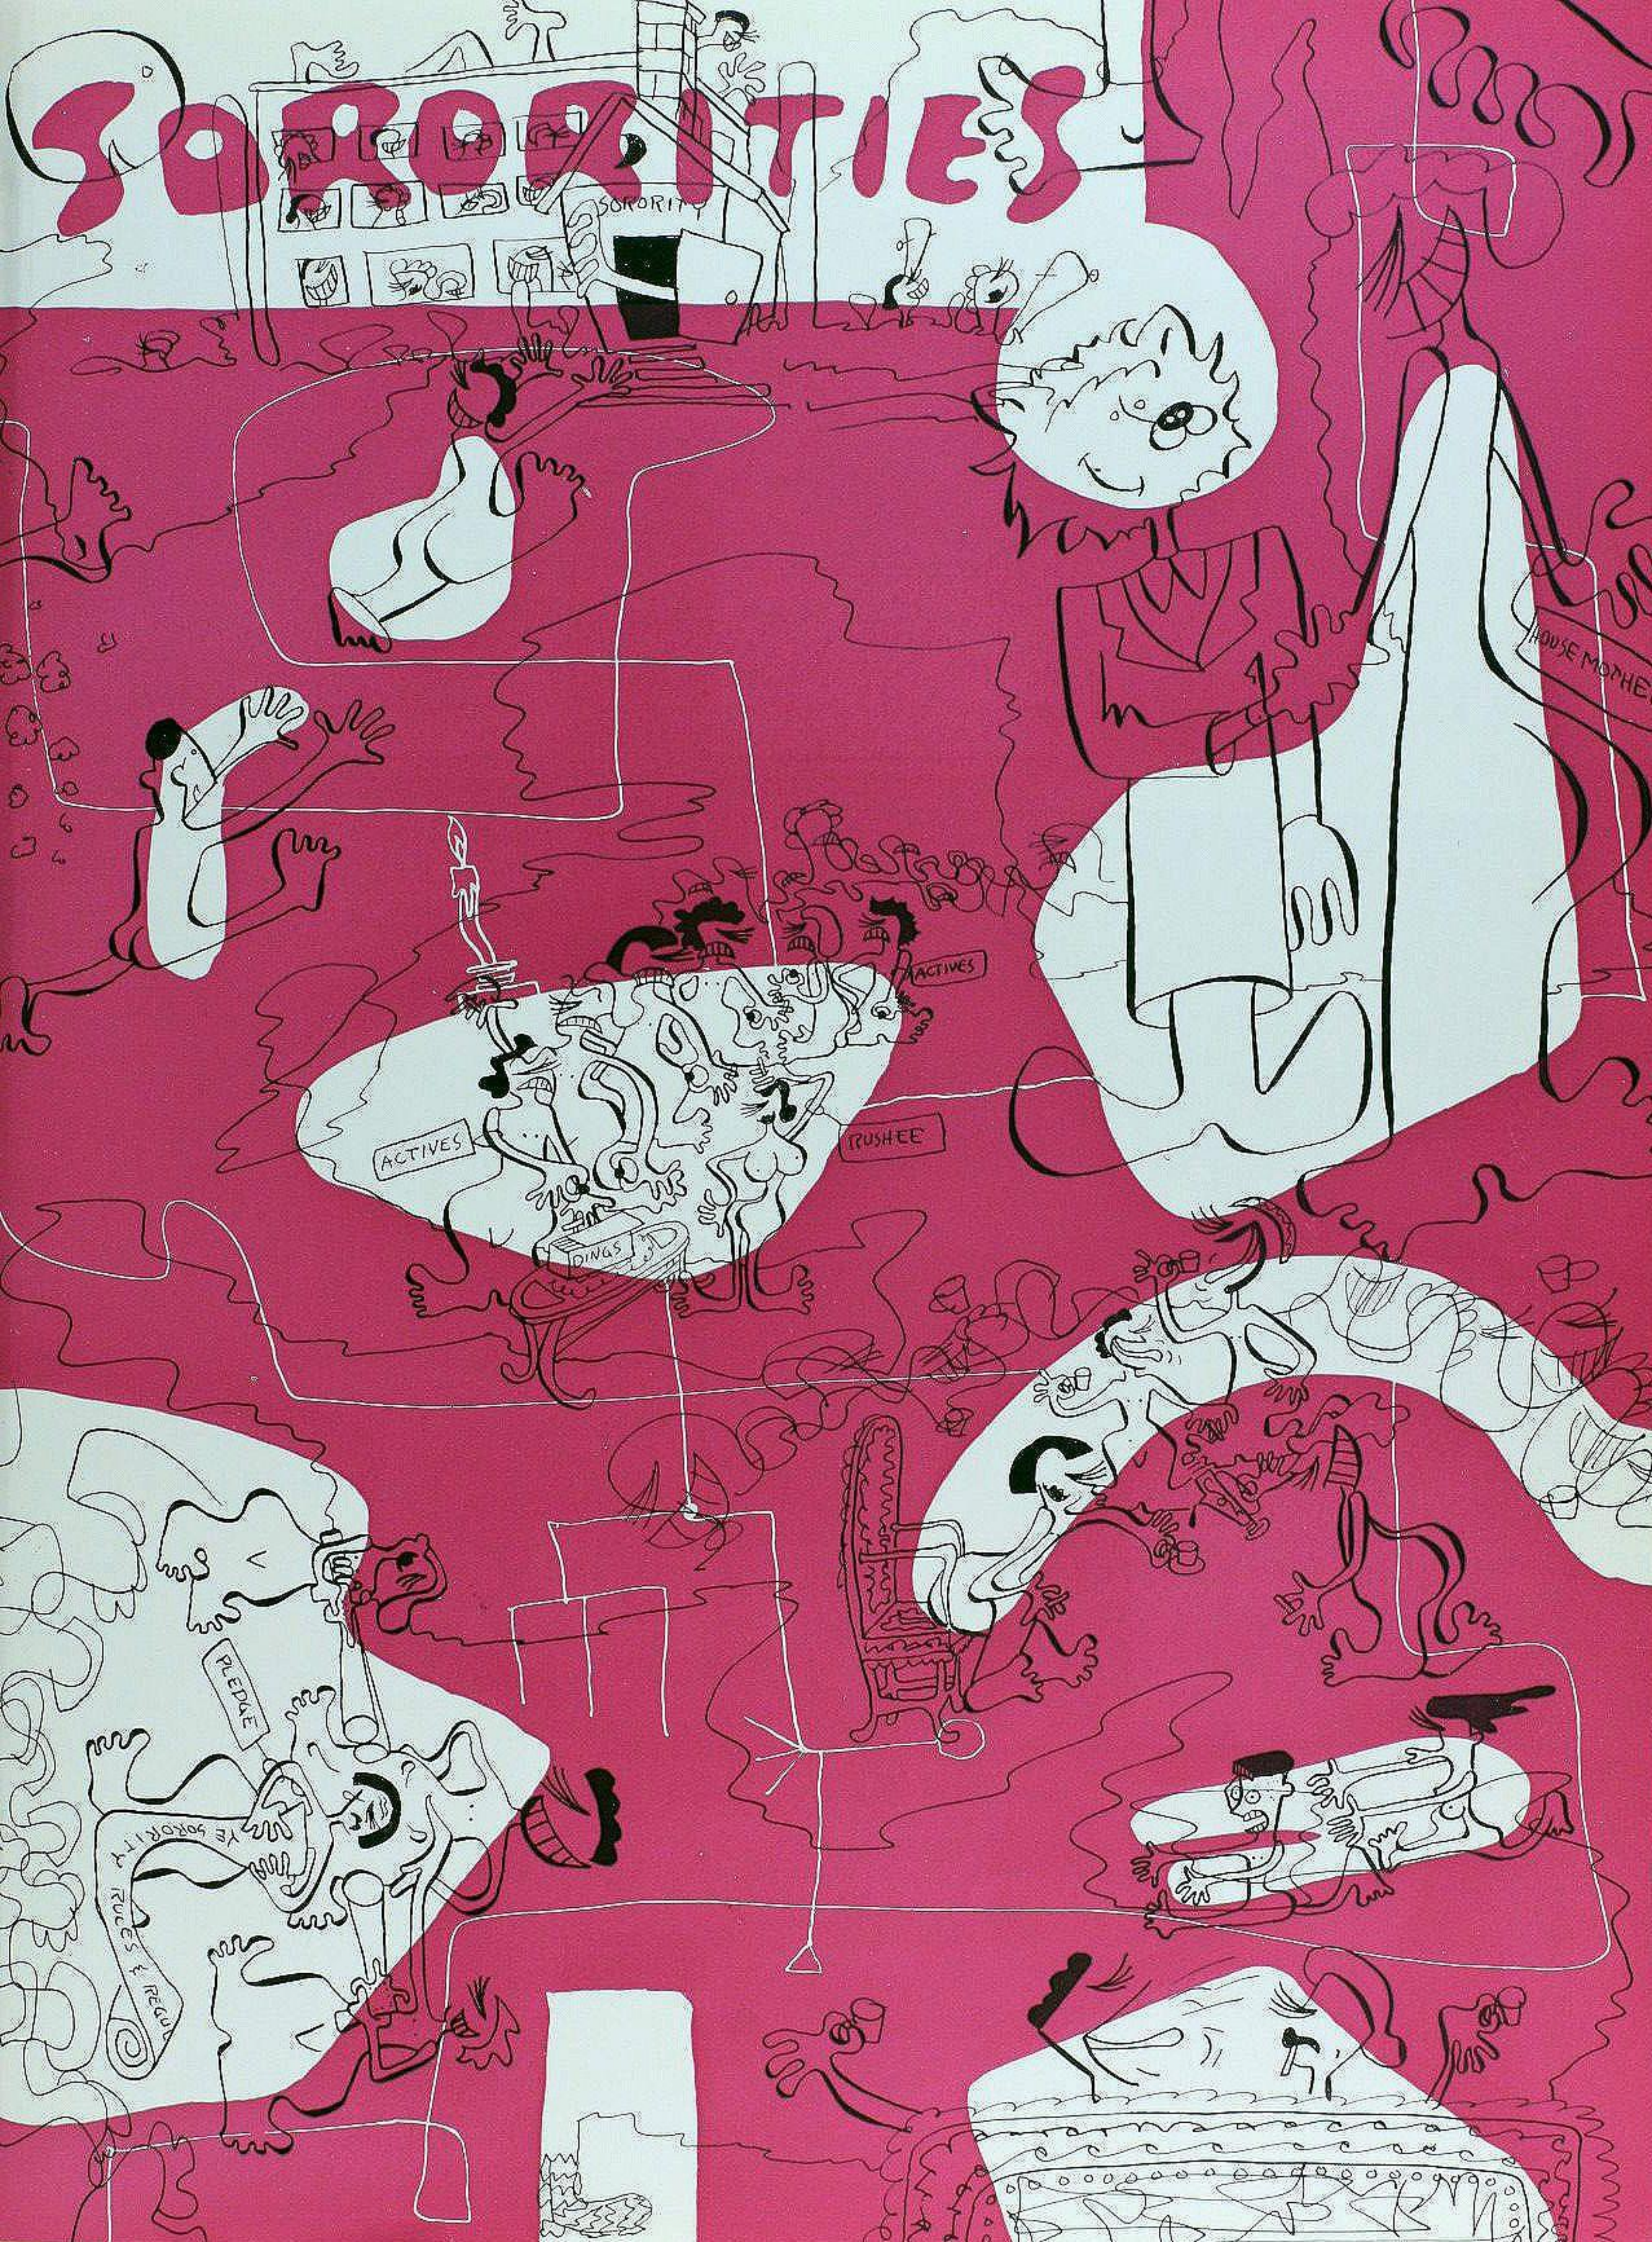

The "Bamboo Dance," originally a dance of the Philippines, has become an international dance at the University, with students from all nations joining in.

During this past year, students have become familiar with the lower parts of several buildings, which serve as shelters, during the test air raid drills conducted by the U. of W. Civil Defense Organization.

Coordinating the activities of the twenty-one nationally recognized sororities on campus is the function of Panhellenic. A feeling of friendship, trust and cooperation among the representatives is the keynote of their meetings. Beside the regular meetings, the Panhellenic program included the rushing program prior to autumn quarter; the traditional pledge banquet; joint meetings with Phrateres, IWA and IFC; Round Robin dinners; the Annual Training Conference and the installation banquet held during the first week of spring quarter for incoming and outgoing officers and house presidents.

Mrs. Herbert Plumb, executive secretary of Panhellenic, works closely with the officers and executive board in an advisory capacity. The Junior Panhellenic advisor is Mrs. J. R. Damus.

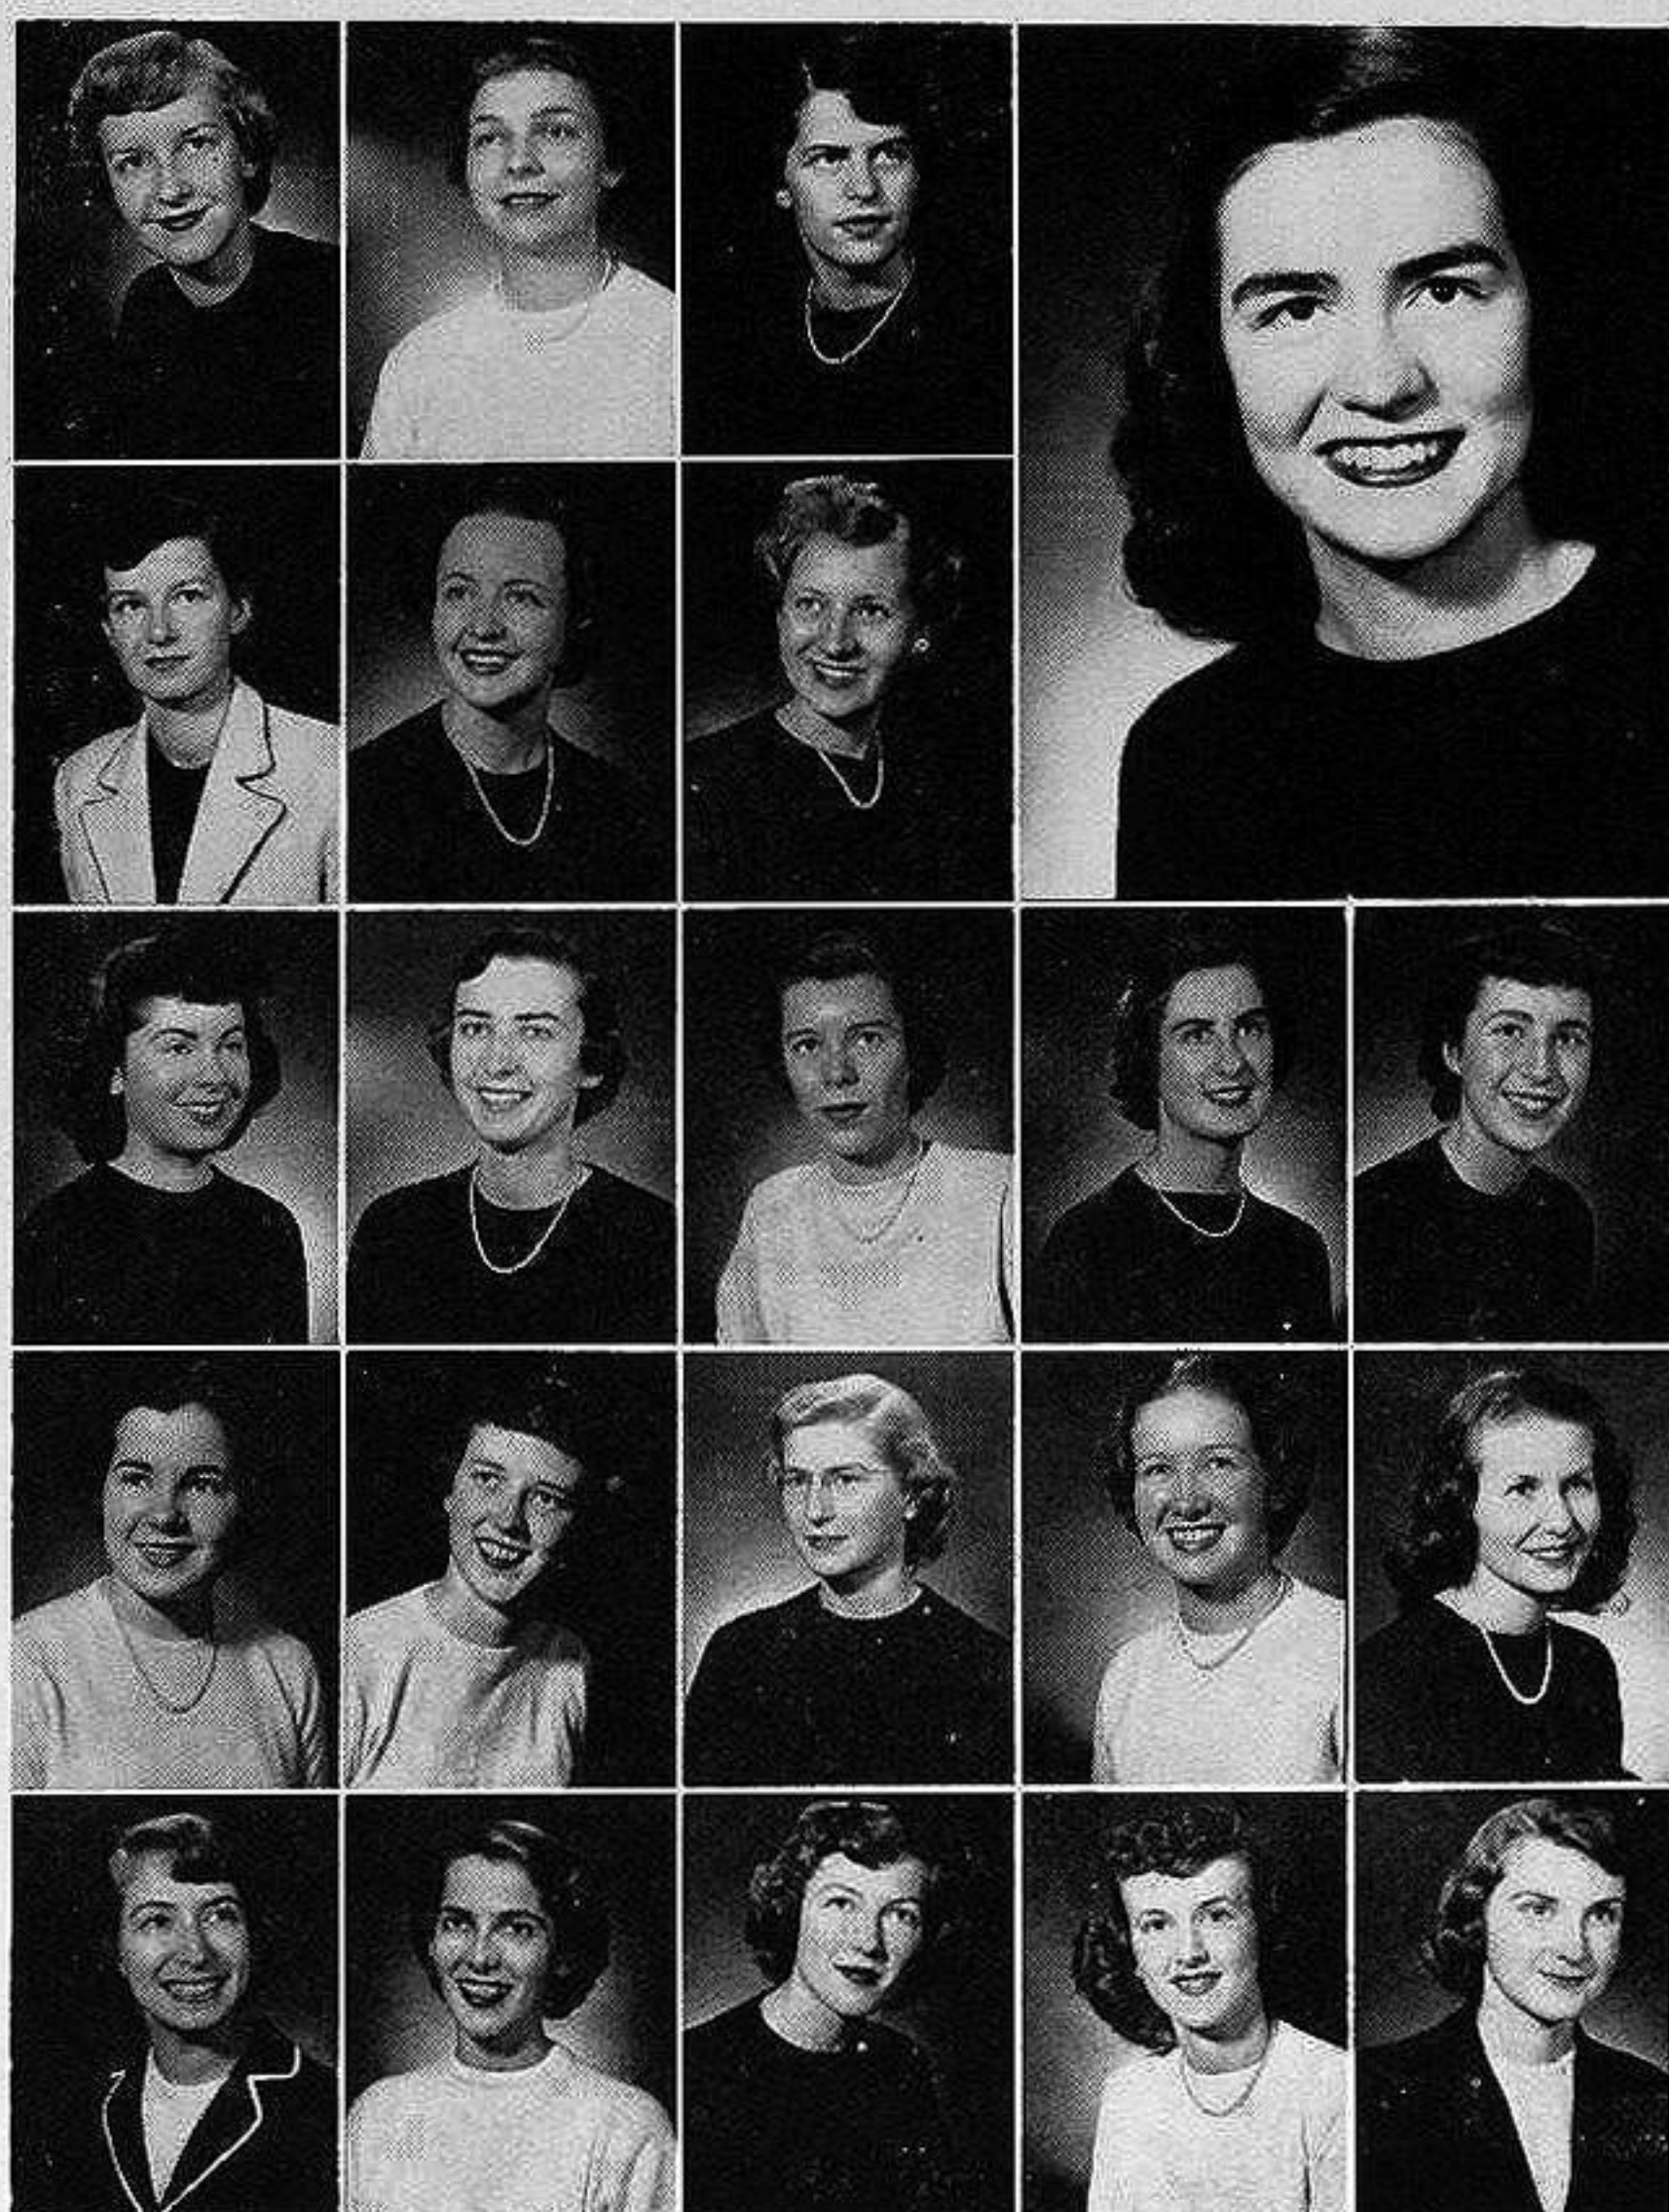

Newly elected house presidents, Panhellenic officers, representatives from Washington State, Oregon, OSC and UBC, and delegates from AWS, IWA and Phrateres gather on the steps of the Empress Hotel in Victoria, B. C., before attending a discussion concerning the Panhellenic groups. The Annual Training Conference, held each spring, is one of the most outstanding features of Washington Panhellenic.

Panhellenic officers take time out before "diving into" the business of the day.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

These final words for your 1951 TYEE are being penned at the last possible minute at a table in the Art Building coffee shop, the 1952 staff having taken over the basement office in Lewis Hall, not even leaving one old, worn-out typewriter on which an old, worn-out editor might compose his Swan Song.

Though affecting the role of "persecuted martyr, working his head to the bone," with little help from anyone else, actually there are many people to whom I owe a debt of gratitude for their help in getting this book into your hands several days earlier than we had originally hoped for (in the middle of April, we began to feel that we would be lucky to get the book out before the middle of July).

And so . . . to the art staff—Bill McLean for the oil paintings which never seemed to dry, and for continued good natured heckling throughout the year; Don Mosbarger for the very clever and complex section pages which have added so much color to the book; Loyde Claussen and Bill Gallacci, who were on call for other drawings as needed . . . to Ken Cole, who degenerated from Editor in 1950 to Business Manager this year, for his unending advice which I usually chose to ignore—often to my own sorrow—and for his cooperation in keeping the fact that I was turning out for crew a secret from Clyde Robinson . . . to Clyde for pretending not to know I was turning out, when he knew it all the time, and for the fine job he did in keeping me out of the trouble I was determined to get into . . . to Mort Frayn and the rest of the staff at Frayn Printing for getting the book out on time despite the fact that we seldom, if ever, met our deadlines; and particularly to Darrel Taylor, a first-class diplomat, who managed to keep your editor, the engraver, and his staff at the printers all on relatively good terms throughout some very difficult situations . . . to the photo staff, from whom, under the direction of "Corny" Root and Sid Dean, we received better cooperation than we usually deserved . . . to Jim Sneddon and Whitey Martin, photographers in the Office of Public Information, for the large number of pictures that they furnished when I neglected to assign one of our own photographers to some campus activity . . . to the Seattle P.-I. for several pictures that they loaned us from their files . . . to Harry Shaw and all the workers at the Donn-Shaw Studio for the excellent job they did in getting the organization's pictures out on time, putting in long hours to get us out of a spot when we were later than usual in turning pages in to the printer . . . to Peggy Mace for the great job she did with the Activities Division (I never could figure out how she could be on so many committees, swim in the Silver Fish Show and still put in so much time on the TYEE) . . . to Leo Carlson for completion of the difficult task of rounding up pictures of our "modest" athletes . . . to Fran Stoeckert, who took over the Classes and Administration Division late in the year and put in long hours when she was "sick, sick, sick, I tell you" to complete an always difficult section . . . and to all of the other members of the staff who managed to put up with me and get their work in before we had set too many successive deadlines . . . to these people and the many others who offered invaluable moral support throughout the year, I give my heartfelt thanks. It has been an interesting, and in many ways enjoyable year, and we can only hope that the readers of this TYEE feel that our efforts weren't wasted.

THE BOOK STORE is a legacy—built for you by former generations—one that you will pass on to serve future students. With every expansion and development in the University, the Book Store has kept pace to serve your ever increasing numbers with the finest in merchandise and values. Visit your Book Store—you'll find the same friendliness you enjoyed when you were on the campus.

Our 51st Year . . .

Having passed the half-century mark, we are glad to note that this year marks another great step in our expansion program . . . paid for, as have been all property purchases, improvements, and expansions, out of the Book Store's earnings.

America calls the class of '51 . . .

The class of '51 steps from the cloistered campus into a world of fateful decision and dramatic action . . . Few times in history has this nation known more urgent need for inspired leadership and loyal, intelligent service from her college graduates . . .

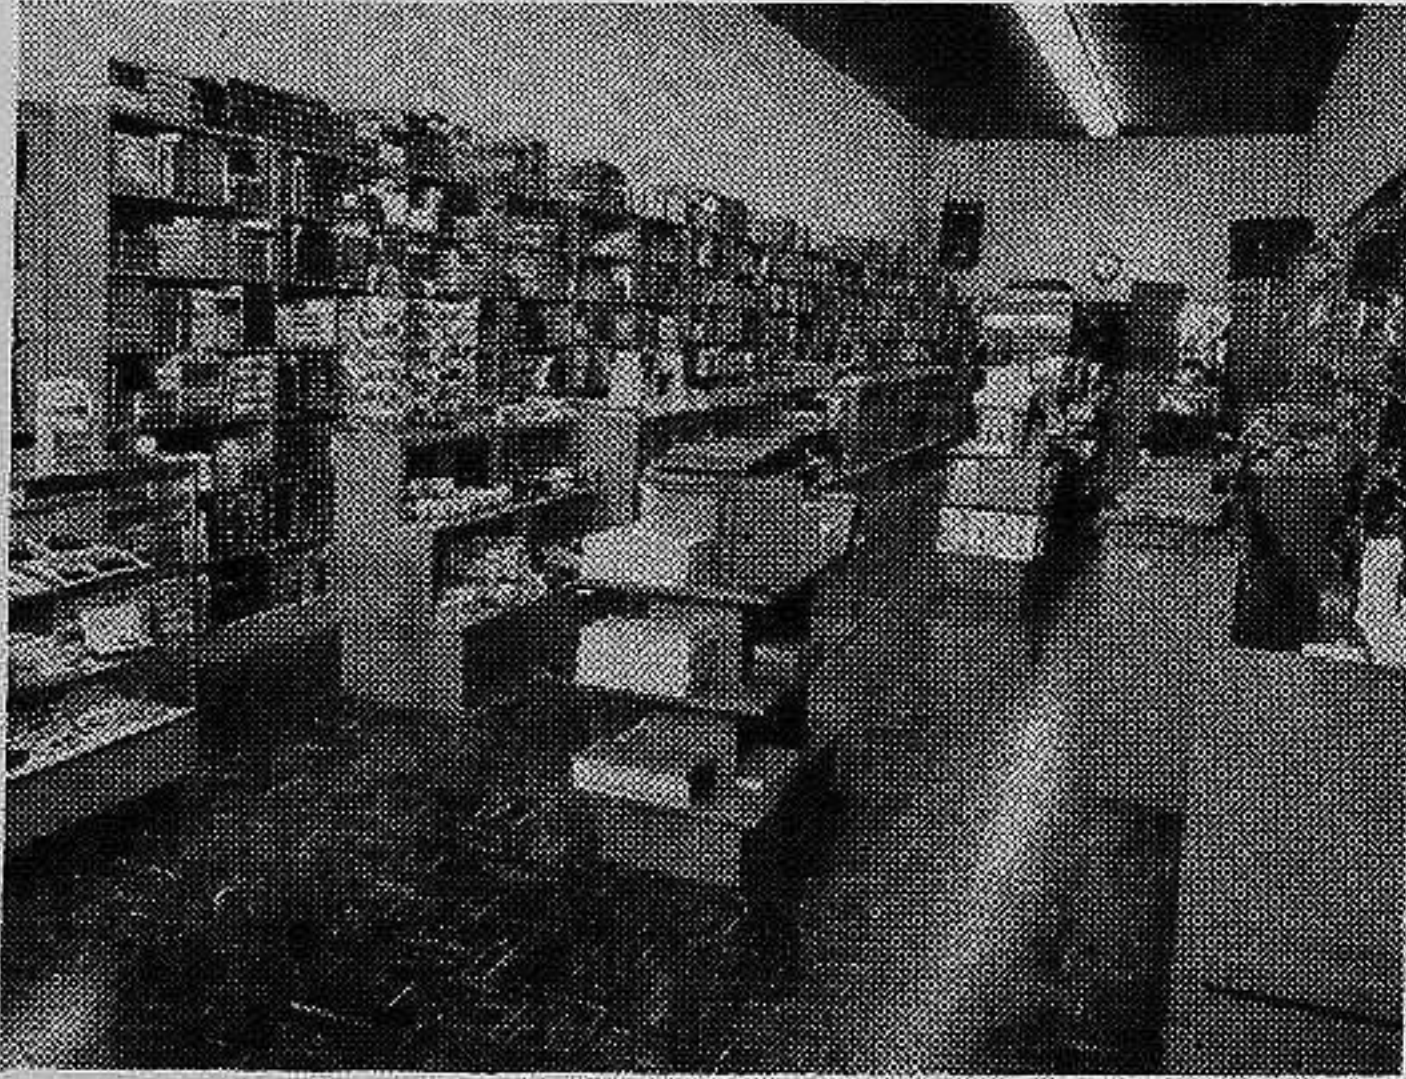

The challenge is great, the opportunities are many. We know the class of '51 will prove worthy of Washington's brightest traditions.
